MARINES IN HONDURAS

Move to Guard Americans

Washington Enters With Men and Ship to Protect Our Interests

Confusing Revolutionary Outbreaks Baffle Peacemaker

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—With a force of American marines and bluejackets guarding the United States Consulate at Seiba and an American destroyer speeding from Jamaica to the Honduran port of Puerto Cortes, the Washington government has been forced to take action in connection with the confusing revolutionary outbreaks in the Honduran republic which already have cost the life of one American citizen.

An American negro whose name has not been reported, was killed in the recent fight at Ceiba during which the Consulate was repeatedly struck by bullets.

Rear-Admiral Dayton, commanding the special service squadron in Central American waters, and whose flagship, the cruiser Denver, is at Ceiba, has found it necessary to double the marine guard of thirty-five men first sent ashore to protect the Consulate. An additional force of thirty-five bluejackets has joined the marines of the guard and Admiral Dayton reported today that the situation at Ceiba was so menacing to American interests that he did not consider it wise to withdraw his ship from that place at present.

BANDITRY BREAKS OUT

While the revolutionary movement which followed the failure to elect a new President by constitutional means has been a double-headed affair from the first, apparently there are separate revolts by various leaders also in progress and banditry has broken out in some places.

Recent reports from Ceiba indicate that the fighting there which caused the landing of American marines and sailors was between the forces of the de facto government headed by President Guiterrez and an unorganized bandit force headed by a leader named Mungia. Whether Munguia is supporting one of the revolutionary parties or operating without any connection with the revolutionary movements has not been disclosed.

The two principal revolutionary movements are those of Gen. Arias, who is understood to be dominating the de facto government forces, and to hold the capital, Tegucigalpa, and most of

Flames Finish Wreck of Jersey Town Which Explosion of TNT Started

Shock Felt Sixty Miles Away and Staten Island Rocked as by Earthquake

NEW BRUNSWICK (N. J.) March 2.—Fire which started when an explosion wrecked the TNT plant of the Nixon Nitration Company, killed more than a score persons, and destroyed the little town of Nixon, was under control at 1:45 o'clock this morning. The flames stopped spreading within 100 yards of buildings in which large quantities of celluloid were stored.

At 2 o'clock this morning eighteen bodies had been recovered. The best information was that at least six men were missing, with the possibility that eight more also could not be accounted for.

As many of the victims, dead and dying, as could be removed from the blazing ruins were taken to a half dozen hospitals and hastily equipped emergency morgues. Their bodies were so mutilated and burned that only a few were identified.

BLAST AT NOON

The explosion occurred at 11:30 a.m., in the ordnance salvaging plant. The nitration works had been leased to the Ammonite Company for the treatment of Army TNT to be used as agricultural fertilizer.

The building, two stores high, 300 feet long and of hollow tile construction, literally was blown from the earth, along with the men believed to have been in it.

The shock was felt for sixty miles, shattering windows, lifting roofs and toppling chimneys in many cities. On Staten Island buildings rocked as if in an earthquake.

The single destructive blast crushed forty buildings of the Nixon company's celluloid novelties manufacturing works which surrounded the TNT plant and razed as if by shell-fire the encircling dwellings of 200 employees whose little settlement was known as the town of Nixon.

Congress to Sift Assertion That Members Figure in Bureau Scandal

Coolidge, Aroused, Promises Rigid Inquiry Based on Grand Jury Report

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—An explosion may be expected in Congress Monday over the report of the Federal grand jury in Chicago yesterday, containing among other sensational disclosures the statement that evidence before it showed that two members of Congress have received sums of money in connection with the scandal in the Veterans' Bureau.

The indictment of former director Charles S. Forbes was no surprise, but Congress, accustomed as it has grown to sensations recently, was jarred considerably by that portion of the report which involved members of Congress and other high officials. That both houses will be compelled to take official cognizance of the report was freely predicted. Some Senators expressed opinion that the special committee which investigated the Veterans' Bureau should be reconvened with instructions to make a thorough inquiry into the statements of the Chicago grand jury in order that the guilty members of Congress might be expelled and prosecuted and for the protection of those who are innocent but who may fall victims to slanderous gossip if the facts are not revealed.

COOLIDGE AROUSED

President Coolidge is reported tonight to have been aroused by the grand jury report and a White House spokesman said he would insist that the Veterans' Bureau investigation be widened to extend to every phase than can be developed from the grand jury testimony. The President wants the testimony sifted to the bottom and the names of Congressmen, if they are really involved, disclosed. If the testimony is false, the President feels that this should be established as soon as possible in order to remove suspicion from innocent members of Congress. The grand jury report may be turned over to the President within a few days, according to an administration official who is close to the White House.

Members of the Senate committee which conducted the investigation expressed surprise at the charges contained in the grand

SENATE ELECTS BROOKHART TO LEAD DAUGHERTY QUIZ

Selection Follows Day of Bitter Debate; Investigation to Begin Tomorrow

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Headed by a Republican insurgent of the La Follette group, Senator Brookhart of Iowa, a special Senate committee will begin an investigation Monday of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty and his administration of the Department of Justice.

The inquiry, expected to rival the oil investigation in its ramifications, was ordered late today by the Senate in adopting the resolution of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana. The vote was 66 to 1. Senator Elkins, Republican, West Virginia, standing alone in opposition.

BITTER DEBATE

The choice of Senator Brookhart for chairman came in a spectacular climax to two days of bitter debate. He was nominated by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, leader of the Republican insurgents, after having been selected originally by Senator Wheeler.

The regular Republican organization abandoned its effort to retain control of the committee and contented itself with nominating Senator Moses, New Hampshire, and Jones, Washington, while Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, nominated Senator Wheeler and Ashurst Arizona, as committeemen. No other nominations were forthcoming after the long and dramatic pause and the slate, as agreed upon by Senator Wheeler after conferences with Senators La Follette and Robinson, was passed without a roll call. Privately Republican Senators said they regarded it as useless to oppose the insurgent Democratic coalition.

Following adoption of the Wheeler resolution, attorneys for the Attorney-General, Paul Howland of Cleveland and former Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, sent formal letters to each member of the special committee, requesting the privilege of being present at all hearings, of examining all witnesses, of presenting independent evidence, of having processes issued for witnesses, and of presenting oral and written arguments. They give assurances of the assistance of every agency and facilities of the Department of Justice.

TO MEET TOMORROW

Chairman Brookhart said tonight that the committee would meet Monday to draw up a plan of procedure and would proceed "as speedily as possible" in its long task, which is expected to take weeks if not months.

"There are masses of papers to be gone over in a preliminary way," said Senator Brookhart. "It is hoped to begin the hearings in a few days, proably some time next week."

While definite procedure is yet to be determined, members indicated there would be no formal complaint, with detailed specifications and filed as in the House impeachment proceedings a year ago aginst Mr. Daugherty, but the various charges and complaints would be taken up as they developed with committee members and in the hearings. The first field of inquiry is expected to be the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, headed by William J. Burns, in connection with the activities of its agents in several parts of the country.

THE RESOLUTION

Virtually unlimited jurisdiction to investigate affairs relating to Mr. Daugherty and the Department of Justice is given under the Senate resolution, which as finally adopted provides:

"Resolved, that a committee of five Senators, consisting of three of the majority and two of the minority, be authorized and directed to investigate circumstances and facts and report the same to the Senate, concerning the alleged failure of Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General of the United States, to prosecute properly violators of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and the Clayton Act against monopolies and unlawful restraint of trade; the alleged neglect and

Johnson Out in Empire State

Wrigley and Lasker Said to Have Withdrawn Their Financial Support

To "Depend on Public Opinion to Swing Bosses to His Banner"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Formal announcement was made by Arthur B. Murtha, New York manager of Senator Hiram W. Johnson, that the Californian had abandoned his campaign for delegates from New York State to the Republican National Convention and "will depend upon the force of public opinion to make the party bosses recognize the sentiment of the people."

Coincident with the announcement were reports that William Wrigley, Jr., and Albert D. Lasker had withdrawn their financial support from Senator Johnson.

TO FILE NO PETITION

Petitions for the spring primary will not be filed, Mr. Murtha announced, chiefly because the State law does not permit a preferential Presidential vote, and to obtain the delegates-at-large through the State party convention "an independent candidate will be under the necessity of spending huge sums of money" because "the primary cards are so stacked."

The campaign in States where delegates are chosen by direct primary will be continued, however, Mr. Murtha explained. This includes efforts in New Jersey, California, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, South Dakota, North Dakota and "other States."

PAYING OWN WAY

"The New York Johnson-for-President Club is financing its own campaign," Mr. Murtha said, "and has not the money nor the desire to enter into a contest of expenditure with the regular party organization.

"For these and other reasons of strategic nature, we will depend upon the force of public opinion to force the bosses to relinquish their grip on the party and to permit the people's voice to be heard. The great State of New York provides no means by which the voters can register their choice for the nomination for President in the primary."

MAIL TRAIN ROBBERS GIVEN PRISON TERMS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 1.—Twenty-five years imprisonment in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth was the punishment assessed against five alleged members of the Al Spencer bandit gang, charged with the robbery of mail from a M. K. & T., passenger train near Okesa last August. The jury in Federal Court returned its verdict early tonight. The trial started Thursday.

RAINSTORM IS SWEEPING DOWN COAST

Various Showers Promise Breaking of Drought in This Vicinity

Hollywood at 11 o'clock last night reported that it was beginning to sprinkle. The same report was made from points along Sunset Boulevard toward the city.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, March 1.—Sweeping down the coast in front of a stiff wind, a rainstorm descended on Santa Maria and Santa Barbara early tonight. Commencing at 9 o'clock the rain began to fall in a steady downpour at Santa Barbara. In a half an hour .04 of an inch had fallen and the precipitation had increased in intensity. Dispatches from Santa Maria reported that the storm had begun considerably earlier there and was continuing.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Promise that March may repeat the "$20,000,000 storm" that visited Central California in the early days of February and break also the critical rain shortage in Southern California appeared today when the entire State was overcast and rain fell at three points.

Although but light rain had fallen at three points in California up to late tonight, the forecast of the United States Weather Bureau for tomorrow is showers throughout the State.

Light showers fell in San Francisco this afternoon and broke a dry spell since February 15, when .02 of an inch fell.

Other points reporting a trace of rain during the afternoon were San Jose and Eureka. But there was a welcome cloudiness from the Oregon line to San Diego, resulting from a storm that arose over the Pacific and extended as far east as the Sierras.

At 6 o'clock tonight Weather Forecaster G. H. Wilson issued the official forecast for the entire State as follows:

"Unsettled, with showers; moderate southwesterly winds."

Los Angeles, with a normal precipitation to date of 11.06 inches, has had only 1.81 inches.

DEMOCRATS BACK M'ADOO BUT THROW OUT DOHENY

State Committee Then Proceeds to Elect Oil Man's Attorney as Convention Delegate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—California Democrats, represented by a State Central Committee of more than 300 members this afternoon reaffirmed their indorsement of William Gibbs McAdoo for the Democratic Presidential nomination; "fired" Edward L. Doheny from the State committee and at the same time named Gavin McNab, Doheny's personal attorney, one of the thirty delegates on the McAdoo ticket from this State to the next party convention in New York City.

McAdoo's indorsement and the selection of a ticket of thirty delegates for the May 6 primary ballot pledged to the former Treasury Secretary's Presidential candidacy were accomplished, only after long hours of acrimonious debate, precipitated by insurgent Democrats who declared that McAdoo's employment by Doheny and the recent Teapot Dome investigation disclosures made him unavailable for a Presidential candidate.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

Nine hours of colorful proceedings marked the Democratic gathering today, which resulted in the nomination of the following candidates for delegates on the Bourbon ticket pledged to the nomination of McAdoo:

Delegates-at-large: Edward E. Leake, Woodland; Former United States Senator James D. Phelan, San Francisco; Mrs. Gaillard Stoney, San Francisco; Mrs. William J. Hotchkiss, Berkeley; L. C. Brand, Glendale; William Kettner, former Congressman, San Diego; Mrs. Thomas McCelan, Los Angeles; Mrs. H. L. Wylie, Los Angeles.

District delegates: John F. Quinn, Eureka; Gilp Hall, Petaluma; C. L. Cuthbert, Jackson; Dr. E. J. Cornish, Dunsmuir; Thomas Fox, Sacramento; W. U. Goodman, Suisun; Supervisor Ralph McLeran, San Francisco; Gavin McNab, San Francisco; Timothy A. Reardon, San Francisco; William J. McGee, San Francisco; W. B. Bunker, Oakland; Robert M. Fitzgerald, Oakland; David S. Ewing, Fresno; J. L. C. Irwin, Hanford; Charles B. Younger, Santa Cruz; Thomas N. Storke, Santa Barbara; J. B. Coulson, Pasadena; Miss Lloy Galpin, Eagle Rock; H. H. Cotton, Los Angeles; I. J. Muma, Los Angeles; S. H. Finley, Santa Ana; Mrs. Winifred McCook, San Bernardino.

Delegates-at-large will have but half a vote each while the twenty-two district delegates will cast a full vote, bringing California's strength in the Democratic convention to twenty-six votes.

McNAB IS CHOSEN

Selection of Gavin McNab as one of the California delegates with a McAdoo preference was passed through the convention meeting at the Palace Hotel with neatness and despatch. McNab, it is understood wired from Washington that he would insist that his name be included on the grounds that "he was merely Doheny's attorney

BELGIUM IN MOURNING FOR LOUISE

Princess, Daughter of King Leopold, Dies of Pneumonia

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS, March 1.—Princess Louise of Belgium died at Wiesbaden today from double pneumonia after an illness of ten days. Her last word was the name of Count Mattachich, for whom she left her husband, Prince Phillippe of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, more than twenty years ago.

A strong and powerful woman, the Princess fought to the last. She never completely recovered from the shock of Count Mattachich's death in Paris in September, 1923.

The major-domo of King Albert's household has instructed that the body be buried in a manner befitting her rank of Princess and daughter of the late King Leopold.

REVOLT PLOT UNCOVERED

Thirty Arrested in Raid Here as Plan to Overthrow Labor Federation is Revealed by Officers

A gigantic plot to undermine the American Federation of Labor and convert it into a Communist organization for the purpose of overthrowing the United States government was believed to have been uncovered last night when several squads of police detectives descended upon a secret meeting of asserted Communists and arrested thirty men and women on charges of criminal syndicalism.

The raid of those said to be Communists was more or less of an accident, according to the report of Acting Captain Luke Lane of the Wobbly squad. The raid was originally directed at a small I.W.W. meeting in a building at 224 South Spring street, but in the course of the original raid a number of men and women were observed entering a hall on another floor of the building. Investigation of the meeting led the officers into a secret meeting of the Trades Union Educational League, a secret branch organization of the Communist party, the officers state.

The T.U.E.L., as the organization is known, is at present spreading throughout the country, according to information obtained by The Times last night, and to it has been traced a fund of $180,000 for the purpose of educating delegates in the Communist movement and spiriting them into every branch of the American Federation of Labor. This fund was traced to the United States headquarters of the T.U.E.L. from Moscow, the seat of the Communist party.

In the raid last night were members of various trades unions of Los Angeles. These men, according to the information obtained were being thoroughly schooled in the ultra-radical principles of communism and these teachings they have been sworn to carry into their various local unions for the sole purpose of gaining power into the A. F. of L., and of carrying toward realization the com-

COMMITTEE TO QUIZ BURNS

Message of Warning in Department of Justice Code Found Among McLean Telegrams

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The long, long trail of the oil inquiry led today into the Department of Justice. A cipher message signed "Mary" and found among the celebrated McLean telegrams carried it there, and the oil committee immediatey made plans to follow it wherever it may go.

From William J. Burns, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, Mrs. Mary Duckstein, a special agent of the department, and others, the oil investigators will seek to learn:

The truth about reports that Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and a central figure in the inquiry, is himself a Department of Justice agent, and in possession of the department's code.

WOULD KNOW BURNS'S PART

Whether Burns directed Mrs. Duckstein to send a message to her husband, who is one of the McLean employees, saying that the "McLean investigation is under way by special agents of the Department of Justice," and that he believed "the information is important."

How Duckstein and other representatives of the publisher came into possession of a copy of the code.

Whether all of the code messages found in the McLean file of telegrams are, like the "Mary" message, in a cipher code once used by the bureau of investigation.

The "Mary message" was sent from Washington on February 2 to W. O. Duckstein, described to the committee as one of McLean's confidential men, at Palm Beach, Fla.

PARAPHRASE OF MESSAGE

A paraphrase of it, furnished to the oil committee, reads:

"Sent for by Burns, who told me to say McLean investigation is under way by special agents of Justice Department. He believes information is important."

The message was sent by Postal Telegraph and at the bottom appeared this notation:

"Chge Post A. D., M., for W. O. Duckstein."

Arthur D. Marks is business manager of the Post.

The paraphrase furnished to the committee bore the signature "Mary Quigley" (chief telephone operator of Washington Post.)

Asked today how her name became confused with that of Miss Quigley, whose name appeared in failure of the said Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General of the United States, to arrest and prosecute Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair, E. L. Doheny, C. R. Forbes and their conspirators in defrauding the government as well as the alleged neglect and failure of the said Attorney-General to arrest and prosecute many others for violations of Federal statutes and his alleged failure to prosecute properly, efficiently and promptly and defend all manner of civil and criminal actions wherein the government of the United States is interested as a party, plaintiff or defendant. And said committee is further directed to inquire into, investigate and report to the Senate the activities of the said Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General, and any of his assistants in the Department of Justice which would in any manner tend to impair their efficiency or influence as representatives of the government of the United States, the said committee above referred to, and the chairman thereof shall be elected by the Senate of the United States."

DROP PREAMBLES

Before adoption of the resolution, its preambles, objected to by several Republicans, were eliminated by Senator Wheeler. The preambles had charged failure of the Attorney-General to act in the Federal Trade Commission, the oil lease and antitrust cases, but Senator Robinson and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, pointed out that the resolution's text was broader than the preambles which might constrict the inquiry.

The resolution was further modified, upon motion of Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, a defender of Mr. Daugherty, by insertion of the word "alleged" before recitals of alleged inaction and "neglect and failure."

Senator Wheeler assented to the change.

Fires of personal acrimony which flamed yesterday, however, appeared to be somewhat burned out today and the debate, largely an attack upon Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, for a speech criticising the Senate and defending Mr. Daugherty, was comparatively mild.

Faced by the combined voting strength of Democrats and Republican insurgents, almost at the tap of the gavel today, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, withdrew his amendment providing for selection of the committee by Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, the president pro tempore. This forecast the election of the coalition slate headed by Senator Brookhart.

In nominating Senator Brookhart, Senator La Follette, in impassioned words, scored "machine manipulation" and "secret caucus" methods. These, he declared, had resulted in caucus selections of Senate committees. There were many precedents for election of committee, he declared, adding that it was the proper method.

Senator Fess was an almost continuous target for Democratic attacks after he had criticised Senators for the record made since the oil investigation developed. He charged the Senate with "hysteria," and on the resolution calling for the resignation of Secretary Denby, with "usurpation" of power, adding that the "record of the Senate for the past two months had been a crying shame."

In vehement fashion, Senator Fess was scored by Senators Robinson, Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas; Heflin, Democrat, Alabama; McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, and others. With bitter sarcasm and pointed attack, they bombarded the Ohio Senator, emphasizing that he and Senator Willis, his colleague, were the only Republicans who had risen in defense of Mr. Daugherty.

No reply was made by Senator Fess to the verbal onslaught and no Senator offered him any support.

CODE USE BROUGHT UP

Brief reference was made in the debate to the disclosures relating to the use of a one-time Department of Justice secret code in messages to employees of Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher, in the oil scandal.

Senator Caraway read newspaper reports that Mr. McLean was on the secret service roll at $1 a month.

In preparation for beginning the investigation, Chairman Brookhart, after the Senate had adjourned, held brief conferences with the committee members but postponed a decision upon procedure. Later copies of the letters from the Attorney-General's counsel were delivered at the offices of all committee members as follows:

"By direction of the Attorney-General, it is our pleasure to advise you that in the conduct of the investigation of the Department of Justice every agency and facility of that department is at your service. The Attorney-General also wished to notify you that in order to relieve the regular attorneys on the staff of the Department of Justice from any interference in the transaction of the public business, he has asked us to represent the department and the Attorney-General, at his own expense, during the course of your proceedings and assist you in this investigation in every way.

"The Attorney-General most respectfully requests that we as his representatives be granted such rights and privileges during the course of your proceedings as may seem to your committee fair and reasonable, and particularly requests:

ASKS FULL RIGHTS

"First, that said representatives may have the right to be present at all hearings and meetings of your committee except of course legislative sessions, and be duly notified of the time and place of such meetings; that they may be furnished with a transcript of the testimony and the right of inspection of all documents as fully and to the same extent as members of the committee;

"Second, that they may have the right to interrogate all witnesses that may be called before your committee;

"Third, that your committee will at the earliest possible date determine the particular matters it wishes to investigate so that the data and facts may be assembled and furnished without unnecessary delay;

Fourth, that your committee will formulate in definite and concise language at the earliest possible moment any and all charges, if any, against the Attorney-General in his official capacity, so that he may be advised of the charges against him and given an opportunity to present the facts;

"Fifth, that his said representatives shall have the right on their own motion to interrogate the testimony in the nature of answer or rebuttal to any and all charges that may be made directly or indirectly or by inference against the Attorney-General in his official capacity;

"Sixth, that his said representatives may have process issued by you at their request to compel the attendance of witnesses and production of documents;

"Seventh, that at the close of the hearing and the conclusion of all testimony, and before the final report of your committee to the Senate, the Attorney-General through his counsel, respectfully requests the right to present their views to your committee in oral argument and by printed brief."

ST. AUGUSTINE (Fla.) March 1.—Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, his secretary, E. G. Staiger and his brother, M. S. Daugherty, arrived here today by motor from Jacksonville and went to the hotel where Mrs. M. S. Daugherty is spending the winter.

"The people must await developments," M. S. Daugherty said.

CALLS STORY "BUNK"

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) March 1.—Atty.-Gen. Harry M. Daugherty characterized as "bunk" news dispatches sent out from Columbus, Ga., last night stating he was planning to issue a statement today on his arrival here this morning.

"There are several newspapermen on the train with me," said Mr. Daugherty, "and if I wish to make any statement I have every facility."

Mr. Daugherty would not discuss the Teapot Dome situation.

CAPPER EXPRESSES FAITH IN COOLIDGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Senator Capper of Kansas expressed to the National Republican Club in an address today his confidence that President Coolidge will punish all persons found guilty in the oil-lease investigation. There could be only contempt, he said, for those who would make a personal issue out of a national shame. Senator Capper reitarated his plea for greater consideration for farmers' needs.

the north coastal region of Honduras; and the party headed by Gen. Carias, who obtained the greatest number of votes in the Presidential election, but failed of the necessary majority. Gen. Carias proclaimed himself President, and withdrew toward the Nicaraguan border.

REBELS RUN RIOT

The third Presidential candidate, Bonilla, also is said to have some military support, but just which force is seeking his preferment is not known.

Presumably the approach of an attacking force caused the American Consul at Puerto Cortes to request yesterday that a warship be ordered to that place. So far as known there has been no fighting in the vicinity of Puerto Cortes.

The de facto government forces in the Capital and along the northern coast are said to be greatly demoralized and to be offering little resistance to the revolutionists.

The de facto President, Lopez Guitterrez, could not succeed himself under the Honduran constitution, and announced at the conclusion of his constitutonal term his intention of retaining power only long enough to permit a new election to be conducted.

PEACE EFFORT FAILS

With American lives and property in Honduras jeopardized by the revolutionary activities, the Washington government has sought to find some way of bringing the rival political and military leaders together in order to arrange a program under which a peaceful solution of the difficulty could be worked out. Thus far every effort has failed and officials here are frankly pessimistic as to the outlook.

TWO DIE IN TRAGEDY IN CEMETERY

Man and Son Victims of Shooting; Wife Arrested While Fleeing

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

McALESTER (Okla.) March 1. J. T. Daugherty of Haileyville, Okla., a railroad employee, and his 4-year-old son were shot and killed today as they stood by the grave of Daugherty's father in a cemetery here while Daugherty discussed with Mrs. Bertha Amour Daugherty of Cement, Okla., his divorced wife, the question of which of the parents should retain the custody of the boy.

Mrs. Daugherty was arrested as she ran from the scene.

She declared that her husband shot and killed the child, and then turned the weapon on himself.

In Daugherty's pocket was found a statement which declared his intention of killing the woman and child and then taking his own life should the conference not terminate as he desired. The statement asked that all three be buried in the same grave and was signed "A Broken-Hearted Fool."

KLANSMEN ON PARADE AT HARBOR

Robed and Unmasked Ranks March in Warning to Plans of I.W.W.

A demonstration was given some 3000 members of the I.W.W. by several hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan at Los Angeles Harbor last night. The Klansmen confined themselves to a parade and impressed their attitude toward "wobblies" by means of printed placards carried through the streets. The members of the so-called invisible empire were unmasked but wore their robes, and led by three horsemen, marched past the I.W.W. headquarters at Twelfth and Center streets.

The I.W.W., assembled for the announced purpose of demonstration, sang "The Red Flag" and "Solidarity, Forever."

The tramp of the Klansmen upon the pavement clashed with the violent strains from the "wobbly" hall.

The Klan parade terminated on Harbor Boulevard, where a meeting took place. Their plans had been well press-agented among the I.W.W., and advance notices were to the effect that 60,000 Klansmen would appear. Police check showed about 1200.

munist plan of so controlling the national labor federation as to use it as the most aggressive weapon for overthrowing the government.

LITERATURE FOUND

Evidence that such a radical program was being formulated was contained in the several hundred pounds of literature and textbooks confiscated in the raid and used in the training of the spies operating in the trades unions. The confiscated books, one section of which included an entire library and course of lectures, and literature probably will be turned over to the United States Department of Justice for further investigation.

Included in last night's arrests were persons said to be the leaders of the communist educational work in Los Angeles and Southern California. Among these was Ella Reeves Bloor, 67 years of age, who gives her occupation as a lecturer and her radical affiliation as an honorary member of the United Mine Workers. Mrs. Bloor was a delegate to the Third Internationale at Moscow, has made several trips as an emmissary between Russia and the United States, and is declared by police here to be under indictment at Bridgeman, Mich., for her radical activities, it was stated.

Other prisoners taken in the raid are:

CARDINAL O'CONNELL IS RECEIVED BY POPE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, March 1.—The Pope received Cardinal O'Connell of Boston in audience today and congratulated him on his pilgrimage to the Holy Land. His Holiness added that education in Palestine was a great problem and that there was a great need of schools. He then asked Cardinal O'Connell to express his great gratitude to America for the generosity with which it has met his appeals for relief in Central Europe, Russia and the Near East.

BACK M'ADOO, BAN DOHENY

seeking a place as a delegate while Doheny's former counsel (McAdoo) was a Presidential candidate."

The fight over the McNab selection occurred behind closed doors when delegates from the Fourth Congressional District, San Francisco, caucused and picked out the two chosen to go on the McAdoo ticket. Timothy A. Reardon, president of the San Francisco Board of Public Works, a man close to McNab was on hand with a bulging pocket-full of proxies to forestall any opposition to the naming of his friend.

Mattison B. Jones, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination two years ago, came up from Glendale to plead for the indorsement of McAdoo. Jones was one of the Californians who attended the recent McAdoo meeting in Chicago. He opposed the selection of McNab because of his employment by Doheny but to no avail.

ASKS DOHENY QUIT

Opposition to an instructed delegation for McAdoo from California cropped up even before the Bourbon delegates from all parts of the State had comfortably seated themselves in the meeting. Sydney Van Wyck, Jr., San Francisco attorney, started the fireworks by demanding that Doheny, a member of the State committee and second vice-president of the executive committee, resign at once.

Charles A. Barlow of Bakersfield and Louis H. Moser, San Francisco, jumped to their feet and objected to the resolution on the grounds that Doheny had not been given a fair trial.

The motion finally was carried and Doheny's name is to be stricken from the executive committee rolls and his retirement from the State body asked immediately.

REED IS HISSED

Mention of the name of Senator James Reed of Missouri brought forth a storm of boos, jeers and hisses when James F. Peck of Oakland denounced the report of the committee of fifteen, headed by Randolph V. Whiting of San Francisco, recommending the creation of a McAdoo campaign committee of five and the reaffirmation of the pledge of support on the part of the California Democrats.

"Reed has challenged McAdoo and the latter has not accepted the defi — it's not whitewash that that Presidential candidate needs but something of an acidicty that will remove oil," Peck declared while attempts were made to howl him down by the McAdoo faction.

Former State Senator John B. Curtin, Tuolumne county, precipitated a second tumult by introducing a resolution rescinding the action of the committee on January 19, last, when McAdoo was given the approval of the State body. Curtin asked for an uninstructed delegation from California.

Chairman Judge Claude F. Purkitt of Willows tied himself into a series of parliamentary bow knots while former Senator Phelan, Whiting and William J. McAdoo writhed in McAdooish agony as the debate against their favorite, the former Secretary, waxed hot and the flood of personalities began to threaten the decorum of the delegates.

CHALLENGE HURLED

Dave Ewing, former chairman of the State committee, challenged everybody, including the press thrice, to show that McAdoo had been guilty of any wrong doing.

Promise of a rival ticket of Democrats opposed to McAdoo, but listed on the May 6 ballot as "uninstructed" was made by Barlow, the leader of the McAdoo opposition in Southern California.

"McAdoo is a carpet-bagger in California and has been living off the sale of influence," Barlow declared.

"Wets" who were expected to inject the name of Governor Al Smith into the proceedings, remained in the discreet background.

The naming of the eight delegates-at-large sent the delegates into further debate and brought forth another lengthy series of arguments, replete with charges that delegates were illegally voting proxies and that attempts were being made to cram the proceedings down the Democratic throats of those present.

WOMEN IN RACE

Five women candidates from the Congressional districts north of the Tehachapi entered the race for delegates-at-large but there were but two places available.

The Southern California delegation avoided the possibility of friction by presenting a ticket of four names and then putting it through the convention.

The women of the north preferred to go to the convention with their candidacies with the following result, brought about after the creation of considerable friction in the ranks: Mrs. Stoney, 115 votes; Mrs. Hotchkiss, 154; Mrs. Katherine Braddock, Stockton, 65; Mrs. Mazellia A. McCarthy, San Mateo, 17, and Mrs. Nettie May Miller, Oakland, 42. Mrs. Stoney and Mrs. Hotchkiss were declared the two Northern California delegates.

Just for good measure, sixteen of those present voted for Mrs. Gladys Magill of San Francisco, whose name was not formally put before the gathering.

A campaign committee consisting of Randolph V. Whiting, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic State Central Committee, San Francisco; Will J. Hays, Oakland; Charles W. Fay, San Francisco, postmaster under the Wilson administration; Louis N. Mooser, attorney, and Frank J. Hennesy, attorney, San Francisco, was named by Chairman Purkutt to handle the nominating petition of the delegates. The petitions are to be circulated at once and filed with the Secretary of State about the 20th inst., according to present plans.

LETTER FROM M'ADOO

A letter from McAdoo conveying a greeting to the California Democrats and "assuring them of a deep appreciation of their indorsement" was ready early in the meeting.

Resolutions in memory of Woodrow Wilson who was described as a "martyr, who has become one of the stepping stones in civilization," were adopted by the delegates.

Previous to the meeting, the Bourbon representatives lunched at the Palace as the guests of the Women's Democratic Club of California. Mrs. Mazellia A. McCarthy was toastmistress and talks were made by the various delegates. Mrs. Charles L. Donohue, Democratic National Committeewoman from California, was the guest of honor and made one of the principal talks. An eulogy to Wilson was delivered by Miles Hammond of San Francisco.

A select committee of fifteen met in the morning and formulated the plan for the nomination of the delegates. Creation of the McAdoo campaign committee was provided for in this report.

The campaign committee met tonight and informally talked over plans for the McAdoo fight in this State.

OIL COMMITTEE TO QUIZ BURNS

one of the McLean telegrams, Mrs. Duckstein said:

"Oh, very few people know that my 'pet' name is 'Mary.' Her name is Miss Jessie Duckstein.

MRS. DUCKSTEIN RETICENT

Mrs. Duckstein was then at the oil committee hearing room in response to a subpoena and she declined to discuss the reference to the "McLean investigation" in her telegram.

Expressing his willingness to tell the oil committee all he knows, Burns said he understood the code employed in the "Mary" message was used at one time by agents of the Justice Department.

"The Department of Justice," he said, "never had anything to do with the oil scandal, or Teapot Dome. I never gave any tips to McLean. The only telegram to McLean that I know about was all right. It contained no tips of any kind."

Burns would not deny the report that McLean was on the roll of special agents of the bureau of investigation at a nominal salary of $1 a month, and that he had been furnished with an official badge and a pistol.

After learning that the "Mary" message was in a one-time Department of Justice cipher, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, the dominant figure of the oil investigation, sent to the department for an official copy.

REQUEST REFUSED

At first his request was refused on the ground that his agent was not sufficiently identified and the Senator then wrote a formal letter to the department.

A formal subpoena for Burns was withheld, Senator Walsh saying that he "would be invited" to appear in the course customarily followed in the case of government officials after the committee resumes its hearing next Tuesday.

Adverting to the code matter in the Senate, Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, charged Atty.-Gen. Daugherty with responsibility for use of a Department of Justice cipher in telegrams sent on behalf of McLean.

"I would like to ask the President himself," said Senator Caraway, "whether he had any communication with those people in Florida. He owes an explanation to 100,000,000 people as to why McLean had any right to a 'quick and easy access to the White House.'"

The oil committee examined John F. Major, author of most of the McLean telegrams, and John J. Spurgeon, managing editor of the Washington Post as to McLean's private wire to Florida, but got little additional information

GET MORE TELEGRAMS

Closing the committee-room doors, the investigators examined a new batch of telegrams and records of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. It found additional code messages and that three mysterious telephone calls had been made to Albert B. Fall at New Orleans from the New Willard Hotel here.

Officials of the telephone company will be asked why the name of the person or persons making the calls do not appear in the records.

The investigators probably never will get trace of hundreds of messages that it desired particularly—those that passed over the private wire McLean had installed to Palm Beach at the time his representatives were seeking to keep him off the witness stand.

Major told the committee today that he personally had destroyed the copies of those sent from Washington, and that the copies received at Palm Beach, also had been destroyed.

ANIMAL DISEASE UNDER CONTROL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, March 1.—Executives of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, here and in Washington, and State experts stationed here in the campaign against the foot-and-mouth epidemic in Central California, made simultaneous announcements today that the epidemic is definitely controlled. Steps were taken to remove the provisional quarantine from fifteen counties that adjoin the infected area.

Developments today were an order by Army authorities barring all but federally inspected meats and pasteurized milk from Army posts in California, and a small new outbreak in herds in Contra Costa and Alameda counties. George Radcliffe, chairman of the State Board of Control, conferred with the State and government experts today regarding the part the State is desired to play in the indemnification of the cattle owners whose cattle must be destroyed. Radcliffe estimated that the cost to the State would be $500,000 in the event that there was no further spread of the epidemic.

G. H. Hecke, director of the State Board of Agriculture, and the other experts in charge of the campaign against the epidemic, renewed plans to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that he move to modify or remove many of the embargoes placed throughout the country on California live stock and other items. Some of these embragoes were undoubtedly prompted by hysteria, Hecke said, and applied to goods from which there was no possible danger of contagion.

The veterinarians of the fifteen provisionally quarantined counties were directed to examine all live stock in their respective jurisdiction as a first step toward the removal of the quarantine. Railroads have already been notified that they remove milk and cream from these counties.

Slaughter of infected animals progressed today after having started two days ago.

VAST RUM TRADE SEEN

Coast Guard Officials Say 100,000 Cases Smuggled Off Atlantic and Gulf Coasts Monthly

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—One hundred thousand cases of liquor are smuggled into the United States monthly by rum runners off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, according to coast guard officials, charged with preventing the traffic. This estimate was given to the House Appropriations Subcommittee which drafted by the deficiency bill reported today alloting an additional $13,853,989 for the coast guard service.

In testimony before the subcommittee February 25, Commander Root of the service, who had made a special investigation of rum-running activities said:

"The smugglers' high-sea forces at present consist of 34 steamer and 132 sailing vessels, ranging in size from 35 tons to 3000 tons. Some of these vessels are capable of speed up to nineteen knots. The majority fly foreign flags. The auxiliary crafts for making shore contracts, consist of several hundred gasoline-driven craft, about 30 per cent of which are good for twenty-five knots.

"With our present force, during the past twenty-two months, we have been able to put out of business, by capture or otherwise, 153 vessels. We have captured the equivalent of 31,000 cases of liquor and caused to be jettisoned under fire, an amount estimated at 20,000 cases.

"The so-called 'rum row' off New York is maintained ostensibly as a good business proposition, but principally as a diversion to hold to that point the attention of as many Coast Guard vessels as possible."

ANGLO-FRENCH UNITY NEAR

Macdonald and Poincare in Harmony on Rhine and Inter-Allied Debt Troubles

BY HENRY WALES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 1.—Cancellation of inter-Allied debts and neutralization of League of Nations control of the Rhineland is suggested in Prime Minister Macdonald's recent letter to Premier Poincare, it was learned tonight from a well-informed source.

Mr. Macdonald's letter and Premier Poincare's reply, which will be made public tomorrow night, contain startling new policies regarding the two most vital questions in European politics, reparations and French security. Regarding reparations, Mr. Macdonald's letter expresses hope that the result of the experts' inquiry will be the basis for a general settlement, which will lead to the possibility of canceling the inter-Allied debts.

Regarding French security, Mr. Macdonald believes security for France and all of Europe could be obtained if some part of the German territory—obviously the right bank of the Rhine—could be neutralized or placed under control of the League of Nations. The British Prime Minister says he wants a general settlement of the questions of security and reparations, which vitally concern the relations of Great Britain and France.

I learn that Premier Poincare's letter in reply expresses the strongest sympathy with Mr. Macdonald's ideas on reparations and debts and also agrees in principle to the Rhineland suggestion, while pointing out that France never had the idea of annexing any German territory.

The Macdonald-Poincare exchange of letters is expected to strengthen the failing franc and open the way to a Premiers' conference, somewhat restoring the Anglo-French entente.

TEACHERS SUE BOARD

An Outstanding Watch Value

Because we advertise this as "An Outstanding Watch Value," you must not understand that it is a so-called "Cut Price Sale." The Geo. D. Davidson Co. indulges in no such merchandising contortions. We are just passing on to you the savings made possible by an unusual circumstance.

Briefly, the Waltham Watch Co. discontinued making this model. We, as one of the world's largest users of high-grade watches, were offered the unsold stock at a greatly reduced price. We took several hundred of them, added our usual profit, and that makes the price to you $50, instead of the $90 at which they were made to sell.

Now, it's more than likely that in some other cities this same watch may be on sale, for the unsold portion was undoubtedly offered other dealers. And if—now, mark you, IF—they bought largely, and paid cash, and were modest about their added profit, they, too, may be selling them for $50 each.

But we have them right here in Los Angeles at that price, and that is the fact that should interest every man who needs a high-class life-time watch. Mind you, this is not a low-grade movement in a feather-weight case, made to sell at a price. On the contrary, it is a complete high-grade product of the "Waltham" factories.

Read the detailed description carefully.
Mail orders filled as long as the stock lasts.

A thin, 12-size "Waltham," with Breguet hairspring, micrometric regulator, safety pinion and 15 ruby jewels in settings. A special solid 18-k. gold "Waltham" case, with invisible joints, a sensible pendant and an 18-k. dust cap. A complete, high-class "Waltham" product. The price, $50, includes a handsome monogram.

REBEL PLEA FOR TREATY REFUSED

Obregon Bluntly Declines to Recognize Insurgents

Reply to Mediation Offer is Seen as Final

One Capital Single Hold-out in Nation

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Armistice overtures made to the government by insurgent leaders were flatly and finally turned down by President Obregon today.

In a message replying to armistice feelers put out by the rebels President Obregon bluntly declared that he would not recognize the insurgents and would not treat with them. The message was issued by President Obregon in reply to suggestions made at the Chambers of Commerce convention at Monterey that the business leaders of the republic be empowered to intercede as mediators between the rebels and the government.

Formally it was a reply to these suggestions but in reality it was a rejection of the overtures for armistice made by the rebel chieftains.

REFUSES MEDIATION

"On the basis you propose I cannot accept any intervention or co-operation of the commerce chambers in seeking an early pacification of the republic," President Obregon said in his reply.

"The basis you mention is altogether against the public administration and decorum for they place the government on a level with the discontented and disloyal groups of soldiers with whom you suggest the constitutional government should enter into parleys. Your armistice suggestion is inopportune for it would be equivalent to giving the rebels time to reorganize and cause further damage in zones in which they are still operating.

"I am certain, if you leave history to judge, that the responsibility for this bloody civil war will be on those disloyal and ambitious officers who rebelled against the constitutional government which committed the error of judging them as honorable military men, and not on the government."

To a similar suggestion from the National League for Peace, which recognizes, however, that the government could not possibly enter into parleys with the insurgents, President Obregon replied:

"I am glad to note that you in your views on pacification realize it is impossible for me to enter into negotiations with the rebel groups. I, more than anyone else, am vitally interested in the re-establishment of peace throughout the republic, but I consider this should be established on a solid basis and one which will furnish guarantees to our incipient democracy and future definite functioning of our institutions. Only on such a basis could the republic's peace be effectively obtained. The various rebellious groups who have already submitted to constitutional authority have been treated well and therefore there cannot be any charges made against the government in its present stand against the rebels still in the field.

"The executives under me consider offensive the message of the commerce chambers' convention addressed to me and suggesting suspension of the campaign against the insurgents and that your plan which suggests my intervention in the name of humanity is much more feasible."

NO SERIOUS CONSIDERATION

President Obregon and the military officers here have not seriously considered any of the numerous peace plans made by women's organizations and other pacifists since the revolt broke out.

The policy of treating the enlisted men among the rebels with clemency is still being pursued but President Obregon has intimated that no mercy will be shown the leaders responsible for the revolt.

With the fall of Jalapa but one State capital—Oaxaca—remains in rebel control. The Federal advance and the retaking of Jalapa has been admittedly slow but it is pointed out that within twenty-four hours after the Federals capture a rebel city there is railway connection between the city and the rest of Mexico. This indicates that the Federals are leaving all ground they cover well garrisoned to prevent any rebel rearguard action or a possible return of insurgent bands.

Conditions throughout the republic are now virtually normal, excepting for the Southeastern States of Campeche, Tobasco, Yucatan and a portion of Oaxaca about the Colima-Jalisca border.

JURY CHARGES STIR CAPITAL

jury report. They thought they had made a thorough investigation and they were unable to recall any evidence which tended to involve members of Congress in the Veterans' Bureau scandal.

FORBES TO ACT

There was nothing in the report to indicate whether the members involved belonged either to the House or to the Senate. Senators thought the report meant House members while Representatives felt sure that it applied to Senators.

Following the disclosure of his indictment today Col. Forbes broke his silence and promised to disclose sensational charges when he begins to defend himself. Welcoming the opportunity afforded him by the indictment to reveal a "hell engendered conspiracy" against "his honor and integrity," Col. Forbes made sweeping denials of the charges of bribery and conspiracy, condemned the Senate committee which investigated the Veterans Bureau, and said he would give details to the public regarding attempted political corruption in Washington which will involve men in high places. Col. Forbes and his legal advisers are preparing a list of about forty witnesses to be called in his defense. Among them is Mrs. Caroline Votawa, a sister of the late President Harding. What evidence Mrs. Votawa is expected to give on behalf of Forbes has not been disclosed.

TRIAL IN APRIL
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Trial of Col. Chas. R. Forbes, former head of the United States Veterans' Bureau, and Col. John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, who were indicted Friday on charges of bribery and curruption in connection with the administration of the veterans' funds, will be held in Chicago early in April, it was announced today.

Attorney John W. H. Crim, special assistant to the Attorney-General who directed the inquiry, left for Washington today with his staff. They refused to comment upon the special report of the grand jury which outlines vague charges of graft against "two members of Congress," government officials and other unnamed individuals. The evidence in their possession will be laid before the President, it was promised here. Further revelations are expected in Washington.

The Veteran's Bureau inquiry is not ended with the indictment of Forbes and Thompson. The suggestion made in the grand jury report that "Livermore," "Tupper Lake" and "Perryville" contracts be investigated with a view to other indictments will be carried out, according to Mr. Crim. He did not state just where he would strike next.

FRAME-UP CHARGED
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Severely denouncing witnesses before the Chicago grand jury that indicted him for conspiracy and bribery in connection with his administration of the Veterans' Bureau, Charles R. Forbes, declared in two statements issued from his attorney's office today that he was a victim of a "frame-up" and that he was prepared to name a "high individual, unofficially connected with the government" who he charged "laid the plot."

It was announced that the groundwork for Forbes's defense was being laid, and a list of witnesses being considered. Friends of Forbes indicated that Mrs. Caroline Votaw, sister of the late President Harding, would be called as a witness, but Forbes's attorney declared he had made no plans to summon her.

TO GO TO CHICAGO

Papers had not been served on Forbes late today, but it was supposed that arrangements had been made for him to appear voluntarily before a United States commissioner here and arrange bond. He will go to Chicago voluntarily, it was said, and not oppose extradiction.

Forbes was particularly severe in his attacks on Elias E. Mortimer, named as the agent for Thompson & Black, contractors and Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer. He attacked Mortimer's testimony before the Senate investigating committee, and asked in one of his statements why Mortimer had not been indicted.

Forbes charged that Gen. Sawyer's work in connection with bureau activities had "more to do with preventing proper administration of th elaws for the relief of the ex-service men than all other causes combined." He made a sizzling attack on the physician of the late President Harding, his charges ringing with invective and denunciation.

PROPOUNDS QUERY

Alluding to his administration of hospital construction, Forbes declared:

"If I were crooked, or dishonest, would I seek to locate hospitals on government property when the law gave me the right to choose the ground? Would I have turned over the construction to the Army and Navy to whom I gave entire jurisdiction, control and authority?"

He added he believed both the Army and Navy had the "finest engineering organizations in the United States."

In this connection, however, he asserted he proposed to name "at the proper time every individual who has been to see me and the influences they brought to bear upon me in connection with hospital construction."

"I don't care where it hits," he added emphatically.

TIPPERARY SONG CO-AUTHOR DEAD

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, March 1.—Henry James Williams, co-author of the famous British battle ditty, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," is dead here.

He was the author of numerous songs, but it was "Tipperary" that made him and his collaborator, Jack Judge, famous to the ends of the world. "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" was hawked from publisher to publisher before it was accepted, and when finally it was first sung the year before the war, it caught on instantly and was at the height of its popularity when the war broke out, and the soldiers began singing it as they went over the top. It is said it was translated into every important language, including Chinese.

ARCHEOLOGIST GIVEN HONORS

Charles Fletcher Lummis Greeted on Birthday

Reception for Founder of Southwest Museum

Walked to Los Angeles in 1884 from Wisconsin

Charles Fletcher Lummis, founder of the Southwest Museum, and one of America's foremost archeologists, who was 65 years of age yesterday, was honored last night at a banquet given at the museum by the board of trustees of the institution. Eighty-five prominent citizens of the Southland enjoyed the excellent Spanish dinner and listened to a musical program and addresses given by Dr. David Starr Jordan, Dr. Milbank Johnson, president of the museum, and Dr. John Comstock, director of the museum. Joseph Scott was toastmaster.

A feature of the entertainment was the unveiling of an exceptionally fine portrait of Mr. Lummis, painted by Ron Menendez. The dinner was served at 7 o'clock in the art gallery and between 8 and 11 o'clock hundreds of friends of Mr. Lummis "dropped up" to wish the famous man "many happy returns."

As Dr. Lummis sat accepting with becoming modesty the honors showered upon him, the several speakers praised him for his unstinting efforts in behalf of the museum and his contribution to the field of the fine arts.

Overcome by laudations of himself and his work, Dr. Lummis responded with a brief talk in which he expressed the belief that he was not entirely deserving of so generous praise but nevertheless expressed deep-seated appreciation. He assured his hosts that the fact that he had lived so long in California and had got so much out of his life here made it incumbent upon him that he attempt to repay the State and community in some way. He added that he hoped to continue to enjoy the health and strength that would enable him to advance his work in his chosen field.

During the course of his talk he traced the history of the Southwest Society of the Archeological Institute of America.

As part of the musical program given during the course of the evening, the Overman Sisters of Santa Barbara sang a number of English and Spanish songs, the latter being composed by Dr. Lummis.

Mr. Lummis came to Los Angeles in 1884, having walked across the continent from Wisconsin when walking wasn't as easy as it is today and when the friendly honk of a motor car was unknown. For three years Mr. Lummis was city editor of The Times. He then went to New Mexico in the interests of science and after returning to Los Angeles established the Land of Sunshine magazine, now printed under the title of Out West.

The first contribution to popular scientific education in the Southland by Mr. Lummis was his organization of the Southwest Branch of the Archeological Institute of America, the only branch west of Wisconsin. Within three years the baby branch of the institution here was larger than the parent society at Boston, at that time in its twenty-ninth year.

Mr. Lummis started his work by collecting rare and unique specimens in a room in the Hamburger Building. Later he moved the collection to the Public Library and when the room there became too small to house his treasures he established the nucleus of the present magnificent Southwest Museum.

Recently Mr. Lummis deeded his beautiful home at 200 East Avenue 43 to the Southwest Museum, to be used as a part of the institution. His residence is now being used as the history department of which he is curator. Mr. Lummis is a writer of rare ability and he is now working on the third edition of a volume of old Spanish songs.

Mrs. Barbara Dacier, in charge of children's work at the museum, announced last night that the Junior Club now has an enrollment of 350 children and that the music division, consisting of 115 boys and girls, is rehearsing "The Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Hughes. The museum children's chorus will sing the beloved song for "Uncle John" and his great KHJ audience on Easter Day.

It was also announced last night that the stagecraft and art department of the University of California, Southern Branch, under supervision of Mrs. Nellie Huntington Gere, will open its annual exhibition in the art gallery today. The exhibit will be open to the public for a month.

MATSUKATA NOT DEAD AS ANNOUNCED

Aged Japanese Prince Returns to Life After Heart Had Stopped

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, March 2.—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata whose death was announced yesterday and for whom the entire nation went into mourning, is alive today and has a bare chance for recovery, according to statements made by his physicians this morning. The Prince was pronounced dead at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning, when his heart and respiration stopped. Shortly thereafter, however, he began to show faint signs of life.

By what the physicians pronounce a "miraculous recovery" Matsukata, who is in his ninetieth year, slowly came back to life. The astounded physicians worked over him desperately and in the afternoon he had so far regained consciousness that he was able to acknowledge by the pressure of his hand the presence of Viscount Makino, the Emperor's messenger.

This morning he took nourishment and slept for a time. All the Tokio newspapers, but two carried stories of the Prince's death, together with lengthy obituaries.

TOLL OF BLAST REACHES FORTY

sy celluloid sheets in every one of the Nixon buildings—showered embers, blazing TNT and boiling acid broadcast by the explosion. The blue flames of the highly inflammable celluloid with which all the structures were filled burst forth on the heels of the blast like a huge blow-torch, cutting down everyone and everything within a radius of several hundred feet.

The screams of men and girls pinned down by steel girders, crushed by falling walls of tile or caught beneath severed pipe lines which showered them with nitric acid, mingled with the cries of housewives and children whose dwellings only a few feet from the celluloid works, came tumbling down upon them.

Men, wounded, and frenzied, with clothes burned off, and bodies scorched black, ran out upon the road to New Brunswick, two miles away.

SOLDIERS RUSHED

A hundred soldiers hastily mobilized by Maj. A. S. Casad at the Raritan arsenal, were speeded by automobile to the place of the explosion almost before the echoes had died away. Accompanied by the arsenal's ambulances and hospital corps, they were the first to attack the flames, and start rescue work.

Later it was discovered that four of the arsenal high-explosive magazines had been crushed by the explosion and the roofs of two others blown in. Fourteen companies of firemen helped check the flames which for a time threatened to spread to the arsenal's score of powder warehouses.

Doctors and nurses from hospitals in near-by cities were early on the scene. Numerous heroic rescues were recorded, nurses and soldiers working side by side amid the smoke and dense yellow fumes which all day rolled up from the ruins as tank after tank of nitric acid and ammonia burst.

LIKE BATTLE SECTOR

An hour after the explosion the village of Nixon, and the twenty acres or more of buildings which had housed the explosive works looked like a sector of battle front.

Only a few fragments of wall remained standing.

For two miles the narrow road leading from the main highway was lined with automobiles hub deep in mud, past which rushed fire apparatus, ambulances, hearses, police and army cars, and people running and crying.

Those uninjured, who had seen the explosion, were unable to tell what caused it. Those who were in it, and survived, were unable to talk.

It was said the TNT was part of 2,000,000 pounds that had been purchased from the government's Raritan arsenal by the Columbia Salvage Corporation and removed from big shells at the arsenal magazines.

The powder had been turned over to the Ammonite Company at Nixon, whose employees were the first victims of the blast.

ADDS TO MYSTERY

The mystery of the explosion was deepened by the declaration of company officials and employees that, theoretically, TNT should burn without exploding; that, although it is a high explosive, it is a "slow" one and requires a heavy detonating cap to set it off. The only explanation advanced was that friction, a short circuited electric wire, or a foreign substance in one of the tanks fired some of the TNT when it was confined, causing it to explode and act as a detonator for all the TNT in the works.

Although the fire was considered under control tonight, additional men and apparatus were summoned with reinforcements of the State police to guard against a possible spread of the flames to the alcohol storage tanks and the few ruined buildings where stocks of sheet celluloid are exposed to flying sparks.

RADIO WAVE IS DIRECTED BY MARCONI

Inventor Succeeds in Sending Messages to Specific Section

BY PAUL WILLIAMS
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, March 1.—Guglielmo Marconi has succeeded in harnessing the waves set in motion by radio energy.

The inventor of wireless communication after two years of research can concentrate and direct those electrical waves much as light is controlled and directed in a searchlight.

With certain new controls at the sending station, Sig. Marconi can direct his message toward a specific country and none other can listen in. So far he has not been able to confine the waves so they can be confined by one station but he is confident that he will achieve this.

Marconi's announcement follows the government's report on imperial wireless communications which, if adopted, means the restriction of private enterprise.

Marconi recognizes that there may be fearful possibilities in his new control of waves. He admits that no one knows what would happen if excessively high power were put behind one of these radio beams and directed at a powder magazine. He hopes eventually to confine these beams to a width of a few hundred yards at their destination. He refuses to speculate upon the results of a beam with 1000 kilowatts behind it aimed at something explosive 2000 miles distant.

RATE ON GRAIN IS HELD REASONABLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Rates on grain moving into the southeastern quarter of the United States from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast are reasonable as they stand, it was decided today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Producers and shippers in the Northwest and Middle West attacked the rates and sought changes also in transit and reshipping arrangements. If any changes are made, the decision indicated, they will be delayed until the end of the general investigation into Southern class rates, now pending.

MARY GARDEN and the STEINERT PIANO

THIS world-famous artist, who will be heard with the Chicago Grand Opera Co., at Philharmonic Auditorium on March third, fourth and fifth, always uses the Steinert Piano—both in her own home and in her public appearances.

Writing of the Steinert, Miss Garden says—"The Steinert Piano is complete perfection of every detail that a piano should be. It was a revelation to me." The endorsement of so eminent an artist is the best advertisement that any piano could receive.

This splendid instrument is the product of Steinert of Boston, one of New England's oldest piano makers. We are indeed proud to be the exclusive local representative for so distinguished an instrument.

MICHIGAN GOVERNOR PROSPECT

Executive Listed Among Those Eligible to Take Navy Portfolio

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Gov. Groesbeck of Michigan was added today to the list of those understood to be under consideration by President Coolidge for appointment as Secretary of the Navy in succession to Edwin Denby, who will retire on the 10th inst.

The Michigan Governor arrived in Washington today, and White House officials said it was expected he would confer with the President before leaving the capital. Friends of Gov. Groesbeck, including Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, who conferred with the President prior to the Governor's arrival, professed to have no knowledge as to whether he was being considered for the Naval Secretaryship, or whether he would accept it if it were offered him.

In addition to Gov. Groesbeck, the names of former Representative Patrick H. Kelley and James E. Davidson, Republican National Committeemen, have been mentioned as Michigan men possibly under consideration to succeed Mr. Denby, himself a resident of Michigan.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 496K Marcellus Ave., Manasquain, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—[Advertisement.

BEVERLY HILLS FOR BOULEVARD

Trustees Favor Widening of Wilshire to Maximum

"Two Hundred Feet if Cost Permits" Is Sentiment

Want to Know How Much it Will be in Advance

Members of the Beverly Hills Board of Trustees, five in number, are scheduled to vote again tomorrow night on the so-called Wilshire Boulevard ordinance.

As the matter now stands, an ordinance fixing the width of the boulevard at 150 feet has passed first reading. Los Angeles proponents of the plan for a thoroughfare of noble width and fitting beauty between the city and the sea urge that it should be 200 feet wide.

Whenever the ordinance has come up, subsequent to first reading, it has been tabled for further consideration at some later date. S. M. Spalding, president of the board, predicted yesterday that it will be tabled again. The board has ordered a complete survey made of the project so far as it concerns Beverly Hills. This will cover the estimated cost of both 150 and 200-foot widths. No one has yet been named to make this survey.

ESTIMATED COST

Chairman Spalding of the board said yesterday:

"We have tentative figures now from Mr. Spence, an engineer of long experience in real estate matters, and personally I doubt if we shall get any better, no matter where we go. I find no opposition, except among the real estate dealers and those whose property, facing the boulevard, is directly affected."

Edward Spence, member of the board, is also engineer to the Rodeo Land and Water Company, and laid out the town of Beverly Hills. His figures, prepared with the assistance of the Beverly Hills assistant City Engineer, follow:

Total condemnation costs, including severance costs and damage to existing buildings	$1,125,810
Less enhancement in value by reason of widening	94,700
Net condemnation costs	1,031,110
Plus improvements (paving, etc.)	900,000
Plus legal proceedings	50,000
Total cost	$1,981,110

A poll of the other members of the board, made yesterday by The Times, yielded the following expressions of sentiment:

HOW TRUSTEES STAND

William Woods: "Whatever a 200-foot boulevard may cost, it is worth it to Beverly Hills. Regardless of what is done at either end of the boulevard, between Beverly Hills and Los Angeles or between Beverly Hills and the sea, a 200-foot main thoroughfare through Beverly Hills is worth it to Beverly Hills alone. The distributed cost I estimate at $20 a lot for all property owners within the city limits.

"What we need we need right now. We ought to decide this minute for 100 years ahead. The longer we wait, the greater the expense and the harder it will be to grasp an opportunity that we have between our fingers now."

O. M. McCartney: "I am in favor of the general idea. All the Trustees, to the best of my knowledge, favor it. But we ought to have something more definite to act upon than a proposal, however meritorious and alluring, before we commit the city to heavy expense. We don't know what that expense will be, except in the most general way, on the strength of a tentative estimate. So far as I know, the Board of Trustees is waiting with an open mind to judge the facts when they shall be presented."

Norman A. Pabst: "Personally, I believe that the widening of Wilshire Boulevard through Beverly Hills, regardless of whether it was widened the balance of its length, would be a wonderful thing for Beverly Hills. Furthermore, I have gone on record favoring such a width (200 feet) provided funds for the accomplishment of such a project could be raised. However, I doubt if Beverly Hills can raise sufficient funds, either by assessment or by bonding, to carry out the project. I am willing to support any width—whether 150, 170 or 200 feet—up to the limit that Beverly can afford."

Edward Spence: "When Henry O'Melveny of the Community Development Association first outlined his plan to us, we all thought it a wonder idea. As I began to turn over some of the practical bearings in my mind, however, I was set to wondering how much it would cost.

"I talked among the property owners and the real estate dealers and got such figures as I could. These drew down to the totals which you have. I do not pretend that the figures are accurate; in fact, I should call them a wild guess; but they gave us something to go on.

"You will understand that the summary you have does not include the most of beautifying the boulevard. We did not know enough about that phase of the plans to make any estimate.

"And you will understand further that our figures are based on the supposition that whatever plans are adopted will not call for abandonment as a business district of the territory which the boulevard will pass. The lots that face the boulevard were sold as business lots. If a parkway fifty feet wide is to run the length of the boulevard on either side of it, many of these lots will be cut down to such a shallow depth that they will be virtually worthless.

"Before we do anything, we ought to have a definite understanding of just what it is and how much it will cost."

LaFollette Is Not Candidate on G.O.P. Ticket

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, leader of the radical bloc in Congress, is not a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

In a letter today to C. J. Olson, chairman of the LaFollette campaign committee of North Dakota, explaining the withdrawal of his name from the North Dakota primaries, the Wisconsin Senator said that the Cleveland convention would run a steam roller operated by the same forces that controlled in 1912 and other years. The letter is interpreted by party leaders here as marking a step in a well-defined LaFollette program for a third party.

None Hurt as Train Strikes Huge Boulder

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONNELLSVILLE (Pa.) March 1.—The Capitol Limited on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, westbound, narrowly escaped a wreck last night when the engine, rounding a curve, struck a huge boulder which had rolled on the track from a hillside about a mile east of Indian Creek.

The engineer saw the rock in time to apply the emergency brake. The train did not leave the track and no one was hurt.

Old Cruiser Is Adrift at Sea; Eight on Board

[BY RADIO—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, March 1.—The obsolete battle cruiser Sutlej is drifting about the Irish Sea with eight men aboard. This news was brought to Peterhead by a tugboat which was towing the warship from Rosyth to Belfast. The hawsers snapped in a terrific blizzard and the last seen of the Sutlej was thirty miles north of Peterhead.

An omnibus was blown over near Peterhead, but no one was injured. A number of railway lines are blocked by snow drifts in northern England and Scotland.

SOLDIERS MAY GUARD FORESTS

Governor Hears Appeal for Fire Protection

Troops Will be Used When Necessity Arises

State Official Coming Here to Survey Needs

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—The National Guard will be called to patrol the National Forests of Southern California if drought conditions warrant the use of troops, Gov. Richardson told George P. Clements, director of agriculture of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce today. Clements was sent to Sacramento by the Chamber of Commerce and the Southern California Conservation Association.

He asked the Governor to intercede with Secretary Wallace of the Federal Department of Agriculture in an effort to have the National Forests in Southern California closed against campers and to request Secretary Weeks of the War Department to call out Federal troops.

Gov. Richardson said he would not ask for Federal troops, but would gladly send a company of National Guardsmen into the San Gabriel and San Bernardino Mountains to keep out campers and fight forest fires if the use of soldiers is shown to be necessary.

M. B. Pratt, State Forester left for Los Angeles this afternoon with Clements to make an investigation. He will confer with officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the Conservation Association Monday morning and report back to the Governor late Monday afternoon. The Governor said any recommendations offered by Pratt will be adopted.

Go Kill Some Bandits, Snaps Police Leader

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Gen. Smedley D. Butler's orders to his police force today following the report of one murder, scores of hold-ups and robberies, was characteristic of the "leatherneck" leader—terse and right to the point.

"Get out and kill some bandits," he snapped to his subordinates, after looking over the report. And they went.

"From now on," Gen. Butler announced later, "the police force will work in two platoons of twelve hours each and there had better be some results."

SEEK DORMITORY FUNDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—Missouri chapters of the De Molay are conducting a campaign to raise $200,000 to erect a dormitory at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

84-YEAR-OLD MAN MADE YOUNG AGAIN

"Have Found Fountain Of Youth" Says Oklahoman.

Made young as a man of 30 years virtually, 84-year-old J. L. Rowell, well-known rancher of Kaw City, Oklahoma, declares that his amazing rejuvenation was brought about in a few days by an exceedingly simple method.

"I am as young and vigorous as I was at 30," he says, "and am getting in better condition than I ever thought possible. Before I tried this method, I wished I was dead, I was in so hopeless a condition. I was skeptical and had lost faith in everything. Now in a few days, my glands are awakened and I am enjoying a complete rejuvenation and restoration of my youthful vigor." Six months have passed since Mr. Rowell made his test, and he is still convinced that the beneficial effects are lasting. He says, "I have found a real fountain of youth."

Speedy Results Reported.

Mr. Rowell used the now much talked of korex method—the discovery of a Missouri pharmaceutical chemist. As told in a recent issue of the Kansas City Journal, many others are announcing delightful effects received in from 24 hours to a few days after its use. Speedy satisfaction has been reported in cases of weakness after the flu, stiff joints, aching muscles, exhausted nerve force, premature old age and low vitality. Enthusiastic users tell of blessed relief even in obstinate cases of years standing, where all other treatments had failed. This method involves no tremendous expense or painful operation. Tablets are used and are taken privately. It contains no drastic drugs and those who have tested it say the effect is a healthful natural, lasting invigoration.

Available to All.

So many successes have been reported that the American distributors have decided to make the compound available to any person needing it, with the understanding that it costs nothing should it fail to satisfy. Those now wishing to try this amazing invigorator under the terms of this money back guarantee may write to the Melton Laboratories, 4805 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., and a full strength regular two-dollar trial treatment will be mailed in a plain, sealed package. You may enclose two dollars or simply send your name without money and pay two dollars and postage upon delivery. In either case, if you report within ten days you are not satisfied, the laboratories will refund the purchase price upon request. These laboratories are thoroughly responsible and financially reliable. Anyone may accept their guaranteed offer with implicit confidence.—[Advertisement.

DAM PROJECT IS FOUGHT IN SUIT

Injunction Sought Against Colorado River Job

Girand Declares He Will Resist Government

Legal Action Daugherty's Move, is Statement

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 1.—Application for a temporary injunction was filed in the United States District Court here late today against James B. Girand, Phoenix engineer, to stop work on the Diamond Creek project on the Colorado River in Mohave county, Arizona. The defendant was ordered to appear in court on the 15th inst., to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

Construction work on the dam was started last December by Girand and associates of the Colorado River Engineering and Development Company despite the fact that the Federal Power Commission declined to grant him a license to build the dam.

Declaration that he and his associates "are going to resist the government's effort to enjoin us from proceeding with the work at Diamond Creek," was made by James B. Girand in a statement here today when informed that he had been made defendant in a suit to halt construction of the Diamond Creek Dam on the Colorado River.

ACTION OF DAUGHERTY

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 1.—The legal action against the Diamond Creek project instituted at Phoenix today, according to F. H. Bernard, United States District-Attorney for Arizona, was begun at the direction of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty.

The government's petition, Mr. Bernard said, recites that Girand and associates were granted by the Federal Power Commission in June, 1921, a preliminary permit authorizing them to continue survey work at the Diamond Creek site. Late in December, 1923, the petition recites, actual work, consisting of drilling several holes in the walls of the canyon was started at Diamond Creek, although a final license necessary for actual construction work had not been issued the Girand interests by the Federal Power Commission.

The government seeks to enjoin Girand interests from continuing further construction work at Diamond Creek until the Federal Power Commission has authorized this work.

COST TO BE $40,000,000

The Diamond Creek, or Girand project, contemplate the construction of a privately owned hydroelectric power development dam at an estimated cost of $40,000,000. The project, according to specifications made public by the Girand interests would develop approximately 200,000 horsepower.

Announcement that actual construction work had been started at Diamond Creek was made late in December of last year by Girand when he filed affidavits with the State Water Commissioner that he had complied with the provisions of a State permit that would have expired December 31, 1923, had Girand failed to start work. An extension of the State permit had been refused by the State Water Commission at the direction of Gov. Hunt of Arizona.

STEAMER HITS ROCK IN CHINESE RIVER

AMERICANS AMONG 20 PASSENGERS SAFELY LANDED AT CANTON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONGKONG, March 1.—The British river steamer Heungshan, bound from Hong Kong for Canton, with more than 700 passengers, struck a rock in a dense fog last night and went aground twelve miles from Canton. Twenty passengers, including nine American men and women and the mail were taken off by the steamer Kwangsai and safely landed at Canton.

The steamer Tin Sing transferred the remaining passengers to Canton. A British gunboat is standing by the grounded vessel and a tug is proceeding from Hong Kong to attempt to refloat the Heung Shan, whose stern is partly submerged.

MOTHER KILLS SON AND POISONS SELF

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ABERDEEN (S. D.) March 1. Mrs. Jack White, the wife of a rancher living twenty-five miles from Lemmon, shot and killed her son, Lloyd, 26 years of age, as he slept today and then took poison from which she died, according to information received here. Mrs. White, who was about 60, was said to have been grieving over the death of another son several years ago. She left a note declaring her intention of self-destruction and saying that she could not bear to leave her son behind. The bodies will be taken to Boone, Iowa, the Whit former home, for burial.

PERSIANS RESENT ABSENCE OF SHAH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 1.—The people of Persia are censuring the Shah for his repeated lengthy absences in Europe, and are talking of founding a republic, says the Teheran correspondent of the Daily Mail. The entire Persian press, he declared, is strongly in favor of the change. The Shah, who has been in Europe since early November, is now at Nice.

WORLD CIRCLER ALTERED

Tail Heaviness in Plane Noticed on Second Test Flight to Be Corrected by Aviators

The first of the four round-the-world air cruisers was given its second test in the air yesterday by Maj. J. F. Martin and Lieuts. Eric Nelson and Jack Harding, alternate pilot. The plane was tested at Clover Field for balance and maneuvering ability.

A few minor changes in its construction were made yesterday but other alterations will be made today in the tail construction, it was announced at the end of the second flight. Tail heaviness, noticeable Friday during the air cruiser's maiden flight was even more pronounced yesterday when a heavier supply of fuel was carried. According to Lieut. Nelson, engineering officer of the flight, changes will first be made in the position of the horizontal stabilizers on the tail. If this fails to perfect the balance of the plane, a redesigning of the entire tail may be necessary, it was stated.

All the flyers connected with the world flight, but now engaged in yesterday's test, flew in Clover Field airplanes to San Diego, where last night they were guests of honor at a ball.

DATE ADVANCED

The date for the starting of the globe-circling flight has been advanced one day to Sunday, the 16th inst., on which day one of the greatest aviation meets ever witnessed on the Pacific Coast will be held at Clover Field. It previously had been planned for the world flyers to hop off the 15th inst.

Linked with the aviation meet, the proceeds of which will go to the Army Relief Association, the starting of the world air trip is expected by army officers to attract thousands of spectators. According to Lieut. Corliss C. Moseley, commander of Clover Field, invitations to attend the event have been sent to army aviators throughout the United States.

Leaving Clover Field, the four planes will fly north up the Coast, making overnight stops at Sacramento and Vancouver Barracks. A stop of perhaps as long as three or four days will be made at Seattle, where the air cruisers will be fitted with pontoons, preparatory for the flight to Alaska. From Alaska the course of flight will carry the airplanes through the Aleutian Islands, to Japan, down the Littoral through China, French Indo-China, India, Persia, Turkey, through Southern Europe to England, and thence across the Atlantic and across the United States.

COURSE 30,000 MILES

The course of flight embraces more than 30,000 miles. According to Lieut. Moseley, the trip is being made as a physical test of air circumnavigation of the globe. The flight will not be a race against time, it was stated.

The world cruisers are to be equipped with instruments as complete as years of research can make them. Eighteen of these instruments must be watched by the pilots at all times, two of which are new developments of the Army Experimental Station at McCook field, O. All dials are treated with a radium compound for night visibility.

COMPASS DEVICES

For aerial navigation are two compass devices, the first being magnetic, the moving element of which floats in alcohol. Another compass is a new development from McCook Field which depends for its action on current generated by a rotating field which cuts the magnetic lines of force emanating from the earth. The fields are rotated by a small windmill device set in the air blast from the propellor of the ship. This device may be set on any course with extreme accuracy and deviation from the prescribed course will cause the current to flow in one direction of the other, which is indicated on an ammeter dial on the instrument board so the aviator may readily detect when he is off his course.

A flight indicator also developed at the Ohio field immediately shows any change in direction either up or down. The bank indicator consists of a level with a small ball instead of a spirit bubble.

It was poited out at the Douglas plant at Santa Monica that with equipment similar to that supplied the world cruisers, officers flew from McCook Field to Boston above the clouds at all times. So accurate were the instruments that they were able to descend and land in a small field.

The usual tachometer, altimeter, oil and gas pressure gauges and water temperature indicators are carried. Owing to the great amount of gasoline to be carried, moveable stabliators compensate the varying amount of gasoline in the tank. All the usual devices for the Liberty motor are carried in addition to the instruments mentioned.

BLACKMAIL SUSPECT IS TAKEN HERE

Ends Nation-wide Search for Man Wanted in Ohio Extortion Case

Search for Blacky Madson, who is wanted in Cincinnati in connection with an alleged blackmail scheme which attempted to extort several thousand dollars from a wealthy man there and for whom Department of Justice agents have been scouring the country for many months, ended yesterday when he was picked up here.

According to the department he was traced to the city several days ago. Special Agent Meeham of the department and Officer Reimer of the District Attorney's office made the arrest late yesterday.

Madson, who also goes under the name of Ralph G. Sheridan, officers say, is wanted in connection with the Don Osborn case in Ohio. His name is linked with those of H. R. Putman, Rose Putman and another who are declared to have carried on a well-laid campaign to obtain between $250,000 and $600,000 from the wealthy man.

Charges of impersonating a Federal officer, of conspiring in the impersonation and of extortion have been preferred against him, according to the local department. The gang is said to have approached Osborn representing themselves as Federal agents and then to have threatened him with charges of which they were about to inform the government.

According to Lucien Wheeler of the Department of Justice, Blacky Madson will be held here pending his removal to Ohio.

Great Value of Salvage Corps in Fires Is Told

How the salvage corps of the Los Angeles Fire Department effected a saving of approximately $80,000 to the owners of two downtown business establishments which were visited by fire during the past week, was told yesterday by Fire Chief Walter Scott at the meeting of the executive committee of the Safety and Fire Prevention Bureau of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was the first held since the reorganization of the committee following new appointments to it by President William Lacy of the chamber. The committee is headed by J. L. Van Norman and numbers among its membership Capt. McDowell of the police department, Chief Scott of the fire department, J. J. Backus, chief building inspector, and many others interested in safety and fire prevention work in Los Angeles.

"While at the time of these two fires," said Chief Scott, "one at 828 South Broadway and the other at 310 South Broadway, there was but one salvage company in operation, enough money was saved to the owners of the business establishments affected to demonstrate conclusively that the idea of the city operating these corps is an excellent and practical one.

"The establishment of these salvage corps is the biggest step forward ever taken by the local fire department. Already the city has been assured a 5 per cent reduction in insurance rates, which will mean a saving of thousands of dollars annually."

CHARGE DON PEDRO DAM FUND JUGGLED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MODESTO, March 1.—Sensational disclosures, asserting irregularity and juggling of the funds of the Turlock and Modesto Irrigation districts during the construction of Don Pedro Dam, and charges of gross negligence on the part of certain individuals connected with the giant project, are contained in the report on the audit of the Don Pedro dam joint account as presented and read before the board of directors of the Modesto Irrigation District in a special session here today.

NEW METHOD HEALS RUPTURE

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery Makes Truss or Operation Unnecessary.

Kansas City, Mo.—(Special)—A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well-known Hernia specialist of this city. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Los Angeles Times who writes him at his office, 1813 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.—[Advertisement.

No Arrests to be Made Before 15th Inst.

Motorists Must be Able to Prove Application

End of Renewal Period Sees Customary Rush

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Sheriffs, chiefs of police, marshals and other peace officers of California were today instructed by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles, to make no arrests of motorists using 1923 license plates before March 15 provided it can be shown that application has been made for new plates. The 1924 renewal period will end today and because of the eleventh-hour flood of applications, it will be a physical impossibility for the division to make immediate delivery of all plates and registration certificates, it was stated.

No 1923 nonresident registrations will be recognized after today unless evidence of submission of the proper fee to the division can be produced, Marsh said.

Renewal of automobile licenses by all branch offices of the California Automobile Association and Southern California Automobile Club will hereafter be discontinued, according to announcement today by the division of motor vehicles. Instead, it was stated, a new service will be initiated by these clubs whereby dealers may obtain plates for new cars. The clubs will be permitted to retain their present supply of plates for this purpose. This service will obtain in more than fifty California cities.

HARBOR BOARD BOOKS SEIZED

Grand Jury Will Examine Ledgers and Checks

Confiscated Documents Are Declared Valuable

Bank Deals Understood to be Revealed in Papers

Investigators from the District Attorney's office yesterday seized a number of bank ledgers, checks and other documents bearing on the charges of mismanagement, irregularities and graft in the administration of Los Angeles Harbor affairs.

The seizures were made under the authority of grand jury subpoenas, issued by Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley in preparation for the opening of the harbor investigation before the inquisitorial body on Tuesday.

NATURE WITHHELD

While none of the investigators or officials checking the records would indicate the nature of the documents obtained, it was learned that bank transactions said to have formed the basis for harbor lands and leases were among the papers covered by the grand jury subpoenas.

At the same time the investigators served personal appearance subpoenas on dozens of individuals whose stories will be heard by the grand jury, beginning Tuesday morning.

The intimate details of the transaction by which W. E. Woods advertising promoter, and Edgar McKee, president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, raised $3200 from harbor business interests for sixteen pages of advertising in a booklet of harbor information printed by the city, are among the facts sought by Dist. Atty. Keyes. President McKee admitted at the meeting of the Harbor Board Friday that the soliciting for this advertising was done without authority of the board and declared that 75 per cent of the money raised was given to Mr. Woods.

DOCUMENTS IMPORTANT

The District Attorney's office considers the documents sought by it of great importance. A thorough inspection of all contracts, receipts, bank transactions and checks will place the investigators in a position to thoroughly check the testimony of every witness brought before the grand jury and asked about matters known to them.

While the county machinery was being prepared for rapid action, the harbor situation at the City Hall remained unchanged yesterday.

Officials in touch with the attitude of the City Council said they were confident that the Council will sustain a removal of McKee if asked for confirmation by the Mayor. While the Council's action will not be unanimous at present indications, the Mayor is certain of being backed by the Council if he decides to settle the harbor matter himself.

The only statement forthcoming from Mayor Cryer on the situation was that he is still investigating the various phases of the entire harbor mess.

McKEE DENIES PROFIT

Commissioner McKee yesterday reiterated his statement that he did not make a nickel out of the booklet advertising deal and that he was active only in the interests of the city and with a view of saving the harbor board $800 in the expenditure of $3500 for the books.

"I am going to forget all the past and do some constructive work in the future," he told the reporters.

The District Attorney's office is anxious to learn the present whereabouts of W. E. Woods, the solicitor of the advertising funds. The man is said to be out of the city. Mr. Keyes and Mr. Shelley are anxious to locate him and obtain his version of the transactions carried on under the contract between him and McKee.

Walter S. Maxwell, real estate dealer and Capt. Lewis Hansen, formerly harbor board land agent at San Pedro, will be among the first witnesses before the grand jury, it was learned yesterday. This indicates that the first matters to be investigated will be the now-famous two suits of clothes accepted by McKee from persons dealing with the harbor board.

March Meek as Chicago Greets Month's Arrival

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 1.—March came to Chicago today a meek and gentle lamb.

Nowhere in the vicinity was the lion roaring or switching his tail but, of course, whether his leonine majesty will pay the city a visit before the expiration of the next thirty-one days the weather forecaster could not prophesy. If the old proverb holds he will roar good and plenty about the time he is ready to retire in favor of Miss April. But times have changed since the war and a lot of traditions have been upset—the lion may pass by.

NATIONS COMBINE IN WAR INTERVENTION

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VIENNA, March 1.—The Greek, Roumanian, Jugo-Slav and Czecho-Slovakian governments today decided to make a joint demarche on Sofia early next week in the hope of averting war between Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria over the Macedonian question. The Bulgarian government will be held directly responsible for any more Macedonian raids into Serbia. All the Jugo-Slav troops are being pushed towards Bulgaria.

CHRISTIANIA, March 1.—Heavy snowstorms have blocked the railroad between Bergen and Christiania and the trains are returning to the terminals unable to buck the drifts.

REVENUE BILL UP TO SENATE

Finance Committee to View Measure This Week

Month Limitation Set for Board Hearings

Longworth Compromise Tax Phase in Question

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The revenue bill will be taken up by the Senate Finance Committee the latter part of next week, under plans announced today by Chairman Smoot.

The bill was formally reported to the Senate from the House and referred to the Finance Committee, by which it will be opened again to revision. However, not more than a month is expected to be consumed in consideration of the bill in committee. During that time hearings will be held, but Senator Smoot is considering limiting each trade or industry to one spokesman.

Pending study of the Longworth compromise income tax schedule voted into the bill by the House, Senate leaders were reticent in expressing opinions of the plan which provides for a maximum surtax rate of 35½ per cent on the amount of incomes in excess of $200,000.

At the same time considerable interest, both in the Senate and House was evident concerning the attitude of the government in revenue assured by the bill as it now stands. In proposing the compromise schedule Mr. Longworth said it would not result in a Treasury deficit, but rough calculations made today by some Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee, who are advocates of the Mellon income tax plan, indicated that the bill as passed by the House would reduce revenue about $460,000,000 next year. The Treasury surplus estimated for this fiscal year by the Treasury was $350,000,000.

Senator Curtis, Republican, Kansas, submitted an amendment to increase the admission tax, making a 20 per cent tax apply to all theater tickets selling for less than a $1 and more than 25 cents, and a 25 per cent tax on tickets above $1 in cost. The revenue obtained from such a tax, Mr. Curtis would have used entirely for payment of an adjusted compensation act for World War veterans.

OLD COOK OF CZAR IS FOUND IN PARIS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 1.—The late Czar's cook has been found in Paris. He keeps a pastry shop in a little street by the river, and makes a specialty of Muscovite dainties which tempt the palates of compatriots who, like himself, have found sanctuary in the French capital. He is a big man, with bright eyes, an engaging smile, and his moustache frequently powdered with flour. "Yes, I am Monsieur R., ex-cook to the Czar and former chief of the culinary services of his Imperial Majesty," he declares with pride. "I was in the Czar's service until 1914. Those were the good old days."

NEW MACHINE GUN IS ADOPTED BY FRENCH

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 1.—A new model of machine-gun rifle, said to be far superior to any other arm akin to it, has been officially adopted by M. Maginot, Minister of War. It replaces the hastily designed model of 1915, which first appeared in 1916 on the Somme battlefield—a rifle to which the Germans replied in 1917-18 with their light machine gun which weighed sixteen kilos, seven kilos more than the French machine-gun rifle. The new weapon was invented by an artillery officer and was chosen from among many models submitted in competition.

TOWS IN VESSEL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, March 1.—The steamer Tenpaisan Maru today towed into harbor here the freighter Kiso Maru, which had been distressed at sea. The Kiso Maru's tail shaft was broken.

MEXICO KEYED UP BY ELECTION

Gen. Calles Seems to be in Great Favor

Obregon Says All Candidates Will Get Fair Play

People Have Lost Interest in Revolution Now

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Public interest here is now centered on the Presidential elections next July. The revolution is considered virtually over and interest in it is abating.

The question of who will succeed President Obregon is the outstanding topic of conversation among all classes in the city. It is realized that if the elections are carried out peacefully and legally Mexico's much-heralded and delayed boom will materialize and that the constantly recurring revolutions will become a thing of the past.

The opinion here is that Gen. Calles will be elected to succeed Obregon. President Obregon so far has refrained from expressing opinion; saying it isn't his place to make comment.

WILL GET FAIR PLAY

Answering a direct query today, however, President Obregon indicated that fears of an unjust or favored election are unfounded.

"All candidates who figure in the struggle will exercise their rights with their full liberties, but the question of who may win is not for me to answer and will be decided solely by the citizens."

The question to which the above answer was given is as follows:

"Do you consider the time has come for political parties to renew their propaganda? The American people generally consider Gen. Calles the outstanding candidate, with the greatest chance for success. I would ask an explanation of your views regarding the facilities and guarantees which all parties will enjoy, now that one, De la Huerta, has been eliminated on account of having caused the revolution? Permit me to ask if the recent conflict has altered in any way your government's views regarding the country's fitness in its present state to hold a Presidential election, and whether in your view Gens. Calles and Flores have equal probabilities of success."

Besides his assurance of full electoral privileges, President Obregon in his reply said:

REFERS TO REVOLUTION

"Our democratic institutions have been seriously threatened by the military movement of Enrique Estrada, Frederico Maycotte and Guadalupe Sanchez, who attempted by force to possess themselves of the governing power. By the opportune action of the army which remained loyal and the vigorous cooperation of the popular classes and especially the agricultural classes who have shed much blood in reducing the rebels, the opportunity has returned to the republic of electing, without outside pressure, the person to take my place as chief of the executive powers."

Herd of Sheep Gets Stuck in Oil Field Muck

BAKERSFIELD, March 1.—A herd of sheep grazing about the upper edge of the Kern River oil fields today, sighted what they supposed to be a pond of water, and when one made for it, he was immediately followed by the rest until 250 crowded themselves into a sump hole on the Rambler lease and were stuck. It was impossible for the sheep herder, Zicurcio Belio, to restrain the sheep from pressing themselves into the hole.

Belio sought help from some of the men working near by, and for three or more hours, J. D. Abbott, Charles Lee, Roy H. Taylor, James Ashworth and Fred Werring busied themselves with a long rope dragging out sheep. The sheepherder, by throwing in some pieces of timber, could place the noose about the sheeps' heads and then, with a lift while the five men pulled on the rope, dragged them out, one by one, all of them smeared, some able to walk away, others so waterlogged and oil soaked they lay for hours, while a few of them were suffocated.

The sheep were the property of A. Staunton.

BEGGAR HURT IN FIGHT WITH HER SERVANTS

WELL-KNOWN CHURCH-DOOR FIGURE IS TREATED AT HOSPITAL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CANNES, March 1.—Mme. Truc, known to thousands of tourists who frequent the Riviera, is in the Cannes Hospital, where it was found necessary to take thirty-six stitches in her head. On account of her injuries she no longer sits and begs in her wheel chair on the steps of the Church of Notre Dame, as has been her custom for years.

Although officially "paralyzed," police investigation of Mme. Truc's injuries revealed the fact that she was the principal casualty in a domestic argument in the kitchen of her private villa when she summonel her two maids and cook and demanded to know why her living expenses were mounting so rapidly.

The cook replied by hurling a chair at her mistress.

TRAFFIC MANAGER DIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 1.—T. E. Smith, traffic manager for the Arizona Traffic Association, is dead after illness of only a few hours. He came to his work in Phoenix about six years ago from Bakersfield, Cal., where he had been manager for the San Joaquin Valley Traffic Association. Previous experience in the same line had been in employment by several large western railroad lines. He was 56 years of age, and a native of Illinois. Besides his widow he leaves four sisters, including Mrs. W. J. Lakey and Mrs. R. L. Henderson of Owensmouth, and Mrs. J. D. Campbell of Alhambra, and six brothers, resident in Wilmington, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Phoenix and Kansas City.

Russians Leave for Siberia to Live in Exile

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, March 1.—One hundred and two persons, doctors, engineers and business men, and many Communists who have deserted the old-line party and joined the ranks of the opposition, left Moscow Monday bound for exile in Siberia.

Never under the worst days of the war has such a large procession been sent eastward to a living death in Siberia. Most of them were recently arrested. Their friends were permitted to bring them clothing and food half an hour before the train departed.

"In face of the continued reductions in the enrollment of Communist youth organizations over the world we must have more money for propaganda abroad," M. Bucharin told the Communist party while their victims were rolling eastward.

This fanatical leader of the Red regime told of how societies of boys, who have been the backbone of attempted revolts in many countries, have decreased between 20 and 60 per cent throughout the world.

Is Iron Hunger Starving Your Blood

Keeping You Weak, Nervous, Irritable and Run-down?
WHAT TO DO

ANY doctor will tell you that if you expect to be strong and well, your blood must have iron just as your stomach must have food or a furnace must have coal. Iron is the food which keeps the blood working for you day and night. Only by satisfying this iron hunger of the pale, thin, watery blood can you build up rich red corpuscles that repair wasted tissue, renew the vigor of your body, and ward off germs of disease. Once you supply this red blood food in the form of organic iron—NUXATED IRON—a most amazing change often quickly takes place.

Nuxated Iron contains iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, and like the iron in your blood. It acts as a powerful strength and body builder, steadies the nerves, puts color in the cheeks and spring in your step. It helps make strong vigorous men and healthy attractive women. When you get up feeling tired in the morning; when you find yourself nervous, irritable and easily upset; when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night, pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration, or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease. Simply try taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks and note the amazing change in your health, vigor, energy and endurance. You should be astonished at the results in even a few days time. Success guaranteed or money refunded. At all druggists.

NUXATED IRON ENRICHES THE BLOOD-GIVES YOU NEW STRENGTH AND ENERGY

PHARMACISTS DINE

HANFORD, March 1.—The Kings-Tulare Counties Pharmaceutical Association met at a banquet in this city last night, at Bernstein's, with twenty-nine druggists present. Al Tienken of Tulare, president, presided and acted as toastmaster. The principal address was made by Secretary Butterworth of the Los Angeles Advertising Club, who discussed business efficiency.

DRUG CASE UP TO JURY

Peter Smith, charged with violating the Harrison antinarcotic act, was bound over to the Federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Long. The defendant was placed in jail where he is held under $5000 bond. Federal narcotic agents testified that Smith sold a "bindle" to an addict for which he received marked money provided the purchaser by the officers.

Gray Hair—Stop It!

Don't delay. When the first few gray hairs appear, restore their natural color, life and luster with Co-Lo, the amazing discovery made by Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a hair and scalp specialist.

Co-Lo is preferred by thousands because it is so dainty and easy to apply. It is a wonderful liquid—clear, odorless, greaseless; has no sediment and does not contain lead or sulphur.

Co-Lo cannot be detected like ordinary hair tonics and dyes. It will not wash or rub off, will not injure the hair or scalp, will not cause the hair to split or break off.

Co-Lo makes the hair lovely and beautiful—it restores the original color to gray and faded hair perfectly. Always a success.

Co-Lo for every natural shade of hair. Ask your druggist which shade you require—A6, for black and dark shades of brown; A7, for jet black hair; A8, for medium brown shades; A9, for light brown, red and auburn shades.—[Advertisement.

SUITS AIM AT VALLEY WATER

Owens Irrigation District to Seek Condemnation

Organization Cites Desire to Safeguard Rights

Los Angeles Now Will Deal With Unified Group

Suits condemning all the water now available by purchase to the city of Los Angeles in Owens Valley above the intake of the present Aqueduct are being prepared by attorneys and engineers for the Owens Valley Irrigation District, Inc., following a meeting of the directorate held in Bishop last Thursday, according to statements made yesterday by local directors who attended the session.

The water rights named in the suits are the following: Owens River Canal, Bishop Creek Ditch, McNally Ditch, Farmers' Ditch, Rawson Ditch, A. O. Collins Ditch, Sierra Vista Power and Water Company, Sanger Ditch and George Collins Ditch.

Adequate funds enabling the district to start immediate proceedings to purchase the individual ditch companies and the water bearing lands and rights held by them were provided by the recent sale of a bond issue by the district, according to its officers.

WANT PROTECTION

"Preparation and filing of condemnation suits by the district in the Superior Court of Inyo county is the result of a desire by residents of the valley to protect the water rights of more than 4000 people from interference and encroachment," stated W. W. Watterson, president of the irrigation district company.

"Of a total acreage of water bearing lands amounting to about 54,000, the city of Los Angeles has purchased during the past year, or arranged to purchase, 21,700 acres. Because of these suits the city of Los Angeles in making additional water purchases will necessarily deal with the district as a whole instead of individual owners of land and water rights, as the title to any lands now transferred is subject to the condemnation suits. Future dealings with Los Angeles will be subject to open public meetings in which all interested parties will have a chance to protect their holdings and present their claims."

FIGURES ARE CITED

Declaring that more than 11,800 miner's inches or 237 cubic feet per second will be diverted for use by the ditches of the irrigation district during the irrigating season now starting, J. C. Clausen, chief engineer for the irrigation district yesterday gave the following figures to support his opinion: Owens River Canal, 3060 inches; Bishop Creek Canal, 4570 inches; 25 per cent McNalley Canal, 1077 inches; Farmer's Ditch, 1020 inches; Rawson Canal, 1400 inches and Sanger Ditch, 750 inches.

"Canal diversions are based on average diversion from actual records during five years," said Clausen. "Of these five years, four were below normal and one year normal.

"Last season the Los Angeles Aqueduct ran 52½ per cent capacity, or 210 second feet. This year's diversion in Owens Valley will exceed that amount. Should Los Angeles acquire only the last four named ditches this year it is probable that 85 second feet immediately could be diverted into the Aqueduct by gravity flow, with no engineering obstacles present to delay. Los Angeles can secure water to fill the Aqueduct in the Owens Valley and adjacent water basins."

DAWN CAME UP LIKE THUNDER

But it Was Fault of Man Who Set Fire Alarm for Wrong Hour

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Ariz.) March 1. The numerous volunteer firemen of Miami were roused in the cold gray dawn by three blasts of the fire siren. A full force gathered at the fire house, but no report of a blaze was at hand. Then it was discovered that in cleaning the alarm system the previous day, the repair man had adjusted the mechanism for a daily blast at 5 o'clock in the morning, instead of in the afternoon.

LEVY TO HEAD DRIVE

Local Man is Named on National Tailors' Committee

Appointment of Sam G. Levy to act on one of fifteen standing committees of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America to assist in the work of relieving the shortage of labor in the trade, was announced yesterday. Mr. Levy was appointed by Charles H. Taft, president of the association.

It is the plan of the organization to develop trade schools in co-operation with boards of education in an effort to relieve the present shortage of workers.

A special membership campaign is to be launched immediately, it was announced. Mr. Levy will be in charge of the local drive.

W. S. GREGG DIES

William Seaton Gregg died in Phoenix, Ariz., Friday, according to news received in Los Angeles yesterday. The body, according to relatives in the city, will be brought to Los Angeles. Funeral services will be announced later. Mr. Gregg is survived by his widow, Esta D. Gregg, his mother, Mrs. Katherine Gregg, and a sister, Miss Elsie Gregg of Los Angeles.

CHANGE IN DIAL PHONE CALL MADE

Service Numbers Varied to Permit More Simple Operation Plan

The Southern California Telephone Company yesterday sent out instructions to every telephone subscriber in Los Angeles regarding new service call numbers to be used from dial telephones.

The new numbers to be used from dial telephones are as follows: For information operator, dial 113; for service to Glendale and other nearby cities, dial "Operator"; for assistance in completing calls, dial "Operator"; to report trouble, dial 114; for Pacific long distance, dial 110; for United States long distance, dial 118.

There are no changes from the present way of placing such calls from manual telephones with the exception that to report trouble, manual subscribers are to ask for "Repair Clerk."

The new way of handling these calls is said by officials of the telephone company to be more simple and direct.

FRAUD SUSPECT WILL RETURN TO NEW YORK

Irving L. Levy, arrested by the police at 1051 West Washington street and turned over to the Federal auhorities on a charge of embezzlement, waived hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Long, and consented to removal to New York. Levy's arrest was made by agents of the Bureau of Investigation on information that he is under indictment in New York for embezzlement of funds from the Chatham and Phoenix National Bank there. He did not disclose the details of the charge against him.

HERO FINDS LOST BROTHER

Victorious Mexican Federal General United With Kin, Believed Dead Long Ago

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Quite an element of romance has entered into the life of the Mexican general, Eugenie Martinez, hero of the Battle of Esperanza on the Vera Cruz front, which was undoubtedly the main cause of the collapse of the rebel movement headed by Guadalupe Sanchez. The rebel defeat was completed by the entry of Martinez and his columns into the port of Vera Cruz.

Thirty-eight years ago, Eugenio Martinez was a soldier of the line under Porfirio Diaz, while his brother Lazaro was a sergeant. After being in the same squadron for several years they became separated, Lazaro being drafted north and his brother south. Thereafter they lost track of each other. Each believed the other dead until recently Lazaro, who is now a chauffeur and living modestly in Nuevo Laredo with his wife and family, happened to go to a cinema house to see the "Entry of the Federals into Puebla."

He was at once struck by a likeness to his brother in the features of the victorious Federal general at the head of the troops, and become so convinced that it was the brother he had not seen for years that he telegraphed Gen. Martinez. The latter replied, inclosing 1000 pesos, part for his brother's family and part to be used by his brother to come and see him at once.

One of Mexico's most famous generals during the present revolution is now doubly content, for it was indeed a case of "I am your long lost brother."

Boys' Club Gives Nickel to Help Elect Coolidge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Coolidge campaign fund was augmented today by one nickel. The sum, in hard cash, was received at the White House accompanied by this letter in a boyish scrawl from Central Falls, R. I.:

"Dear President Coolidge:

"In honor of you some boys of Central Falls have formed a club. It is called the Coolidge Club. As a beginning the club consists of five members. The ages range from 11 to 13.

"Later we expect to have eight members. On the 19th day of February we held our first meeting.

"Enclosed you will find as a token of respect the first nickel we received. The members of the club wish you luck in your Presidential campaign."

CENTURIES OLD ORGAN IS REBUILT

Instrument in Paris Church Wrecked by Germans Again Finds Its Voice

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, March 1.—Mute since the fatal Good Friday in 1918, when scores of worshippers were killed by a shell from the German long-range gun, which hurtled through the roof of Saint Gervais, the 400-year-old organ of that famous old church has found its voice.

Although it was not directly struck, the instrument was seriously damaged by steel splinters which pierced its pipes and shattered the organ case. The problem of reconstruction was serious, as the organ is one of the most famous in the world and is classed as a national monument of France.

All of the repairs were made in the church. When the pipes were taken down the skeletons of dozens of martens and swallows were found in them.

The restorations were done so skilfully and deliberately that it was found necessary to replace only the bellows. All the other work was a matter of laborious patching, not of substitution.

The exact date at which the organ was made is not known. However, the style of decoration on some of the pipes places it in the first half of the sixteenth century. Various members of the famous family of organists, the Couperins, played on it from 1656 to 1826.

Cardinal Dubois, Archbishop of Paris, presided at the rededication ceremonies, which were carried out with impressive pomp.

Catnip is sometimes used by government hunters in trapping bobcats and mountain lions.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—[Advertisement.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos de "The Times" que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, Marzo 1. — La comisión de presupuesto de la Cámara de Diputados comenzó hoy a ocuparse en el proyecto de ley de la prima al soldado.

El proyecto de ley de revisión de impuestos fue recibido en el Senado procedente de la Cámara, y se dice que pronto celebrará la comisión de hacienda audiencias públicas sobre ese asunto.

La comisión de presupuestos de la Cámara recomendó se votara la suma de $153,696,567 para que varios departamentos de gobierno puedan cerrar sin déficit el año fiscal.

Se recibieron en el Ministerio de Estado noticias que indican que es grave la situación revolucionaria en Honduras, y que ya desembarcaron en Ceiba fuerzas americanas de infantería de marina para proteger la vida y los intereses americanos.

Charles B. Forbes, inculpado por un gran jurado de Chicago, declaró que iría voluntariamente a dicha ciudad, como primer paso en su completa vindicación de los cargos relativos a su gestión en la oficina de veteranos.

La moción de Wheeler, que pide la investigación de la gestión administrativa del Procurador General Daugherty, fue votada por el Senado, y nombrado presidente de la comisión investigadora, el Senador Brookhart, republicano de Iowa.

Obregón Rechaza las Proposiciones de Armisticio

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Marzo 1. Las proposiciones de armisticio hechas al gobierno por los líderes insurgentes han sido hoy rotunda y definitivamente rechazadas por el Presidente Obregón.

En el mensaje en que daba contestación a las tentativas de armisticio que hacen los rebeldes, el Presidente Obregón declaró llanamente que no reconocería a los insurgentes y que no trataría con ellos. Fue puesto este mensaje por Obregón en respuesta a las indicaciones hechas en una convención de cámaras de comercio en Monterrey, de que se facultara a los principales hombres de negocios de la República para actuar de mediadores entre los rebeldes y el gobierno.

En su forma, el mensaje referido era una respuesta a las sugestiones apuntadas; pero, en realidad, viene a ser el rechazo absoluto de las proposiciones de armisticio hechas por los cabecillos rebeldes.

Dos Angeleños Condecorados por el Papa

Dos de los ciudadanos más significados de Los Angeles acaban de ser honrados por Su Santidad el Papa Pío XI., como tributo a su devoción por la religión y la humanidad. J. Wiseman Macdonald se ha visto agraciado con la Orden de Pío, e Isidore B. Dockweiler ha sido hecho Caballero de San Gregorio.

La Orden de Pío es uno de los honores papales más raros en los Estados Unidos, y el señor Macdonald goza de la distinción de ser la primera persona de California que haya recibido las insignias de dicha orden.

La Orden de San Gregorio, impuesta al señor Dockweiler, fue fundada el 1 de Septiembre de 1831 por el Papa Gregorio XVI, y destinada a recompensar por servicios civiles o militares a los súbditos de los estados papales. En estos ultimos años, se ha estado imponiendo por devoción y servicio a la humanidad, e interés en el progreso de la religión.

DEPORTES

Polo

Capitaneados por el temible Elmer Boeseke, considerado como el más largo tirador de la costa del Pacífico, los Cardenales de Del Monte, que se rindieron el viernes a los poloistas de Midwick por 14 a 10, irán al campo de Alhambra la tarde hoy, resueltos a borrar la derrota y a conquistarse un triunfo. Boeseke, que figuró lucidamente con los visitantes en el primer match, estará en mejor forma hoy, según se espera, y es seguro que veremos un gran match. El juego comenzará a las 2:30 p.m.

Baseball

Las Aguilas de Pasadena, de Sam Cox, y los Comerciantes de Pasadena, de Loren Ury, actuarán hoy en en un partido de la Asociación de Baseball de Sudcalifornia, encontrándose en el parque del Torneo, en el segundo juego de la serie de tres, en la que se disputa el campeonato semiprofesional de la Coronado Ciudad.

Charley Deal, tercer base por excelencia de la Liga de la Costa del Pacífico, se presentó ayer tarde en el parque Washington, ataviado de un uniforme de Vernon. Pocos momentos antes de que Charley se presentara para la temporada de 1924, recibió Bill Essick un telégrama de Mike Menosky, diciéndole que estaría aquí hoy a medio día. La aparición de Deal y el telegrama de Mike causaron vivo placer al líder bengalés.

NUMERO 193

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

En la primera frase del artículo de Delgado nos encontramos con el verbo "hacer" usado impersonalmente para indicar tiempo transcurrido: "hace ya bastantes días que occurrieron los hechos." Este uso impersonal de "hacer" se aplicaba antes también a la expresión de los accidentes meteorológicos: "hace frío", "hizo grandes calores el verano pasado". En en uso moderno ha pasado a ser sujeto el nombre que expresa la variación atmosférica, y el verbo "hacer", dejando de ser impersonal, concuerda en número con dicho nombre: "hicieron grandes calores en Mayo"; "harán fuertes vientos el entrante mes".

Cuando "hacer" indica tiempo transcurrido es siempre impersonal en el uso moderno, no usándose sino en la tercera persona del singular, aunque sea plural el nombre que expresa el tiempo, el cual hace oficio de acusativo: "hace varios méses que le vi"; "hará tres años que se fue", o, callando el "que" anunciativo: "le vi varios meses hace"; "se fue hará tres años".

Hace notar el señor Bello que se encuentra en nuestros clásicos tal cual pasaje en que "hacer", aplicado al transcurso del tiempo, deja de ser impersonal, tomando el tiempo mismo por sujeto: "Hoy hacen, señor, según mi cuenta, quince años, un mes y cuatro días, que llegó a esta posada una señora en hábito de peregrina" (Cervantes).

El impersonal "haber" se aplica frecuentemente al transcurso del tiempo: "No há mucho que vivía un hidalgo de los de lanza en astillero" (Cervantes); o, callando el "que" anunciativo: "Vivía no há mucho"; "Llegué aquí cinco años há". Dice Bello que en esta sentido, debe acentuarse "há" par distinguirlo de "ha", forma de la conjugación de "haber" usado como auxiliar o como transitivo. Cuando el impersonal "haber" denota existencia, la forma correspondiente a "há" es "hay": "no hay dinero"; "hay muchos bandidos".

El señor Cuervo llama la atención sobre una curiosa expresión admitida por el uso común, y corriente en español del siglo XVI acá. Es la de "ahora" seguido de un nombre que indica tiempo; v.g., "ahora un año", "ahora tres meses", lucuciones que significan "hace un año", "hace tres meses". El insigne filólogo citado dice que esa expresión proviene claramente de una sinalefa por la cual el impersonal "ha" se incorporó en el adverbio "ahora". En Lope de Rueda se lee: "agora há cinco años" ("Obras", 1, p. 124); en Santa Teresa: "ahora há un ano" ("Cartas", Riv. LV, p. 230); "ahora un año" ("Ib.", LV, pp. 7, 276). Posteriormente el "há" desaparece definitivamente, como en los ejemplos arriba citados y en éste de Bretón: "Donde andan. . .? Ahora poco—Desfilaban de paseo—Por el jardín."

PHOENIX, March 1.—President P. G. Spilsbury and a number of directors of the Arizona Industrial Congress have returned form an inspection of the mines and industries of Southern Arizona. They were entertained at Tucson, Casa Grande, Bisbee, Douglas and Nogales, and made short stops at many other points.

BONUS ACTION UNDER WAY

Ways and Means Body Votes to Consider Soldier Legislation at Once; to Report Bill Soon

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The soldier bonus legislation was started on its way today, the House Ways and Means Committee voting to begin consideration of such a measure immediately.

Three days of hearings on proposals for payment of adjusted of compensation to World War veterans, beginning Monday, were decided upon, after which, Chairman Green announced, a bill would be whipped into shape. He expected the committee to report a measure to the House by next Saturday.

The program for the bill after it has reached the House has not been outlined. Several appropriation bills, the Muscle Shoals, and the immigration measures, already are on the calendar.

SEVERAL BONUS BILLS

Several bonus bills have been introduced, including the McKenzie measure, similar to the one vetoed by President Harding. Representatives Fish of New York and Andrews of Massachusetts, Republicans, have submitted bills recently, both making paid-up insurance policies of twenty and twenty-five years, respectively, the principal feature. Payments of cash sums would be allowed where the veteran would not be entitled to more than $50.

The Andrew bill would allow compensation only to enlisted men while the Fish proposal would include officers up to the rank of captain in the Army and lieutenant in the Navy, the same as provided by the McKenzie bill.

FOUR OPTIONS ALLOWED

Advocates of the insurance policy bonus explain the actual amount of funds necessary for such a scheme could be determined definitely and the financial program of the government so far as the bonus was concerned could then be definitely decided.

Four options of payments would be allowed under the McKenzie bill, adjusted service pay, vocational training aid, farm or home aid and adjusted service certificates. The latter plan would provide for insurance policies.

Chairman Green made public today a letter from Secretary Weeks asking that in view of the heavy administration work which would be connected with the payment of a bonus that the measure be made effective nine months after its enactment to law.

ELITE CATERERS' SALE IS YET TO BE CLOSED

G. H. Mosher, president of the Elite Caterers, 633 South Flower street, declared yesterday that a report made public Friday announcing the purported purchase of the Elite by Petitfils was incorrect in that the deal has not been consummated. Mr. Mosher, while admitting that negotiations have been in progress looking toward the purchase of the Elite by Petitfils, said there is no definite assurance that the deal would be closed.

EXTENSION OF PARK INDORSED

Exeter Approves Sequoia Playground Expansion

Porterville Jokers Tease Traffic-Cop Bridegroom

Host and Friends Are Held on Liquor Charges

EXETER, March 2.—Indorsement of the proposed Sequoia National Park enlargement was given by Exeter Chamber of Commerce directors in session. Reports were also presented relating to civic expansion, outstanding being the development of Rocky Hill assets, mail delivery and a community dinner.

Chairman W. S. Clawson outlined the beauty and possibilities of Rocky Hill, presenting photographic evidence that rock formation and Indian paintings on the bluffs would be an attraction to travelers. Guy Steele reported that Exeter's free mail delivery would begin July 1. Plans were made for a community dinner, launching a membership drive.

Secretary Robert N. Richardson was instructed to wire Congressman H. E. Barbour of the support of the Sequoia bill.

EVIDENCE GATHERED

VISALIA, March 1.—F. V. Galloway, district attorney of Wasco county, Oregon, who came to Visalia to get facts concerning the death of Roy Vincent, alleged bank bandit who was shot near Shafter, Kern county, while attempting to evade arrest by Sheriff Hill of Tulare county and Constable Reed of Tulare, has been called to Stockton. It is said that material obtained by Mr. Galloway confirmed his opinion that the right man had been apprehended here.

JOKE WITH TRAFFIC COP

PORTERVILLE, March 1.—Emory L. Dawson, county traffic officer for this district, is feared by speeders. Practical jokers here turned the tables on him.

While Rev. Frank Zook of the Christian Church performed the marriage service of Dawson and Miss Winifred Marjorie Oliver of this city, his friends threw a cordon around the McKnight home, where the wedding was conducted, preventing his escape. The newlyweds were captured and given a wild ride up and down the street on the fire truck. Everybody had a good time but the bridegroom, who threatened to arrest the entire crowd.

TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL

A. Gomez and a party of friends, who were arrested near the Magnesite mines above here at the Gomez home by local and county officers, have been taken to the County Jail to face charges of possession of liquor. Tony Wells, an Indian in the Gomez party, appearing before Judge Lumley here on charges of intoxication had his bond placed at $500 and he was taken to the County Jail to await trial.

COOLIDGE SPEAKERS TO GATHER

Will Hear Address of Bay City Worker Here Tomorrow Night

John Clymer, president of the Coolidge College Men's Club and prominent San Francisco attorney, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a speakers' bureau organization meeting to be held at the Coolidge headquarters in the Angelus Hotel tomorrow night.

Response to invitations sent to approximately 100 well-known residents of the county asking them to attend this meeting has been gratifying, it was announced from the Coolidge offices yesterday.

Mr. Clymer is widely known throughout the State and is a personal friend of President Coolidge. It is expected that he will speak regarding the President as well as to outline some of the major questions of the campaign.

Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Southside Republican Club Tuesday evening to be held in the Central-avenue school, Central avenue and Twentieth street. This organization has a membership of nearly 2000 and has unanimously indorsed the candidacy of Calvin Coolidge.

Arrangements for a number of receptions to be held soon in the Ninth Congressional District will be made Thursday evening at the Coolidge headquarters by officials of the local organization. Tentative plans for these meetings provide that they will be attended and addressed by the twenty-nine loyal Republicans who will represent President Calvin Coolidge on the May 6 ballot.

Ohioans Gather at Mid-Winter Picnic Reunion

Almost 10,000 former Ohioans were present at the midwinter picnic yesterday at Sycamore Grove Park, under auspices of the Federation of Ohio Societies of Southern California. The park was divided into county sections where many happy reunions took place and where "old-timers" gathered to talk about experiences and friendships.

After lunch addresses were made by Rev. J. Henry Hutchins, pastor of the Lake-Avenue Congregational Church of Pasadena, who spoke on "Ohio Meets the Nation's Needs," and Orra Monnette, president of the Bank of America.

Throughout the day the merrymakers were regaled with music by the Grand Army Fife and Drum Corps of Pasadena.

By using a cork which expands with air pressure from within the bottle, there is less evaporation of perfumes and other expensive liquids, a Frenchman claims.

DRUG SQUAD HOLDS MAN AT HARBOR

Declared Third Leader of Gang Bringing Dope from South America

With the arrest of H. Marcal, said to be the owner of a barber shop at Los Angeles Harbor, police yesterday declared they had put a stop to heavy narcotic smuggling between South American ports and this city. Earlier in the week M. Ramos and A. Moreno were arrested by the officers and are being held as the two other leaders of the alleged gang.

The men are being held in the City Jail under suspicion of violating the Harrison narcotic law. The arrests were made by the police narcotic squad under Acting Capt. Littlejohn.

According to the officers, drugs were being brought from ports along the South American coast and smuggled past harbor officials here. A small quantity of narcotics is said to have been recovered from each of the men.

In connection with the work of his squad Capt. Littlejohn announced yesterday that seventy-two narcotic arrests were made during the month of February. Twenty-eight of these were addicts.

FREED PENDING HEARING

Mrs. Elsie Grace Dringka, 20-year-old motion-picture actress aspirant, against whom charges of forgery and drawing a check against insufficient funds were lodged several weeks ago, has been released under her own recognizance pending a hearing on an application for probation, which will be heard the 13th inst. The charge of forgery has been dropped. Mrs. Dringka pleaded guilty to the other charge before Judge Crail Friday.

"$1,250-a-Year Income for Life"
No Insurance Examination!

By John E. Kennedy

A WISE little book issued by U. S. Treasury Dept. shows Americans how to Cast their own Horoscopes.

It cites the progress through life of 100 average Young Men, each 25 years old, as indicative of what may happen to any other hundred of us.

At 35 years old TEN of these Hundred Young Men were Wealthy,—TEN Well-to-do,—SEVENTY-FIVE living on their Earnings, and Five dead.

At 45 years only ONE of these 100 Average Men was Wealthy,—only THREE Well-to-do,—FIFTEEN WERE UNABLE TO SUPPORT THEMSELVES, and Sixteen were dead.

When all of the 100 Average Men ultimately died, EIGHTY-TWO of them "LEFT NOTHING."

Take these U. S. figures home to Wife and ask her to read YOUR Horoscope from them.

Her first thought will probably relate to the Life Insurance Policy.

She considers THAT Safe at least,—whatever may happen to the Oil Stock Certificates or the Subdivision Speculations.

But,—WHAT HAPPENED to the Insurance Policies of the 82 MEN out of every AVERAGE HUNDRED who "left nothing?"

LIFE Income is "LIVING" Insurance. Life Insurance is "Death Insurance."

It is so popular however that a single American Company truthfully claims "an intimate financial relationship with 20,000,000 Policy Holders — ONE-SIXTH of the population in U. S. and Canada."

Add another Sixth to this,—or maybe a Third,—for all other Life Insurance Companies, and we must infer that 33% to 50% of Americans and Canadians are, or have been, insured.

In that case 33 to 50 of the 100 Average Men cited by the U. S. Treasury Dept. MUST also have been Insured at some time.

Then "How Come" that EIGHTY-TWO of the average Hundred Men "LEFT NOTHING" when they died?

How many Policies lapsed?

The "Life Income" we here offer, has no Premiums to pay from declining Earnings and so cannot Lapse.

It is the opposite of "Life Insurance" in that it benefits the Insured WHILE HE LIVES, and passes on to his Family when he dies.

AN Insurance Annuity of "$1250 a Year for Life" costs $21,500 Cash in advance.

So,—the VALUE of a corresponding "$1250 a Year Income for Life" is thus established at $21,500 Cash.

With that comparison before you, let us put this fair question to you:

Would YOU pay $2350,—in Five Yearly Installments,—for an INCOME of $1250 PER YEAR FOR LIFE"?

Would you pay $50 per Month for 44 Months, to Receive "$1250 a Year Income?"

Would you pay $100 per Month, during 3 years and 8 months, to receive "$2500 a Year for Life" thereafter?

If you WOULD, this is the time to Act. Mail the following Coupon TODAY.

SEABOARD NATIONAL BANK

WILL it not be a matter of pride with you, as well as financial benefit, to affiliate from the beginning with a National Bank destined to be one of the strongest in Western America; a bank that will be a big factor in the further upbuilding of the city and State and in the extension of foreign trade?

THE Seaboard National Bank will open for business about May 15th, at 612-614 South Spring Street, in the very heart of the financial district. It will begin with a capital of One Million Dollars, later to be increased to larger amounts.

THIS bank will be a member of the Federal Reserve System, under Federal Government supervision, directed by a Board of Directors consisting of about twenty-five of Southern California's foremost business men. Its officers have been selected for their recognized financial ability and long years of successful bank management.

WHILE this is Los Angeles' youngest bank, it is made up of the oldest personal and financial timber of the State and will be backed by the most seasoned judgment. The bank is to limit its offices to the extent that every depositor may personally know one of the head executive officials, assuring that personal touch necessary to the patrons' financial welfare in time of need or opportunity.

You are invited to call at the organization offices, 411 Security Bldg., Fifth and Spring Streets, and get acquainted

LIFE TERM FOR MRS. POTEGIAN

Convicted Poisoner Weeps as Guilty Verdict is Read

Jury Returns Decision on Case in One Hour

Defense Attorney to Seek Another Hearing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, March 1.—Deliberating but one hour, the jury trying Mrs. Eliza Potegian on a charge of slaying her stepdaughter, Margaret Potegian, returned a verdict today of guilty, fixing punishment at life imprisonment. Sentence will be pronounced Wednesday.

The verdict read:

"We, the jury in the above entitled case, find the defendant, Eliza Potegian, guilty of murder in the first degree and fix punishment at life imprisonment."

TO ASK NEW TRIAL

Mrs. Potegian accepted the verdict in a stupor, breaking into tears when it was read. Her adopted son, Chorn K. Kazanjian, likewise wept.

Defense Attorney Philip Conley announced that on Wednesday he will ask for a continuance of the pronouncement of judgment so that he can prepare motions for a new trial.

Three ballots were taken by the jury, it was reported. The first, it is understood, was nine for guilty, with life imprisonment recommended, one for not guilty and two for hanging; the second stood eleven for life and one for hanging and the third was unanimous for guilty with life imprisonment recommended.

ADMITS POISON DOSE

According to court attaches the elapsed time during which the jury deliberated sets a record for murder cases in this county. It was anticipated that the jury would be out some time.

On the witness stand in her own behalf, Mrs. Potegian admitted giving ant poison to the girl. Experts, chemists and physicians testified that the girl died from poison and that there was poison present in certain of her organs after death.

The defense attempted to show that the girl died from some other cause.

Liquor Cache Is Unearthed in Oil Fields

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WHITTIER, March 1.—Developments last night indicate that oil is not the only active and profitable industry at Santa Fe Springs, neither is it the only valuable fluid the ground occasionally is forced to yield up, according to Constable Robert B. Way, who, with Deputy Sheriff Elmer Wiles, reinforced by aid from the local police department, unearthed four quarts of liquor.

The liquor, consisting of two quart bottles of whisky and two of gin, had been buried in the back yard of the Palace Cafe, corner of Telegraph Road and Butler street, and was unearthed in three different caches. The bottles had been wrapped in newspaper and then placed in shallow holes.

The cafe was operated by Miss Doris Reid, who was arrested after the discovery of the liquor. Constable Way took Miss Reid to the Los Angeles County Jail.

Yucaipa Trustees Call Election On 28th Inst.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUCAIPA, March 1.—The Board of Trustees of the Yucaipa school have issued notice of an election to be held the 28th inst. to vote bonds in the sum of $19,000 for the erection and equipment of a new school building.

The one unit, composed of three rooms will be so constructed that it can be enlarged and will be a large modern school building able to carry on a junior high. The bonds will be retired in nineteen years from date of issue, though payment upon the principal will not begin until the seventh year from the date of issue. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent payable semiannually.

BACHELORS INJURED IN HOTEL FIRE

Two Hurt, One Badly, as Building Falls Prey to Flames

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, March 1.—Two men were burned, one seriously, in a fire that destroyed a large part of "Bachelors' Row," Redlands unique hotel for bachelor men. The hotel, which is on Seventh street, has long been occupied by bachelors, who do their own cooking, dishwashing, etc.

L. R. Busch was burned on the hands and arms. Luther Carmen failed to awake until the roof was about to fall in. When it did Carmen was dashing for the door. He was badly burned on the neck, body, and hands and arms.

The fire department saved about half of the structure. Several of the hotel patrons lost their belongings.

BOULEVARD PLANNED

Pasadena, Monrovia and Arcadia Seek Connecting Link

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARCADIA, March 1.—A joint committee of Pasadena, Monrovia and Arcadia business men met last night at the home of A. N. Multer, president of the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce, to plan ways and means of pushing the improvement of Colorado street, Pasadena and Orance avenue in Arcadia and Monrovia, by boulevarding the streets and extending the road through the Santa Anita Rancho.

It is now known that Mrs. Baldwin, the owner, will not fight condemnation proceedings. It is planned for the engineers of Arcadia and Monrovia to hold a conference and immediately afterward for the committee members from the three cities to call upon the Board of Supervisors. The cost of the proposed boulevard, which will lie between the Foothill Boulevard and Huntington Drive, parallel with both and connecting Pasadena, Monrovia and Arcadia, will be jointly borne by the county, Pasadena, Monrovia and Arcadia.

The committee includes Mr. Multer, R. H. Schwarzkopf and O. E. Winkler of Arcadia; Clifton Platt and W. F. Creller of Pasadena; A. J. Little and Frank Wiffler of Monrovia.

AUTOMOBILE THEFT IS CHARGED TO PAIR

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, March 1.—Ralph Peterson and Ray Field, both of Los Angeles, were arrested early this morning on charges of intoxication and possession of a stolen automobile. The two asserted automobile thieves have been turned over to Los Angeles authorities to answer to the more serious charge. The machine in which they were riding is believed to have been stolen from a Long Beach merchant.

BAN LIGHTS, SAVE POWER

San Bernardino Takes Drastic Action to Conserve Electricity Due to Dry Season

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 1.—War-time conservation of power struck San Bernardino today. Facing a dry year, business men darkened electric signs and one-third of the city's ornamental lights were cut off tonight as directors of power companies warned that the hydroelectric power service must be saved to supply sufficient power for industry and irrigation next summer.

Directors of the Southern California Edison and Southern Sierras Companies issued the following statement:

"The lack of normal precipitation in the mountains throughout the State has made the drain on the hydroelectric plants severe. As much power is being drawn on at the present time as is usually drawn in August. Many ranchers have been compelled to use the power for irrigation purposes who would usually not pump water until the middle of the summer.

"For some time past we have been using gas and steam plants but these will not furnish all the power. So it is up to the merchants and the restaurant owners to suspend the use of window and sign lighting until we are able to tell how much water we are going to have to furnish power during the summer. It is to their interests as well as ours and so far we are meeting splendid co-operation.

"The ranchers are the last ones we would call on to save power, but a request will be made of them to cut their pumping down to a minimum."

Jailed Writer of Checks Lays Claim to Rank

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 1.—John T. Nicholson, adventurer, and who says he is a captain in the United States Army, is in the Pasadena City Jail charged with fictitious check-writing. When arrested Nicholson displayed to the police letters from Peter C. Bullard, major general, citing him for the Distinguished Service Cross and a similar letter from Lieut.-Col. W. B. Gillispie of the United States cavalry.

According to Chief Kelley, Nicholson came to Pasadena, exhibited these letters, won many friends and then proceeded to write worthless checks. It is also the belief of the police chief that the citations are forged as no record can be found that Nicholson was ever a captain.

Chief Kelley says the man speaks with flowery grace and is very convincing. In his way, he believes, Nicholson has obtained large sums of money in various parts of the country. Records show, the chief declares, that the same man made love to a girl in Reno, obtained $500 from her and disappeared.

Nicholson will be tried in the Pasadena justice court at an early date.

PAVEMENT LAID TO GOVERNOR'S PALACE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI, March 1.—The new paved road on Madero ayene has been opened and this now provides a paved highway from the international line to the palace of Gov. Rodriguez. Police Judge Metes Out Heavy Sentences; Drivers Lose Licenses

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 1.—The ante again has been raised in the Pasadena Police Court. Police Judge Frank Dunham today deprived seven drivers of their operator's licenses and inflicted some of the heaviest fines in the history of Pasadena.

Hugh Smith, 236 South Madison avenue, who was arrested last evening on a charge of intoxication after he had run his car into a stone wall, was sentenced to thirty days in the City Jail, a $300 fine and the loss of his driver's license.

Drivers' licenses and large fines were required of Waldo Hoyt, 6321 Ruby street, Los Angeles; Warren Burton, 616 Bixel street, Los Angeles; Cecil W. Stuart, 317 South Holliston avenue; W. Winnor, 1138 Beverly Way, Altadena; J. S. Furguson, 315 South Chester avenue; Stephen Jarvis, 2223 North Marengo avenue, and Howard Fairchild, 286 North Michigan avenue. All these men were charged with violating the speed limit. Three-day jail sentences also were imposed but later were suspended.

WATSON D. CROCKER DEAD IN PASADENA

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 1.—Watson D. Crocker, pioneer resident of Pasadena and prominent manufacturer of the Middle West, died today at his home, 999 North Madison avenue. Heart trouble is said to have been the cause of his death. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Marion Zundel of Los Angeles and Mrs. Ana Brigham of Wisconsin. Mr. Crocker was the president of the Crocker Chair Company of Sheboygan, Wis. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 3 p.m. at the Turner and Stevens Undertaking Parlors.

GETS NEW TRIAL IN JAIL FIGHT KILLING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—J. Donaldson, charged with the murder of E. E. Hart, Glendale business man, will be given a second trial in Superior Court here starting Monday. A jury was secured yesterday. Donaldson was tried earlier in the present criminal calendar, but the jury was unable to reach a verdict. According to the evidence, Hart was choked to death during a series of fights among inmates of the small unlighted jail at the border. Donaldson was in the fight part of the time, it is said, and was declared to have been found close to Hart when the officers finally entered the jail.

SENIOR CLASS LARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRAWLEY, March 1.—Brawley High School class of 1924 will have thirty-nine members, according to announcement at the high school today. This is the largest class yet to be graduated from any high school in the county, being ten more than El Centro senior class this year.

FOREST FIRE REVIVED BY STIFF WIND

Municipal Pavilion on Mountain Crest Lost in Second Blaze

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 1.—Smoldering embers of last night's forest fire were fanned into a blaze late today and before fighters could halt it the pavilion of the municipal playgrounds on the crest of the San Bernardino mountains was destroyed with a score of stately pines.

At nightfall it was again reported that the fire was under control although rangers admitted that winds would again threaten the heavily timbered district on the crest and might sweep on towards the desert—a clean sweep of the mountains for a distance ranging from one to two miles wide. Hundreds of acres have been burned over by the fire which started Thursday, near midnight, when a burning automoblie went off the grade in Waterman Canyon. The east fork of Devil Canyon, a part of the city's watershed, was burned over.

Three hundred fighters checked the blaze in a spectacular battle. Although rangers believe that the fire can be controlled, a force of 100 men is still on the line. The fire is one of the most serious in the past thirty years in the San Bernardino mountains.

Crazed Suitor Shoots Woman and Kills Self

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, March 1.—Spurned love, said to have been tortured and intensified by use of the dope-laden marajuana weed, caused Luis Ortiz, 23-year-old Mexican of Walnut, today to shoot and seriously wound his sweetheart, Gregorita Avila, 18, and to send a bullet through his own brain. He died instantly.

The shooting took place in the box-car home of the Avilas in the Union Pacific Railroad yards near Walnut, where the victim of the crazed suitor lived with her parents. The jealous lover appeared at the car when only the mother and daughter were there and asked the girl to marry him. Upon her refusal, it is said, he drew a .38-caliber revolver and screaming words of revenge shot her three times. The bullets lodged in her mouth, hand and shoulder. She was rushed to the Los Angeles County Hospital, where it is reported she will recover.

In a farewell letter the crazed man ordered Ladislo Gutirrez of San Fernando be notified. Authorities were trying to locate the latter this afternoon.

INGLEWOOD FEDERAL BUILDING IS SOUGHT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, March 1.—Assurance from Congressman Fredericks that he would do everything possible to obtaine a Federal Building for Inglewood was contained in a letter read here today by Mrs. C. P. Mosher, postmistress of Inglewood, to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Mosher also announced a Coolidge-for-President meeting for the 8th inst., in the Inglewood City Hall.

HOLTVILLE COTTON HAS BETTER YEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLTVILLE, March 1.—Manager T. L. Rye of the independent cotton gin here, in closing the plant for the season, said that 1076 bales of cotton had been ginned. This is considerably larger than the total ginned last season. The Harris gin will be operated two or three weeks longer to clean up the "bollies" from the cotton fields in the Holtville district.

Second Pasadena Burglary of Kind in Two Weeks

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 1.—Eighteen diamond rings and a number of costly platinum pins valued at several thousand dollars were stolen from the Charles H. Kelley jewelry store, 185 East Colorado street, during the early morning hours, the police were advised today.

According to the police, Roger Kelley, son of the proprietor of the store, entered the front door of the establishment this morning, and switching on the light detected a young man rifling the diamond trays in the display window. The thief immediately ran the length of the store and escaped through the rear alley.

Mr. Kelley had two revolvers in his pockets at the time but neither was loaded.

Investigations revealed the burglar gained entrance by prying open the rear door. After once getting inside he locked the door so that when the nightwatchman tried the door at midnight he found it locked and the burglar remained inside without detection. The thief is believed to be a youth.

The diamonds and pins were all expensive. This is the second jewelry store robbery committed here in the last two weeks.

NEEDLE MANIAC SUSPECT SEIZED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 1.—As a result of the arrest here today of L. E. Vaughan, 31 years of age, a battery service employee, police are investigating further the stories of a "needle maniac" operating here for the last few days.

The suspect, according to police, has been partially identified by Mrs. F. E. Ashley of 1534 Sundry avenue. She was the victim of an attack by a needle maniac last Wednesday.

In her report to the police she stated that she had just dismounted from a bus on State street and was awaiting to cross the street when a man, his face set in a fiendish grin, drove up in an automobile and jabbed a hypodermic needle into her arm. Mrs. Ashley said she fainted when the needle entered her arm. She gave a complete description of her assailant to police and also the license number of the car in which he was riding.

Patrolman Hauske saw Vaughan on the street and placed him under arrest. Mrs. Ashley was called in to identify the suspect and, according to police, declared that she was almost certain that he was the man who stabbed her with the needle.

Police, however, are continuing the investigation. Vaughan denies the charge, declaring that he has never seen Mrs. Ashley. He is being held on a suspicion of felony charge.

BANK MAY BUY SITE

Pomona Deal Expected Soon, As Option is Announced

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, March 1.—Purchase by the Pomona Commercial and Savings Bank of the Rutan business block at the northwest corner of Second and Garey avenue where the bank is located is expected, following announcement today that an option on the property had been secured by J. Sanford, president of the bank. S. W. Spencer of a local realty firm is the owner of the building. Board of directors of the bank, which occupies the corner ground space of the building, will decide upon the proposed purchase of the property next week. It is believed that the deal will be consummated within a few days. No announcement has been made as to what improvements will be made in the structure in case the deal goes through, but it is thought that extensive alterations will be made in line with other bank improvements that have taken place within the past few months.

SHOPPER FREED; INVITED BACK

Fine Dropped When Judge Hears Traffic Breaker Bought Goods

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, March 1.—Because Capt. E. L. Elkins, U.S.A., a resident of Los Angeles, did his shopping in Pasadena he escaped paying a fine in the local Police Court today when brought up for violating the parking ordinance.

Judge Frank C. Dunham commended the defendant for coming to the Crown City to do his shopping. Learning that the captain had spent $1000 in one store, Judge Dunham declared he would inflict no fine and released the Los Angeles man with a cheery "Good day, come again."

FIND CHILD DAZED DUE TO ATTACK

Upland Girl Believed to Have Been Drugged on Way Home from School

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, March 1.—Upland officers today were investigating a report that Fern Riggs, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riggs, A street and Second avenue, was drugged and made the victim of a criminal attack while returning to her home from school last evening.

The mother is reported to have found the little girl in a dazed condition and a physician who examined her declared she had been attacked. Officers are hindered in their investigation by the inability or refusal of the child to tell anything of the affair.

SCHOOL BONDS ARE VOTED IN COMPTON

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

COMPTON, March 1.—For the first time in six years a Union High School bond proposition was carried here yesterday. This district comprises eight grammar school district; the bonds carried by a vote of 1482 for, and 187 against. Most of the adverse votes were cast in Clearwater because it is expected that the town will soon be annexed to Long Beach. These $675,000 bonds will be used to build a branch school at Watts, and to secure a building site at Lynwood and Clearwater, leaving about $400,000 for new buildings at Compton. The grammar school district also had a bond election for $119,000 which carried, 617 for, 18 against. This money will be used to build two new school buildings. There are more school children in this city today than there was total population two years ago.

MAN FINED FOR FIGHT WITH NEIGHBOR

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, March 1.—William Raymond was fined $25 in Police Judge Willard's court this morning on a charge of assault and battery against Mrs. J. Irwin, a neighbor of the defendant. A dispute between Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Irwin led to blows, it was revealed, and in separating the two, Raymond was said to have struck the plaintiff. An indictment against Mrs. Irwin brought in counter action was withdrawn by Prosecutor Rennie.

SANTA MONICA TO FIGHT WATER SUIT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, March 1.—That Santa Monica's answer to the suit filed against the validity of the water bonds recently approved by local voters will deny the basic assertions in the complaint and stand by the official canvass, which found that the bonds carried by more than two-thirds majority, was the official announcement made following a conference between City Attorney Coffin and commissioners. The answer is in preparation today and probably will be filed Monday in Judge York's division of the Superior Court.

Sagehens Win First in Every Event on Program

BY BRAVEN DYER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, March 1.—The Pomona College track team ushered in the new month in an auspicious manner here this afternoon, taking every first place and making a clean sweep of six events, which had a lot to do with the bringing in of 118 5-6 points to the Southern Branch of the University of California athletes were able to gather only 21 1-6 points. The Sagehens started by finishing one, two, three in the mile and century and ran through the entire list of events without much trouble, getting all but four second places in addition to all of the firsts.

Bob Maxwell, long-legged and light-hearted hurdler, turned in one of the big performances of the day when he negotiated the 220-yard low hurdles in the sensational time of 24s. flat. Two watches caught the Sagehen runner at 23.9 and had he had any real competition it is a cinch that he would have done even better. Not since the days of Bob Strehle, when in 1913 the old Pomona hurdler set the Pacific Coast record of 23 4-5s., has such sensational time been made on the Sagehen campus. Maxwell also won the highs without exerting himself, his time being 15 4s.

BEATS RECORD

Elmer Frisble, diminutive broad jumper, just can't stay satisfied with his Southern California Conference record. Last year the Pomona leaper broke the old mark several times, finally finishing up the season with 22ft. 8in. as his official record. Today he bettered that by a half-inch. He also took a second in the century and tied for third in the low hurdles.

Ernest "Champ" Clark, star Pomona footballer who won letters in baseball and track also last year, has set his heart on busting the Conference record in the shot put. Today he heaved the heavy object 40ft. 10½in., which is getting pretty close to the mark of 41ft. held by Durkee. Incidentally Clark was high point man for the afternoon, getting first places in the discus and pole vault in addition to the shot.

Hal Stroud, demon half-miler, showed the best form he has displayed this year, winning the half mile without much effort in the good early-season time of 2m. Stroud also copped the mile, but the time was slow.

WINS CENTURY

Pee Wee Walker, midget sprinter and hurdler, busted the tape for first place in the century in the fast time of 10.3s. There seemed to be a rather general impression that the time had been a bit faster than was officially announced. Smith led the field to the tape in the furlong, finishing in

The visitors were completely outclassed and never had the ghost of a chance in any of the events, Pomona cleaning up in the mile, century, high hurdles, quarter-mile, broad jump and low hurdles. Capt. Sisson, Southern Branch iron man, failed to live up to advance notices, getting only a third in the

WORLD'S RECORD IS SMASHED

Brownell Shatters Mark in Indoor Pole Vault at Illini Relay Carnival

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

URBANA (Ill.) March 1.—A world's record was smashed, another was tied and six carnival records were shattered, in the University of Illinois relay carnival tonight which attracted a record-breaking entry of nearly 1000 athletes from fifty-one universities and colleges.

The world's mark was claimed for Dean Brownell of Illinois, who cleared 12ft. 10 5-8in. in the pole vault. This performance, officials said, established a new indoor record off a dirt floor.

In a sensational upset, Daniel Kinsey of St. Louis competing for the first time for Illinois, tied the world's record for the seventy-five-yard high hurdles, and beat out McCullough Keeble of Missouri, who a week ago claimed a world's record of .06 for the fifty-yard high hurdles. Kinsey leaped the barriers in .09 2-5, tying the world mark up by Earl Thompson of Dartmouth in 1922.

Keeble finished third in this event.

NEW YORK, March 1.—University of Pennsylvania tonight captured the indoor intercollegiate track and field championship for the second straight year, triumphing over a brilliant field of twenty-three rivals in the third annual I.C.A.A.A.A. meet at the Twenty-second Armory. Two intercollegiate records were shattered, a third established and another tied.

Pennsylvania retained its title after a stirring battle with Yale and Princeton, the Quakers rolling up 21 1-2 points, while their chief rivals tied for second place with 20 points.

Coronado Bows to Chino in Playoff Games

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Four teams, Inglewood, Chino, Orange and Alhambra, remained in the running for the Southern California interscholastic basketball championship after last night's playoff games in the University of Southern California pavilion.

Inglewood defeated Pasadena, 17 to 15, in the first and feature game of the evening, while Chino downed the Coronado five by a score of 29 to 9. In the other two games Orange swamped Santa Barbara, 45 to 7, while Alhambra walloped the fighting Banning five, 31 to 5.

Line-ups:

Inglewood (17)		Pasadena (15)
McCandless (13)	F.	Visconti (2)
Aptel (2)	F.	Stiltons (3)

Roodhouse (7)	G.	Welland (3)

Subs—Alhambra, Bowers (2.) Rhodes, Ewert, Martin, McMurray; Banning, K. Guild.

McCANDLESS STARS

The uncanny shooting of John McCandless, demon forward, was the cause of Inglewood's victory and Pasadena's downfall. McCandless scored thirteen of his team's points and also dropped in the winning basket from the center of the floor just before the game ended. Inglewood led at half-time, 7 to 6, but the Bulldogs came back in the final half and shoved in enough baskets for a four-point lead. Then McCandless came through with some fine work and won for the Inglewooders.

Coach Paul Mickey's Chino team, runners-up for the Southern California title last year, had little trouble in disposing of Coronado. Ellis Tomberlin was the high-point man for the winners, caging 13 points.

ORANGE RUNS WILD

Orange simply ran wild against Santa Barbara and showed the best offense of the evening. Durrell, Price and Nichols took spells at shooting goals and all were very proficient at it, Price making the most points, sixteen in number. Alhambra had little to worry about in its game with Banning, scoring baskets almost at will. Wyatt was high-point man with sixteen digits. The Banning team did not score a field goal until the last ten seconds of play when Welland dropped in a basket.

Pros Play in Sweepstakes at Annandale

The regular semi-monthly sweepstakes of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association will be held on the links of the Annandale Golf Club tomorrow, according to an announcement made last night by Jack Malley, president of the organization. As an additional event Eddie Loos and Ed Gayer will compete against George Kerrigan and Dick Linares in an exhibition foursome.

Yesterday's sweepstakes for Annandale members resulted in a victory for F. H. Gilcrest, who finished 2 up in match play against par. W. K. Jewett was second, 1 up, while Dr. F. A. Giguette finished all even.

KRAENZLEIN IS OFF FOR HAVANA BERTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Dr. Alvin E. Kraenzlein, a former University of Pennsylvania star, and the only athlete who ever won four events in the history of the Olympic Games, leaves today for Havana, Cuba, where he will become athletic director of the Vedago Athletic Club. He took first place in four track-and-field events in the Olympic Games in Paris in 1900.

Sports for women at the 1924 Olympic games in Paris will be confined to tennis and swimming. Track and field stars are to be barred.

California Cubs Win Fast Basketball Game at Claremont, 29 to 21; Johns Stars

The University of California at Los Angeles basketball outfit gave Pomona a 29-to-21 drubbing last night at Claremont, winning by a sudden spurt in the final minutes of play. By virtue of this victory the Cubs stand an excellent chance of winning the conference title.

At half-time Pomona was only one point behind, the Branch leading 13 to 12. Up until the tail end of the game not more than 2 points separated the two teams. When Goertz, Brassee and Johns began to locate the hoop and amassed a comfortable lead.

Holsinger was the only consistent scorer for Pomona, while Johns, Brassee and Goertz were all making points. Scott, who was ineligible until the present semester, played an excellent game at guard for the Cubs.

Line-ups:

S.B.U.C.		Pomona.
Johns (12)	F.	Merritt (6)
Brassee (9)	F.	Lorbeer
Goertz (6)	C.	Holsinger (12)
Parker	G.	Jessen (3)
Scott	G.	Robles

Sub—Wilson (1) for Lorbeer.

In a preliminary game the Branch frosh smothered Pomona's yearlings, 40 to 9.

WHITTIER 31, CALTECH 19

Whittier trimmed Caltech in the Pasadena Y. M. C. A. gym last night, 31 to 19. At half time the Quakers led, 13 to 12, the Engineers having made things interesting in the first period, Brunner and Baker doing most of the damage. Johns was the big noise for the winner in the second half

REDLANDS 24, OCCIDENTAL 11

Redlands defeated Occidental in a Southern California Conference basketball contest last night in the Franklin High gymnasium by a score of 24 to 11. The score at half time was 14 to 4 in favor of the Bulldogs.

The Tigers were outclassed throughout and experienced tough luck in shooting baskets.

In a preliminary game the Oxy freshmen won from the Southwestern University by a score of 23 to 12.

The line-ups of the Redlands-Oxy game follows:

Redlands: Hosegood, f, 10; McGilvay, f, 8; Thompson, c, 2; Knight, g, 4; Belcher, g. Manning and Campbell substitute guards.

Occidental—Sackett, f; Holaday, f, 6; Bennett, c; Riderhoff, g, 2; Ebers, g. Substitutes, McGinnis for Holaday, Hazaleton for Sackett, Johnson for Riderhoff, Wheeler for Ebers, 3.

SEASIDERS TRIP MERCURIES

After a thrilling though somewhat ragged lacrosse match, the Long Beach squad defeated the Los Angeles Athletic Club team, 9 to 8, yesterday afternoon at Bovard Field in the first match staged by the State Amateur Lacrosse Association. An extra period was necessity to decide the verdict, as the score stood 8 to 8 at the end of the regulation four fifteen-minute periods. In the final half of the extra ten-minute period of play, "Curly" Paul, inside home for the Long Beach team, slipped in the winning goal.

A large crowd of spectators were on hand to witness the match, which was, for the most of them, their first glimpse at lacrosse. However, the game made a decided hit with everyone present and when the score was tied up at the end of the game, the crowd clamored for the two teams to play off the deadlock.

Bob McCreery of the winning team was the big goal-getter of the match, caging the ball on three occasions. Following are the goals made: Long Beach—Bob McCreery, 3; Fred Snider, 1; Vernon Green, 2; "Curly" Paul, 2; "Beans" McLean, 1. L.A.A.C.—"Heinie" Pottinger, 2; George Davies, 2; Donny McDonald, 1; "Dode" Sinclair, 1; Tom Howard, 1; Jack Brown, 1.

Tom Rennie refereed yesterday's match, while Bill Scott acted as judge of play.

After yesterday's contest Manager Frank Hopkins of the Long Beach team and Manager Steve Doupres of the L.A.A.C. outfit announced that the same teams would clash Sunday at the Shell Oil Park, Long Beach.

ERDMAN LOSES TO WETHERBY

Submerged 2 and 1 in Golf Final at San Gabriel

Winner is Five Up at End of Morning Round

Erdman Shows Dazzling Form on Greens in Afternoon

BY CHARLES WEST

The most successful invitational golf tournament the San Gabriel Country Club has ever staged came to a climax yesterday when final rounds in all flights were played, E. K. Wetherby of Annandale winning top honors by defeating Pardee Erdman, a fellow-club member, in the championship division after thirty-five holes of bitter competition, 2 and 1.

The second 9 holes of the morning round really decided the big match, Erdman permitting his opponent to pile up a lead of 5 holes by the end of the first 18, and although he played splendid golf all afternoon, his putting being spectacular, he was unable to entirely overcome Wetherby's advantage.

A reaction from four days of strenuous competition left Wetherby tired out when he started the final round of the match, and probably because he had a comfortable lead obtained by an excellent 76 in the morning, he noticeably let down, with almost disastrous results. Erdman, who had scored a flock of fives in the second half of the morning round, began to play his game, his work on the greens giving the gallery assorted thrills.

CUTS LEAD

Erdman cut his opponent's lead to 4 holes on the third green of the afternoon round, profiting by Wetherby's battle with an inconvenient oak tree, but was 5 down again after losing the sixth. Wetherby's par 5 on the dog's-leg seventh gave him another hole after Erdman had sent his first tee shot out of bounds, but Erdman won the next 3 holes, halved the eleventh with a thirty-foot putt after a weak out from a trap, and was only 1 down by the thirteenth, laying Wetherby a bady stymie on the twelfth green, and winning the next hole with a birdie.

Erdman's niblick shot was short on the next green, and he had a trap to worry over while his adversary holed out a par 4 for a win, and was 2 up. It was Wetherby's turn to get in trouble on the fifteenth, his drive carrying a trifle too much hook, while Erdman won the hole with a par 4. One down and three to go. Erdman lost a golden opportunity when he sliced out of bounds with his spoon from the sixteenth tee, and took three putts for a five. Wetherby played the hole in rather sloppy fashion, but still holed out a 4, and Erdman was dormie 2.

GOOD DRIVES

Both had splendid drives on the seventeenth, Wetherby reaching the green with his second shot, while Erdman's spoon shot was just short of the green. Erdman's approach putt was weak, and he took a 5, Wetherby halving the hole with three putts, and the match was over.

Their approximate cards follow:

Morning round, out—

COAST ATHLETES IN DRAKE RELAY RACE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DES MOINES (Iowa) March 1. Pacific Coast athletes will probably compete in the fifteenth annual Drake University relay meet here April 25 and 26, Athletic Director "Tug" Wilson of Drake, in charge of the track and field classic, stated today. Word has been received that Coach Joe Pipal of Occidental College at Los Angeles, plans to enter men in several events of the Drake meet this year.

Occidental has one of the strongest track squads in recent years. Coach "Dad" Butler is expected to have an Oregon Aggie team entered. Butler is noted as a trainer of middle-distance men and his athletes should make a strong showing in the mile and two-mile relay events at the Drake meet.

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET NEXT WEEK

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, March 1.—The annual interclass track meet of Redlands High School is to be held next week and plans have been made to make it the best ever held. A. Haven Smith, principal of the high school, announced today that ribbons would be given for all four winners in each event and this did much to increase the interest among the track men. Bill Yount, the track coach, says that he has plenty of men out from each class to make some interesting competitions in everything except the field events. He has few entries in the hammer and the discus. There are plenty of hurdlers, runners and jumpers to make things interesting.

Freshmen Athletes Finish Second in Interclass Meet on Bovard Field

By placing almost every event, the sophomore class won the annual University of Southern California interclass meet yesterday at Bovard Field. The second-year athletes rolled up 54 points, while the freshmen finished second, with 38½ points. The juniors, favorites to win the title, took third with 31½ points, and the seniors crowded in fourth with two lonely digits.

Percy Niersbach provided the feature of the day when he established a new U.S.C. Bovard Field record for the half-mile, traveling the distance at 1:59 5-10, breaking the former mark of 2:02 made by Gwin Wilson, present general manager of the Trojan institution. Niersbach ran his first quarter in 54 seconds, Huber Smutz and Spike Adams battled it out for the next two places, with the former crossing the finish line about a whisker ahead. Both Smutz and Adams were timed in 2:02 3-5.

Carl Plate, former Poly distance star, also set a new Bovard Field record, winning the mile in 4:39 1-5, which breaks Les Hellman's mark by three seconds.

Al McDaniel, frosh star quarter-miler, pulled a surprise in the 440 by beating out both John Woods and Aden Hughes of the junior class. McDaniel's time was 51 3-10 seconds. Oliver Cory proved that he is again back in form in the high jump by clearing six feet one inch for first place. Bud Houser, sophomore, won both the shot and discus. Summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Lloyd (J.) Taylor (F.) second, Martz (J.) third. Time, 10 1-10s.

220-yard dash — Won by Clarke (J.) Martz (J.) second, Smith (F.) third. Time, 22 9-10s.

440-yard dash—Won by McDaniel (F.) Woods (J.) second, Hughes (J.) third. Time, 51 3-10s.

880-yard run—Won by Niersbach (S.) Smutz (J.) second, Adams (F.) third. Time, 1m. 59 5-10s.

Mile run—Won by Plate (F.) Elwood (S.) second, Hellman (F.) third. Time, 4m. 39 1-5s.

Two-mile run—Won by Hellman (F.) Brown (F.) second, McIlvain (J.) third. Time, 10m. 39 1-5s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Dye (S.) Stever (S.) second, Grumbine (S.) third. Time, 15 5-10s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Dye (S.) Mueller (S.) second, Ruiz (F.) third. Time, 26 1-10s.

Pole vault—Won by Bickmore (F.) White (J.) second, Sarcander (F.) third. Height, 12ft.

High jump—Won by Cory (S.) Ofstad (F.) second, Senourbs (F.) and Davis (J.) tied for third. Height, 6ft. 1in.

Shot put—Won by Houser (S.) N. Anderson (J.) second, Aleksi (F.) third. Distance, 43ft. 9½in.

Discus—Won by Houser (S.) Aleksi (F.) second, Thomas (S.) third. Distance, 135ft. 1in.

Javelin—Won by Wingard (S.) Wilson (S.) second, Weinberg (Sen.) third. Distance, 157ft.

Broad jump—Won by Wilson (S.) O. Anderson (J.) second, Minsky (Sen.) third. Distance, 22ft. 6¾in.

SIGN UP BILL ORR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO (Cal.) March 1.—Cliff McCart, manager of the Fresno club in the proposed 1924 San Joaquin Valley League, announced today he had signed Bill Orr, veteran Pacific Coast League infielder, to play shortstop on the local club.

OXY TRACKMEN RUIN ENGINEERS

Tiger Athletes Best Caltech in One-Sided Affair

Cliff Argue High-Point Man for Winning Squad

Carter Easily Wins Mile Run in Splendid Time

Occidental tracksters handed the Caltech squad the small end of a lop-sided score of 107 2-3 to 31 1-3 yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field. The Tigers have been slow getting into shape this season, but are beginning to come back into their own and show what they are capable of doing.

ARGUE HIGH-POINT MAN

"Iron Man" Cliff Argue is beginning to live up to his name, taking the total of thirteen points for the Tigers. Cliff captured first in the century dash, second in the 220-yard sprint, and third in the shot put. "Tarzan" Riederhof annexed first in the discus second in the javelin, and second in the hammer for a total of eleven points. "Ridder" also set a new Occidental record in the javelin by a heave of 162 feet. Nick Carter of Oxy lead the field to the tape by 220 yards in the mile run stepping it off in the good time of 4m., 34 3-5s.

Goodenough came back strong in the pole vault yesterday, tieing Graham of Tech, for first place at 12ft. 3 in. Graham beat out Goodenough in the A.A.U., but the Tiger vaulter is beginning to hit his stride, and should make 12ft. 6in. consistently before the season is over. Buxton, Occidental's new man in the 440-yard dash this season, is showing up better every day. He has a world of fight at the finish and came in strong at third place in that race. Bidwell of Tech was sailing down the stretch for first place in the 220-yard low hurdles when he caught his toe on the last stick and spread himself over the landscape, he still managed to get third after he had gotten up and brushed himself off.

FORFEIT RELAY

The institution from Pasadena decided it was useless to start the relay, so forfeited it to the home team.

Summary:

880-yard run—Won by Ellsworth (O.) Montgomery (O.) second, Morey (O.) third. Time, 2m. 6 1-5s.

100-yard dash—Won by Argue (O.) Nash (O.) second, Lownes (C.T.) third. Time, 10 1-5s.

Pole vault—Goodenough (O.) Graham (C.T.) tied for first, Donley (O.) Grafious (O.) Larsen (C.T.) tied for third. Height, 12ft. 3in.

Hammer throw—Won by Moyse (C.T.) Riddernof (O.) second, Grant (C.T.) third. Distance, 128ft. 2½in.

Mile—Won by Carter (O.) Miller (O.) second, Cater (C.T.) third. Time, 4m. 34 3-5.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Condit (O.) Bidwell (C.T.) second, Wall (O.) third. Time, 16 2-5s.

440-yard run—Won by Spangler (O.) Buchman (O.) second, Buxton (O.) third. Time, 51 3-5s.

High jump—Argue (O.) and Bradshaw (O.) tied for first, Graham (C.T.) third. Height, 5ft. 8in.

Two-mile run—Won by Giffen (O.) Lavelle (O.) second, Schuler (C.T.) third. Time, 10m. 44 3-5s.

Shot put—Won by Fulton (O.) Grant (C.T.) second, Argue (O.) third. Distance, 38ft. 11in.

Broad jump—Won by Creswell (O.) Fulton (O.) second, Newcomb (C.T.) third. Distance, 20ft. 11½in.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Wall (O.) Condit (O.) second, Bidwell (C.T.) third. Time, 27 1-5s.

Discus throw—Won by Ridderhof (O.) Moyse (C.T.) second, Stevens (O.) third. Distance, 119ft. 9½in.

220-yard dash—Won by Spangler (O.) Argue (O.) second, Schultz (C.T.) third. Time, 22 3-5s.

Javelin throw—Won by Grant (C.T.) Ridderhof (O.) second, Newcomb (C.T.) third. Distance, 162ft.

Relay—Forfeited to Occidental by Tech.

Admit U.S.C. to Membership in Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athlete

TROJANS WILL TRY FOR TITLE

To Send Team East This Year for Competition

Cincinnati University Sends in Resignation

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—The University of Southern California today was admitted to membership in the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America and will send a team to compete in the 1924 championships at Harvard stadium May 30 and 31, it was announced today after the annual meeting of the I.C.A.A.A.A.

Taking another important step the association decided to have motion pictures taken of all finishes at outdoor championship meets, the pictures to be accepted as final judgment in a race if they differ from the awards of track officials. By this method, the I.C.A.A.A.A. believes it will eliminate any cause for dispute such as has arisen in many "blanket" finishes of title events.

Southern California's application for membership was tabled a year ago, because of uncertainty as to whether its ineligibility standards measured up to those of the I.C.A.A.A.A., but since then this situation has been straightened out.

The association now has three Pacific Coast members, the others being California University, holders of the outdoor team title for the past three years, and Stanford University.

U.S.C. will send a formidable team to this year's championship, according to Graduate Manager Henderson of the Coast school, despite the loss of Charley Paddock, sprint star, who would have been eligible to compete if U.S.C. had been admitted a year ago. The Californians include several prospective Olympic competitors.

University of Cincinnati, which has dropped track athletics, resigned from the association.

Announce Draw for Pro Golf Team Tourney

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Fla.) March 1.—A draw for position, in the international professional golf team championship tournament, to be played at the Miami Country Club Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, today determined that Walter Hagen and his partner, Joe Kirkwood, will tee off against Emmet French of Youngstown, O., and Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City. They are in the lower bracket. In their half, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell will play Billy Melhorn of Shreveport, and McDonald Smith of San Francisco. In the upper half Mike Brady and Jock Hutchinson will play Bobby Cruikshank and George McLean, while Arthur Havers, British open champion, and Jimmie Ockenden, holder of the French open title, will meet Freddie McLeod of Washington and Leo Diegel.

The undoubted favorites from the American point of view are Hagen and Kirkwood who have been going great guns recently in the Texas title tournament. The break of the draw means that if they are as successful as their admirers believe they will be, there is a chance that they will meet Havers and Ockenden in the finals. The Britishers, if they are able to overcome McLeod and Diegel may have one of the toughest assignments in golf in front of them Wednesday. They will find Mike Brady and Jock Hutchinson a great team, each a golfer who knows the course intimately and is shooting in excellent form.

CHAMP RECOVERING FROM HIS OPERATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 1. — Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, vigorously denied today sensational reports to the effect that the heavyweight champion is seriously ill. Dempsey was operated upon last Wednesday at the Polyclinic Hospital for hemorrhoids and, according to Kearns, his condition has improved rapidly since then

LAST DAY AT HORSE SHOW

Los Angeles Riding Academy Carries Off the Palm; Little Abe is Best of Stock Nags

BY TIMOTHY G. TURNER

Yesterday, the closing day of the third annual Los Angeles Horse Show at the Ambassador arena, was devoted chiefly to amateurs, with a matinee in which the youngsters showed their skill at horsemanship. There was the hotly contended three-gaited class for clubs, riding academies and schools, each with teams of six riders, including the master.

The Los Angeles Riding Academy took the palm with first, second and third place for its three classes entered. The fourth place went to the Flintridge Riding Club. The schools and academies are doing fine work in keeping horsemanship alive, and another, if a small, generation of horsemen and horsewomen is assured for Southern California.

IN PONY CLASS

A pretty saddle pony class was won by Master Herman Wallace Hellman, son of Marco H. Hellman, president of the horse show, who rode his Liberty Bond, and second place by little Miss Evelyn Hellman, daughter of Irving H. Hellman. Another class for smaller children was won by Miss Alma Lloyd with her little black Twilight, second going to little Miss Betty Baum, daughter of Jacob Baum, a little mare named Mother.

There were several nice classes with adult amateur, adult riders or drivers. Will Rogers and his bully, fine children did their turn again, to the delight of the many young ones in the audience, and Roy, a high-school horse, owned by little Miss Marcoreta Hellman, daughter of Marco H. Hellman, did his tricks in the ring.

LITTLE ABE BEST

The $1000 stake for stock horses late Friday night resulted in the choosing of Claude I. Parker's Little Abe as the best animal of that class in the show. The Western School of Horsemanship does not make what is called a smart horse show feature, but it is quite in keeping with a far western show, which would not be complete without it, for the cuttin' out horse is to the West what the gaited horse is to the South and the hunter and walk-trot horses are to England. For after all types of horsemanship are only geographical, merely different ways of reaching the same end.

AND WHY NOT?

It is respectfully, but rather fearfully, suggested that in next year's show and in all shows thereafter there is to be a class of burros. A burro is not a horse? Indeed, then is he a cow?

The idea would be to have something typically southwestern; not to have children's burro pets, but real desert rat's burros, shown under a prospector's pack and led by owners not less than 50 years old—there are many such rare types in the canyons around Los Angeles. They should be judged seriously and awarded ribbons and cash prizes. Why, the police would have to keep away the entries.

Too undignified for a horse show? Well, here is a precedent: In the famous Olympia Horse Show, London, every year sees a class in coster's donkeys, led by their cockney masters and judged with all seriousness. Should not the desert rat and his burro be as dear to the heart of an Angeleno as the coster and his donkey?

BIG CLASSES

The shows thus far have had good-sized classes in cow ponies, and a class or two might not be amiss in the Mexican style, with Mexican saddles, which are different from the American stock saddles, and riders in the charro dress. This certainly would be proper to a Southern California show; some very good Mexican riders could be obtained in these parts, and a Mexican horseman—there is always some Mexican cavalry officer sojourning here—could judge them.

All this might add to the show's popularity without detracting from it as a horse show. But indeed the attendance this year has been remarkably good; when most of an audience would sit as they did on the opening day until 1 a.m. there really is interest. The show mechanically was excellently handled, with no waits between classes, and each program was a good money's worth, too much for the money if anything. If the show is to grow from year to year, next season will require daily matinees.

The winners:

Single roadsters—First, Peter Carroll, E. A. Stuart; second, May Bird, Mrs. W. P. Roth; third, Prism, Bel-Air Stables.

Single harness ponies—First, Endora, Ben R. Meyer; second, Seaham Star, Mrs. W. P. Roth.

Pair of heavy harness horses, women drivers—First, Ruxton and Seaton Septimus, J. D. Farrell; second, Melanchton and Moncrieff, E. A. Stuart; third, Princess Patricia and Queen's Model, Mrs. W. P. Roth.

Saddle horses, three-gaited—First, Jaqueline, Bel-Air Stables; second, Sylvia, E. A. Stuart; third, Ming Toy, Revel Lindsay English.

DEAL ON JOB WITH BENGALS

Crack Third Sacker Dons Practice Uniform; McDowell Hurts Groin

Charley Deal, third baseman par excellence of the Pacific Coast League, stalked onto the Washington Park field yesterday afternoon at 12:35 o'clock accoutred in a Vernon uniform. A few moments before Charley's reporting for the 1924 season, a wire was received by Bill Essick from Mike Menoskey saying he would be here today at noon. Deal's appearance and Mike's telegram were sources of keen joy to the Bengal leader who actually forgot himself by discarding monosyllables for almost a minute.

The Vernon roster for 1924 is now complete and from today on, Essick will have his troubles in paring down process. Deal seemed to put a lot of spirit in the felines, and Charley himself cut into practice with surprising energy.

Jimmy McDowell, the hard-hitting first-sacker, acquired from the Wichita Club, was not in uniform yesterday. Jimmy hurt his groin Thursday afternoon in batting practice and will probably be on the mending list for several days.

Franz Hosp, veteran of many a Coast League conflict, bore the Tiger on his breast yesterday. He operated around the keystone exhaling a bunch of sage advice to the infield youngsters. In the lookout chair back of the practice cage sat Deacon Van Buren and strange to say he didn't find a sleeper morning or afternoon. The Deacon has a keen eye.

The line-ups for this afternoon's game at Washington Park between the White Kings and the Bengals (play starts at 2:30 o'clock) are as follows:

White King: Hesse, cf.; Kingdon, ss.; Compton, 1b.; Gomes, lf.; Thomas, c.; Folk, 3b.; Jones, 2b.; D. Meyers, rf.; Doyle, p.; Tally, p.

Vernon: Bienkiron, lf.; Gillespie, cf.; R. Murphy, 3b.; Burke, 1b.; Schneider, rf.; Gorman, 2b.; Slade, ss.; Zanic, c.; Rappy, p.; File, p.; Cruz, p.

Seraphs Sign Husky Catcher From Phoenix

Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles baseball club, announced yesterday afternoon that Catcher John Billings, who became an Angel through a trade with the St. Louis Browns, had shown up and had signed his contract. He also gave it out that the Seraphs had acquired another backstop in Harry Westfall of Phoenix, Ariz. According to Reichow, the newcomer is a big fellow of the Hack Miller type. He had a uniform on for the first time yesterday at the Long Beach training grounds and greatly pleased Manager Marty Krug by hitting a ball over the centerfield fence.

The Krug rookies had a chance to show their manager yesterday just what stuff they are made of. Gunther, Beck and Jacobs particularly performed to advantage. They hit the ball hard and did well in fielding stunts. All the Cherubs indulged in hitting practice, a number of them notching the fence now and then with hot-hit liners.

The entire squad worked two hours in the morning and two in the afternoon. Only one workout will be gone through today. Beginning tomorrow, however, Manager Krug will put his lads through a regular daily grind.

UPSETS OCCUR IN BOWLING TOURNEY

Quite a number of upsets occurred this week in the Southern California bowling doubles championship tournament at the Angelus Academy when fourth-round matches were played. The B. H. Dyas Company gold medals are at stake in the tourney.

Both divisions played their rounds and the famed Cy Taylor and Johnny Bowen, last year's titleholders and winners of Dyas Company medals were ousted from the top position. Taylor and Bowen are now in sixth place, while Krueger and Walls rest in first place with 102.19 points, about 1 point ahead of the entire field of twenty-four teams. Stevens and DeLong head the second division with 101.22. The fifth round will be held next week.

EAGLES TO CLASH WITH MERCHANTS

Pasadena in Second Tilt of Series; Hollywood and Irvine Tangle Up

BY JOE BUSH

Sam Cox's Pasadena Eagles and Loren Ury's Pasadena Merchants provide the feature Greater Southern California Baseball Association game today when they clash at Tournament Park in the second of the three-game series for the semipro championship of the Crown City.

The same teams met last week at Tournament Park with the Eagles winning out in the ninth when Frank Peckham busted a home run with two on and the score tied. Manager Ury says that the Merchants are going to pile up such a lead today that it will take about two homers with the bases full to beat them out in the ninth. Sam Cox comes out with a statement that there won't be any third game necessary to the series as his Eagles are going to win today and take on the title of "Pasadena Semipro Champs."

Another important game on for today brings together the Hollywood Merchants and the Irvine Beanpickers on the Irvine lot. This will be the third time the Merchants and Beanpickers have met, the first tilt ending in a fourteen-inning 3-to-3 tie, while the Hollywooders took the second, 7 to 6. This will be the first of a three-game series between the two clubs.

Barry's Classy Hats travel to Glendora to take on Poll Perritt's nifty aggregation in what is expected to result in a speedy tussle. Both the Hatters and Glendorans have added new men to their line-up to strengthen for today's game.

Manager Paul Zuelch's 'Kant-Skore Pistons will hook up with the fast-traveling Downey club on the Downey diamond. Downey has won twenty-three of its last twenty-six games and Manager Oscar Williams says his home boys will take the Pistons into camp. Roy Hevle will hurl for the Downey team. Another good game brings together the Hughes Ice Cream outfit and Manager George McGarvey's Huntington Park Merchants. The Merchants have added new men since last Sunday and should give the Ice Cream nine a stiff battle. At Hazard playgrounds the fast Minor Building Company club and the Federal Reserve Bank nine hook up.

TOWNS SIGN UP FOR FOUR CLUB LEAGUE

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VISALIA, March 1.—Visalia, Porterville, Tulare and Farmersville signed up for a four-club Tulare Country Baseball League at a session of fans here. Cutler and Lindsay may also take franchise in the circuit and it is expected that if Hanford and Dinuba do not enter the Valley League they will enlist with the county organization. Charles Premo of Porterville is president; Harry Haynes, Tulare, secretary; H. S. Spencer, Visalia, treasurer, of the new league. The season will open March 30 and close July 4. Plans for the second circuit await success of the first half.

Only four players with professional experience will be permitted on a club and none of these will be a pitcher. The other men must be men who have lived in the county for a period of six months. A forfeit of $75 was placed as evidence of good faith and if a club fails to show up $50 will go to the injured club. Directors from each club will meet here on March 5 to form the playing schedule.

CRICKET SQUADS IN BIG CONTEST TODAY

The Los Angeles Cricket Club and Sons of St. George cricket squads will clash this morning at 10 o'clock at the Goodyear Park in the first intercity cricket game of the season. The Los Angeles Cricket Club squad has been traveling along at a rapid clip, bowling over all opponents, but the Sons of St. George are determined to upset the undefeated team so a good match should result tomorrow.

The Los Angeles Cricket Club's line-up follows: Griffith, Henderson, Girdwood, Mawhinney, Cooney, Everett, Marks, Smith, Allen, Neilson and Symonds, with Huckvale and Hodgkins as reserves.

BENNIE HILL ENTERS INDIANAPOLIS CLASSIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) March 1.—Bennie Hill, diminutive scion of speed, is the second driver to be announced as a competitor in the international 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, as usual, next May 30. Hill's entry in a Miller Special has been accepted and it is simultaneously announced that Hill will be up on car No. 3, being the third entry in the coming classic.

MONTANA GAMES COUNTED

Conference Members Vote to Compute Contests in Basketball Percentage; Open Finals Tuesday

The Pacific Coast basketball conference, by a vote of 6 to 1, not counting the vote of the University of Southern California, has decided that games played by the University of Montana should be considered in computing the standing of teams in the northern half of the conference, it was announced yesterday by W. R. LaPorte of U.S.C., president of the conference.

The single vote registered against Montana's eligibility was cast by Oregon Agricultural College. The vote was taken as a result of a protest entered by Washington State College in LaPorte's ruling made recently against Montana's eligibility.

As O. A. C. did not play Montana, her percentage suffered, permitting Washington to win the northern section title by virtue of an extra game with Montana. Late last night the Aggies wired La Porte requesting permission to play Montana. If permission is granted and the Aggies win, they will again be tied with Washington, and a play-off will be necessary. This will gum the matter up worse than ever, as the Husky basketball team left last night for Berkeley, where they intend to meet California for the Conference title.

La Porte has requested another telegraphic vote on O. A. C.'s requests, results of which will probably be known tomorrow.

PLAY IN OAKLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, March 1.—The University of Washington and the University of California will play in Oakland Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights fo rthe basketball championship of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Conference, it was announced here today upon receipt of a decision that games of the University of Montana were to be counted in figuring standings in the northern section of the conference.

California had invited Washington to play three games beginning Monday night in Oakland, but so much delay was occasioned when a dispute arose over a ruling of W. R. LaPorte, University of Southern California, president of the conference, that the Montana games would not be counted, that a change to later days in the week was effected by an interchange of telegrams between the Huskies and the Bears. No game will be played Friday night if the other two are won by either team.

Anderson and McLean Clash in Vernon Ring

Eddie Anderson and Stewart McLean will settle a question of ring supremacy Tuesday night in the Vernon arena of long standing and the argument that has been waged for nearly two years is expected to end up in a blaze of glory. When Anderson stopped McLean in seven rounds on the occasion of their previous meeting, it was claimed by McLean that it was a lucky punch. This Anderson denied with vehemence and it is due to all this war talk that Tuesday night's encounter promises to be one of more than ordinary brilliance.

No one who saw Larry Murphy and Danny Dillon in their battle three weeks ago will miss their second encounter in the semiwind-up. A draw cerdict the last time out displeased them both and a couple of upsets during that session indicates they will put up a slam-bang affair in an effort to make the decision easy for the judges.

Joe Schlocker one of the sweetest hitters in the lightweight ranks of Southern California, will get a real test against Sailor Ashmore in the special event. Ashmore is a seasoned battler with a defense that has stood up in numerous main events with boys of class and if Schlocker can penetrate it with his punching, Joe will have plenty of engagements.

The balance of the card will show Young Datto and Billy Wallace, 135-pounders; Mickey Rockson and George Thompson, 158 pounds, Dominick Urgo and Benny Marks, 115 pounds, and Billy Edge and Jack Newman, 130 pounds.

WINTER GOLF ON SOUTHER COURSES

The other day I came across Capt. Ernest F. Carter, former Irish champion, looking ruefully out of a window at the fast-falling snow. Said he: "How in the world do you manage to hit a ball in the spring after your golfless winters?"

The pertinent question set me to thinking. Of course, I know that in the British Isles they are accustomed to play the year around and it seems strange to them we can go months at a time with no golf at all and yet expect to have a semblance of a game when the spring season begins. I think that the American who does not go South in the winter starts his spring playing rather gloomily, but by the time the big championships arrive he is back in his rightful place whatever it may be, for there is usually a pretty long stretch between the time that courses are ready for play and the championships begin. This year, however, the open championship is to be played early in June, and it remains to be seen whether the professionals who have spent the winter in the South, or California, will have the advantage. There will not be much time for others to get in trim.

There was a time when golf below the Mason and Dixon line could not develope anyone's game, for the sand greens of the South were not calculated to train the hand for play on grass greens of the North. Except at Aiken, S. C., I never saw a sand green course where one could play up to the green. There, however, the sand was so plentifully sprinkled on a clay foundation, that it was possible to play with a backspin, all the way to the green and stick on it.

Almost all the well-known courses in the South, at present, are well bunkered and possess good grass greens, and the appearance of such greens in the South has caused a great change in the possibilities of future champions. There are fine courses everywhere, for as the change from sand greens was very recent it was possible to take advantage of present-day ideals of the best architecture. There has been great competition among the resorts, and beautiful, well-arranged courses have been built in consequence throughout the South.

Golf is now an all-season game for the man who can afford both time and money for a southern sojour. It is a wonderful thing to think of leaving the snowy North and its ice-bound courses for the fine links of the Southland. The grass used on the courses is the Bermuda, and it differs somewhat from our northern grass, but it affords marvelous lies in the fairways. The greens are stiff to putt on, but they teach one to hit the ball well, and if our traveling golfers only learn this in the wintertime they will have achieved a great deal. The grass catches the ball nicely and in that way one learns the pitch shot well.

It has rarely been my good fortune to play on southern courses in winter, for I have no vacation then. As far as I can recall the last time that I played south in the winter was in Pinehurst in 1911, when I won the United North and South championship; I played at Atlanta that year, too, but since that time my only experience with southern golf has been in the fall when I played at New Orleans, in Oklahoma, and in Texas and Tennessee.

I am convinced that more and more as time passes will southern and California golf influence the game. When the grass-green obstacle was overcome the door of great possibility was opened. The future result is to be seen; the present is one of happiness and pleasure.

"HUG" SURE OF VICTORY

Haugdahl Out to Scalp Rivals in Match Race on Ascot Speedway Today

With Sig Haugdahl, world's speed king, predicting for himself easy victory in the quadrangular match at Ascot Speedway this afternoon, but with both Leon Duray and Fred Lecklider having shown faster laps with their Miller eight-in-a-row cars than Haugdahl has been clocked with his Fiat, the big event of the nine-race card looks to be a sizzler.

Sixteen railbirds who never miss a minute of the daily practice periods claim that the Scandinavian has something up his sleeve and that he is "playing possum" by not letting his Fiat out for a full lap, thereby thwarting the split-second snapping experts in efforts to get the real dope on his speed. Fred Horey, always a tough bird to shove entirely in the background declares he is due for one of the sensational races he drove on opening day at Ascot.

FLYING START

The big race will be at distance of twenty laps with a flying start. The spectators will get a line on the speed of all drivers except Haugdahl in the opening event, the Ascot helmet dash. "Hug" will not be allowed to start his oversized Fiat in the one-lap classic.

Rivaling the three-ring gasoline acrobats for speed honors will be the motorbike stars, five of them declaring that the time made by the winners of the motorcycle races will be faster than that made by the automobile event wreath grabbers. Gene Walker, Ralph Hepburn, Jim Davis, Johnny Seymour and Ray Weishaar, being the top-speed boys in the two-wheel brigade. Of the nine races on the program three will be for the motorcyclists, with an added "scramble" event which will be staged by about thirty of "Cannon Ball" Baker's playmates. All members of the splint and bandage club will be eligible for this spectacle, which will not be a contest but a stunt.

FIFTY-TWO NOMINATED

Fifty-two drivers and fifteen motorcycle riders have been nominated. The elimination trials between 11 o'clock and noon will painlessly remove many of those who cannot show enough speed to thrill the spectators.

SANTA ANA LADS WIN TRACK MEET

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, March 1.—The local track team walked away yesterday from the visiting Long Beach runners in their dual meet under the auspices of the Tri-County League. Santa Ana ran up a total of 74 2-3 points against Long Beach's 38 2-3. John Paul was high-point man of the meet, placing 13 points for the Santa Ana team in the hurdles. Tandler of Long Beach scored 8 points during the day.

Three Jockeys Take Spills on Tijuana Track

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—Three jockeys were spilled, two of them being shaken up in two mishaps at Tijuana today. Bess L with Walls Up and Neg, carrying Ellis, fell during the running of the seventh race. Walls was knocked unconscious, but recovered within half an hour. He canceled the remainder of his mounts as did Ellis. In the second race Charlotte B tumbled after passing the wire throwing Steve O'Donnell, leading rider at the track this season. O'Donnell suffered a sprained knee and will be out of the saddle for several days. Spread Eagle, given a splendid ride by Walls, took the feature race the sixth and came within three-fifths of a second of tying the track record for the mile. With the exception of The Wit in the third and Kirkwood in the Seventh, favorites were winners.

WINS FORTY-NINTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Mercersburg Academy of Mercersburg, Pa., won its forty-ninth consecutive swimming meet today when it took first place in the annual interscholastic competition in the Columbia University tank with a total of 42 points.

OUR 1924 OLYMPIC TEAM.

BY BOYD COMSTOCK

Coach Citrus Union H. S. National champions 1912, University of Southern California, Coast champions 1913-14, Field coach Yale University 1922, Author A. G. Spalding's new series of Track and Field Books.

The 1923 intercollegiates brought out the best jumping that has been seen for years for all of the place winners were forced to clear twenty-three feet or better. Rose of Pennsylvania was second to Comins (Comins jumped 24 ft. 4in.) with a jump of 23ft. 11 ¾ in.; Boren of California was third with 23ft. 5in.; Muller of California was fourth with 23ft. 2in. and Rusnak of Yale was fifth with 23ft. 1¼ in.

Rose must be considered as a strong possibility for he has consistently cleared better than twenty-three feet for several years. He is a fine competitor and can always be counted upon to equal his best mark. He placed second to Le Gendre in the 1922 intercollegiates with 23ft. 2½in. and has shown to advantage in all of the indoor and outdoor competitions. He also placed fourth in the 1922 nationals, being beaten that day by Hubbard, Gourdin and Butler. In view of the fact that his jump is the third best performance of the 1923 collegiate season, it follows that this record, in conjunction with his long experience, will weigh heavily when the final selections are made.

BOREN MAY REPEAT

Both Boren and Muller are capable of reaching the 24ft. mark, but they cannot be counted upon to clear this distance. Both of them, however, should jump 23ft. 6in. or slightly better. Muller made a 23ft. 8 1-4in. jump in the 1922 national collegiate, but did not show to the same advantage during this past seasun. Boren has made several spectacular jumps and he may be able to produce this coming year.

Rusnak of Yale would make a splendid broad jumper if he gave sufficient time to the event and the same can be said of a number of athletes who make a specialty of sprinting and take up broad jumping as a side issue. This statement applies particularly to Comins because his sprinting is almost on a par with his jumping.

The average sprinter is able to jump a fair distance because a generous amount of speed plus a fair amount of technique will always produce results, but getting out beyond this approximate distance requires a great deal of intensive application.

USES SHORTER SPRINT

Last year Comins dropped the 220-yard run and used the shorter sprint as a side issue, and it is certain that this decision affected his sprinting ability. Rusnak, on the other hand, made a specialty of the 220-yard run and used the broad jump and the 100 yards as side issues and in general made a much better showing in the first-named event. Had he dropped both sprints it is certain that he would have reached the twenty-four-foot mark because he showed this ability during his final indoor season.

Ordinarily a college coach lacks material and to make a showing he is forced to ask his men to double up in two or more events. This works a hardship on the individual athlete, for only a few exceptional performers possess the ability to compete in several events without weakening their chances in their favorite competition.

The club athlete does not work under this handicap, but as a general rule our best broad jumpers either make their marks during their collegiate years or shortly after, and the majority of our representative jumpers have been developed under college coaches.

FEW SPECIALISTS

The fact that we seldom find a dozen college men clearing better than twenty-three feet during any one season reveals a sad lack of specialization in this particular event and it also may be said that no other event receives so little attention in point of preparation.

Eventually this haphazard scheme of preparation will be shelved in favor of something definite and standard and when this day arrives the twenty-four-foot jumper will be as easy to find as a ten-flat sprinter.

It is to be hoped that this person will come in the near future, for our foreign competitors are now developing their own super-athletes and we can no longer expect to monopolize track and field athletics.

The eastern competition this year, as demonstrated at the intercollegiates, was extremely gratifying—supplemented by entries from the Coast—but for the most part our best marks have been made by a handful of men. Numberless colleges lack a performer capable of clearing twenty-two feet and in many instances points were won at the larger collegiate championships on jumps that did not reach this mark.

Van Arsdale of Wabash was one of the few exceptions in the Middle West to clear better than 23 feet. He placed second to Hubbard at the national collegiate championship with a jump of 23ft. 5 3-8in. Sweeney of Illinois, placed second at the western conference with a mark of 22ft. 5in.

DOWDING FIRST

Dowding of St. John's Academy was the best of the 1922 interscholastic jumpers. His record of 23ft. 8½in. should entitle hmi to more than ordinary consideration.

This season, Hamm of Lonoke, Ark., was selected as the best interscholastic performer. He won this event at the University of Chicago prep championship with an equally fine jump of 23ft. 8½in. Kaer of Red Bluff, Cal., was second with a 23ft. 1 3-4in. jump. Dowding also made his mark at the annual Chicago games.

The fact that ten or twelve college men have reached the par jump of twenty-three feet in regularly scheduled dual meets and semisectional championships does not alter the fact that these same jumpers found it impossible to do as well in the larger championships and for this reason their records have not been included in this resume.

It is quite probable that several of them will better their last season's performance to a considerable extent and in this case they stand a very good chance of crowding out a number of the better known men. As has been pointed out, the bulk of them have weakened their chances by taking in too many events but when the necessity for this all-around work becomes a thing of the past—with the close of the 1924 dual season, it follows that several of our track-and-field events will immediately be bolstered up by these versatile and hard-working collegians.

BILL JOHNSTON TO COME SOUTH

Ambassador Tennis Tourney on This Month

Leading Racketers of State Will Enter Event

Other Northern Stars to Vie With Southerners

The leading California tennis stars are now putting the final touches on their favorite strokes in preparation for the Ambassador tournament which opens the 19th inst. with final matches on Saturday and Sunday the 22nd and 23rd insts. This event which is sponsored by the Ambassador Hotel and sanctioned by Nat Browne of the Tennis Association always attracts the ranking Coast players.

It was in the Ambassador finals last year that Harvey Snodgrass, the local star, demonstrated his real championship caliber by defeating the Kinseys, Griffin and William Johnston and thereby keeping the beautiful Ambassador bowl in Southern California. This year again there will be an invasion of northern players from San Francisco more determined than ever to carry back with them the coveted bowl and thereby getting revenge for their defeats in the past.

Foremost among the invaders will be William Johnston, ex-national champion and second only to "Big Bill" Tilden, in the world. Johnston has been playing more tennis than usual this winter and is in very good shape. His defeat last year was attributed largely to lack of practice and he really was not on top of his game, but this has been remedied for the coming tournament and some wonderful tennis is in store for local fans. In addition to Johnston, Peck Griffin, Howard Kinsey and Ray Casey will come south to demonstrate their superior ability over the Los Angeles stars.

Although the local players are not ranked as high in California as the San Francisco players so far we have been able to repulse every northern invasion and sent them back with nothing better than second prizes due to the stellar performances of Snodgrass, Wesbrook, Tom Ferrandini and Harold Godshall, all of whom will participate in the Ambassador tournament.

In the doubles event William Johnston will play with his old stand-by Peck Griffin, while Howard Kinsey will team up with Ray Casey. Both of these teams have carried off numerous championships and the Los Angeles combinations of Snodgrass and Wesbrook and Godshall and Ferrandini will have their hands full in holding the fort.

Moore Finalist in Midwinter Golf Tourney

Charles P. Moore advanced to the final round of play in the Los Angeles Country Club's annual midwinter handicap yesterday by defeating Harry J. Earl 1 up in the semifinals. Moore will meet Walter Leeds next Saturday in the finals, Leeds having won his semifinal match last week.

In yesterday's class sweepstakes J. T. Gilmer won in class A, 3 down, 3 handicap 1 down in match play against par, while W. H. Thomas finished first in class B, 8 down, 8 handicap, even.

Krafakili Tribe and French Are in Bloody Fight

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.—The newspapers here say that a fierce encounter has occurred in Hadjiler, a village on the Syrian frontier, between French troops and the Krafakili tribe with killed and wounded on both sides.

It is said the French had thirty casualties.

BOBBY DYSON WILL FIGHT IN OAKLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—"Knockout" Bobby Dyson, bantamweight champion of New England, arrived here today to campaign among the four-rounders and was signed up for a battle with "Dynamite" Murphy before Tommy Simpson's club in Oakland next Wednesday night. He will also fight in Los Angeles. Dyson plans to remain on the coast for three months, campaigning under the direction of Fred Winson, veteran San Francisco fight manager.

Dyson has fought and defeated Billy Mascott, northwest bantamweight champion; Danny Edwards, Al Walker and other good men.

FIRST INSTALLMENT PAID FOR STEAMER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Julius H. Barnes, treasurer of the Olympic committee today paid the first installment of $40,000 for the charter of the steamship America, which will transport the American athletes to France in June to compete in the 1924 Olympic Games.

BONNELL-CLEMENT IN CHAMP BATTLE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, March 1.—Andre Bonnel, light-heavyweight champion of France, and Clement, the champion of Switzerland, have been designated by the International Boxing Union to fight for the title of light-heavyweight champion of Europe, taken from "Battling" Siki, as the result of his escapades, not long after he won it from Georges Carpentier.

SOCCER TEAMS ON KEEN EDGE

L.A.A.C. Tackles Northern Outfit March 9

San Francisco Interest is on the Increase

Champion Cup Ties Are Now in Full Swing

As the time draws near for the meeting of the Olympic and Los Angeles Athletic Club's soccer football teams interest in San Francisco increases, in spite of the fact that the cup ties for the State championship are now in full swing.

The influence of the two great clubs, each with nearly 5000 members, in the community is so felt that the two scheduled contests between them is becoming the football opic de lux; and it is unfortunately, attracting the betting fiends; odds of twenty-five to fifteen on a win for Los Angeles in the southern game and even money on the return game in San Francisco is quite a common bet.

FAVOR ANGELS

Just why the bettors favor the Angels so for the game in L. A. is hard to guess, unless the record so far this season in games in the south between the southern teams and San Francisco elevens has caused people to think that the local athletic club can not be beaten on the big field used here.

Meantime the Olympic Club manager is having his troubles. He realizes that his team is not keeping up to its average. During the past two years nearly all of his young charges have married; and married men have neither the physical energy nor the personal freedom for proper training. Commissioner Pomeroy and Coach Young are anxious to get the men into superb condition for the game in Los Angeles and for the remaining cup games.

LACK ENERGY

The boys are as full of good intentions as they can be, but lack the natural energy that puts intention into facts. Instead of exercise they try to get by with excuses and the commissioner is trying to find some way of avoiding the only alternative left if the men will not train as required, namely, organizing a new first out of the best conditioned in the first and the best of the second eleven.

The first eleven of the Olympic Club has some famous football players on the squad; men who have played on the championship winning teams of the club for several years and are still better than the average.

Moffatt to Fight Finn at L.A.A.C. Bouts

The padding will fly when Oscar Finn, accounted the best welterweight amateur boxer developed in Southern California in the past year, meets Kenneth Moffatt at the Los Angeles Athletic Club boxing show next Thursday night.

Moffatt was rated as the best man of his class at the club two years ago and for a time was groomed for national competition. After a year out of the game he is anxious to stage a comeback. Finn is a game, skillful boxer and terrific puncher with better than an even chance to win, according to amateur wiseacres, and a corking scrap is expected.

Archie Wollman, bantam, and Jack Fields, the phenomenal flyweight, will box the main event. The remainder of the card follows:

Chet Gleason vs. Ross Duggan, 105 pounds.
Kenneth Moffatt vs. Oscar Finn, 145 pounds.
Eddie Gleason vs. Wilfred Parker, 135 pounds.
Tommie Coyne vs. Al Leonard, 125 pounds.
Ad Allegrini vs. Mannie Kaplan, 165 pounds.
John Grella vs. Billy Burke, 160 pounds.
Jack Fields vs. Archie Wollman, 122 pounds.

MONTECOSTA WILL HAVE RACE TRACK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) March 1.—Aztec City, Incorporated, organized for the purpose of taking over racing concessions at Montecosta, on the ocean beach, five miles west of Tijuana, Lower California, filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State at Carson City today. The company proposes taking over 2460 hectares of land and installing a race track, automobile, golf and polo course, and yacht harbor, clubhouse and other similar attractions.

The company has 50,000 shares with a par value of $100 each, $1000 of which has been subscribed by Jerome A. Bassity, George Appel, Los Angeles attorney, and C. H. Burritt, local lawyer.

COLLECTOR OF RELIEF FUND GIVEN FREEDOM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—An order of dismissal was entered in the United States District Court today in the case of Richard Gruber de Gilady, who was alleged to have collected funds while wrongfully posing as a representative of the Hungarian government in charge of relief work. The evidence against De Gilady was deemed insufficient by the court after a hearing yesterday. Department of Justice agents in Chicago are still investigating his activities there, according to local Federal officials.

ILL BALL PLAYER IS CONVALESCENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PASO ROBLES, March 1.—Jewell Ens, Pittsburg Pirate, ill at a hospital in Atascadero with scarlet fever who is here for the spring training season of the club, has only a slight case and is practically convalescent, according to Dr. Wilmar, who is attending him. Other players on the club have not been quarantined and engaged in two practice workouts today.

Improvements on West Adams Street Sought

Advocating paving, lighting and other improvements for West Adams street from Montclair avenue to the intersection of West Adams and Washington Boulevard, twenty members of the Greater West Adams Improvement Association are scheduled to appear before the City Council early this week, following a meeting of the improvement association Friday night at Thirty-first and West Adams streets.

Those at the meeting which was presided over by P. N. Fisher, president, also discussed sewers and other public service features considered necessary to the rapidly growing community.

The decisions reached at the meeting are scheduled to be placed before the Councilmen and immediate action asked on the improvements.

LIE DETECTOR MAY RING THIRD DEGREE'S KNELL

Police Chief Believes Science Soon to Doom Inquisition Methods in Crime Investigation

BY CHARLES SLOAN

Will science succeed eventually in abolishing age-old methods of official inquisition, substituting a means whereby guilt or innocence of a suspect may be determined instantly and correctly without that suspect's mental, moral or physical aid or hindrance?

And will it devise a system of individual mental classification—for it is a well held theory that all criminals are mental defectives—whereby crime preventatives can be applied with a fair degree of success?

Chief of Police Vollmer of Los Angeles believes these things will happen; he believes that experiments already well under way will bring about the development of a new science of criminology so exact and accurate that the inhumane methods of the third degree will be to future generations as unknown as the tortures of the Spanish Inquisition are to the present day school child.

To go even further, it is averred that the first steps in this new science already have been taken and that results which mean much to society already have been accomplished. And one step in this stairway, the chief says, is in the emotiograph, which a nicknaming press has dubbed the lie detector and given much publicity.

POSSIBILITIES SEEN

The mere name of it attracts the popular fancy—a machine that will tell if you lie. What a wonderful sale it would have among suspicious fraus and sweethearts who would question their mates and mates-to-be. What a sensation it would mean in Congress—and in all circles! And what if a law were passed to compel real estate agents to wear them in public?

But don't get excited.

The lie detector is neither new nor novel. The principle—that of measuring blood pressure and respiration—is old in medical annals. To call it the lie detector is really a misnomer. It doesn't actually tell whether one is lying and its field of value is much greater than in questions of veracity alone.

The lie detector was born in Berkeley, Cal., under Chief Vollmer's ultra-successful police reign there. Among its sponsors one finds Drs. Herman M. Adler, M.D., and Dr. John Larson, now of the Division of Criminology, Department of Public Welfare, Chicago, and their star pupil, Leonarde Keeler, formerly of Berkeley and now of Los Angeles.

MANY CASES TESTED

For three years experiments with this strange machine have been under way. In those three years more than 5000 cases have been tested. And although authorities have tried diligently to disprove its registration, not one actual failure has yet come to light.

In Chicago, under the direction of Drs. Adler and Larson, it is being used daily in both psychopathic and criminal cases with an extraordinary amount of success. In Los Angeles, under Chief Vollmer and Mr. Keeler, it is being used daily in examination of criminal suspects. Its fame has gone far afield as well for employees in large industries with some ticklish problem to settle are calling upon it to quietly bring them the answer. At least one district attorney—Chester C. Kempley of San

NEW TRADE POST PLAN IS FAVORED

Chamber Indorses Move for Commerce Bureaus in Foreign Centers

A proposal to establish branches of the government Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in many important commercial centers of the world where the United States is not now represented was indorsed in a resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution was passed at the request of F. P. Gregson, acting chairman of the harbor and foreign trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Gregson pointed out that the governmental department had petitioned Congress for an increase in its budget of approximately $500,000, most of which money would be devoted to the operation of new foreign agencies.

It was pointed out that the foreign commerce department has been maintaining its offices in foreign capitals and in a great many instances, the most important shipping centers of the world were not located in these capitals.

The increase in budget would permit the opening of offices in these commercial centers as branches of the legation offices at world capitals. A copy of the resolution was sent to California legislators at Washington by Secretary Frank Wiggins.

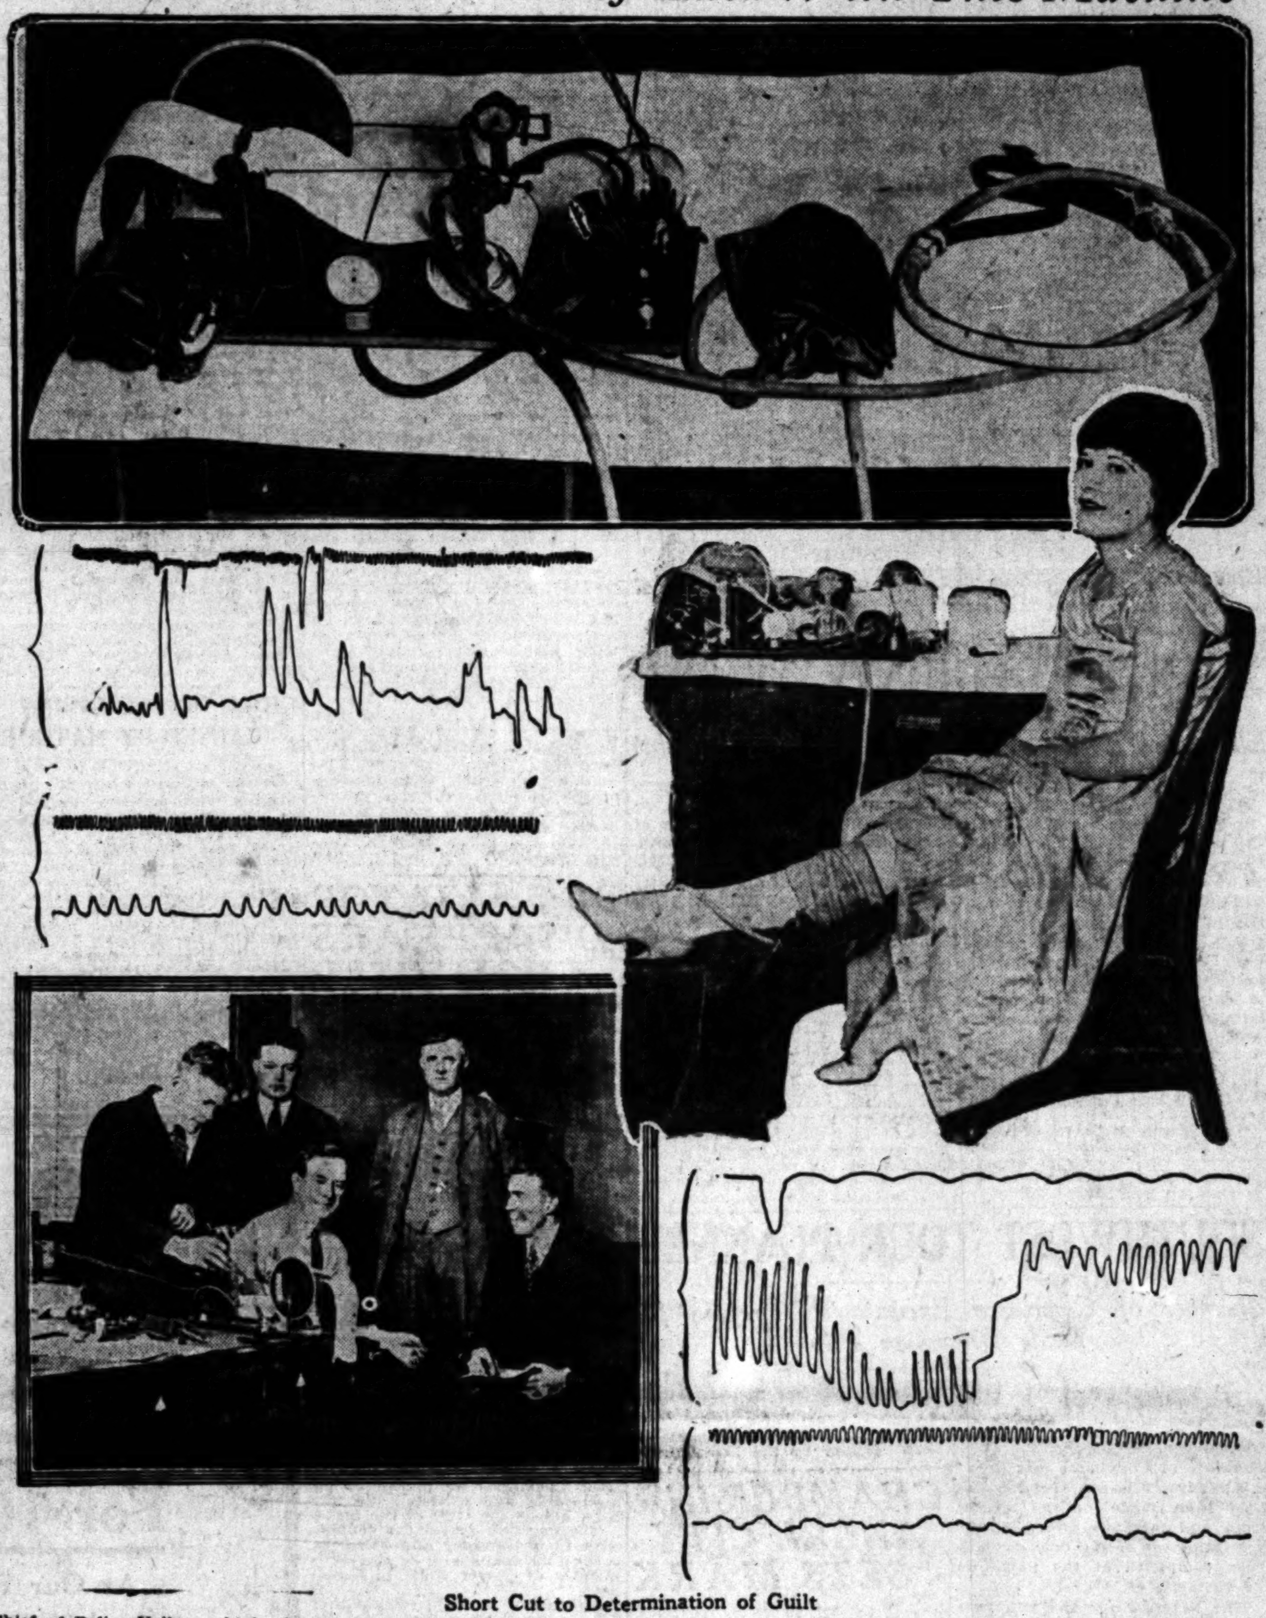
Suit of School Teacher Settled Outside of Court

A settlement of the suit brought by Beatrice G. McFarland, a school teacher, against Legrand Howell, asserted wealthy real estate operator, for $250,000 damages for alleged breach of promise and betrayal, has been effected out of court, it was learned yesterday with the filing of a motion for dismissal by the plaintiff's attorney.

In her complaint, Miss McFarland stated that Howell proposed to her in December, 1922. Having faith in his promise, she said, she surrendered herself to him, only to learn later, according to her complaint, that his love for her had grown cold and that he finally refused to marry her.

She alleged she spent $1000 in preparation of her bridal trousseau and the wedding. The sum of $100,000 was asked for asserted breach of promise, while Miss MacFarland sought judgment of $150,000 damages for her purported betrayal.

Ananias Would Be Out of Luck With This Machine



Short Cut to Determination of Guilt

Chief of Police Vollmer thinks future years will resolve crime detection into the round-up of suspects, a few crisp questions on the subject of the crime involved and then release or prison and that the lie detector, pictured above, is the first step in development of the process. Below, the top graph at the left is that of John Farley, a prisoner who said Harry Yakahama, whose graph is directly below, had confessed a double murder. Farley's record shows why Yakahama was released. To the right Miss Wanda Sibbald, stage and screen star, illustrates the method of applying the machine. At the bottom and to the left, E. Drew Clark, accused of the murder of George E. Schick, San Diego capitalist, is being tested. Left to right the figures are Leonarde Keeler, inventor and operator of the instrument; C. Guy Selleck, Assistant District Attorney; Clark; Deputy Sheriff Oliver Sexton and Dist.-Atty. Chester C. Kempley. At the right, the top graph is the record of William H. Anderson, confessed Los Angeles bank robber; below, the record of Mrs. George E. Schick of San Diego.

Martial Men Loom Large in Pasadena History

Former Easter Day Ranch Attracts Heroes

Delights Generals Since Gov. Pico's Day

Peaceful Pasadena, city of military men!

Pasadena is fifty years old this year and in celebrating her Golden Jubilee with fifty weeks of events, she is finding out many things about herself which she did not know or in the passing of the years has forgotten about.

Pasadena was once part of the great Rancho San Pasquel, known as the Easter Day Ranch. Yet in spite of the tranquility of the name and the present atmosphere of the place it has been discovered that military men have played a large part in its history.

In the first place Pasadena was given by the Mexican government as a wedding gift to one of the dashing colonels of Gov. Pico's staff. After having fought in the Battle of the Mesa against the Americans, it was at Adobe Flores in South Pasadena that the Mexican generals retired to draw up terms of surrender which they offered to Gen. Fremont.

Col. Manuel Garfias, owner of the Rancho San Pasquel, was allowed to continue in possession of his great estate after the American flag went up but he soon lost it on a foreclosure at 50 cents an acre to Dr John S. Griffin, head of the medical division of the American Army of invasion. Subsequently Dr. Griffin sold an undivided half interest in it to Capt. Benjamin D. Wilson, who had been captured by the Mexicans in the Battle of Chino.

LINCOLN SIGNS PATENT

To put the title to their property beyond all question they had Abraham Lincoln sign them a patent to it on April 3, 1863, which was the darkest period of the Civil War for the Union side. Stonewall Jackson was threatening the safety of Washington itself at the time President Lincoln went into the title to the Easter Day Ranch. By a remarkable coincidence he signed the patent on Good Friday.

Before this time, however, Dr. Griffin had provided a home in what is now Pasadena to Gen. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Johnson. It was from the ranch Fair Oaks that Gen. Johnson rode across the continent to join the Confederacy and go to his death in the Battle of Shiloh.

After the Civil War one of the earliest settlers was Gen. George Stoneman, who was elected Governor of California from Pasadena. Gen. Stoneman gained undying fame in the Civil War as a cavalry commander.

VISITED BY HEROES

The first really big event after the founding of Pasadena was the visit of Gen. W. T. Sherman with President Rutherford Hayes. The two Civil War heroes had to be driven out through the dust by horse and carriage from Los Angeles, as it was in the days before a railroad had penetrated the San Gabriel Valley. There were just 390 people living in Pasadena then but its fame was sufficient to attract these two great men.

After the Spanish-American War, Gen. William R. Shafter, commander of the American forces before Santiago, was the guest of honor in the Tournament of Roses.

Thirty-one Racial Groups Dwell in Own Areas

Map of Divisions Completed by Two Students

Communities Live Apart in Individual Unity

Los Angeles not only is a cosmopolitan city of more than a million inhabitants, but it also has thirty-one racial communities within its borders which are practically small towns in themselves as far as the community life and racial intercourse of the inhabitants are concerned.

These racial communities, which have not fewer than 100 inhabitants and in some cases several hundred, are made up of twelve races, with from two to four communities for some of the races represented in Los Angeles, according to a racial map recently completed in the sociology department of the University of Southern California, where a definite study of racial conditions has been made during the past few weeks.

MADE BY STUDENTS

Miss Gretchen Tuthill and Miss Nettie Pride, who are doing postgraduate work in the university, have recently completed the racial map, with each foreign nationality represented by a color, those colors being used to designate the racial communities in the city. Groups of less than 100 of any one nationality have not been considered in making the map.

Difference in economic status marks the various communities of the Hebrew and negroes in the city, while different religious affiliations are some of the distinguishing features of the different Japanese communities. Among the Japanese those of the Buddhist faith form the communities in East First street, Hollywood and Boyle Heights, while the Christians among the Japanese race settle mainly in Pico Heights and the west side communities.

In several of the settlements the Japanese and negroes live together, neither having racial prejudices against the other, while the Russians and Armenians are found settled in near-by communities. Those from the Latin races, Italians, French and Mexicans, live amicably in near-by communities.

Like all true pioneers these communities of different races are constantly shifting within the city itself, Miss Pride stating that at the present time there is a movement of Mexicans in the Temple district toward the west. The Italians are shifting northwest from the east side of the Albion-street School and the neighborhood surrounding it. The Japanese are beginning to settle in Boyle Heights with a comparatively new settlement of Japanese around Denker street at Thirty-sixth.

283,000 FOREIGNERS

Reckoning the population of Los Angeles from its 1923 statistics of 900,000 Miss Pride states that 31 per cent of that number are foreigners, or a total of a foreign community population within the city itself of 283,000.

The department has summarized the foreign populations as follows: Hebrews, 38,000; negroes, 35,000; Mexicans, 21,500; Japanese, 17,000; Italians, 11,000; Russians, 9600; Chinese, 4000; French, 3000; Armenians, 2192; Czecho-Slovakians, 1450; Syrians, 1000; Jugo-Slavs, 824.

In addition to these in racial communities there are many for-

CHILD CLINIC KEPT BUSY

Guidance Organization Examines Scores of Tots in Rectifying Conduct Disorder

The Child Guidance Clinic recently established at 1401 South Grand avenue under the auspices of the Mental Hygiene Organization of Los Angeles county, has received so many requests for aid by parents in reference to their children that appointments are being made at the clinic a month or more in advance, Dr. Ralph P. Truitt, director, has announced.

Scores of children are being brought to the clinic weekly for examination, Dr. Truitt said. The majority of these children are normal but are brought for examination simply because the parents desire to be certain of their child's mental health and habits.

Only problem children—those who display some conduct disorder—but are otherwise intelligent are studied and treated at the clinic, Dr. Truitt stated. Feeble-minded and mentally-diseased children proper are not cases for the clinic, he said.

Anyone who is responsible for a problem boy or girl between the ages of 3 and 17 and who will co-operate fully with the clinic in treating the case, may secure appointment for study and treatment of the child.

The clinic is housed in the Anita Baldwin Hospital for Babies. It is financed by the Commonwealth Fund of New York City and no charges are made for its services. It will continue its work here for another ten months and then will move on to another city for similar work.

Arrangements for a permanent child guidance clinic here are being made by the county organization, which represents the schools, Juvenile Court, public welfare workers and the various social agencies of the county.

THOUSANDS STILL MUST FILE RETURN

Only Twelve Days Left in Which to Escape Penalty on Income Tax

A check of the number of income tax returns filed in January and February shows that in the twelve remaining days of the filing period, ending March 15, more than 200,000 returns must be reported in the Southern California internal revenue district if taxpayers are to avoid delinquency and the payment of penalties. Many delays in making returns are said to result from failure to understand provisions of the revenue law. Instruction concerning the law is given at the revenue office on the second floor of the Federal Building.

Thousands of inquiries have been received in the last few weeks as to the requirements concerning the deduction of losses not incurred in a taxpayer's regular business. The law provides that in computing income it is proper to deduct from gross income losses incurred not only in the taxpayer's business, but likewise losses sustained in any transaction entered into for profit, or losses arising from fires, storms, shipwreck or other casualty. Deductions for losses are permitted only to the extent that they are not covered by insurance.

The law does not permit a taxpayer to make a deduction for loss in the value of property until the loss is made absolute by the sale or other disposition of the property. Loss sustained in the sale of a residence which at the time of purchase was bought without intention of selling is not a deductible item "because it was not a transaction entered into for profit." The same rule applies in the purchase and sale of automobiles.

POPE AWARDS ORDERS HERE

J. Wiseman Macdonald and Isidore B. Dockweiler Receive Recognition for Devotion

Two of Los Angeles' most prominent citizens have just been honored by Pope Piux XI in recognition of their devotion to religion and humanity, J. Wiseman Macdonald receiving the Order of Pius and Isidore B. Dockweiler being made a Knight of St. Gregory.

The Order of Pius is one of the rarest papal honors in the United States and Mr. Macdonald enjoys the distinction of being the first in California to be so decorated.

Officially established by Pius IX in June, 1847, the Order of Pius was designed as a reward for faithful and devoted service to the State and church and intended to influence men to greater virtue and spiritual endeavors as well as to a more intensive cultivation of the arts and sciences.

For many years Mr. Macdonald has been closely associated with Catholic activities in Los Angeles, serving in the capacity of legal adviser of the bishops of the diocese and devoting himself, as president of the central council of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, to the welfare of the poor and sick.

It is in recognition of his service to the church and to this community through these activities that this high papal honor has been conferred upon Mr. Macdonald.

A sword and uniform accompany the hnoor. The distinctive emblem of the order is a gold star, divided into eight violet rays. A small medallion in the center bears the words: "Pius IX," this being circled with a band of gold engraved: "Virtuti et Merito." On the opposite side of the emblem is written the year, "Anno MDCCCXLVII." The star is surrounded by gold rays.

The Order of St. Gregory, conferred upon Mr. Dockweiler, was founded by Pope Gregory XVI, September 1, 1831. It was originally designed as a reward to subjects of the papal states for civil or military service. In later years it has been bestowed for devotion and service to humanity and interest in the advancement of religion.

With this order there is also an accompanying uniform and sword and the emblem is an eight-pointed gold cross, done in red enamel, and bearing at the center a blue circular medallion with the picture of St. Gregory the Great. On

THREE NEW ORDINANCES ARE SIGNED

Business Places Given Right on Wilshire; More School Stops Approved

Mayor Cryer signed three ordinances yesterday. The first places property along Wilshire Boulevard between Park View and Western avenue in Zone C, so that business houses may be established on that part of the boulevard. This ordinance goes into effect thirty days after publication.

A second ordinance establishes "school stops" at street intersections near public schools. This will supercede the present system of stops in the middle of the block. Thirty days will elapse before the new ordinance is effective.

An emergency ordinance, which takes effect immediately, was signed by the Mayor to repeal a previous zoning ordinance allowing the issuance of a permit for the construction of an ice-plant in Bimini Gulley close to the Bimini Baths and the Westlake School for Girls.

VETERAN ASKS BALM

Sues Man for $100,000 for Alleged Alienation of Wife's Love

In a complaint filed yesterday in the Superior Court, Calvin D. McGovern, a war veteran, sought to recover $100,000 damages of Arval Sarles, said to be wealthy, for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Ruth M. McGovern.

The plaintiff stated that he and Mrs. McGovern were married March 13, 1920, and lived happily together until December 15, 1923, on which date Sarles was said to have won the love of Mrs. McGovern by means of his "great wealth."

LIE DETECTOR PROVES WORTH

Eventual Crime Detection by Science Forecast

Simple Process Used to Gain Exact Veracity

Heart Beat Reaction Gives Infallible Answer

Diego—has used it in a ticklish case, the investigation of the evanishment of George E. Schinck, San Diego capitalist and broker.

Illustrations herewith so graphically show the simplicity of this apparatus that detailed description is unnecessary. Its secret of operation is related by Mr. Keeler, the inventor, owner and operator of the Los Angeles apparatus, as follows:

"It is a principle of transmission of physical and nervous impulses by air pressure which are free from muscular control. For instance, the impulses of the heart are amplified by the use of an air-tight chamber which contains a series of diaphragms. These, in turn, transmit these amplified pulsations through rubber tubing to a very delicate rubber diaphragm to which is connected a very light indicating arm of about eight or ten inches in length. Ink and a slowly-moving paper strip complete the ensemble."

Mr. Keeler, who is only 20 years of age, was born in Berkeley. He attended school there and in New York City. He has visited the high Sierras and the South Sea Islands. He is at present a student at the University of California, Southern Branch, in Los Angeles.

As a schoolboy he became interested in police work. He called on Chief Vollmer, then in Berkeley, and asked him for instruction and he offered his services to the department without pay. So it came that he worked under Dr. Larson, then engaged in criminological research.

FIRST MODEL CRUDE

"The first model of the lie detector—I call it the emotiograph—was very crude," Mr. Keeler explained the other morning while testing bank robbery suspects in the office of Chief of Detectives George K. Home. "It occupied a whole table six feet in length. Instead of a tape it registered on a smoke drum—we had to smoke up the drum at each test.

"Yet it worked—and worked well. We never found it to err. Then Chief Vollmer suggested many improvements which were promptly put into effect. And bit by bit, as we worked on it, the present machine was evolved. It will be better some day.

"The original idea behind the machine was the recording of human emotions by means of heart action. It was necessary to devise an instrument to amplify and record this action for permanent use; for only by checking thousands of records can facts be established. This we did. We found that in extreme cases of fear, excitement, embarrassment and other emotions, certain reactions resulted. We found that nervousness did not react the same way; that one is voluntarily unable to impress his emotions upon his heart action.

IDEA IS SPREADING

"We made a trip to an institute of feeble-minded and procured records that were of great value. We learned, for instance, that one afflicted with epilepsy will always react in a certain way.

"When Drs. Adler and Larsen went to Chicago they carried the idea with them. They built a new machine. The old one is in Berkeley. And I built the one we have here. And so, slowly but surely the idea spreads."

When Mr. Keeler came to Chief Vollmer with his machine, he found the chief enthusiastic—an enthusiasm which has spread throughout the department as success after success in detecting deception is recorded.

Chief Vollmer unhesitatingly declares that through the development of the lie detector and other machines the third degree will be wiped out.

It is coercive methods which Chief Vollmer avers will be thrown into the ash-can with other tortures through the development of scientific inquisition.

AIDS INNOCENT

"With the lie detector we can get at the facts quickly and in a perfectly humane manner," he says. "Take the case of suspects, for instance, of a serious crime. Sometimes we get a score of them on the one case. It is obvious that all cannot be guilty. But through the usual method of questioning and cross-questioning valuable hours are wasted by valuable men. With the lie detector we can eliminate the innocent from the guilty quickly; the machine works as well for the man without guilt as it does for the man with guilt.

"The lie detector has a tremendously important place in elimination of suspects but that is not its only value. It will furnish clews for the officers to work upon in gaining knowledge of a crime. I can recall one case where we desired to learn the location of a fence who had received stolen property. By mentioning a series of names to a suspect, we received a strong emotional reaction. We checked it up and found the property.

"As to actual detection of falsehood, however, this instrument will only serve where the individual practices deception and is conscious of practicing deception. It has, of course, a tremendous psychological effect upon the person being tested but comparison of records has allowed us to check any nervous disorders easily."

AVERTS CHARGES

One instance where the placing of a serious charge against a prisoner was averted by use of the lie detector occurred the other day in San Diego. A prisoner in the San Diego County Jail named Farley reported to the jailer that a Japanese, Harry Yakahama, had confessed a double murder to him.

The Japanese was taken promptly to the office of District Attorney Kempley. The lie detector was applied and the questions of guilt asked. The result was a normal record, with no evidence of any emotion.

Farley was brought in. The purpose of the machine was explained to him. He pleaded heart trouble. They tested him. When he was asked about his story to the jailer he reneged; he said it was a rumor. His record showed reaction at virtually every question. It is needless to say that the Japanese was not charged with murder.

There are other cases in Los Angeles of similar and of opposite import. William H. Anderson, debonair salesman suspected of bank robbery, confessed after a few minutes with the machine. Bobby Vernon, giant negro, admitted a murder without any quibble. From among seventy-five girls in a sorority where theft had occurred the guilty one was singled out and confessed promptly.

It isn't a hardship, this test—a little bandage around the arm and leg and a rubber pipe around the chest, that's all; little or no discomfort.

"There will always be a welcome for science when science brings forward such an aid to police procedure as the lie detector has been, is and will be," Chief Vollmer says. And he means it.

POLICE FIND PLUNDER IN LOAN SHOPS

Jewelry and Silverware Located in Burglar Gang Investigation at Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 1.—Continued investigation by police into the activities of Otto Wannack, asserted chief of a burglar gang, resulted today in the recovery of about $2000 worth of jewelry and silverware stolen by the band and pawned in Los Angeles loan shops. Wannack is held in the City Jail here.

The plunder recovered by police today included a diamond signet ring, a platinum and diamond wedding ring, a diamond lavalliere and diamond stickpin. A valuable set of table silver stolen from Mrs. E. C. Hager of 350 East State street also was recovered. The plunder was traced through pawn tickets found in Wannack's home, the police stated.

Wannack, police declare, directed a band of burglars which in the past few months stole more than $50,000 worth of diamonds in robberies in this city, Los Angeles and adjacent towns. Four other persons are also under arrest in connection with the thefts. They are Mr. and Mrs. Ed McKay and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klopf.

JEWS TO DEDICATE TEMPLE

Elaborate Program of Ceremonies Arranged for This Afternoon at Hollywood

Temple Beth El of Hollywood will celebrate the dedication of the new building at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 1508 North Wilton Place. Elaborate ceremonies befitting the occasion, at which time the entire rabbimate and representative men and women of the community will be present to participate in a special program have been arranged for the occasion.

The completion of the Temple Beth El's new building and the dedication constitute another link to strengthen and perpetuate the faith of the Jewish fathers and to advance the ideals, hopes and advancement for which Judaism stands.

Cinema stars of Hollywood headed by Miss Carmel Myers will be present.

The Temple Beth El of Hollywood was organized in 1921 with seventeen charterers and with the future of Hollywood and the need of such an institution in that section of the city thought necessary, the small group of men worked hard and faithfully to realize a dream that with Sunday's dedication has come true. Services and Sunday-school were first held in a rented bungalow and with these few charter members, the organization prospered, until today they are now situated within a beautiful temple.

The building is of mission and mosaic design, the interior complete with a synagogue and also special assembly rooms for social features that are a regular weekly event. In the rear a substantial building for Sunday-school services has also been completed.

SOUTHWEST TOUR PLANNED

Chamber of Commerce Excursionists Prepare for Trade Promotion Trip

A special train bearing 150 Los Angeles business men and their wives will leave the 18th inst. for a week's tour of industrial and agricultural districts in Arizona and Southern California, the second Golden Rule Sociability Tour over that territory by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce members.

Already fifty-five reservations have been made on the special train and arrangements for the entertainment of the tourists have been completed at the points to be visited.

The itinerary for the trip provides for stops at approximately thirty cities, and includes side trips to many points of interest along the route.

SANTA ANA TO BE HOST

Upon leaving Los Angeles the train will start over the Santa Fe coast lines for San Diego. During the morning, stops will be made at Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana. At the latter city, a luncheon will be served the Chamber of Commerce party by the Santa Ana business men.

During the afternoon, the party will be entertained at San Juan Capistrano, Oceanside and Del Mar. They will reach San Diego in time to prepare for a banquet which will be given by the Chamber of Commerce at that city.

The visitors will remain in San Diego overnight and leave the next morning for Tijuana, Mex. From there they will go to Calexico over the Carriso Gorge route.

CALEXICO TO ENTERTAIN

The party will be feted by residents of Calexico with a banquet which will be served just across the border in old Mexico. The night will be spent at the border city and the next day will be devoted to visits at El Centro, Brawley, Calipatria, Niland and Yuma, a banquet being scheduled at the latter city.

The special train will leave Yuma that night for Phoenix where the next day will be spent with the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce. This organization has arranged for an auto tour to Mesa, Chandler, Temple and Glendale, and other points in the Salt River Valley.

From Phoenix the travelers go to Prescot, making a motor trip to the mining district at Jerome. They will then go to the Grand Canyon. The party will remain at this scenic spot all day Sunday and entrain in time to reach Kingman the next morning.

BETTER RELATIONS AIM

From Kingman they will motor to Needles by way of Oatman, and, after a dinner at Needles, will board their train for Los Angeles. The excursionists are expected to arrive in the city on the morning of the 25th inst.

The purpose of the excursion is to establish more firm personal relations with the business men in the communities to be visited.

The Arizona tour will be in charge of Charles P. Bayer, manager of the organization service department of the Chamber of Commerce.

GAMUT STAG DINNER

The Gamut Club's March dinner and entertainment, set for next Wednesday night, will be a stag affair, Roy W. Dodd, manager, announced last night. The program will be under direction of President L. F. Behymer and W. Francis Gates. Among those who will entertain are Marjorie Dodge, Grace Whisler, Yowlache, the Indian baritone, Ann Thompson and members of the Tift-Jones Dixie Opera Company. The recently elected officers, including President Behymer, C. C. Draa, vice-president; C. E. Pemberton, secretary, and Ben Field, librarian, will be present.

Electric engines are able to start a 1000-ton train quicker than steam locomotives.

CHAMBER IN ANGEL CITY SETS MARK

Commerce Board Biggest in Country; Gains More Than 20 Others Combined

Closer trade relations between Los Angeles and the San Joaquin Valley was accomplished last week through a membership drive conducted by the Fresno Chamber of Commerce which was enhanced by Charles P. Bayer, manager of the organization department of the local Chamber of Commerce and his assistant, S. P. Morris.

This fact was indicated in the weekly report of the organization department to Secretary Frank Wiggins which stated that the service of the local body had been extended successfully for the first time into the San Joaquin region.

Heretofore the organization department has confined its work to communities more adjacent to Los Angeles and has only gone as far north as Bakersfield. By conducting the drive in Fresno, it is believed that a greater feeling of friendship has been instilled in the hearts of the business men and residents of that region for the people of Los Angeles.

The report states that Bayer and Morris spent the entire week in Fresno managing the membership campaign. At the close of the drive, resolutions were passed expressing the appreciation of the Fresnans to the local Chamber of Commerce for its aid.

Tomorrow, the work of the organization department will be transferred to the Imperial Valley region. Both men will conduct campaigns for chambers of commerce in El Centro, Calexico and Brawley for the ensuing two weeks.

UNION BANK BUILDING CLOCK MADE LOCALLY

EIGHT-FOOT TIMEPIECE OF RARE DESIGN; CONTROLLED BY ELECTRICITY

Those who have noticed the new clock that has just been installed on the Union Bank Building, Eighth and Hill streets, will be interested to know that this handsome timepiece is a made-in-Los Angeles product.

The clock is eight feet tall, weighs 1500 pounds and has four dails of Cararra glass which will be illuminated at night.

No wheels or springs are used in its mechanism, as the hands are electrically connected to a master Stromberg electric clock within the building and regulated by Western Union service.

The clock is set at an angle so that the dials are visible from both sides of the street in four direction. In order to improve the lighting effect the interior of the clock is finished in white enamel so that no light will be absorbed, but all be reflected through the glass dials. The clock is inclosed in a richly ornamented cast-iron case of Italian renaissance design.

BURGLAR SUSPECTS SEIZED

Men Take Up Chase When They Find Robbers Looting Their Home; Jewels Recovered

A pair of peace-loving citizens set out from their home on a man hunt late Friday night which ended in the capture of four burglar suspects and the recovery of $1200 in jewelry.

W. L. Gilbert and O. C. Henning are the two citizens. They live with their families in a double apartment at 2300 Elm Grove avenue. Late Friday night they returned home to find a burglar ransacking the place. Mrs. Gilbert screamed and the intruder took to his heels. He dodged about from room to room and finally found his way out the front door.

Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Henning joined forces. They climbed into Mr. Gilbert's machine and gave chase. About four blocks from the house they overtook three men. There was a short scuffle and the three men found themselves prisoners in Mr. Gilbert's machine.

Meanwhile Mrs. Gilbert had notified police. Detective Lieutenants Ballinger, Redican and Learnahan responded and came upon Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Henning with their prisoners. The men were taken to the Lincoln Heights Jail in Mr. Gilbert's machine. In the car the detectives found $1200 in jewelry which they say belongs to Mrs. Gilbert and had been taken from the apartment by the burglars. A little later the detectives picked up a fourth suspect and escorted him to jail.

The suspects gave the names of Joe Ropics, S. E. Marks, George Shuler and Don Mantell. They are all held on suspicion of burglary.

PLAN TRIP IN BEHALF OF MUSIC

Officers of National Federation Will Make Western Survey

According to music authorities in Los Angeles and eastern experts now visiting here, intense activity for music development is going on in metropolitan Los Angeles.

This city claims the first vice-president of the National Federation of Music Clubs in Mrs. Cecil Frankel, who announces that she will shortly begin a tour of the Western States as far east as Kansas City, where the national board convenes May 15. Mrs. Frankel has been asked by Mrs. John F. Lyons, president of the federation to act as her escort and to make a joint survey of the music clubs of the West before conferring with the board of directors in May.

President Lyons and Mrs. Frankel will visit the chief towns and cities in Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Arizona, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Missouri. Mrs. Frankel spoke before the music section of the Ebell Club Thursday and the Ventura Music Club at Ventura Friday.

DOG AVIATOR DISAPPEARS FROM FIELD

Missing Terrier Had Been Picked as Mascot for World Flight

"Tuffy," one of the only "flying dogs" in the country, is lost.

The little wire-haired terrier, the property of Lieut. C. C. Moseley, commander of Clover Field, disappeared from a hangar yesterday, and in spite of every effort by his master, all the mechanics at the field, and the aviation officers who are assembled here for the proposed world flight on the 16th inst., no trace can be found of him.

Fortunately aviators are not superstitious, for "Tuffy" has been selected as the mascot of the proposed world flight, and his disappearance might be considered by some as a bad omen.

But the officers are confident that Tuffy has either felt the call of spring or has been picked up by a motorist and will find his way back before the time of the flight.

The dog flew across the country with Lieut. Moseley and has been a constant companion of the commander of Clover Field in flights here.

Officials of the field request that anyone seeing "Tuffy" please notify them.

MISCONDUCT IS CHARGED BY HUSBAND

Mate in Answer to Plea for Divorce Says Wife Has Other Men Friends

Sensational charges were contained in the answer and cross-complaint filed yesterday by David Lewis Roberts, automobile man, to the suit for divorce instituted by his wife, Bessie Kathryn Hedley Roberts.

He accuses her of associating with a man now on probation for burglary, of giving him her picture, which the man showed to neighbors and friends, with comments. With her sister she is charged with having developed the acquaintance of two strange men, getting drunk with them and going to cafes for a noisy time.

Roberts denied that he made his wife sleep on the floor, or that he threw her against the wall, and also branded as untrue his wife's accusation that he had conducted himself improperly with the maid. He denied that he had the maid wait for him, dressed only in her nightgown, in order that she help him undress when he came home late.

Roberts is said to be the heir to a fortune in the East.

Wife Says She Found Hairpins in Mate's Bed

The discovery of hairpins, not her own, in her husband's bed, caused Mrs. S. B. Gillons yesterday to file suit for separate maintenance against G. H. Gillons, wealthy oil operator. In her complaint she stated that she made the discovery on returning from a visit to her sister.

Gillons's monthly income, she stated, is about $5000, derived from on oil refinery and oil stock. His wealth she estimates at $250,000.

Gillons continually associated with other women, Mrs. Gillons charges, cursed her and told her that he "was through with married life."

They were married twenty-eight years ago.

DIES IN SAN DIEGO

Word of the death in San Diego of Dr. J. F. Groover, Los Angeles pioneer, was received here yesterday. Dr. Groover was widely known in California. He was spending the winter at San Diego. He leaves two sons, W. F. and J. L. Groover, and two daughters, Miss Lou Groover and Mrs. Jack Cooney, both of this city.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS CAUSED BY MATCHES

Burns suffered while she was playing with matches resulted in the death yesterday of Adelaide Henry, 5 years of age, daughter of William Henry, of 146 North San Fernando Road, Glendale. The child died in the Glendale Sanatorium and Hospital, to which she had been taken Friday, after Mrs. W. N. Dean, a neighbor, had found her with her clothing in flames.

HUSBAND NEIGHBOR ONLY

Thirty years ago Eva Edith Johnson and Andrew Johnson were married. Ten years ago they separated. Yesterday Mrs. Johnson received a divorce on grounds of desertion, stating that her husband, while still a neighbor, for ten years had not been a spouse.

EDUCATORS STRONGLY FOR CONSTITUTION CONTEST

University Heads Among Those to See Benefit to be Derived by Oratorical Event

The National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States which is now being conducted in secondary schools throughout the entire country, is becoming increasingly impressive to educators. The presidents of great universities and colleges are realizing what a patriotic service is being done by the sponsoring newspapers. They appreciate the significance and importance of the study of the basic principles on which liberty is founded, and what it will mean to the coming generation to have a more intelligent comprehension of these principles. Some of the letters which have been received from educators in California follow, and they clearly show that these college presidents feel it an honor to be connected with this splendid enterprise.

To quicken the interest of high school students in the Constitution of the United States as a living reality, the National Oratorical Contest is an admirable device.

The breadth and variety of approach permitted to students through such diverse personalities as Madison, Marshall and Lincoln will encourage contestants of varying types.

The choice of subject ranging from the origin of the Constitution to its testing out in the Supreme Court of the United States and in the grim laboratory of the Civil War is in itself an eye-opening challenge to the young reader with unawakened mind.

The originators of the contest are to be congratulated on their thorough-going plan. It promises to increase a knowledge of the Constitution of our country, not only in every youthful aspirant who works out his twelve-minute essay, but in the uncounted numbers of listeners in every corner of the Union who shall begin fresh and vital discussion of the history and significance of the foundations of law in our land.

AURELIA HENRY REINHARDT.

Office of the President

February 25, 1924.

The effort to increase the average American's understanding of the American Constitution and his respect for it seems to me to be exceedingly important at the present time.

R. A. MILLIKAN.

Office of the President,
University of California.
February 18, 1924.

I desire to congratulate you on your part in furthering a movement that cannot but result in good.

In a form of government such as that under which we live nothing is more important than a knowledge of and respect for the fundamental law of the land. This truth has long been recognized but we have been unaccountably slow in devising practical means by which we might achieve the desired end. This nation-wide contest with its appeal to the ambition and the patriotism of American youth will do much to kindle and keep alive intelligent interest in our national problems and ideals. The plan is an excellent one, and the University of California takes pleasure in pledging its most cordial co-operation.

Yours sincerely,
W. W. CAMPBELL.

Office of the President,
Stanford University, California.
February 14, 1924.

Participation by a large number of the youth of the country in oratorical contests requiring a study of American ideals is bound to be most helpful in the generation of sound ideas of good citizenship. Our government and its background should be made a subject of interest throughout the whole school period. Oratorical contests not too limited in scope can be of great benefit in this direction.

Very truly yours,
RAY LYMAN WILBUR.

President Emeritus,
University of Southern California.
February 5, 1924.

I shall be delighted to serve on the committee for the Oratorical Contest. You are doing great work for the nation. I am especially interested to note the wide scope of the work. It was a notable day when you conceived the plan and set the machinery going, furnishing the fuel and the inspiration for its perpetuation.

Assuring you of my keen interest and hearty co-operation, I am,
Yours sincerely,
GEORGE F. BOVARD.

Office of the President,
University of Southern California.
February 4, 1924.

I accept your invitation to be a member of the citizens' committee of Southern California handling the Oratorical Contest and shall be glad to be of any possible service.

Faithfully yours,
R. B. VON KLEINSMID.

President Emeritus,
Stanford University.
February 12, 1924.

I am much interested in the proposed contest in the secondary schools as to the nature and function of the American Constitution. It cannot fail to induce young men and women to think seriously of the origin and purpose of this venerable document. Their studies will clarify their conceptions and show them the wisdom and patriotism of the men who drew it up in the face of many difficulties, internal and external.

Should it appear that defects still exist, their studies will help point the way for their removal through intelligence and not at the fluctuating demands of emotionalism.

Sincerely yours,
DAVID STARR JORDAN.

APPEALS FOR BILL

Mayor Cryer yesterday made public a letter he had written to Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Congressmen Fredericks and Lineberger urging them to vote for the Kelly bill, now pending in Congress, which provides for increased salaries to postal employees. Mayor Cryer pointed out that the salary of postoffice workers at present is not commensurate with their services, and that it forces them to live below the American standard.

CHAMBER IN ANGEL CITY SETS MARK

Commerce Board Biggest in Country; Gains More Than Score Combined

That the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which is the biggest in the country, gained nearly as many new members during 1923 as twenty other similar organizations of the nation combined, was revealed during the past week by a survey conducted by S. A. Bostwick, manager of the membership department of the local chamber.

The total gain for the past year in membership of the twenty other chambers surveyed throughout the country, amounted to 2783, while that for the Los Angeles chamber alone was 2166, or only 617 less than the total for the twenty other cities.

Of the twenty-one chambers included in the survey, twelve reported decreases in membership totaling 308. The population of the twenty-one cities, excluding Los Angeles, totals 6,698,000, as against Los Angeles' population of 1,000,000.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce does not conduct membership drives, yet it gained 2166 members during the past year, as against an average gain of 872 new members each in the six cities which conducted drives.

San Francisco shows a distinct falling off in the membership of its Chamber of Commerce, having lost 297 members during 1923. The membership of its chamber on January 1, 1923, was 7762 and on the same day in 1924 it was 7465.

Other cities which showed decreases in memberships of their chambers of commerce and the number of members lost, were Buffalo, 263; Cincinnati, 348; Cleveland, 77; Denver, 411; Detroit, 68; Indianapolis, 323; Milwaukee, 314; Minneapolis, 250; Philadelphia, 160; Pittsburg, 419 and Portland 55.

STORES AID NEAR EAST MILK DRIVE

Five Hundred in Chain to Do Everything Possible to Relieve Orphans

More than 500 chain grocery stores of Los Angeles will become part of the Near East Relief organization to collect milk for orphans of Syria, Armenia, Greece and Palestine, during the coming week.

General managers of the chain-store systems have not only donated space in these stores where barrels may be placed with posters asking every citizen to give not less than one pint of milk, but have instructed their entire sales and retail organization to assist the milk drive.

While the grocery milk stations are expected to collect approximately 100,000 cans of milk during the next seven days, the barrels on downtown streets operated by volunteer workers will be continued.

Although a number of women already have volunteered to take charge of barrels on downtown street corners, more are needed during the next week. Women and girls with any time to spare are asked to register at the Near East Relief headquarters, 517 Wright & Callender Building, Fourth and Hill streets, and be assigned.

Milk collected in Los Angeles will be directly to the orphans, for railroads and steamship lines have donated the freight carriage, and the milk will be admitted duty free in the Levant. Cash given during the drive will be used for the purchase of milk, unless otherwise specified by the donor.

UNHYGIENIC ACCESSORIES

A subscriber writing from Kiating, Szechuan Province, West China, says: "This morning's Chinese paper reports that the Szechuan troops have driven the Northern army down the Yangtze River as far as Wanhsien. . . . The valiant troops are receiving their reward—a very handsome compensation judging from this item from the same newspaper: "Gen. Tang Mung Sing, in acknowledgement of the arduous labors of his soldiers, has rewarded each with a face-cloth, a toothbrush, and a box of tooth powder!" Our correspondent adds: "These articles, by the way, are probably more deadly in spreading disease by reason of the unhygienic method of their manufacture and use than all the gunpowder with which the soldiers are supplied for fighting."—[Outlook.

MEXICO MARDI GRAS OPENS

Business in Mazatlan Practically Suspended for Annual Four Days of Merrymaking

The collapse of the revolutionary movement, especially on the Mexican West Coast, has increased enthusiasm in the annual Mazatlan carnival, the Mardi Gras of Mexico, which began yesterday for the usual four days.

This festival, the greatest of its kind held in the republic, is an annual event. Mazatlan has achieved a wide reputation for the elaborateness with which the occasion is observed and for the hospitality of the city to its many visitors. For four days practically all business throughout the city is suspended. The entire population gives way to participation in the varied features of the holiday season, or in aiding in entertaining the thousands of visitors who come here not only from points all over Mexico, but from the United States and other foreign countries.

Mazatlan, the leading seaport city of the West Coast of Mexico, enjoys an ideal winter climate, said to be superior even to that of Honolulu or Palm Beach, Florida. It is a city of unusual scenic attraction, being practically surrounded with picturesque cocoanut palm-bordered bays dotted with islands. On one of these islands the highest lighthouse on the American continent is maintained by the Mexican government.

A large number of visitors from Southern California, who embark on the Mexican States and Pacific Mail steamers for this port, are due to arrive in time to see the festivities. Pullman service from Los Angeles and San Francisco over the Southern Pacific Railroad has been provided, and numerous visitors are likewise expected over this route.

A recent spirited contest conducted through the newspapers of the city, resulted in the election this season of Senorita Concepcion Vega Millan, one of the city's fairest daughters, who will reign as queen of the carnival. Senor Alejandro Sarmiento, young business man, was made king.

LITERARY "MATERIAL"

London Firm Caters to Authors, Speakers and Lecturers

I recently had a circular from a newly established firm who offered to supply me at a price with material for any article that I might wish to write, and I have taken the trouble to satisfy myself that the offer was a genuine one.

Such a project is the logical outcome of the old-fashioned reader who still haunts the British museum and other free libraries and is prepared to collect information upon any subject under the sun if paid to do so. But his employers are not journalists, who are generally fairly adept at finding their own material; they are lecturers, clerics and public speakers of all sorts.

Often a busy man has to attend a banquet given by some corporation, some branch of trade, a club, or an institution, and perhaps to make the speech of the evening. It may be that he has no technical knowledge whatever of the trade in question or of the history of the town of which he is the guest, and he himself is far too busy and occupied to spend his own time in digging up the necessary information. He therefore turns the whole thing over to his secretary—if he has one—but the chances are that the secretary employs a reader or "bookworm" to obtain the facts required.

Lecturers frequently find their knowledge of some special subject not comprehensive and employ a reader to elaborate a particular point; debaters, too, are often glad to pay for a supply of intellectual ammunition.

Plans for Dog Show Are Going Ahead Rapidly

Preparations are being rushed for the twelfth annual all-breed dog show of the Pasadena Kennel Club under the direction of Sherwood Hall, superintendent. More than 800 dogs have been entered to compete for the $6000 worth of trophies offered and more than seventy-five different breeds will be benched.

The canine exposition will be held in the Crown City the 7th and 8th inst., and is heralded as the largest show ever held west of New York in point of entries and value of trophies offered. Entries kept piling in up until midnight last night.

American Kennel Club rules will prevail. Internationally known judges from all parts of the country are being brought here to pass on the various breeds benched. The trophies have been insured for $5000, it is said.

The judges are: Norman K. Swire of Toronto, Can.; J. E. Carroll of Buffalo, N.Y.; Roland Wilson of Peoria, Ill.; George Cranfield of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Charles E. Gilbert of Hollywood.

If Pimples Mar Complexion

Drive Them Off With Stuart's Calcium Wafers—Their Action in the Skin Is a Wonder of Accomplishment.

Many girls with a pimpled skin do not realize that face creams and such things are merely to protect, not to remake the skin. What you must do is to supply the skin with its much needed calcium and this you do with Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They go directly into the blood and to the skin to clear away those embarrassing pimples, blackheads and other such blemishes. It is not a round-about way. You get results every minute. You are sure of it in a few hours. They clear the blood, they drive from the system the impurities that cause pimples. The calcium goes to the skin, acts as a tonic, stimulates the tiny nerves, pores, and blood vessels to renewed activity, and lo! before you realize it the skin is peachy, firm, clear and the picture of a sweet, rosy complexion. Get a 60-cent box today of Stuart's Calcium Wafers in any drug store and you will have a real beauty maker to clear your skin of pimples, redness, roughness and such destroyers of beauty. A free sample package will be sent to you by mail if you will send your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 638 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.—[Advertisement.

FRATERNAL NOTE

In union circles a mason is an odd fellow when he is willing to work for $9 a day.

WRONG OPENERS

The Egyptian government is said to have revoked the original Carnarvon license to open up the tomb of Tut. The next foreigner who comes along with a can-opener and an air of curiosity will be given the air—and not much else.

OLD STUFF

Policemen in a suburban city are said to have seriously beaten up a couple of young men from a neighboring community who persisted in singing a song that was at least three months old. In these jazzy days our vocalists must keep right up to the minute.

HEADQUARTERS

Israel Zangwill has said quite a number of pettish things about this country, but when he says there is no humor in America he uncovers his ivory. We might almost say we have a monopoly on it. Sometimes some of it will even break its way into movie comedies.

THE FAVORITE SPORT

An English writer says that in America the average man gives all his newspaper attention to the sporting page and the comic strip. That indicates a purpose to get quick action. We have often wondered why anybody gave time or thought to the weighty matters discussed on the editorial page while the bowling scores were being run in the pink section.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC

So far as Los Angeles Harbor is concerned the exports to Mexico and the Latin-American republics to the south last year reached over $11,000,000 in value. The imports from the same countries were nearly $3,000,000. This represents a substantial trade, with the balance flatteringly in our favor, but, at that, it is merely the opening. The future is much rosier. We are acquiring many industries that find a ready market for their wares in South and Central America. It looks like a pleasant and profitable year for all.

THE TAX GATHERER

Experts are trying to show that the farmer pays an unnatural proportion of the taxes. It is claimed that in some sections the taxes exceed the rental value of the land. In another State it is asserted that the taxes on farm property have been advanced 270 per cent. While this may be true, the farmer is not the only one who grieves over the visits of the tax gatherer. The man who is touched for 60 per cent of his income is sure that he is harshly treated and all down the line there are honest grouches. That is why it is up to Uncle Sam to set the example of retrenchment. Otherwise the cities and counties will also run wild.

THE CITY PARKS

According to the calculations of the City Planning Commission, the people of the amiable city of Los Angeles will add some 2000 acres to their park system within the next year or two. In Griffith Park they already have the largest public pleasure domain of any American municipality and the additional acreage will add to our glory. The division of the city into a dozen park districts and permitting each to acquire its own desired parks by special bonding arrangement is great incentive to park extension. It admits the possibility of a rivalry between districts and the development of a passion for vast tracts of greenery in which the young may properly disport. Parks are a great asset for any community, but they should be acquired when the community is young and lands are cheap.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

It is mentioned as being the purpose of William Gibbs McAdoo to invade the sovereign State of Missouri and comfort the petulant and peppery Senator Jim Reed on his native heath. Reed has developed Presidential ambitions of his own and has been making unkind and sarcastic remarks about the candidacy of Mr. McAdoo. The latter has been disposed to permit Reed's claim to the Missouri Democratic delegation to go unchallenged. But if Reed is going to be bitter about it and concentrate his campaign in a series of attacks upon the capacity and availability of the California candidate, forbearance ends and the fight is on. McAdoo will not only be justified in hurling defiance at the envenomed Missourian, but will be warranted in making a serious attempt to wrest the Democratic delegates from his control. In that case a personal invasion of Missouri is necessary. This might affect Senator Reed's prospects, but not his temper. He rather enjoys a quarrel and is never more at ease than when rubbing vitriol into the wounds of an enemy. He would not worry if the break with McAdoo reached the point where he would feel impelled to uncover all his artillery. The Missouri mule has nothing on Jim Reed as an avenging Nemesis and an apostle of terror.

COURAGE

RECENTLY the members of the Princeton faculty met in conference to determine the most important word in the English language. "Liberty," "Faith" and "Courage" were discussed and discarded. Even "Charity—the greatest of these—" was rejected in favor of "Loyalty," which, according to the Princeton solons, is the most important word in the English vocabulary.

The world needs them all. They are so many attributes of the infinite in the finite intelligence. When man was created as a replica of the image of Divinity, a divine spark penetrated his heart and brain; for the image was more than a shell, it was a complete being, capable of distinguishing between good and evil.

Civilizations have waxed and waned since the first man and woman walked out of Paradise to face the realities of the material world. In them were embodied all the forces of good and evil. To them and their descendants was the dominion of the earth. The human race became the arbiter of its own destiny.

To attempt to determine without reservation what attribute the world needs most is presumptuous; for it is necessary to cultivate all that is best in us in order that the forces of good may dominate. The ascent to the stars is a tortuous path. It is only on the last day that the spirit escapes from its prison of flesh; and the way of the flesh leads to the abyss.

One absolute essential of the present day is courage. The dictates of reason and conscience are impotent where the will is lacking to carry them into effect. And true courage is a moral attribute. Physical bravery belongs to the brute. It exists in a marked degree in flesh-eating animals. A reckless disregard for life is found in low mentalities and in backward races.

Moral courage is a divine attribute. It dictates that life must be risked and sacrificed only for that which is higher than life. To die heroically is often easier than to continue to live. Our modern civilization produces thousands who are ready to sacrifice themselves, even in wars of aggression, who, inspired by hate, risk their lives for revenge. But there is too often a lack of those who are willing to live for their country, to devote their days and their hours to the public good.

On almost every page of history are instances of men who possessed the courage to face steel and lead, but not to face public opinion inflamed by passion. Physical courage is necessary in order that nobler aspirations may become realities. If a people lacks the courage to offer its breast as a bulwark to invasion, it will not long exist as a political unity. But this is not enough. Only he possesses moral courage who dares in a righteous cause to be unpopular.

One possessing merely physical courage risks his life to gratify a passion. Moral courage sacrifices self to an idea. While it is true that moral courage is apt at times to be misapplied, that it leads sincere persons to suffer martyrdom for false ideas, the fact remains that it is the one hope of the race.

The politician asks whether a cause is popular, whether it offers opportunity to gratify personal ambition. The statesman asks whether it be just.

The courage that consists in blindly overlooking a danger is that of the brute. It is the valor of ignorance. Moral courage, fully conscious of the danger faced, mounts as the danger increases.

True courage is a moral attribute as highly developed in women as in men. How many heroic hearts beat in feeble breasts! The little mother who, widowed, faces the world with her children clinging to breast and knee, possesses a courage that is often lacking in those who, under the impulse of battle, march jauntily to the cannon's mouth.

Few barbaric peoples have lacked physical courage. The Turk, with lust and murder in his heart, dies like a stoic. The Mercenaries once formed the best troops in Europe; and the Foreign Legion of France, composed of ne'er-do-wells of every land, is world famous for its reckless daring under fire.

But instances of moral courage are not so abundant. Physical courage trembles and turns pale before public opinion; for there are no decorations, no crowns of laurel, no triumphant entries for those who offer themselves as a sacrifice in civil life for the public welfare.

Yet that spark of the infinite within us places the victories of peace above those of war. The bards of old sang only of physical prowess. The heroes of Homer knew not the meaning of moral courage. They were simply the instruments with which the gods of Olympus conducted a civil war. And among the seats on Olympus not even a stool was reserved for Justice.

But the world has passed into a new era, in which it has become apparent that the peoples of the earth must unite to abolish war, which is simply scientific barbarism, or the next world war, waged with improved instruments for wholesale destruction, will destroy civilization.

Moral courage, based on ideals of justice and equality, can alone bring about the unity of peoples for the universal enforcement of just laws and the promotion of peace. And we must begin to look about us for illustrious examples of moral courage. We must discern recompenses for the victories of peace equal to those once bestowed upon the winners of battles.

Moral courage in the highest degree is essential to the purification that must take place in our own government, due to a system smacking of corruption that remained as a by-product of the World War.

Men elected to office are suspected of selling their influence for blocks of votes; and others appointed to or just retiring from office of selling their influence for money. Such speculating on popularity or influence is subversive to good government; for, where respect is lacking, force alone can secure obedience.

President Coolidge possessed the moral courage to close his ears to the counsels of the politicians, to demand that a searching and impartial investigation should be conducted, and that any found guilty of malfeasance in office, or of attempting to corrupt public officials, shall pay the full penalty the law exacts for such offenses.

One possessing such moral courage is greater than the winner of many battles who proves craven before public opinion in time of peace.

HEADS OF FAMILIES

The Supreme Court of Nebraska is authority for the pronouncement that "the idea that man is the head of the family is a common fiction of law."

These Nebraska jurists—all married men, evidently—have done a wise thing. They have said something everybody knew in these days, but which never before had been declared officially.

Yet possibly it hurt them just a little to make the admission. For men long have derived a secret satisfaction from being, officially, the heads of their families. Their wives may always have decided where they should live, just how much they should entertain, whether or not they were to be dancing people or home bodies, where and how they should spend their evenings and vacations, with what people they should be on terms of closest friendship, how the children should be reared, dressed and educated, what the religious and medical beliefs of the family should be and a few other things like that, and the hubbies could smile indulgently and acquiesce. For all those things, of course, came under the jurisdiction of the lady of the house. And they didn't at all alter the fact that the man was the head of the family. For wasn't it so recognized officially?

A DANGEROUS UTOPIA

Guglielmo Marconi, the renowned scientist, announces his belief that the scientific inventions of the next fifty years will so completely revolutionize life and industry that no person will be obliged to work more than a fraction of the time he does at present. This may finally be prejudicial to the human race through rendering life too pleasant.

"I see a danger to the world in this great progress," he declared. "The conditions of life will be made so easy that if people are not careful they will deteriorate. People work now because they are compelled to do so to earn a living—and it is good for them." But in the next few decades they will have to work only when they feel the cosmic urge to do so and, having more time to give to idle amusements, they will lose their moral stamina. Reformers think this a wicked age, but if the toilers of 1974 put in only two hours a day at the office, one shudders to think what the flappers will be like then.

WAVES OF REFORM

During a burst of reform the new city administration in Chicago closed about 2000 saloons at one swoop. Of course, most of them were operated as soft-drink parlors, dispensing the noxious wares of the bootlegger on the side. Now the court decides that the city can neither license nor forbid the operation of these joints. The authorities have nothing to do about it either way. Under the Constitution the business of selling temperance beverages is to be considered as perfectly proper at any time and in any place. If the proprietor sells hard liquor and is caught at it that is another matter, but until he is caught and convicted the soft-drink industry may go blithely on. An immediate and extensive reopening of suspicious places is expected in the Windy City. Commissioner Haynes said the other day that Chicago had become dry. It is a hard town to keep in that tinder-like condition.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

Cast Down Your Bucket Where You Are

When all on board were perishing a breeze sprang up. With it hove in sight another sailing vessel. The stranger's speed precluded all possibility of succor unless she could be "hove to" by signals. Long before the distant ship could possibly decipher messages the tortured souls began signaling:

"Water! Water!"

At last an answer came:

"Cast down your buckets where you are!"

There was no indication, however, that the ship intended stopping or waiting. It crossed the line of intersection and began to recede. Again and again their pathetic plea for water was answered only by:

"Cast down your buckets where you are!"

In time the stranger vanished, and hope with her. After an eternity of torment some one responded to the suggestion. It was purely mechanical; just as much so as the aimless casting of a stone into the water, in a purposeless ramble—fetching of the pail and rope; casting bucket overboard; drawing water to the deck—and then—

"Fresh water!" croaked the drawer, fully aroused at last. The Orinoco River, flowing with majestic force, keeps its identity and character far out into the sea.

"Cast down your bucket where you are!"

That is a great lesson to learn—to drink of opportunity that is about one. Perhaps you have not yet gotten the Great Message:

"Cast down your buckets where you are!"

RIPPLING RHYMES

FLIVVERS

The people who ride in the flivvers from trouble and worry seem free; they junket along by the rivers, they teeter along by the sea; they stop when they're thoroughly shaken, they put up their tent in a grove and cook sundry rashers of bacon upon a collapsible stove. They always are joking and chaffing, though covered with road dust and grime, they always are joshing and laughing and having a bully good time. The people in sumptuous coaches are never so gay as they ride; whenever a grand car approaches I look for some soreheads inside. Oppressed by their opulent splendor and bored by the sameness of days, they haven't the spirit to render an anthem of pleasure and praise. They've aches in their hearts and their livers, they've pains in their blue-blooded toes; they look with disgust on the flivvers that journey in choo-chooing rows. But happiness goes with the busses all rusty and battered with scars, and most of the soul-weary cusses are riding in sumptuous cars. The air of the countryside quivers with laughter, again and again; the people who ride in the flivvers are making their camp in the glen.

Yet in Chicago the barbers' union threatens to call a strike unless the Beauty Parlors' Association desists from trimming the heads of the fair ones. THIS IS THE DAY

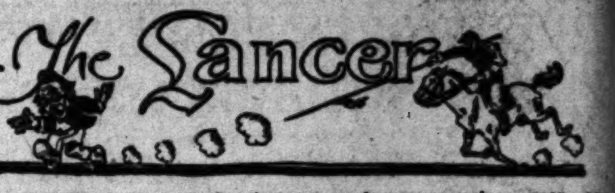
Samuel Houston, soldier and statesman, was born at Timber Ridge Church, Va., in the year 1793 and died at Huntsville, Tex., in the year 1863. He was the leader in the rebellion of Texas against Mexico and was the first President of the republic of Texas. He was also Governor of the State from 1859 to 1861.

The "Missouri Compromise" was passed by the House in the year 1820. This bill admitted slavery to Missouri, but it shut it out from all the rest of the Louisiana Territory north of 36 degrees 30 minutes north latitude.

The United States Department of Education was established by Congress in the year 1867.

The Lancer



ANOTHER bold, bad shooting outlaw has come in like a tame cat.

For a week the police have been hunting for Oscar Perry, the desperate Texas gunman accused of having been a member of the gang that killed Patrolman Glenn Bond. The police have been hunting for him with tear-gas bombs, sawed-off shotguns and other artillery.

But when they finally found him the ferocious Oscar surrendered as meekly as a milkman accused of parking his wagon on the wrong side of the street.

That's the way they all are. When Carleton, the sailor outlaw, escaped from the police his thrilled women companions warned us that, if caught, he would "shoot it out" with the officers and dreadful carnage would result.

But Carleton was brought in, blubbering boo-hoo tears, and took refuge behind the skirts of the best little rough-and-ready weepy mother the courts have seen for some time.

All of these shooting outlaws have the courage of lions when poking six-shooters under the noses of nervous bank tellers; but are not so bold with the cops.

Ada, the Eskimo

THE dramas of real life always seem to fizzle out in a tame anticlimax.

Three bold and dashing adventurers set out from Canada some time ago for the purpose of subduing the Arctic; annexing the North Pole and raising the British flag upon Wrangel Island.

Among their other baggage they took an Eskimo girl to sew their clothes and so on. This was poor little Ada Blackjack.

She had a horrible and frightful experience. Two of the white men left her on the island with a sick comrade. He died and she had to fight for life alone.

Now that she is back in civilization, the friends of the explorers complain bitterly because this girl didn't go out and kill wild animals to keep the sick one in tasty food.

Ada denies that she hoarded away food for herself. And I am sorry to say that I believe her. Had I been Ada I should certainly have had no sentimental illusions about saving my own life.

It was none of her party. They found her broke in Nome and took her on a terrible adventure. I think she had a rotten deal both from the living and the dead.

"In a Biological Sense"

IT WAS a tactful and charitable reporter who wrote that Ada lived while the white men died because she was more fit "in a biological sense" than they.

Yes, sir. Ada was. She had "guts" like a hero. Her physical stomach wasn't a bit more adapted to ship oil and blubber than theirs. But in Ada's heart there was a fire that isn't easily blown out.

If Ada ever takes it into her head that she would like to see what the North Pole looks like she will wade up and look at the place—and without so much melodrama in the way of radio outfits, newspaper syndicates and farewell messages.

Real Madame Butterfly

THE Tagalog girl who was divorced in Manila from an American sergeant, the other day, gave a hard jolt to our national Madame Butterfly complex.

We have all been taught to believe that when we choose to bestow out fat and wheezy charms on a damsel of the Orient the lady will faint with humble delight; and that her parents will hand her over with happy, flattered tears. And when we finally walk out her part of the performance is to sit at the window waiting for the dawn, when she will swallow a couple of poison pills and die murmuring the adored name of the faithless white man.

This army sergeant married a pretty Tagalog girl in Manila with some such delusion. She showed him.

When things got a little slow around the house she didn't sit mooning by the window. Or waiting for the dawn. She strolled over to the town gambling hall and availed herself of one of the great inventions of the white man's civilization. She had just drawn an ace to fill out a straight flush when her white-man husband came in and told her to go home.

The testimony shows that she shifted her cigar over to the other side of her face, spit through her teeth and told him to chase along home and tend to the baby.

The aggrieved husband says that every time he endeavored to dwell, in her presence, upon the manifest virtues of his previous white wife the Tagalog lady always took an ax and proceeded to break up the furniture.

It is literally true, and a very serious fact, that much of the friction between our people and the Japanese is due to the fact that they decline to place themselves in the attitude of tear-dimmed adoration which we have been taught by fiction writers is the proper spirit for those who sit in the darkness of the Orient.

My experience with cultivated Chinese and Japs is that they regard us with unutterable contempt—as half-baked savages. As they look at it, our principal contribution to the philosophy of the world has been to invent the washing machine and the motorcycle.

And, of course, the worst of it is that they are right.

Unmasked Kluckers

THE Ku Klux Klan of Oklahoma have taken off their masks.

This, of course, is the beginning of the end.

There never was any reason for the Ku Klux. Nobody, including the Kluckers, ever knew what it was all about.

For the time being, it gave some extremely commonplace men an opportunity to vary the monotony of their lives by stealing out at night like boys playing tic-tac. They exchanged voo-doo words and mysterious signals and, most of all, got dressed up in creepy and thrilling-looking clothes and played at being crusaders.

The Klan is dying a dog's death for two reasons: because there are so many in it that the members no longer have the melodramatic sensation of belonging to a secret band; and because there is nothing to do.

The theory is that the Klan is to prowl around at midnight and give people mysterious warnings. But they never could find anybody to warn about anything. There are plenty of crooks about, but they do not ordinarily advertise their habitats.

When the Klan substitutes broad daylight and naked faces it reveals all the mysterious Sir Knights as a lot of amiable plumbers seeking to relieve their boredom and garage employees with corns. The thrill is gone.

Are We Boobs?

ACCORDING to all the best gossippers, "Anna Christie" has failed and Pauline Lord is going back to New York, an extremely disgusted young woman.

It is a great pity that we do not get better theatrical attractions in Los Angeles; and, at this rate, we never will.

Although, with the exception of George Marion, Miss Lord's support was pretty bad—in fact, very bad—her own performance was charming enough to make up for it. And the play, of course, is one of the high-water marks of American drama. Nothing finer has been written by an American author.

"Anna Christie" failed in Los Angeles; and "Abie's Irish Rose" made a young fortune. Gosh!

And even, at "Anna Christie" when they applauded, it was usually at the bad acting. Again gosh!

Aha, Alma!

I WILL have this to hold over Alma Whitaker as long as she lives; she wrote that she liked "Abie's Irish Rose" and she didn't like Duse!

Not that I believed her for a minute; but, anyhow, she said so. Right here's the documents to prove it.

Pola and Duse

BUT if she didn't, Pola Negri did. "That marvelous Duse," said Pola. "She take my heart right out—so and she tear heem in two pieces like thees. I am so excited I cannot eat. I go home and the dinner is there; but I cannot eat. I am too excited. Ten years ago I saw Duse. I saw her last week again in 'The Dead City.' She is more wonderful than ten years ago. It is a miracle. Never has the world before seen such an actress. Never shall it see such another."

From which I gathered that Pola liked the show.

Crumbs in Bed

I AM resigned to my lot.

If Mrs. Lydig Hoyt's recipes for social conduct are what they really do in high social circles, me for the short and simple scandals of the poor, as Mr. Dooley says.

In a recent article in The Times Magazine Mrs. Hoyt explains all about week-end house parties.

She says you really ought, if you are the real squee gee society hostess, to serve breakfast to your guests in their rooms; then you should arrange to let them play tennis and golf in the afternoon; and in the evening you drag them down to bridge whist or mah jongg.

One time I lived in a household where they served breakfast in your room; it was a dismal experience. You spilled crumbs all over the bed clothes and got your bath robe sleeves in the coffee.

And it was darn lonesome. All there was to do was to sit and look at the wriggles in the wall paper as you dutifully munched your toast. I used to try to persuade the colored slave to hang around and entertain me; but his sense of etiquette was too profound. Probably he had been reading Mrs. Lydig Hoyt himself.

But, anyhow, it wasn't breakfast; it was just eating.

However, compared with having to sit around every evening and play bridge and mah jongg, breakfast all over the bed clothes would be the least of the ordeal.

The Fascinating Bigamist

I OBSERVE that when they released the soldier bigamist on probation the other day the lady who holds the somewhat complicated title of "former second wife" threw her arms around the hero and fainted.

The first wife did not make her presence felt. What do you suppose is the etiquette of the first or principal encumbrance in such a case?

Doubtless, with her greater experience, she met him outside the Courthouse; asked him what day he gets paid now and handed him the last month's gas bills.

Haughty Clerks

IN A survey made by some new kind of an expert in Eugene, Or., they found out why stores lose trade; the two chief reasons are the indifference of sales people and the haughtiness of sales people.

There are three murders I expect to commit.

One is a haberdasher's clerk who looks out of the window while he is trying to sell me something; the second is the man who squeezes himself down at a club table where I have gone for the luxury of dining alone; and the third is the woman who telephones to me and keeps saying the same thing over and over again when I have told her everything she wanted to know in the first three words.

Itching Scalp Healed by SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even itching eczema of the scalp, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin and scalp irritation and soothes and heals the eczema right up. The first application stops the itching and makes the skin cool and comfortable. Sufferers from skin trouble, blemishes, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur from any good druggist. Be sure it is genuine. Look for the name Rowles.—[Advertisement.

New German Oil Formula Rubs Out Rheumatic Pains

Remarkable discovery promises quick, soothing relief for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia and neuritis sufferers.

German Chemistry that has given to the world the boon of Aspirin for the relief of headache pain, and Novocain for painless dentistry, has now come forward with another scientific discovery that promises to make nerve, joint and muscular pains a thing of the past for thousands who have suffered terrible tortures.

A new combination of certain oils has been discovered which produces a clear amber liquid that affords immediate relief from pain in many instances. It is so penetrating that it disappears within a few seconds, so that it must be entirely absorbed by the body tissue. Even in the most advanced and stubborn cases the use of this remarkable oil has shown astonishing improvement at once in many cases. Tired muscles regain life, creaking joints with the pain all gone become supple, the nerves are quickly soothed and the annoying twinges cease.

Rheumatism, gout, neuralgia and neuritis are due to internal infections which throw off poisons. These poisons are carried by the blood to the nerve tissue where they inflame and irritate the nerve sheath. The New German Oil is designed to neutralize these pain-causing poisons, bringing almost instant soothing relief.

So astonishing have been the results from the use of this oil that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense it to rheumatic, gout, neuralgia and neuritis sufferers in this city with a positive written guarantee, signed by themselves, to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if the pains are not wonderfully relieved. All sufferers should take advantage of this liberal offer. Unless you get relief from the very first bottle, your druggist will return your money. It is called Buhler Oil, and can be had at most good druggists, such as Owl and Sun Drug Stores, Chambers Drug Co., [illegible] Drug Co., Godfrey & Moore, [illegible] Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

New Method Removes Wrinkles in 15 Minutes

A veritable wonder-worker for wrinkled and flabby faces is a simple, harmless application made by mixing a spoonful of powdered tarkroot with a spoonful of lemon juice. Not only does it quickly smooth out the wrinkles and age lines before one's very eyes—but it has a stimulating influence upon the weakened and relaxed underlying tissues. The mixture is spread over the face with the fingertips, and in less than fifteen minutes the mirror shows that a most marvelous transformation has taken place. When the substance is washed off the average face actually looks ten or fifteen years younger.

The results are far better than those obtainable from the most expert massaging—and the cost is less than three cents a treatment! Powdered tarkroot can be obtained from any druggist.—[Advertisement.

CHANCE TO SATE LUST FOR BLOOD

Eight "Guns" Are Wanted on Jaunt to Jungles

Lions and Tigers Assured, and Maybe a Zulu

Wine Bill is Extra, But Trip Costs Only $10,000

BY ALMA WHITAKER

In these cankering times of paltry peace you may be hankering for a little he-man slaughter provided on a comfortable luxurious scale. One often does, you know

For which reason we followed up an artless little advertisement to the effect that a Mr. Gerald Kent, similarly restive, was prepared to escort "eight guns" up into Rhodesia, Central Africa, for six months of he-man Roosevelt stuff.

Especially as one intriguing line caught my eye: 'No objection to ladies." And likewise that "the fee will be absolutely inclusive, with the exception of guns and wine bills."

FOR ONLY $10,000

We discovered Mr. Kent to be a "very" Englishman—mining engineer—the great open spaces and all that. And he feels sure that numerous ennuied, hard-headed American business men must be yearning for the romantically and he-manly-shed blood of lions, tigers, springbok, wild buffalo, with possibly a Hottentot or a Zulu thrown in.

But he quite understands that the adventure should not be too jolly strenuous. So for $10,000 you may sojourn with him and the other eight guns via New York, London, Union Castle line to the Cape, African trains to the interior and Kaffir-ox-mule-and-foot transportation to Rhodesia, not forgetting nice little personally conducted sight-seeing trips in the madding-crowded metropolises en route.

DANGER APLENTY

If a "gun" or two happens to be feminine, there is a Mrs. Kent who will go along and he vouches for it that she is some little "gun" herself.

Mr. Kent did not seem to be quite sure whether it was desirable to exploit or minimize the dangers. Americans can be quite peculiar, American ladies, of course, are apt to like danger.

On previous trips—and this will be Mr. Kent's third—he never found it necessary to have any medicinal aid along beyond whisky and quinine.

"They cure everything, you know," he assured me.

The eight guns are augmented by a Kaffir train after one reaches the interior. This Kaffir entourage is frightfully impressive on a salary of $2 per month—and meat. You kill the meat. And it is presumed that if one accidentally guns a Kaffir the liability would not exceed a proration valuation in damages, say a month's consumption in meat.

NO LADIES—YET

Americans are warned that ice cream or pie a la mode are not included in the $10,000 after one leaves New York. But, as Mr. Kent says, Rhodesian climate is almost identical with that of California, so with the sporty addition of a white green-lined desert helmet, one is sartorially equipped.

The expedition will leave here in March. So far no ladies have joined the nice, civilized, bloodthirsty trip, but Mr. Kent has hopes. Three male "guns," however, have been tentatively culled. One of them is a big-game hunter-mining engineer from British Columbia—so the "wine bills" can't have been any special lure to him.

Of the six months, three will be devoted to going and coming and gunning the metropolises en route. One could probably get all the blood one wants in the other three months.

Man Refusing to Break Oath Is Sent to Jail

Thomas M. Pyler refused to break an oath he said he had made, and yesterday was sent to the County Jail for an indefinite term by Judge Summerfield.

Pyler was in court at the instance of his wife, Elva Pyler, and was instructed to reveal the whereabouts of the couple's child which the court planned to put in a neutral home. Pyler previously had been given an opportunity to tell where the child was but he refused. He declined to say other than it was in Arkansas.

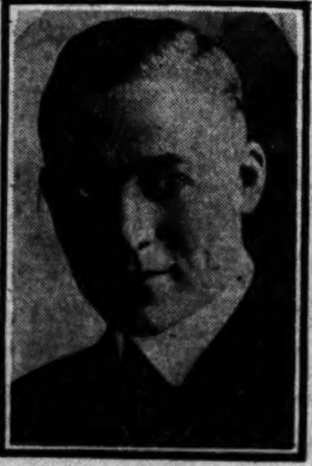
Every Gray Hair a Sign Post of Age

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—[Advertisement.

NAMED TO POST ON UNIVERSITY STAFF



Prof. G. P. Tanquary

The appointment of Prof. G. P. Tanquary to conduct the classes of Prof. Anthony Blanks at the University of Southern California was announced by Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the institution, yesterday.

Prof. Blanks is on leave of absence to have charge of the oratorical contest being fostered by the Los Angeles Times and the university has given Prof. Blanks a leave of abense to supervise this work among high-school students.

Prof. Tanquary is a graduate of the U.S.C., taking his degree in 1916. He has been a member of the faculty of the Manual Arts High School, teaching English and oratory and in this capacity helped to train several of the high-school students who have since won oratorical honors as U.S.C. students.

MAY ERECT NEW PLANT IN THIS CITY

Advantages Examined by Head of Oil and Leather Products Company

Los Angeles as a location for the manufacture of oil and leather products is being considered by Charles E. Carpenter, president of E. F. Houghton & Co. of Philadelphia, one of the largest manufacturers of this line of goods in the United States.

Mr. Carpenter, now at the Biltmore, is here to make an investigation of the possibilities offered by this section for the establishment of a factory here. He expressed himself as well pleased with what he had seen of the city thus far.

"I have been out to inspect your harbor," he said, "and was impressed with the advantages it offers for the development of a large ocean commerce. With the facilities for inexpensive transportation provided by your port and the city's favorable location with reference to raw material I can see a great future for Los Angeles as an industrial center."

He said that his firm had not as yet decided definitely in regard to their operations here, but that it was considering plans for expansion on the Pacific Coast. He will submit a report of his findings to his associates after returning to Philadelphia.

Mr. Carpenter has been identified with Houghton & Co. for many years, rising from a minor position to his place as chief executive officer of the concern. In his younger days he took a keen interest in athletics and other sports, being particularly interested in boxing, roller-skating and billiards, in which he took some prizes. He is a pepful person and an ardent exponent of the strenuous life of the last Col. Roosevelt.

New Extension Classes Given by University

The fine Quality of our Furniture is a tribute to this Community

THE surpassing quality of the dining room, bedroom and living room furniture now arriving for the Spring display, is a just tribute to the high standards of home furnishing that prevail in this community.

Conforming to these standards, our Department of Interior Decoration has recently imported fine fabrics for wall hangings, window treatments, and furniture coverings.

We are pleased to submit here two sketches of the very fine suites recently placed on displaly. In the choice selection of the woods of which they are built and the fine craftsmanship apparent in every detail of their construction, they are quite representative of the values you will find in the many new groups now being offered by us.

JUSTICE GODDESS BLUSHES

Trial Over Towel Worth $1, Asserted to Have Been Stolen, Costs $30.58; Suspect Freed

DETROIT, March 1.—The bandage—now believed by many to be a towel valued at $1, but shown by books of the D. & C. Navigation Company to have cost 87½ cents net—was removed from the eyes of the goddess of justice in Recorder's Court before Judge Harry B. Keidan to permit her to see for herself what may be committed in her name.

The hero was Milledge Mack, on trial charged with the theft of one towel fro mthe D. & C. Lines on October 8, 1923.

On October 10, in night sessions, Mr. Mack had been found guilty of purloining the towel. He was placed on probation by Judge Pliny W. Marsh. But Mr. Mack appealed and demanded a trial by jury. It took just forty minutes, five of which were used by the jury for deliberation before returning a verdict of not guilty.

After the verdict had been returned, court attaches figured the cost to the City of Detroit of Mr. Mack's trial. It amounted to $30.58, not including the time of the attaches in casting up the score, which was as follows:

Jurors $5, Court costs, including stenographer, clerk, attendants and policemen, but not including light, heat and depreciation of furniture due to wear and tear $13, Prosecuting Attorney $2.30, Judge Keidan $3.28, three witnesses at $2.10, $6.30.

An enterprising reporter attempted to question the goddess of justice, who was an interested spectator throughout the trial, but she indignantly refused to be interviewed and wrapped the bandage (or towel) more firmly than ever about her eyes—to hide her blushes.

Embarrassing

A Yorkshire farmer was asked to the funeral of his neighbor's third wife, and as he had attended the funeral of the first two his own wife was surprised when he informed her that he had declined the invitation.

On being pressed for a reason he said, with hesitation: "Well, you see, lass, it makes a chap feel a bit awkward to be allus accepting other folks' civilities when he never has anything of the sort to ask 'em back to."

NOT SO EASY

Miss Jane Addams, who is down for the next Nobel prize, said in one of her recent Hull House addresses:

"Young married couples shouldn't be extravagant. They shouldn't bite off more than they can chew.

"I overheard the conversation of two colored women the other day.

"'Fo' goodness' sake,' said the first colored woman, 'wot was all dat row gwine on over at your house last evenin'? Done sound like a hyena fight or suthin.'

"'Dat?' said the second colored woman. 'Oh, dat was nuthin', hon. Dat was only de gent from de furniture store collectin' his easy payments.'"—[Detroit Free Press.

ARTISTIC BALANCE IN WEST

West Coast of Europe Losing Honor to Pacific is Word Brought by Scotchman

That the artistic balance is being rapidly shifted from the west coast of Europe to the west coast of America, is the belief of Scotch newspapers, according to Frank Morley Fletcher, delegate from Scotland on the jury of award at the Fifth International Print Exhibition which opened today at the Los Angeles County Museum.

The statement carried in leading Scotch newspapers to the effect that the art center of the world was shifting to the shores of the Pacific was founded on the fact that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce had posted the highest award offered in the exhibition.

Chamber of Commerce Gold Medal

AWARD EXCELS

This award, a gold medal bearing the inscription "International Print Makers' Exhibition, 1924. The Print Makers' Society of California," heads the list of six prizes offered to encourage interest in artistic endeavor.

The awards were made recently at a meeting of the jury of award in the directors' room at the county museum where the prints submitted, numbering nearly 1000 and representing the work of print makers in all parts of the world, will be on exhibition for the remainder of March.

Members of the jury of award were Dr. Ford Carpenter, head of the department of meteorology and aeronautics of the Chamber of Commerce; Lee F. Randolph, director of the California Institute of Art in San Francisco; Frank Morley Fletcher of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Benjamin Brown and Albert Stick of Los Angeles.

SIX WIN PRIZES

Of the nearly 1000 prints examined, out of a possible 370 the [illegible] winners were selected. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce gold medal, the highest award offered, went to M. Adolph Beaufrere of Paris, for a group of three prints, sketches and etchings, entitled "Syria," "Tangier" and "Vers-Bartien."

The silver and bronze medals were awarded, respectively, to Lewis C. Rosenberg of America for an etching entitled "St. Peter's," and Fred Monhoff of Los Angeles for two etchings. The Huntington award of $100 was given to Armand Hansen of America for an etching entitled "Requiem;" the Byran award of $25 to Bryant Whitmore for an etching "Licking Valley," and the Storrow prize of $50 to Walter Phillips, local architect, for a color-print block entitled "Norman Bay."

WEDDED BLISS BRIEF: MAN ASKS ANNULMENT

After having obtained $2500 in bonds and $35 in cash, according to a complaint for annulment of marriage filed yesterday, Josefine Haneschka deserted her 65-year-old husband, Josef Haneschka. He sued for annulment on the grounds of fraud, declaring that she promised to be a faithful wife when she had no such intention. They were married February 8, last, according to the complaint, and the asserted desertion was five days later.

Degnan Witness to Face Trial on Perjury Charge

O. M. Ward, one fo three men accused of perjury in connection with the trial of Michael Degnan on a charge of assaulting Eloise Clement, yesterday was held to answer by Justice Ambrose. His bail was set at $2000, although an attempt was made by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke to have it raised to $3000. Ward was charged with perjury after defense testimony for Degnan was given with James F. McGinty and Tom Beden. The latter two were acquitted on Tuesday because their testimony was not material in Degnan's trial. Ward's testimony was that Miss Clement registered with Degnan at his hotel in National City. Degnan is awaiting the outcome of an appeal on his conviction.

OBJECTS TO TUJUNGA

OPERA NUMBERS WIN RADIOLAND

Rudy Seiger Pleases With Violin Program

Soloist is Conductor of Noted Orchestra

Largest Saxophone Band is Heard Over KHJ

Music lovers of the West were given a treat last night by the program of Rudy Seiger, the famous violin virtuoso and conductor of San Francisco. His program of grand opera selections and concert numbers carried a geniune treat to the thousands of listeners-in who, were it not for radio, would seldom hear music of such quality.

Mr. Seiger is the leader of the well-known Fairmont Hotel Orchestra of San Francisco, which, under his capable direction, has established a wide reputation for excellence. Mr. Seiger's interpretations of the old masters are particularly noteworthy and his ability as a composer is such as to mark him as an artist of exceptional merit.

Among numbers given last night were some of his own compositions, "My Song," "California Lullaby," and "Indian Summer." Also there were some adaptations from oriental selections such as the "Cherry Dancer" from a Japanese setting and "Jasmine Flower." The production of his latest composition, "Zamboanga," a theme taken from the Moros in the Philippines, showed a delicacy and evenness.

J. Chandler Smith bespoke ability as a pianist. His solo numbers, "Romance," by Sibelius, and "Polichinello," by Rachmaninoff, demonstrated his brillance.

These artists will appear at the Huntington Hotel at Pasadena tonight, Mr. Seiger as violin soloist and guest conductor of the Huntington augmented orchestra.

The largest saxophone band in the United States, under direction of Kathryne Thompson, sent a bit of Sunny California out over the ether. This organization numbers more than seventy-five pieces at present and is rapidly growing. They were out in full force last night and the program was a delightful surprise in the classical numbers rendered in addition to popular selections. Spice and variety in ensemble march numbers were noted.

ALL ENTHUSIASTIC

The spirit shown by this organization is remarkable. Every member is a genuine saxophone enthusiast and their combined efforts have made the Southern California Saxaphone Band the premier organization of its kind in the United States.

Miss Thompson herself is an authority on the saxophone. She is the author of four books dealing with this instrument, and had composed several numbers of saxophone music. One of the numbers on last night's programs "Valse Caprice," was both written and played by her.

The number "Our Defenders" was appropriately dedicated to boys in the hospitals at Fort Bayard, Orrowhead Lake and Sawtelle. It seemed to carry with it that martial air so characteristic of those to whom it was dedicated. "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," was repeated in response to a nation-wide request to do so. More than 300 letters have been received from all parts of the country asking for the reptition of this one piece.

Nell Lockwood, soloist for the First Methodist Church, accompanied by Helen Lotspeich Gale, brought an offering of contralto selections that rounded out the program of the evening. The faultless diction of her dramatic contralto voice is especially adapted to radio broadcasting. Mrs. Helen Gale, her accompanist, is the wife of Edmund W. Gale, The Times cartoonist.

MANY SURPRISES

A varied matinee program was presented by the University of the West of Long Beach. Like grandmother's plum pudding, it was full of good things. Pianologues, musical readings, vocal selections and radio dramatics served to keep the listeners guessing as to the nature of the next surprise. The numbers offered by the Cure sisters, Dr. and Mrs. Shepard and Inez Webber, artist pupil of William Conrad Mills were so acceptable that the University of the West can be exceptionally proud of their representatives.

Between the dark and the daylight,
When the night is beginning to lower,
Comes a pause in the day's occupation
That is known as the Children's hour.

Any grown-up who happens to listen in at 6:45 will discover that Longfellow's love for children has been reincarnated at KHJ. A few changes in wording to make it modern does not alter the spirit of this happy time.

I heard o'er the radio broadcast
The voice of Richard White
And the music of Lois Matthews
As it drifted out through the night
Young Richard has only three summers
In which he has made quite a name
And Helen is one of our "comers"
She plays for the sick and the lame.
Then Helen Pirie whispered to us
But her voice carried out many miles
And o'er all the west scores of children
Listened in through wreaths of smiles.

Mrs. Roisman certainly gave radioland a demonstration of domestic harmony when, with her four sons, Maurice, Isadore, Max and Harper, and her two laughters, Bessie and Rosie, at noontime yesterday brodcast melodious offerings with this company of juveniles. Harper Roisman is but 8 years of age, yet he manages the drums in a fine fashion and all the way up the family tree to Maurice, 17, the group expressed great talent.

RADIO SET BUG PESTS DISCUSSED

Various Varieties and Method of Treatment Described

BUGS—Not the garden variety or those that the "bugologist chases after with the old-fashioned butterfly net, but bugs in our own radio sets.

These bugs are many and various and develop from many different causes, the most common of these bugs is reversed polarity in the plate circuit (B battery) and the filament battery causing the set to act sluggish and in the case of the plate battery not to function at all. It is therefore important that this be watched very carefully. This bug is also very prominent in cases where the batteries have become discharged.

The latter bug causes more trouble in our radio set than the bug that scratches when we are enjoying a program from our favorite broadcast station being of a very persistent nature and always shows up just as the distant station is announcing their call letters. He comes in with a loud scratch, or perhaps when the small member of the family slams the door, he will then scratch and growl and spoil the whole works, the best way to get rid of this pest is to be sure that all connections are absolutely tight, especially those of the plate and filament supply and the aerial and ground.

Another bug is one that squeals, when we touch the set, after tuning in our station. When we put our hands near the tuning dials, a loud squeal is the result; this is caused by interference of two waves of different frequency setting up an audible beat note. This bug is difficult to control, as the slightest change in capacity of your receiving apparatus, such as effect of the body, hands, etc., causes this squeal. The best way to get rid of this pest is to shield your receiving set, and ground all shields to your ground connection. It is also well to receive stations with the receiver in a nonoscillating condition; better and clear reception will result, with less squealing.

Reelfoot Lake, thirteen miles long and about five miles wide, in Tennessee, was formed by an earthquake in 1811.

The OWNER of a

NRS Neutrodyne
Is Always a Booster

He is not restricted to local reception, even when four local stations are broadcasting.

Under favorable conditions, he is able to bring in stations in Canada, Mexico, Cuba and the eastern United States on a loud speaker.

He can, by a competitive test, out-demonstrate his neighbor's set.

He has a receiver that can be operated by any member of the family.

These are a few reasons why the NRS has proven so popular on the Coast this winter.

rograms Replace Medicine at Camp Kearny

bercular Patients Given Fatigue Relief

my Surgeon's Praise of System High

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—Radio ntly was adopted here as a ific treatment for bed-ridden rcular patients and convales- nts. Acting Army Surgeon D. E. Lunberg at Camp Kearny thority for the following state- t as to its healing powers:

"A regular schedule of hours was arranged according to what was available on the air, as well as according to hours that best fitted in with the regime of the patients. The schedule since its inauguration has not failed in a single instance to materalize. Radio in a hospital of this sort should prove to be a therapeutic agent under the class of occupational therapy or as a simple recreational measure.

TUBERCULOSIS CASES

"In tuberculosis, we have to diminish the fatigue point to the lowest possible minimum, while undergoing treatment. Under proper medical restrictions, our central station can be counted on to be of great value to the patient from many angles. The medical staff of this hospital is glad to have radio at this hospital serve such a useful purpose.

"This practical application of the therapeutic properties of radio was made possible through an unique installation by Fred L. Edwards of the Independent Electric Company of this city. The Community Service, an organization which looks after the recreational needs of army men at Camp Kearny, financed the project with money raised by a benefit performance of 'Iclanthe.'

"More than 9000 feet of wire was required to equip the various wards in the hospital. The connections are made so that any one or all of the patients may plug in a head set and listen to broadcasts as picked up and amplified by the master receiving station. This consists of a cage antenna to which is connected a Federal No. 58 DX receiver, the output of which is magnified by an additional two-stage amplifier, making audible to the 140 or more patients, programs from major broadcasting stations in the West and sometimes the Chicago stations almost 2000 miles away.

ELECTRICIANS GIVE AID

"Two Army electricians, acting as operators, give freely of their 'off duty' time in the interests of the maintenance of the radio schedule. Their operating room is near the medical conference room and from there radiate the lines which supply the eager patients with programs of a restful and educational nature.

"Letters of thanks by the score have been received from 'The Boys' at Camp Kearny, from many patients at Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, and similar institutions throughout the country. In the tubercular ward at Sawtelle there are 350 cots, each cot equipped with a receiving head set. A mute lesson in unselfishness awaits anyone who will pass slowly down the aisle between those 350 cots any midafternoon and study expressions on faces of those men. Radio to them means the outside world, the joy of song, beauty of music, brought near at hand and the relaxation of the tension found in a long afternoon which might otherwise be unbroken."

Impromptu at 10:30 p.m. Thursday, Janet Bush-Hecht, mezzo-contralto, sang nine compositions of Mabelanne Corby with the composer at the Knabe at KHJ. These ladies have appeared in recital at WEAF, and WJZ, New York City, and WOR, Newark, N. J. Rich, full contralto tones broadcast a splendid interpretation of three selections from the opera, "When Sappho Sang," composed by Cecilia Gaines Holland and Mabelanne Corby. Owing to the fact that the appearance was impromptu, little advance notice of the splendid voice of Janet Bush-Hecht was given, but Radioland, ever on the alert, registered full appreciation of her artistry, according to reports.

sing, I'd sing them all for you
If I could a thousand pieces play I'd give each one for you
If every gift God can bestow be

My greatest joy on earth I know to send them forth so free.

If I could a combine form of Radio Concert Brings Joy to Helen Keller

From the recent experience of Helen Keller, it would seem that the radio has opened a new world to that remarkable woman, according to a recent article in Musical America. Although blind and deaf, her extraordinary sensitiveness has lightened her great handicap, and she now reports that she has "heard" the Ninth Symphony. When a performance of the great work by the New York Symphony was broadcast on February 1, "listeners-in" at Forest Hills, Long Island suggested that Miss Keller should place her hand on the receiver. The cap being unscrewed, she lightly touched the sensitive diaphragm.

Writing to the New York Symphony, she thus describes her sensations: "What was my amazement to discover that I could feel, not only the vibrations, but also the impassioned rhythm, the throb and the urge of the music! The intertwined and intermingling vibrations from different instruments enchanted me. I could actually distinguish the cornets, the roll of the drums, deep-toned violas and violins singing in exquisite unison. When the human voices leaped up, trilling from the surge of harmony, I recognized them instantly as voices. I felt the chorus grow more and more exultant . . . Then all the instruments and voices together burst forth—an ocean of heavenly vibration—and died away like winds when the atom is spent, ending in a delicate shower of sweet notes.

"Of course, this was not 'hearing,' but I do know that the tones and harmonies conveyed to me moods of great beauty and majesty. . . . I have never been so enraptured before by a multitude of tone vibrations. As I listened, with darkness and melody, shadow and sound filling all the room, I could not help remembering that the great composer who poured forth such a flood of sweetness into the world was deaf like myself. I marveled at the power of his quenchless spirit, by which, out of his pain, he wrought such joy for others—and there I sat, feeling with my hand the magnificent symphony which broke like a sea upon the silent shores of his soul and mine."

Unusual Radio Offer—
Try this New Kennedy in Your Own Home!

Judge for yourself—in the quiet of your home—the beautiful tone purity of the new Kennedy Model V. In no other way can you appreciate the vividness with which it brings all the best broadcast programs to your fireside—as lifelike as though the artist actually stood before you.

Go to your dealer—now—tell him you want to try this new Kennedy. He will gladly install it in your home. Then you can see how astonishingly simple it is for you, your wife or children to bring in an entire evening's entertainment—just by turning one single dial! This one dial tunes in all stations—a slight adjustment of a second dial regulates volume. Each station has its own dial setting and always comes in at that particular setting.

Your Kennedy will be a permanent investment in continued enjoyment. The circuit used is so fundamentally correct that it is not subject to fads or changes. It is permanently right. It is always dependable. Does not radiate or throw out whining, whistling noises that bother neighboring listeners.

Model V is entirely self-contained in beautiful mahogany cabinet with Formica panel. Price, completely equipped with all dry-battery tubes, dry batteries, Kennedy 3000-ohm phones, with plug, $127.50. Insist on a Kennedy—buy it for permanence, dependability and quality.

UNCLE JOHN'S COLUMN

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

At noon, the day following the cloudburst, I reached the little mining camp of Red Butte, about five miles from the canyon where I left Queen, my outfit, and the "Three Graces." This camp was only about a month old and had twenty-one men and three women.

I had been over to this camp before deciding to establish my temporary location in the canyon, and you can imagine lads and lassies, how I felt when they told me that my burros, dog and outfit had all been washed away by the cloudburst. Not only that, but there were two men at Red Butte who had made their camp in the bed of the canyon just below my cache, the day I started north on my prospecting trip.

"We had two mules and a wagon and a fine collie dog which we had left tied to a wheel when we came in to Red Butte last night," said one of them. "This morning we went back there and we could not even find a spoke, wagon tongue, or one single thing that would even indicate our outfit had ever been there. The canyon is gutted clean."

Far out in the Black Rock Desert, years later, there may have been found a few scattered bones, wagon spokes, a tire rim, and perhaps a battered old canteen. "Another tragedy of the desert—poor prospectors who probably died of thirst," would be the comment of the finder.

With heavy heart I hurried across the intervening five miles. All the way I still seemed to hear the plaintive cries of my little dog Queen, and at times I even thought I heard the faint tinkle of the cow bells which hung about the necks of my three burros. "Surely they could not be all gone," I thought. "It is pretty hard for anything to catch a burro, even a cloudburst." Finally I came to the edge of the canyon at a point not more than a quarter of a mile below where my cache had been established under the scrub oak on the other side. The glen, which I had left a beautiful fairyland of the desert at sunrise the day before, was now nothing but a muddy waste. On the other side of the canyon, a well-defined chocolate-colored line marked the course of the terrific rush of water which had swept the canyon clean. Reports said that the wall of water which churned its way down the gulch had been twelve feet high and that the grinding roar of great rocks and boulders had been heard two miles away.

EYES MADE DIM

When John Muir had told me what a cloudburst could do, I had no thought that I would ever witness its tragedy.

Suddenly my eyes, dimmed perhaps by the glare of the sun or the thoughts within me, focused on a little white spot close to the edge of the chocolate-colored line. My heart have a great leap of joy, for there on one corner of that white spot I saw the same little black speck which had been there when I left the canyon, the morning before. Down the side of the mountain, through the muck and mud I raced and hurried up the now almost dry floor of the dirty bathtub. I shouted and called and little Queen ran to meet me. My outfit had been missed by the wall of water by about two feet. Oh! How glad she was to see me, and to a man in his loneliness, a dog can be his best friend.

"Come little Queen. We must try to find Patty, Maude, and Kitch before night," I said. She barked her approval and all that afternoon we hunted without success.

I had learned that burros do most of their browsing before dawn; then the tinkling of their bells can be best heard, for when the sun comes up a burro will pick out a bright warm spot and stand absolutely still, head dropping down toward the ground, sunning itself in the glory of a new day. I had worked up the canyon and over the ridge the afternoon before, believing that my stock would seek the higher points.

QUEEN RESTLESS

So the following morning I went down the canyon feeling confident that they were still on that side of the gulch. I traveled for an hour, had crossed several smaller divides, and finally came to a promontory where the wonderful panorama of Black Rock Desert was laid out before in all its silent mystery. A fresh breeze had sprung up and I paused behind a large outcropping to shield me from the wind as I rested. Queen was whining and seemed restless.

"Do you hear anything?" I asked straining my ears. "Where are they? Go find them." With a jubilant bark she started off and in that instant I heard the faint tinkle of a bell. Only once did I hear it and then the great orb of the sun lifted itself above the ragged edge of the eastern horizon. Sounds carry great distances in the desert, particularly after a rain, and at break of day. With the help of my dog I found Patty, Maude and Kitch an hour later at a point two miles distant, as near as I could estimate it, from the place where I had heard the tinkle of the bell.

We rounded a butte at the head of a little mesa and there they were, standing silently, face toward the sun.

I had bought a loaf of bread in Red Butte and we broke it in thankfulness over our reunion.

PIONEER IN RADIOLAND GIVES VIEW

C. B. Kennedy Expects No Basic Changes in Field of Reception

Colin B. Kennedy, a pioneer in radio manufacturing and owner of one of the largest plants turning out receiving sets in the United States, is a guest at the Biltmore.

"No fundamental changes in the field of radio reception may be expected as it is fairly well explored and governed by clearly defined laws," said Mr. Kennedy yesterday in his apartment where he was entertaining Frank M. Newbert, president of the Fish and Game Commission and George H. Anderson of the commission and L. W. Sturdevant, Pacific Coast representative of the Colin B. Kennedy Corporation.

"However, we may expect mechanical improvements, chiefly along the lines of radio simplification in receiving sets and further development of the vacuum tube which is the soul of modern radio," he continued. "Radio is a mysterious thing and leads us into strange fields. To me it is the connecting link with the spirit of the universe, where the material leaves off and the intangible begins. It is at this point that the metaphysician takes up the thread for the physical senses are of no avail here."

Mr. Kennedy was in 1907 connected with the British-Pacific Cable Company in Bamfield, B. C., an isolated station on the west coast of Vancouver Island. He was sixty miles from the nearest white habitation. "Under such condition I had ample time to study radio or what was then known as wireless," he explained. "Five years later I found myself on a honeymoon trip which brought me to Los Angeles in the employ of the old Federal Telegraph Company, then on West Washington street. In a small way I started, as a side line, the manufacture of radio receiving sets, ably assisted by my bride and partner. Broadcasting stations were then unknown. I made about one set a week and sold them to amateurs."

Today the Colin B. Kennedy Corporation plant in St. Louis ranks among the leading manufacturers of receiving sets in the world. "Practically all of my associates are Californians and I am looking forward to the day when I can have another factory out here. Wherever I have been on this my tour of the United States from the smallest hamlet to the largest city I find ardent admirers of KHJ, The Times broadcast station," said Mr. Kennedy, undoubtedly pleasing to him as he designed the initial fifty-watt station of KHJ which went on the air April 13, 1922.

OAKLAND

Where Prosperity Beckons Ambitious People

AMBITION is contagious in this prosperous, industrious city. The incentive to succeed is evident on every hand. Besides the numerous local industries, scores of the world's great manufacturing institutions have built their Western factories here. Among the best known are:

Victor Talking Machine Co., Chevrolet Motor Co., The Magnavox Co., National Lead Co., Sherwin-Williams Co., General Electric Co., Durant Motor Co., Pacific Coast Shredded Wheat Co., American Can Co., Fisher Body Corporation, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., Cleveland Metal Products Co., Western Electric Co., U. S. Light & Heat Corporation, Detroit Steel Products Co., Star Motor Co. of California.

Every Opportunity for Success

Oakland was endowed by Nature with most every advantage that makes a city great. Climate that induces year 'round productiveness. Great supporting back country of fertile valleys. Natural distributing center for a vast empire of people. A hundred square miles of level factory land. Three great railroads that meet the deep water on factory frontage. Abundant cheap power and fuel. Low freight rates and many other advantages.

A Humming Center of Activity

Each year more industries come; great and small; world famous and local. The scene inspires ambition—a great Western workshop, continually active. A constant movement of finished goods from factory doors to waiting freight cars. Oakland-made merchandise is shipped everywhere, all over the world.

Men of ambition! Men who would put their brains and effort and money to work! Oakland is calling you! A great and growing city on the mainland shore of the world's greatest harbor. The Golden Gate at her threshold—like a great wide open door of opportunity—she welcomes you.

The growth of Oakland has been swift, but sure and steady. A city like this, so ideally situated, was bound to be unusually great. Already Oakland has taken her place as the industrial metropolis of the Pacific Coast.

And when play time comes

Oaklanders enjoy playtime as well as work. Happiness is in the air. Bright, sunny days, fanned with the gentle zephyr of ocean breezes. Beautiful hillside homes with colorful gardens. Playgrounds everywhere. And splendid highways lead on to all the glories of outdoor California—only a few hours away. Of schools Oakland has all that is best in every grade. Notable in education is the University of California and Mills College for women.

Oakland offers all that man or woman could ask of a great city. The facts, as published in a new booklet, speak for themselves. This booklet is for your information. Send for a copy today. Tear out the coupon and mail it right away.

Mission Cliff Gardens

Along the Waterfront—

San Diego

RISING from the very edge of the harbor are the tall buildings which mark the heart of the business district of San Diego.

Up easy grades, at vantage points on surrounding eminences and mesas, are blossom-covered homes on contoured drives and palm-lined avenues looking down on the sparkling bay, the white beaches and the calm bosom of the Pacific.

Back of all this, as mighty sentinels guarding the harbor and city, rise the majestic peaks of the Coast Range. Between the mountains and San Diego are fifty square miles of man-made lakes affording sport and pleasure, and unlimited pure, sparkling rain water for our rapidly growing community.

In the center of the residence district is fourteen hundred-acre Balboa Park, with its groups of stately buildings in a setting of semi-tropical shrubs and foliage, more beautiful than in the days of the Panama-California Exposition. Here some of the best exhibits remain intact and, like the daily afternoon concerts of the great out-door organ, are free to all.

At the zoo the birds enjoy our out-of-doors in the largest cages ever built, and even the lions and bears are housed in open grottos without bars or screens.

Hour after hour one will delight to stroll through this fairyland amid the bloom and fragrance of thousands of roses, to bask in the sun in the formal court of La Laguna de Las Flores, or to enjoy the shade of the great Cork Oak surrounded by all manner of new and tropical verdure.

Then, too, under the pergola overlooking beautiful Mission Valley with the First Mission in the distance, you will enjoy your ease, and wish as have all who have come before that you might remain here always.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand of us enjoy the exceptional advantages of San Diego throughout the year. On every train and every boat new families are arriving to join the happy throng.

These new arrivals are adding their capital to develop the opportunities existent here. Some are financing large office buildings; others are developing industries. One man built a cottonseed oil plant and the world's largest seed warehouse to store cottonseed grown in the great valleys back of San Diego. His profits have been enormous.

One man became so enthusiastic over the possibilities here that he interested the Southern Pacific Company, and together they spent eighteen million dollars building the San Diego & Arizona Railway, opening a new transcontinental route through gorgeous mountain and valley scenery and giving San Diego a new rail connection to tidewater.

The U. S. Government has spent more than twenty-five million dollars in San Diego for great training schools and other establishments, because of the extraordinary climatic conditions.

Does your opportunity exist here? Frankly, we do not know. We do know that newcomers with new capital are finding opportunity here. They are also finding the finest place on earth for every day happiness.

So we say to you as we have said to them, come to San Diego and look around. Come and browse about; spend here a few of the most delightful days of your life and see what you shall see; come for a week if you can, or a month or longer, but come. No one but you will ever know what opportunity awaits your discovery in San Diego. Your sojourn here, be it long or short, will be an adventure in happiness you will never forget. The splendid service and moderate prices of our modern hotels and apartments will delight you.

In Balboa-Park

Come tomorrow and let's get acquainted. Come by railroad, by boat or by motor over paved roads—and when you arrive come direct to San Diego-California Club headquarters at Second and Broadway, San Diego, and afford us the pleasure of welcoming you. You are cordially invited to visit our new store completely remodeled and furnished at Sixth and Main Streets, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March third, fourth and fifth, to help us celebrate the anniversary of our fifty-fourth year of commercial activity in the City of Los Angeles.

ANNOUNCING

1924 The finest store of its kind in America

In 1870 the vicinity surrounding the Plaza was the meeting place for all the Rancheros in Southern California. They came in from their ranches and discussed the different phases of their affairs and other subjects of interest. Among them, Isaac Lankershim could be seen visiting with I. N. Van Nuys; here and there were Jotham Bixby, George Carson, Manuel Dominguez, Domingo Amestoy, Juan Matias Sanchez, John Rowland, P. Banning, Louis Phillips, Alessandro Repetto and among the merchants and bankers were recognized Harris Newmark, I. W. and H. W. Hellman, R. S. Baker, John G. Downey, Chas. Ducommun, Jacob Haas, W. H. Workman and many others whose names are synonymous with the romance and progress of Los Angeles.

In this year of 1870 Eugene Germain arrived in Los Angeles, a pueblo of 5,728 persons, and became actively identified with the mercantile activities of the town in the firm of E. Germain & Co. Mr. Germain soon after his arrival established trading posts along the line of the Southern Pacific during its construction through Arizona.

In 1888 the name of E. Germain was changed to Germain Fruit Company and was located on Main Street near the old Mott Market. In 1898 The Germain Seed & Plant Company was established and moved to 326 South Main Street and later, in 1918 to 6th and Main Streets, with wholesale and executive offices in the Wholesale Terminal Building on Seventh Street.

Mr. Germain was a great lover of all plant life and the horticultural and agricultural development of our great Southern California is greatly due to his foresight, vision and love of the beautiful.*

Germain Seed & Plant Company, through its extensive alterations and remodeling, have brought into existence the finest store of its kind in America, a store devoted to the marketing of seeds of all kinds, plants, garden hardware, cut flowers, poultry supplies and art pottery. In addition, a large section of our store is devoted to canaries and other ornamental birds, gold fish and all their accessories, dogs, cats and pets of all kinds.

We are introducing at this time, our new Radio Department, which will be equipped to serve our clientele with everything in radio machines and radio equipment.

Every visitor to our store during the celebration of our 54th year of business activity in Los Angeles will be presented with a ticket which will entitle them to a chance of winning one of the following grand prizes:

$100.00—Dog, Boston Terrier
50.00—Cat, Persian
35.00—Roller Canary with Cage
25.00—Merchandise order for Plants and Seeds
15.00—Fish Bowl with Gold Fish
200.00—Various Prizes in Radio Equipment, to introduce our new Radio Department.

Drawing will be held on Saturday night, March 8th, at 9:30 o'clock at Germain's, Sixth and Main Streets.

*Material for this history of the time of Mr Germain's advent into Los Angeles business life was gleaned from Harris Newmark's "Sixty Years in Southern California, 1853-1913"

HEARING RESTORED OFTEN IN 24 HOURS

Amazing Results Secured In One Day By Use of Virex Formerly Known As Rattle Snake Oil.

Deafness and Head Noises need not be dreaded any longer since the discovery of a widely known physician. Now it is possible for some of the most obstinate cases of deafness to be relieved in a day's time by the application of a prescription formerly known as Rattle Snake Oil. This treatment is meeting with wide success all over the country.

Mr. D. Dey a Nebraska resident, 87 years old, says, "I have used the treatment for only two weeks and my hearing is restored perfectly. The relief was almost instantaneous and now the head noises have disappeared. My catarrh, a case of many years' standing, is improving wonderfully."

Mr. Ben Jackson, who lives in Indiana says, "Before I used Virex I could hear nothing. After ten days I could hear my watch tick."

Angeline Johnson, a Mississippi resident, had been stone deaf for eighteen years. She says. "Virex has stopped my head noises and I can hear the train whistle 2½ miles away."

Roy Fisher, Iowa man, says, "I hadn't heard a watch tick for eleven years—now I can lay my watch on the table and hear it plainly."

Mr. W. A. Lumpkin, of Oklahoma, says, "After being deaf 38 years, I used your treatment only a few days and hear fairly well."

Mr. Anthony Chapman, of Michigan, says, "The terrible head noises have stopped entirely and my hearing is practically back to normal."

DEAF BABY NOW HEARS

Mrs. Ola Valentine, of Arkansas, says, "My little boy, now 5 years old, had been deaf since about 4 months of age. Now he hears very well and is learning to talk."

Mr. Mather Pelleys says, "My young son, deaf for years, has used Virex for only three days and he hears almost as well as ever before."

Such amazing reports come from all over this country and Canada. The prescription which is known as Virex, is easily used at home and seems to work like magic in its rapidity on people of all ages.

So confident are we that Virex will restore your hearing quickly, and to introduce this remarkable treatment to a million more sufferers, we will send a large $2.00 treatment for only $1.00 on ten days' free trial. If the results are not satisfactory the treatment costs nothing.

Send no money—just your name and address to the Dale Laboratories, 7999 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and the treatment will be mailed at once. Use it according to the simple directions. If at the end of 10 days your hearing is not relieved, your head noises gone entirely, just send it back and your money will be refunded without question. This offer is fully guaranteed, so write today and give this wonderful compound a trial.—[Advertisement.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"RHEUMATISM RELIEVED BY INTERNAL BATHS"

Mr. Ira E. Shambaugh of 732 Julian Ave., Dubuque, Iowa, writes the Tyrrell Hygienic Institute:

"I have used the 'J. B. L. Cascade' for two years and have no more trouble with rheumatism or my stomach. I feel like a new man although I am 68 years old."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

SURVEY SHOWS TRAFFIC NEEDS

Separation of Street Cars and Autos Advocated

Meeting to Hear Result of Check by Railway

Lack of Space Here Makes Situation Acute

With the number of automobiles in Los Angeles quadrupled in the past five years and with an increase of more than 100 per cent in stret-car riders during the same period, the overcrowded streets of Los Angeles face the necessity of some system for traffic separation which will permit more direct movement and fewer delays in motor vehicle and electric street-car operation, according to an analysis made by George Baker Anderson, manager of transportation, of the Los Angeles Railway, from a detailed check covering ninety blocks in the downtown district.

The traffic situation in Los Angeles and possible means of improvement, as shown by the analysis, will be presented this week to electric railways of the United States and Canada at the semi-annual convention of the American Electric Railway Association in St. Louis. Traffic regulation in large cities will be the general topic of the convention and the Los Angeles situation will occupy foremost attention as a result of the extensive checking and investigation that has been made here recently. Mr. Anderson is a member of the traffic regulation committee of the electric railway organization.

CHECK IS MADE

The extensive use of the Los Angeles streets is shown by a count made December 19, 1923, which was considered an ordinary business day. The check covered the area bounded by Temple, Figueroa, Pico and Los Angeles streets and showed a total traffic movement from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. of 262,110 private automobiles, 48,556 trucks, making a total of 311,666 motor vehicles of all kinds. The check showed a movement of 12,025 street cars in the twelve-hour period.

During the rush hour from 5 to 6 p.m. checkers counted 34,449 automobiles and trucks moving and 1436 street cars. The average street car load for this period was 77.7 passengers and the average automobile load for the same period was 1.67 passengers, including drivers. To transport in automobiles at the rate of 1.67 passengers each, the load of one rush hour street car with 77.7 passengers, would require forty-seven automobiles which would make a line 660 feet long.

MANY ON CARS

In the area checked 9.8 per cent of the roadway, allowing four feet outside of the outer rails for clearance, is all that is used by street cars and then only when automomiles and trucks are not using the tracks. Although occupying only one-tenth of the roadway, the street cars carried 90 per cent of the people who rode through the 90-block area.

With the use of street space increasing at a rapid rate, Los Angeles faces a situation which is more acute than in other large cities because of a small percentage of street space in the downtown district. A survey showed that 21.5 per cent of the downtown area of Los Angeles is devoted to street space while in Washington it is 44 per cent and in Cleveland 39.5 per cent. Other cities which have a greater percentage of street space in the downtown district than Los Angeles include St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle, San Diego, Pittsburg, Portland (Ore.), Detroit, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City and Toledo.

STREETS FOR AUTOS

As a means of relief, one of the first steps advocated by the street railway, from the showing of traffic check, is that certain streets be set aside for the exclusive use of automobiles with such regulation as will permit fast movement and that certain other streets be devoted to protected street car operation where movement will not be delayed by the mixing of motor vehicle traffic on the tracks. The separation of motor vehicle traffic into two classes, slow moving and rapidly moving vehicles with maximum speed requirements for the commercial vehicles and a minimum speed for the fast vehicles on boulevards set aside for gasoline travel, is another feature proposed.

Installation of raised safety zones which would permit automobiles to keep moving when street cars stop but at the same time give adequate protection to street-car riders, is advocated.

WOULD BAR TURNS

Other recommendations are that all left turns in the heavily congested district be eliminated and that this include turns out of alleys, garages and parking places; a width limit for commercial vehicles; prohibiting the use of streets in the central business district by trucks, delivery wagons and horse-drawn vehicles during the hours of heaviest mass transportation, and examination of all applicants for a license to operate motor vehicles.

More than one million passengers are using the street cars of the Los Angeles Railway daily and the loss of time to the million due to promiscuous mixing of individual automobiles and the street cars providing mass transportion, is producing a situation which demands the foremost attention in traffic regulation, the analysis concludes.

BREAK GROUND SOON FOR COLLEGE BUILDING

Architects' plans for the new women's building at Occidental College, the funds for which were given the institution by William M. Orr, are nearing completion rapidly and ground for the new structure will be broken soon. The building, which is to serve as a memorial to the late Mrs. Orr, will cost about $400,000. Mr. Orr has donated $150,000 for the first unit.

Mr. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. William Benson of Passaic, N. J., Miss Jane Benson and President and Mrs. Bird will study a number of model dormitories on the Pacific Coast before the building is started. They will leave today on a trip to inspect dormitories.

Compensation Opposition Answers Attack on Loyalty to American Ideals; Law Committees Formed

"A large number of Ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus League members are also members of the American Legion or other veteran organizations and are doing their share of the work in those posts," declares Ray T. Williams, director of the Los Angeles Unit of the Ex-Service Men's Anti-Bonus League, in answer to the charge that some are making that the purpose of the League is to disrupt the American Legion and other veteran bodies.

"Nothing is further from the purpose of the league," continued Williams. "The suggestion that the league members who do not belong to the Legion or other veteran organizations join the Legion and aid in the work of those bodies in activities that do not have to do with the bonus issue is meeting with favor throughout the nation. In fact, the national organization of the league is not unfavorable to this policy, and it heartily sanctions the program of the Legion and other former service organizations for hospitalization, Americanization, rehabilitation, and the like.

ISSUF DECISIVE

"At no time has the Los Angeles unit of the league fought the Legion or other veteran bodies on any proposition except on the bonus issue, and the league members on the issue merely assumed the rgiht, irrespective of the Legion, to exercise their privilege to express their honest conviction and organize to carry it out. At the same time we do not question the right of Legion members to express themselves according to their convictions.

"The most effective help the league can render the disabled veteran is by settling once and for all the bonus activity of the ex-service men. In all other welfare, hospitalization and Americanization work, we can co-operate wholeheartedly with the Legion and other organizations.

"Therefore league units all over the country will plan to form a committee which shall have responsibility for its work and be in close touch with the welfare of the local Legion post. The track should be cleared of bonus legislation, except as to the States, for the able-bodied, and attention should be focused on the welfare of the disabled veteran throughout the nation; and also on recommendations for reforms in the Veterans' Bureau. The wounded must and shall be taken care of properly.

MEMBERSHIP GAINS

"A national legislative committee has been formed by the league and is giving careful consideration to all questions pending before Congress in any way relating to ex-service men, according to advices from national headquarters. This committee will recommend or disapprove measures to the units so that the league can take steps accordingly. Local or unit legislative committees will be formed to look after legislation in States. It will be the part of the State committees to co-operate with the other veteran organizations to the end that good, wholesome statutes touching the welfare of the veteran may be enacted."

The Los Angeles unit of the league has a membership in excess of 500 now and is growing apace. It is one of the largest in the country. The new plan of campaign is expected to yield 1000 members by the end of March, according to Williams.

INCREASES IN CITY SALARIES ADVISED

FINANCE COMMITTEE BACKS SEVERAL RAISES FOR EMPLOYEES

The following recommendations for raises in the salaries of city employees have been made by the Finance Committee of the City Council and will be acted on by the Council tomorrow:

H. H. Kinney, private secretary to Mayor Cryer, is recommended for a raise from $275 to $325 a month; Chief Deputy City Auditor Chester C. Ashley is recommended for a similar raise; Deputy City Auditor and Chief Accountant Francis Marshall is recommended for a raise from $265 to $315 a month; Chief Deputy City Treasurer A. J. McPherrin is recommended for a raise from $275 to $325 a month; City Purchasing Agent Thomas A. Oughton is recommended for a raise from $300 to $350 a month, and M. M. Meyers of the Engineering Department is recommended for a raise from $215 to $250 a month.

Recommendation has been made to the Finance Committee of the Council by City Clerk Dominguez that the salary of Oscar Upright, his cashier, be made equal to the salaries of cashiers in the City Treasurer's department. Upright has been an employee of the city for twenty-five years.

International Silk Sale
The Silk Sale that took the town by storm last fall and will repeat its success this Spring

The International Silk Sale is a world wide affair, embracing silks from Europe, Asia and America. The May Co. and their associate stores hold these sales twice a year, and their combined buying power and resources makes these the outstanding silk events of the year. Among the values we note:

4.00 Canton Crepe 2.65
Lustrous, heavy and of a soft quality that drapes gracefully. In the modish black and all the most-asked-for street shades. 40-inch.

2.00 to 3.00 Chiffon Taffetas, 1.75
Plain colors or the wanted two-tone effects. The former in all the "good" street and evening shades; the latter in a full range of colors. Yard wide.

Imported Pongee, 85c
Much liked 12-momme quality in the natural color. Very satisfactory weight for lingerie, as well as for sport dresses. 32-inch.

2.50 Tricosham 1.95
A truly beautiful fibre knit weave, as handsome as it is practical. Firmly knit. Cool for summer wear. All street shades. Yard wide.

3.00 Satin Charmeuse, 1.75
Black only. Good weight in rich, lustrous face charmeuse. 40-inch.

6.00 'Frost Krepe' 4.85
Cheney Bros.' matchless quality "frost krepe" in all full color range of street and evening shades, and white and black. 40-inch.

4.00 Black Charmeuse, 2.45
This will make the smartest of Spring frocks — for it is a favored "color" and fine quality. Satin face. 40-inch.

3.50 Flat Crepe, 2.85
Outstandingly popular, this weave, and in a weighty quality with very pretty sheen. All shades of Spring and Summer. 40-inch.

3.50 Marinette Silk Crepe de Chine, 1.95
3400 yards of this—one of the best known crepes de chine in America. Pure silk with wide satin edge. 40 inches.
All the desired street and evening shades.

5.00 to 7.50 New Sport Silks, 3.65
1750 yards of beautiful silk and wool, and silk and fibre sports weaves. Stripes, brocades, jacquard bordered effects, printed novelties and plenty of white. Excellent heavy quality, 38 and 40-inch widths.

3.50 Printed Tricosham and Bombay Crepes, 1.95
Two of the most popular fibre knit weaves—practical for sports and traveling dresses—printed in smart new designs and colors. 36-inch.

4.00 Satin-face Canton Crepe, 2.65
Wonderfully heavy quality—and in the satin face finish most worn just now. A complete range of Spring colors. 40-inch.

Marigold Crepe, 1.35
The newest of the fibre knit weaves, soft, clinging—well adapted to straight Spring lines. All new shades and the ever-popular ones, including black and white. 36 inches.

1.50 Tubing Tricolette, 95c
Plain and fancy tricolette tubing. All the delicate lingerie tints. Yard wide.

3.50 Canton Crepe, 2.25
All-silk canton in a good weight, with a pretty crepe finish. Full color range, including black and white. 40-inch.

Printed Honan Pongee, 1.45
New designs and colors on a very desirable grade of pongee. A price much reduced. 32-inch.

Colored Honan Pongee, 1.45
Washes like linen—most serviceable as a Summer dress and skirt fabric. All street shades, white, natural and black. 32-inch.

3.00 and 3.50 Printed Silk Crepes, 2.45
1924 Spring styles and color combinations in completed range. Satisfactory weight — all silk—beautifully printed. 40-inch.

3.50 Russian Crepe, 2.45
Fashionable silk and wool weave, perfect for sport clothes or street wear—both in weight and color range. 38 and 40-inch.

2.50 Black Chiffon Taffeta, 1.45
One of the season's most wanted silks is this soft, yet crisp taffeta. Rich lustre. Yard wide.

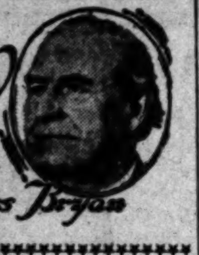
Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

by William Jennings Bryan



Israel's First King

Text for Today's Bible Talk by Mr. Bryan

(I Samuel xv, 13-23)

And Samuel came to Saul: and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the Lord; I have performed the commandment of the Lord.

And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

And Saul said, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed.

Then Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

And Samuel said, When thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel, and the Lord anointed thee king over Israel?

And the Lord sent thee on a journey, and said, Go and utterly destroy the sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them until they be consumed.

Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of the Lord, but didst fly upon the spoil, and didst evil in the sight of the Lord?

And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the things which should have been utterly destroyed, to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

And Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.

For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king.

ISRAEL'S FIRST KING

The children of Israel clamored for a king.

"Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah.

"And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways; now make us a king to judge us like all the nations."

It will be noticed that three reasons are given: The first was that Samuel was old, the second that his sons did not walk in their father's ways, and the third was that their children of Israel wanted to be like all the nations.

We are not able to estimate the relative weight of the three reasons. The first, however, could not have been the most important, because age is to be expected, and God had always raised up a new prophet and judge to take the place of the one who preceded him.

SAMUEL'S BAD SONS

The faults of Samuel's sons may have contributed materially to the dissatisfaction of the people; that a man so upright as Samuel should have had children so disobedient and so unsatisfactory was calculated to excite criticism. The partiality that led the father to continue them in spite of their misconduct may have aroused a fear that he would try to make one of them his successor. But it is probable that the third reason was most influential; it is the only one repeated after Samuel's warning.

They were a peculiar people different from the nations about them. They relied for guidance upon an invisible God speaking through his prophets, while the nations around about had visible rulers who could lead them in battle and execute the laws, crude as they may have been. God told them through Samuel what a king would do, and it was as faithful a picture of the unlimited monarchy as was ever painted. It reads as follows:

THE WAY OF KINGS

"And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen; and some shall run before his chariots.

"And he will appoint them captains over thousands, and captains over fifties; and will set them to ear his ground, and reap his harvest, and to make his instruments of war, and instruments of his chariots.

"And he will take your daughters to be confectionaries, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.

"And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your oliveyards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants.

"And he will take the tenth of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give to his officers, and to his servants.

"And he will take your manservants, and your maidservants, and your goodliest young men, and your asses, and put them to his work.

"He will take the tenth of your sheep: and ye shall be his servants.

"And ye shall cry out in that day because of your king which ye shall have chosen you; and the Lord will not hear you in that day."

"THEY HAVE REJECTED ME"

Instead of being frightened away from their desire by the warning of the Almighty, spoken through Solomon, the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel and said:

"Nay; but we will have a king over us; that we also may be like all the nations; and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles."

Samuel was very much displeased, but God said unto him, "They have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me." But the Lord told Samuel to hearken unto their voice and make them a king.

God let them have their own way. Here we have the doctrine of free will very clearly stated.

A God all-wise, all-powerful and all-loving designed the world, and as God is infinitely wiser, stronger and more loving than man, he made the world on a plan infinitely better than any that man could have devised. He made man the commander in chief of all that is, and asked in return nothing but obedience to laws made by a loving Heavenly Father for man's good—laws that link man's happiness to his virtue and his prosperity to his righteousness—laws which, when obeyed, enable him to rise up and live upon the exalted plane to which He calls all His children.

WHAT GOD MIGHT HAVE DONE

But man is not compelled to obey these laws. If he were compelled to obey them, he would not be free.

Man might have been made perfect like the birds and the beasts—which live up to their possibilities. The birds are free from fault; they do all the work that is assigned to them. And so with the beasts. The horse is 100 per cent useful; the cow is as serviceable as a cow can be, and the pigs do their best. God might have put man in the same class and exacted from man the same obedience that He exacts from all other animate things.

But He did not. He made man "a little lower than the angels" and "crowned him with glory and honor." Man could not rise voluntarily without the power to fall; with freedom to worship God carried with it freedom to deny Him.

MAN'S POWER OF CHOICE

Rewards and punishments, blessings and cursings were set before man; he is allowed to choose the good with the rewards that are indissolubly joined to it, just as he may choose the wrong with the punishments that go with wrong doing.

Duty and reward, disobedience and punishment—these go in pairs. When a person chooses one he necessarily chooses the other, just as one chooses to be burned when he chooses to put his hand into the fire.

Some who have an excess of egotism—a superheated conceit—rebel against God's plan and imagine that they could have made a better world, or devised better laws for running it—a world in which one could revel at night without a headache in the morning—but they are powerless to change God's plan.

MODEST YOUTH GOES WRONG

Samuel, obedient to the will of God, proceeded to select Saul as King. He was a modest youth, of fine appearance, and began well, but in spite of constant advice from Samuel, he went wrong. Authority was too much for him; "It went to his head," as the saying goes, and he proceeded to show how easily a ruler can be corrupted by power.

After Saul had led the people in a successful campaign Samuel called Israel together and had Saul's selection confirmed by a plebiscite. Then Samuel delivered a wonderful farewell address, which has been a model for retiring officers, although not all of them have been able to secure such a unanimous approval of the public service.

The lesson text deals with an incident in the life of St. Paul which may seem very trivial in the eyes of critics, but shows in a very emphatic way how stern are God's requirements.

SAUL DISOBEYS GOD

Saul waged war against the Amalekites. He was told to fight against them until they were consumed. Instead of obeying the letter of the law, he undertook to construe it according to his own purposes and plans.

He saved King Agag, of the Amalekites. It could not have been out of any sympathy for Agag; it may have been pride; he may have wanted to exhibit him in triumph to the children of Israel chained in the rear of a triumphal procession. Saul also saved some of the spoil, sheep and oxen.

When Samuel carried to him the Lord's rebuke he reminded Saul of what God had done for him: "When thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel?"

SAUL'S HYPOCRITICAL EXCUSE

He had been lifted from obscurity to prominence. He had done nothing himself to win the great distinction that God had bestowed upon him, but instead of being content to do what he was told, he did as man is quite prone to do—he substituted his own judgment for the judgment of his commander-in-chief.

He did worse; he attempted to justify himself. He even offered a hypocritical excuse, saying that the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the things which should have been destroyed, to sacrifice unto Jehovah. Then follows a rebuke that stands out as one of the gravest in the Old Testament.

The whole record of God's dealing with the children of Israel, a chosen people, is instructive. It sets forth in the light, and graphically describes God's dealing with his children. His law is the same today; His rewards and His punishments are the same, as severe and as sure as they were in the days of old.

"TO OBEY IS BETTER"

But today we do the interpreting ourselves, and we do not always interpret them aright, or draw from them the lessons they are intended to teach. Hence, the value of this photograph of God's government and God's court.

It would be inspiring if we had a perfect portrait of the great prophet as he stood before Israel's king and hurled in his face the divine judgment that he was commanded to deliver: "Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams."

God's laws are from everlasting unto everlasting. His plan is an unchangeable plan; obedience is the key that unlocks the Beatitudes and permits man to enter into the heaven above and into the heaven that will come on earth when His will is done here as it is done in heaven.

THE SIN OF STUBBORNNESS

The truth that Samuel uttered was so important that he phrased it in still another sentence: "For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry." No excuse could be offered; the sin was deliberate and the sinner unrepentant. Then follows the decree: "Thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath rejected thee from being king over Israel."

Few lessons are more practical. Every human being at every age in life should take to heart the words of Samuel to Saul, because in every heart is the tendency to sin.

Pride, against which Christ so often and so earnestly warned his disciples and the multitudes, is always lurking near. Humility is one of the greatest of the virtues and one of the most difficult to cultivate. Some one has said that when one becomes humble he must be on his guard lest he become proud of his humility.

TEMPTATION TO PRIDE

In proportion as one acts in a representative capacity, and serves in a large way, just in that proportion is the temptation to pride increased.

The Christian's strength is not in himself; it comes from above in answer to prayer; too often the source is forgotten and one becomes boastful of borrowed power, as if it were his own.

Beginning with the consciousness of weakness that inspires petitions for strength one is apt to become forgetful and treat the gifts of the Heavenly Father as if they came from and were a part of himself. Obedience to God and to the heavenly vision is our duty and should be our greatest pleasure.

MAN MUST FACE TRIAL

Misrepresentation Charged in Oil Station Sale

W. A. Bosten yesterday was held to answer by Justice Ballard on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The accusation resulted from the sale of the Oil Super-Service Station at 7501 South Alameda to J. P. Cackler of Fresno for $3500. Cackler asserts he was sold the station under misrepresentations that it was making much money. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas represented the prosecution and John L. Richardson the defendant.

Old Man's Advice Is Great Hel

Suffered Terribly With Gas On Stomach One Doctor Said Appendicitis

"I had pains in my side and would bloat up terribly after each meal. One doctor said I had appendicitis. My neighbor, an old man, told me to take Adlerika (intestinal antiseptic) and the first bottle helped me and after taking six bottles I am permanently relieved." (Signed) F. G. Konkle.

A Treacherous Disease.

Appendicitis attacks at any moment even persons seemingly in good health. Usually, however, it is preceded by so-called stomach trouble, constipation or similar disturbances. Often when there is a warning feeling of uneasiness in the abdomen, appendicitis can be guarded against in the same manner in which one guards against the spread of throat infection, because that is just what appendicitis is—an infection in the intestines spreading to the appendix. When one has sore throat, one can often prevent further trouble by using an antiseptic wash or gargle to fight the germs and a laxative to carry off the poisons from the body. The same procedure is necessary to fight the intestinal germs and guard against appendicitis. But instead of an antiseptic wash for the throat, an INTESTINAL antiseptic is necessary.

Intestinal Antiseptic.

There is now offered to the public a preparation having the DOUBLE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as Adlerika, acts as follows: It tends to eliminate or destroy harmful germs and colon bacilli in the intestinal canal, thus guarding against appendicitis and other diseases having their start here.

It is the most complete system cleanser ever offered to the public, acti

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

By the Sentry on His Beat

A student of politics could have discovered considerable material for reflection in the two conferences held a few days ago in San Francisco to indorse candidates for delegate to the Republican National Convention at Cleveland.

The first of the two was held by supporters of the Presidential candidacy of Senator Hiram Johnson and the second by those urging the nomination of President Coolidge. Each conference indorsed a complete ticket of twenty-nine candidates pledged to their respective standard bearers. Neither meeting was lacking in outward expressions of optimism and enthusiasm, nor in energy of oratorical effort. Each afforded opportunity for laudatory remarks and this opportunity was not overlooked.

But there was a difference between the two so wide and so fundamental as to give each candidacy an entirely separate and distinct aspect and spirit, the first being entirely concerned with personalities and antagonisms and the second with impersonal policies and principles.

The Johnson campaign in this State is advanced on a theory that, despite realities and facts, California must coddle his ego with a "favored son" vote. The Coolidge campaign is based on the assumption that the Republicans of the State, in harmony with the party in the nation, will support the national administration and the logical ambition of the President to succeed himself.

Among a score of the principle Johnson leaders in California The Watchman has found less than a half dozen who are willing to seriously challenge the assertion that Mr. Johnson's Presidential candidacy is a joke so far as his opportunity to gain the nomination is concerned. They admit, privately, that the Senator will not be the Republican nominee regardless of future developments. Yet they are no less clamorous for his nomination by the Republicans of California who are thus requested to participate in a farce that will deprive them of actual participation in a selection of a Republican nominee.

It is conceivable, of course, that Mr. Johnson's political stock, now so low, may advance a point or two if he makes a creditable showing in primaries in Eastern and Middle Western States. In fact this hope is virtually the only factor that sustains the Johnson campaign in California at the present time and, should it fade, many of the Johnson adherents themselves are advocating his graceful retirement in favor of the President.

This is the situation, in general terms, of the Republican Presidential contest in California nine weeks before the primary election.

The revolt against McAdoo, growing out of revelations at Washington as to large fees and personal influence, is spreading in Democratic ranks in this State where, it was hoped, he would have unanimous support. The discussions that arose in San Francisco yesterday when the Democratic State conference was held clearly indicate the disharmony that has arisen. Further trouble, it seems, is to be expected.

Due, possible, to a misconception on the part of thousands of voters in California, registration for the Presidential primary, May 6, is proceeding slowly. It should be known that all registrations expired December 31, 1923, and that no citizen is eligible to vote in any election during 1924 and 1925 until he registers again. Registrations for the Presidential primary will be closed after April 5.

While President Coolidge is attending to the nation's business and while Senator Shortridge is looking after California's interests in the Senate, Senator Johnson is pursuing his political aspirations in the Dakotas, as usual in a critical, destructive and denunciatory mood. Opinion is divided as to whether he will remain out of California until after May 6, or will return here for one last, supreme effort to regain his lost prestige. It was the Senator's intention, originally, according to some of his local advisors, to take no personal part in the California contest. Now the story is going about that he will spend the last two or three weeks of April here and that he will conduct a speaking tour throughout the State in which all previous records for Johnsonian invective will be outdone.

Plans of the Coolidge workers here will not be changed, they say, by the Senator's absence or presence. The Coolidge campaign has been conducted from the first along constructive lines that have not touched upon other candidacies or candidates. This policy is to be continued. Speakers prepared to discuss all phases of the big issues placed before Congress by the President's message will address both partisan and nonpartisan gatherings in all parts of the State and the Coolidge headuarters in San Francisco and Los Angeles will attempt to effect direct contact with the individual voter either through literature or by personal interview. Thousands of Republican men and women have volunteered to serve the party cause and are being enlisted for active work.

The active interest of California women in the Coolidge candidacy is one of the big developments of the 1924 campaign and this interest has by no means been confined to mere good wishes, but has taken the form of energetic activity in the President's behalf. On every occasion that has offered them an opportunity the women of this State have indicated their wholehearted approval of and appreciation for the Disarmament Conference that, for the first time in many years, leaves the Pacific Coast of the United States free of forebodings of war. And any question as to the hearty indorsement given the World Court by California women may be settled by interviewing a few of them in any city, town or hamlet in the State.

The Prohibition party in California, it is said, plans to indorse a Presidential ticket, and it is further intimated that this ticket, because of the President's specific reference to a need for rigid enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, may be the Coolidge ticket.

Although the Presidential contest has first place in political activities and interests, those directly concerned with affairs of the Legislature are busily engaged in scrutinizing potential or actual legislative candidates. Hostility of the knights of the pork barrel for the frugal regime inaugurated and maintained by Gov. Richardson is making itself apparent through the activities of the so-called Progressive Voters' League, an organization largely consisting of the salvaged portions of the old Johnson-McCabe machine. It is the hope of the leaguers to be able to elect a sufficient number of patronage-starved politicians to wreck the Governor's retrenchment program next January and to follow this up by placing a Governor in Sacramento who will be more generous with the people's money in 1927.

There are a number of candidates for this attractive task. So many, in fact, that they are treading upon the toes of fellow-aspirants. Some sincere folk are intrigued by a report that Senator Johnson himself, if left out in the cold in connection with his Presidential ambitions, may try to drown his sorrows in another try at the Governorship. Such persons, in the opinion of the Watchman, do not realize how difficult it is for the average voter, to wax enthusiastic over an office-seeker who has been unsuccessful in his search.

A few years ago an editor of a newspaper in Berkeley knew and supported a young man who had original ideas concerning police administration. The editor was Friend W. Richardson, now Governor of California, and the young man was August Vollmer, now Chief of Police of Los Angeles. August calls Friend, Friend, and Friend calls August, August. All of which may or may not lend significance to persistent reports that the Governor is somewhat insistent that Mr. Vollmer accept appointment as warden of San Quentin penitentiary when Warden Johnson leaves that post. However, Mr. Vollmer has a bigger job here. He is filling it and indicates that he will keep on filling it.

JAPANESE BEAUTY COMING

Professor, and Wife Hailed as Island Empire's Fairest, to Open Museum of Art Here

VICTORIA (B. C.) March 1.—Kiku Terao, acclaimed as the most beautiful of Japanese women, arrived on the Empress of Russia en route to Los Angeles with her husband, Prof. Thaig Conroy, late of the staff of the Imperial Staff College of the Japanese Navy.

For two years a controversy had raged in Tokio as to which of the two most famous women in Japan, Kiku Terao or the Baroness Kujo of the imperial court, should be awarded the palm for beauty. In the end Kiku won.

Kiku, whose name translated means chrysanthemum, is a member of one of the oldest families in the land of cherry blossoms. It was founded 800 years ago, when an ancestor, Sakae Terao, endowed a Buddhist temple in Tokio and shortly afterward became physician to the Emperor. Kiku has inherited the right to wear a miniature temple as insignia on the robe she dons for state occasions.

The reigning beauty of Japan is a close student of the metaphorical symbolism of flowers, a diversion which all ladies of the Nipponese nobility love. She is an accomplished harpist and loves grand opera. The piano, however, she dislikes, styling it a "thumping" instrument.

Her husband is a noted authority on oriental languages, art and religion. During the war, while he was serving in France as an officer of hte Royal Naval Air Service, he lost a large fortune invested in Russian securities.

He has with him on his travels a large trunk full of Russian rubles, which he says he is keeping as a little memento. He plans to open a musuem of Japanese art in Los Angeles.

During the earthquake Prof. Conroy was in Yokohama and his wife in Tokio. He escaped from the city and walked to the capital, to find his wife prostrated with grief over the death of her father, who was burned alive. Prof. Conroy saved a piece of the skull and buried it with the ceremony which Buddhism demands from its adherents.

Why The Good Word on BALLOON TIRES IS GOODYEAR

Goodyear makes both kinds of Balloon Tires—

1. For use on new small diameter wheels
2. For use on the wheels now on your car

If you are buying a new car—or if you are equipping your present car with small diameter wheels in order to provide sufficient fender clearance—you can get Goodyear Balloon Tires in the 20- and 21-inch rim sizes.

In most cases, the wheels now on your car provide sufficient fender clearance to permit of using Balloon Tires, and in such cases you can get Goodyear Balloon Tires that fit your present wheels.

If you can use these interchangeable types of Goodyear Balloon Tires, Goodyear saves you the expense of wheel and rim changes.

Remember, both kinds of Goodyear Balloon Tires are of genuine Goodyear quality. The name "Goodyear" on them guarantees that they are of correct design and proper construction to yield maximum economy.

Complete information on Goodyear Balloon Tires is now available in convenient form; simply mail the coupon and an authoritative booklet will be sent you free

The Right Size for Your Car

This table shows you what size interchangeable Goodyear Balloon Tires can be fitted to your present wheels and rims. In the left hand column are ordinary tire sizes; in the right, the Goodyear Balloon Tire sizes by which your present tires may be replaced.

30 x 3½* inch	31 x 4.40 inch
31 x 4 "	32 x 4.95 "
32 x 4 "	33 x 4.95 "

ECONOMIC AND MARKET REVIEW

Reaction and Dullness Mark February Trading

Trade Reports Optimistic; Copper Situation

Bond Offerings Small; Local Stocks Strong

BY HERBERT R. JACKSON
(Howard G. Rath Company)

True to tradition, the month of February was marked by a reaction in security prices, followed by a period of dullness affording small incentive to either buy or sell stocks. Prices had had a sustained rise, beginning toward the close of October and enduring for upward of three months. The subsequent reaction was purely technical in character, though aided and abetted by the investigation at Washington and inability of the various Congressional blocs to agree on a constructive tax-revision program. During this period most stock market advice was, as usual, noncommittal, or confined to the oft repeated "buy on dips and sell on a rise."

As a matter of fact, fundamental conditions showed little or no change. Conditions were and are entirely sound. The rally which came on Thursday of this week, and which appears to mark a turning point was attributed to news from Washington that a compromise on the tax-erduction program is in sight. The real truth of the matter seems to lie in the fact that the market had been heavily oversold and cautious short covering grew into a pronounced buying movement which, combined with the seasonal buying, incident to this time of year promises to carry average prices four or five points higher in the next few weeks.

TRADE REPORTS GOOD

Passing of the dividend by Anaconda Copper caused a temporary depression which resulted in the coppers being divided into two groups the low-cost producers remaining firm while the high-cost producers waned in popularity. When the dividend on Inspiration was passed it caused little more than twice dividends, current earnings being amply in excess of requirements. It is pointed out however, that higher prices for copper metal may be expected in the near future.

In the light of subsequent developments in the copper group, the strong rise of two weeks ago appears to have been a carefully engineered plan of distribution of stocks by interests which had anticipated the action of Anaconda and Inspiration.

In direct contrast to the coppers, reports from other sources of trade are particularly good. The United States Steel Corporation is reported to be operating at 93 per cent of capacity. Retail trade reports are extremely satisfactory. Mail-order and chain-store organizations are enjoying splendid business. January marked a new high record for the season of the year, showing an increase of 13.50 per cent over January, 1923. At the same time, it is reported that merchants are carrying approximately 14 per cent more merchandise in inventory than a year ago. February railroad earnings will be very good, reflecting increased freight traffic.

Some stocks are high, but there is ample room for a further advance, notably in the oils, rails and steels. The long trend of stock prices is undoubtedly optimistic, though cross currents may be at work temporarily. Brokers' loans are down and money conditions will continue to favor market operations.

OILS STILL GOOD

There can be no doubt that the price of oil and gasoline is destined to go higher attaining at least the average of 1923. Oil stocks should move in proportion and are probably in a major upward movement. While there may be few real bargains among the oils, there is still room for a substantial advance, subject of course to corrective reactions from time to time.

LOCAL STOCKS STRONG

While the annual report of Goodyear Tire & Rubber California will not become available until the annual meeting of stockholders during March, the strength of the stock which attained a high of 90 1-2 reflects the statements issued by eastern tire companies in recent weeks. Few tire companies have bank loans of any consequence and earning power has been restored. It is expected that the formal statement of Goodyear, showing material reduction in the debt to the parent company will compare favorably with the showing of other companies.

Union Oil Associated was another stock to show marked strength, selling above 56. A comparison of California oil companies and earning power as related to market value of outstanding securities reveals Union in an enviable position. This combined with the sentimental attraction of the stock has had something to do with the recent demand. Los Angeles Investment showed a tendency to gain, but no special significance attaches to the move.

Bank stock quotations were for the most part unchanged. The most active was Security, but Citizens is being watched with interest because of the subscription rights which expire in the near future. Outstanding stock of Citizens National is about to be doubled. Holders are to receive a 50 per cent stock dividend and at the same time have the right to subscribe to another 10 per cent at $300 a share.

BOND OFFERINGS SMALL

Several new bond issues made their appearance in the past week but were small in the aggregate and readily absorbed by the investing public. The amount of new United Oil Company First Mortgage 7's was decidedly limited, it being reported that stockholders of the Company had made large commitments, partly because of the convertible feature through which the bonds will constitute a call on the stock. The same feature, convertibility, is proving popular in many issues notably in Maxwell Motor Corporation 7 per cent debentures which were offered at 98 and interest to yield 7.25 per cent.

These debentures are convertible into the Class "A" stock at $75 a share. Maxwell "A," by the way was recently a market leader, at the time a merger with Studebaker was discussed. This discussion was again brought to light during the past week, resulting in renewed activity.

DAILY TRADE TALK

BY CHAPIN HALL

February was a bad month for the pessimists.

Bank clearings increased 32 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago. Building permits exceeded $16,000,000, an increase of $4,000,000 over February, 1923. Postal receipts were 21.41 per cent greater.

These are basic statistics. It is impossible to successfully go behind the returns. The figures stand for increasing business, additional population, an advancing city. They are too decisive to warrant negative argument.

Besides these official figures it is permitted to predict a retail turnover in excess of any other February on record. Also a larger output of manufactured articles, and the launching of more new business enterprises. The final summary may show fewer failures. It will certainly reveal a larger volume of homeseekers.

The investment market is stronger. The bank situation is good. Credit continues easy with some contraction due to drouth conditions which constitute the fly in the ointment of trade perfection.

At large there has been increased activity in basic industries. Demand for iron and steel is good, and car loadings, another elemental evidence of general conditions are reaching out for new records during a season usually marked in the charts by a descending line.

Building activity is not confined to the Los Angeles metropolitan district although it finds its greatest expansion here. The volume throughout the country is said to be in excess of the corresponding season for any preceding year.

The automobile industry is producing at a higher rate than ever before at this time of the year, and although a percentage of this output is going into storage it is obvious that with the opening of the spring demand this surplus will melt away like a California high fog before the rays of a midday sun. In Los Angeles city there is a steady demand for new cars. This is less marked in the country districts where the lack of rain has a direct bearing upon the profits of the farmers.

Retailers are continuing their policy of hand-to-mouth purchasing which excellent transportation and delivery facilities make feasible. This reduces their tied up capital and will leave them in strategic position to take advantage of future developments. Had this policy not been in effect the open winter would have been much more disastrous in the way of seasonal overstocking than has been the case.

Planting is being delayed in Southern California in the hopeful expectation of late rains. This will defer crop maturity, and probably have a tendency to somewhat raise the food price level. Growers depend upon such increase to partially recompense them for smaller profits.

The trend of the stock and bond markets both at home and in other financial centers of the country is reviewed in other columns. The investment market is stronger while stocks are in a state of flux with a tendency on the part of the public to emulate Bre'r Rabbit until the tax-paying period has passed, and the oil investigation and legislative uncertainties have resolved themselves into something approaching a definite policy.

Fortunately the first Congressional vote on tax revision which disfigured the Mellon plan almost beyond recognition has given way to a more reasonable consideration of the subject and developments of the past week give assurance of a revenue measure which will more nearly approximate the ideas of Secretary Mellon and the President.

The foreign exchange market is still more or less scrambled and it is doubtful if anyone really understands the cause for the fluctuations which seem to defy intelligent analysis.

Germany has entered the market for California prunes and 14,000,000 pounds have been shipped to that country through Holland. Large quantities of holdover raisins have gone to the same destination, a welcome cleaning out of fruit bins that will make room for the new crop of 1924.

The regional conference held under the auspices of the American Bankers' Association in Los Angeles during the week was a great success. It provided a channel for the interchange of ideas and a clearinghouse of expression, all of which leads toward a more enlightened spirit of co-operative enterprise. The visiting bankers were impressed with the accomplishments of Los Angeles and pleased with the care and constructive ability with which the program was arranged and executed. The conference got as far as possible away from the technicalities of the trade of finance and functioned upon a broader and more human platform, which proved appealing to delegates, and which was much easier to "sell" to the public.

Foreign merchants are beating a path to the doors of American markets inquiring for the purchase of many commodities. Trade envoys of the United States reporting to the Department of Commerce have advised of trade openings in thirty-three countries.

Ireland wants to purchase bacon and cottonseed meal in fifty to 100-ton lots. A Colombian wants a buy dairying machinery for making butter and cheese and includes a request for 50,000 butter glasses. An opportunity for the sale of 10,000 jute bags lined with paraffine paper is reported from Danzig. Wales is in need of stripped pit props and inquires for 1000 to 1500 tons. Australia wants salmon and sardines in 100 to 300-case lots.

The many other inquiries range from choice poultry to baby carriages.

Want Blanket Insurance for Cotton Crop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW ORLEANS, March 1.—A $45,000,000 blanket insurance policy is to be written on all cotton stored in the public cotton warehouse here if the Dock Board which operates it can find any company or companies to do the underwriting. So far its advertisements haven't drawn a bid.

This is a new form of insurance so far as cotton is concerned, but it is not new in other communities. All the grain in the public grain elevator is covered by similar blanket insurance. It is admitted, of course, that the problem is simpler in the case of grain than it is in the case of cotton, because there are not the different grades and there is not the ownership of particular shipments.

The Dock Board advertised for this blanket insurance on cotton at the request of the cotton people, who say that it will mean a considerable saving of time and money.

Under the present system of individual insurance, a new policy must be taken out every time the cotton is sold, which happens on an average of twice for every bale before it is moved out of the warehouse. A copy of each new insurance policy must go to the bank advancing money on the cotton.

It is stated that the blanket insurance will save more than $100,000 a year in insurance premiums; that the exporter will save 33 cents a bale for cotton moving over the warehouse wharf, and the owner of the cotton will save 20 cents a bale for reinsurance every time the cotton is transferred while in storage.

President R. S. Hecht of the Dock Board thinks that in time it will be able to work out a plan that will be acceptable to the insurance companies.

COTTON GIVES GROUND BEFORE HEAVY SELLING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Professional bear attacks were highly successful in today's short session of the cotton market with the result that the list of active months lost from 89 to 98 points, October dropped 65 net, and spot was marked down 95 points to 28.25 cents.

The opening was about 38 points net lower and early selling by Liverpool interests and southern interests caused a violent decline afterward. Around 28.30 cents for May some profit-taking halted the decline temporarily, but in the latter trading the decline was again extended with leading professional operators decidedly reactionary in sentiment and predicting 25 cents for the May option. The close was at or just above the day's low.

Spot 28.25, off 95 points.

TO MEET IN PHOENIX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 1.—Prescott has been selected as the site of the next meeting of the Arizona Bankers' Association. This was determined upon at a late meeting here of the association's executive committee, which fixed the time at October 24-25. The same committee agreed on presentation to the next Legislature of modifications to the present law assessing bank stocks for taxation. President Walter W. Head of the American Bankers' Association will be in Arizona June 2 on his way to the annual convention of California bankers in Yosemite Park, and will be given a reception here.

Air Reduction Company Reports Year of Prosperity

Midwest Bankers Look This Way for New Ideas

Lumber Bonds and Preferred Stock Offerings

Net profits of the Air Reduction Company, Inc., which controls the California Cyanide Company, Inc., operating a plant near Los Angeles, were $2,138,023.07 for the year ended December 31, 1923, or the equivalent to $12.31 on the outstanding common stock of no par value. Earnings during the year were the best in the history of the company, according to President C. E. Adams's statement in the annual report.

Gross income in 1923 showed an increase of approximately 44 per cent over 1922. Final net profits after all charges and taxes showed an increase of 143 per cent. The outstanding funded debt was reduced from $2,034,250 to $1,075,600.

The plant of the California Cyanide Company began operations shortly before the end of the year. It manufactures hydrogen cyanide for the fumigation of citrus fruit trees in Southern California, and sodium and potassium cyanide, extensively used in the mining of precious metals, for case-hardening and electroplating.

The Air Reduction Company erected an oxygen plant at Baltimore, Md., during the year and placed it on production in April. Another was built in Sharon, Pa., which started operations in July. The capacity of the present oxygen plant in Cleveland was increased and a plant erected there for the production of argon. For 1924, the company plans to build new oxygen plants at Harrisburg, Pa., and Lima, O.

BANKING COMMENT

R. L. O'Hair, chairman of the board of the Central National Bank and Central Trust Company of Greencastle, Ind., who attended the First Regional Conference of Savings Banks here this week, states the middle-western bankers are looking to the Pacific Coast for the new ideas in the banking business.

"It has been the habit of the bankers in our section," he said, "to go to New York and Chicago for our features of service and advertising, but since the recent development of the banking business in California we find that the newer and more up-to-the-minute banking ideas are coming from Los Angeles and Southern California cities.

"It is very interesting to the bankers of the 'Old School' to study the modern banking systems as they are operated in this section and with the coming of keen competition in our own banking field there is a growing tendency on the part of the bankers of the Central States to accept and utilize the business building methods employed by your more progressive western banks.

Mr. O'Hair has been a banker for more than forty years in Indiana and is past president of the Indiana Bankers' Association. He is the guest here of his son, Robert H. O'Hair, assistant to the vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank.

LUMBER BONDS

Peirce, Fair & Co., is heading a syndicate composed of the First Securities Company, Security Company and Hunter, Dulin & Co., which offers tomorrow $3,500,000 Los Angeles Lumber Products Company first closed mortgage and collateral trust 7½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds due 1944, at 100 and interest to yield 7½ per cent.

The Los Angeles Lumber Products Company, with its subsidiaries, owns lumber mills, box factories and planing mills located at Los Angeles, Seattle and Graham Island, B. C. Its raw-material supply consists of the timber from 89,000 acres of virgin spruce, hemlock and cedar located on the sheltered shores of Masset Inlet, Graham Island, B. C., estimated to contain over 3,600,000,000 feet of merchantable timber. In the opinion of the timber appraisers for the company this is the most extensive and valuable tract of high-grade Sitka spruce in North America.

The logs are squared at the company mills on Graham Island, transported in the company's own ships to Los Angeles Harbor and there manufactured into lumber and boxes. Los Angeles and its contiguous territory is one of the best markets, it is said, in the country for the better grades of lumber and is an equally good market for the lower grades for box manufacturing.

The company also owns and operates through its subsidiary, the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydocking Corporation, a drydock ship [illegible] and general heavy machine shop business situated on a portion of its valuable leasehold of seventy acres on Los Angeles Harbor.

Earnings from all sources are estimated at $1,200,000 available for interest or approximately four and one-half times the annual interest requirements.

CELITE STOCK

Stevens, Page & Sterling are offering an additional block of The Celite Company 7½ per cent cumulative first preferred stock Class "A", at 100 and accrued dividend, to return 7½ per cent. The company owns and operates a manufacturing plant in Santa Barbara county near Lompoc, and has 2200 acres of diatomaceous earth a basic substance, minutely porous and practically pure silica. From this material is manufactured insulating, filtering and miscellaneous products which are marketed through the United States and Europe.

For the past five years, net earnings before depreciation have been at the rate of over six times the dividend requirements on the first preferred. In 1923, net before depreciation was eleven times the dividend requirements.

DIVIDEND PAYMENT

The directors of Metzler and Company of California have authorized a dividend at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on the outstanding preferred stock of the company for the semiannual period ending March 1, 1924. The company is specializing in first mortgage bonds on buildings.

Chemical Bonds Break

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Conflicting influences brought about considerable irregularity in today's brief bond market. Prices generally tended higher in response to the tax revision outlook although declines in Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7 1-2's with warrants and Wickwire-Spencer Steel 7's had an unsettled effect on the industrial list.

Resumption of conferences on the Virginia-Carolina situation caused further liquidation of the company's bonds.

Norfolk and Western convertible 6's, which had been subject to profit-taking after their recent burst of strength, resumed their advance with a gain of 1 1-4 points. Other high-grade railroad issues were strong.

Following are closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange, furnished by Logan & Bryan, 636 South Spring street:

PRODUCE MARKET IN SAN FRANCISCO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—There was practically no change in conditions on fruits. Oranges and apples continue in good demand locally, but there is very little export movement at this time. The market for asparagus was slightly weaker with the arrival of 363 boxes today.

Lettuce was in slower demand with further recessions in prices reported.

Receipts of peas from Imperial Valley and San Luis were heavier and dealers were cutting their prices in an attempt to interest buyers. Tomatoes moved slowly at slightly lower prices. Italian squash from San Diego sold at 1.50 to 1.75 per small box.

Fruits unchanged.

Asparagus, 15@24.

Lettuce, iced best large, 2.25; others, 1.75@2.00.

Peas, Imperial, 10@13 per lb.; San Luis Obispo, 20@22 per lb.

Tomatoes, Mexican, best, 3.00@4.00 lug.

Receipts: Flour, 1050 quarter sacks; wheat, none; corn, 1600 centals; potatoes, 1886 sacks; Onions, 1520 sacks; hay, 330 tons; hides, number, 2316; lemons and oranges, 2900 boxes; live stock, 280 head.

Hay and grain unchanged.

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUIT

NEW YORK, March 1.—Evaporated apples dull; prunes unsettled; apricots firm; peaches steady; raisins quiet.

NEW YORK CURB

Uneasiness in Oils

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Most interest in the curb market this week was concentrated in the petroleum issues, which continued to be affected by the results of the oil investigations. It was generally understood in the street that the conditions created had been effective in deterring further advances in crude oil, which had been looked for because of the known strength of the industry. At times some of the Standard Oil issues were under pronounced pressure and sustained substantial losses, but toward the end of the week a firmer tone developed, based on confidence that the investigations would soon lose force as a deterrent influence.

Prairie Oil indicated the general character of the trading in this group, first declining from 243 to [illegible] and after rallying 10 points, was again under pressure. Vacuum Oil, after falling from [illegible] to [illegible], also had a good rally, but the gain on this movement was not maintained. Borne and Scrymser had a wide range, falling 20 points, chiefly because of disappointment over the failure to announce a readjustment plan. Standard Oil of Indiana yielded about 3 points and many other issues declined from 2 to around 10 points. New Mexico Land was an exception to the weakness, moving up 1⅝ to 9, a new high record, following statements of arrangements for extensive new development work.

Industrial issues were fairly well held the greater part of the week. Motor stocks were heavy, Durant Motors being under special pressure.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 636 South Spring street.

BROKEN TRAM WIRE SETS FIRE TO CAR

Traffic on the Pacific Electric line between the city and the harbor was tied up for a short time yesterday when a trolley wire snapped and fell across the rear car of a freight train bound for the harbor, setting fire to it. The fire was not discovered until the train reached Compton. There it was extinguished by firemen. The car was filled with bales of old paper. Pacific Electric officials said that the damage was slight.

DULL WEEK ON HOME EXCHANGE

Prices Irregular With Oils Still in Public Eye

Industrials and Utilities Display Firmness

Bond List Fairly Active at Unchanged Prices

BY FRANK L. GARDNER
(Banks, Huntley & Co.)

Stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange during the past week were noticeably dull with no development of importance nor definite trend in evidence.

Prices were irregular, with the oil stocks still receiving most of the attention. A new high at 124 was recorded by Union Oil of California but Union Associates failed to reach its recent high of 56½ and fluctuated throughout the week between 54 5-8 and 56 1-4, closing around 55 1-4. In spite of the recent readjustment of prices on the prominent oil stocks, which now shows an average recession of 3 3-4 points from high levels, the Unions have displayed exceptional strength. Standard of California ranged between 64 1-4 and 62½, and Pacific between 54½ and 52½. Both stocks closed at about low for the week.

Shell Union at 18½ and Associated Oil at 31½ appear to hold attractive possibilities for further advance, if the current reaction is to be considered merely a temporary market unsettlement or technical reaction. Underlying conditions in the oil industry are sound and while advances in market quotations from present levels are likely to be slower, and certain reactions may be expected from time to time, the long-pull outlook for stocks of the better companies seems to be particularly favorable.

A fractional improvement was noted in United Oil and General Petroleum developed an irregular trend, fluctuating between 42 1-4 and 43 5-8 with a close around 42½.

Among the less prominent and cheaper priced oils a general improvement was shown with Palmer Union Preferred making the greatest advance. This stock moved up from around 16 cents to 20½ cents and closed firm at 20 cents. Mascot was in good demand around its former level, $1.10, and Mt. Diablo improved to 80 cents bid. United States Royalties remained steady at 23 cents, but Rio Grande lost 3 points more with sales at 90. Globe Petroleum also sagged from 7 to 6 cents, encountering little support at the lower level.

INDUSTRIALS; UTILITIES

Goodyear Tire Preferred registered a new high since discontinuing the dividend over three years ago, when sales were made at 90½. A strong demand at 90 with few offerings of stock was in evidence at the close and strong rumors are still in circulation in regard to resumption of dividends at an early date, possibly April 1. Goodyear Textile made only a moderate improvement with sales at 81, a basis to yield better than 8.60 per cent.

Transactions in Los Angeles Investment were in fair volume on a strong opening at $2.05 but rather heavy final quotations around $2. California Delta Farms maintained its former level of $7 and Globe Grain common developed weakness with sales at 55 and closed with a bid around 51.

Los Angeles Gas Preferred fluctuated narrowly between 90 1-4 and 90½ and Edison 7 per cent preferred between 103½ and 104. Edison Common was active around its former level, 101½, and Southern Counties Gas preferred remained steady at from 99½ to 100. San Joaquin Light and Power prior preferred sold at 97, ex-dividend $1.75 per share, on Friday, and the ordinary preferred, upon which a dividend of $1.50 regular plus $4.50 on account of arrearage is to be paid, sold yesterday at 89 on an ex-dividend basis. Buying of Yellow Taxi at improved prices was inspired by the announcement of a merger with "Brown and White."

BANKS, MINES, BONDS

With exception of a few sales of Security Trust at 314, fifty shares Bank of Italy at 228, ten Merchants National at 205 and about fifty Bank of America at 134, the bank stocks were inactive at substantially former quotations.

Buying of Richmond Copper again featured the mining group. This stock on favorable news from the property, made a brisk upswing from 12 to 15 cents, closing around 14. United American also was in stronger demand, moving up from 5 to 6½ cents. Selling pressure forced Telluride down to 19 cents and United Eastern was heavy around 90 cents.

Pacific Electric Railway First 5s, due 1942, featured the bond market during the past week with an advance of 2 points from 85 to 87 and Los Angeles-Pacific 5s, due 1931, an underlying issue, from 87 to 89, in anticipation of a favorable earnings statement for the year 1923. It is understood that the statement will show earnings better than for any period during the last ten years. The remainder of the bond list was fairly active with prices approximately unchanged. Bond volume was around $600,000.

WHEAT POOL DRIVE FOR NORTH DAKOTA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BISMARCK (N. D.) Mar. 1.—A drive has begun in North Dakota for co-operative marketing of wheat, with former Gov. Lowden of Illinois and Aaron Sapiro, California, promoters, leading the movement.

The plan of the Wheat Growers' Association is to be brought before farmers in all parts of the State. Under it farmers sign an agreement to market their wheat through the co-operative organization for five years, sales to be pooled.

Immediate relief of credit stringency among the stronger banks of the State was predicted by State Bank Examiner Semingson after he had examined the plan for a $10,000,000 Northwest aid private financing corporation. According to the examiner, the new corporation will relieve banks of assets, carried as "other real estate," which are sound, but cannot be liquidated at this time. Through rediscount arrangements the new corporation will be able to absorb many times its capital stock.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stocks fell under the usual Saturday restrictions yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, which resulted in narrow fluctuations in both the oils and mines. Buying appears to be at a minimum and selling operations are gaining favor, especially in the petroleum list.

Despite the announcement that the President would appoint special counsel to investigate Standard Oil holdings in California, the stock maintained an equilibrium at 62 1-2, unchanged from the previous day. Union Oil Associates slipped backward 1-4 to 55 1-4, and General Petroleum took the other direction with an advance of 1-8 to 42 1-2. United Oil scored a gain of the same amount to 29 1-4, and Globe Petroleum finished at 6 cents.

Transactions in mining stocks were mostly in Richmond Consolidated around 14 cents, Yellow Dog Extension at 23 and United American at 6 1-2. In the industrial list, Los Angeles Investment moved up 1-2 to 2.00, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred sold at 90.

Investment interest was manifest in Associated Oil 6's of 1935, the price rising 1-4 to 97 3-4. Holly Sugar 7's of 1937 sold up 1 point to 98, while Union of California 6's of 1926 scored a gain of 1 1-8 points to 101 1-8. The 6's of 1925 gained 1-4 at 100 1-4.

ORANGES

The market on California navel oranges remained practically unchanged the past week. In some instances higher prices were recorded on sizes 176s and larger, but the situation as a whole in both the auction and private sale markets shows little change over a week ago.

Four months of the 1923-24 California orange season have now passed. Total shipments for this period show more cars oranges moved than for the corresponding period last season.

The outside display season for the eastern dealers in fruits is now at hand. The grocer has his rack at the front of his store filled with fresh fruit. The peddler with his outfit is making the rounds of the houses, and last, but not least, the pushcart man with his load of fruit is to be seen in the most convenient locations where the busy throngs of the large cities are sure to pass. All this means a larger working force in pushing California oranges into the channels of consumption.

Dealers are not inclined to stock up on an easy market and there is no denying the fact that for several weeks past it has been strictly a buyers' market. With promise of open weather and the big consuming period at hand, however, the steady gains that have been made on best grades of navels are gratifying to shippers.

The interior markets are opening up in good shape and will soon be taking their full quota of navels. There is really nothing discouraging in the situation. The size question is bound to be troublesome throughout the balance of the season, but prominent shippers feel that unless some growers and shippers work their fruit off to market with a vengeance, with the possible idea of saving on icing charges, as icing must soon be resorted to, there is no reason why the market should not take on renewed strength.

F.o.b. California quotations on navels generally are as follows: Size 126s, $3.25; 150s, $3; 176s, $2.50; 200s, $2.25; 216s, $2; 250s, $1.75; 288s and smaller, $1.50. Best packs, established brands from various districts are being sold on the following basis: 100s, $3.75; 126s, $3.50; 150s, $3.25; 176s, $2.50; 200s and 216s, $2.25; 250s, $2; smaller sizes, $1.75.

LEMONS

There is a little better feeling in the market on California lemons this week, otherwise the situation is unchanged.

F.o.b. California quotations are on a basis of $2.25 for 360s size and $3.25 for 300s.

There are on hand and available for sale within the next thirty days at all United States ports approximately 48 cars of foreign lemons, as compared with 418 cars for the corresponding period last season, and 253 cars two years ago.

Oil Excitement Increases In New-Mexico as New Big Fields Come In Big, Shallow Wells

Wire reports state that the RATTLESNAKE-SHIPROCK structure drilled by the PRODUCERS & REFINERS CORPORATION has come in with a well good for 500 barrels or better.

The sand was found at only 800 feet. The oil is said to be similar in quality to HOGBACK crude, being almost 75% gasoline.

Operators Flocking in
The new strike, coming on the heels of the GYPSY CREEK strike of 50 barrels at 565 feet and the new LIEDECKER and SANBURG gassers, has created a new stampede for acreage in NORTHWESTERN NEW MEXICO.

Virgin Oil Empire
McKINLEY and SAN JUAN COUNTIES, New Mexico, according to many geologists, form the greatest remaining undeveloped oil area in America. Scores of other new fields are expected in this coming summer.

Good Leases in Demand
For months past geologists for the major companies and independent operators have been scouring the McKINLEY & SAN JUAN Counties for good structure. Large lease deals and many new locations have recently been reported.

Gamble for Fortune
Our geologists have reported to us that our McKINLEY CO. leases now selling at only $10.00 per acre are on good potential oil lands with defined geological structure. We have a few tracts left on the higher part of the structure, but they will not last long at present rate of selling. Ten-year producers 88-form leases, 15c annual rentals, now selling at only $10 per acre. Call, write or wire. Do not delay. Quick action is essential to best locations and greatest possible profits.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO IMPROVE

Recent Developments Have an Effect on Business

Tariff Changes Give Better Protection to Industry

Bankers Hold Convention; Petroleum Export

The following cable dealing with business and financial conditions in Mexico has been received by the Department of Commerce in Washington from Commercial Attache Dye, from where it was relayed yesterday to Los Angeles:

The capture of Vera Cruz and Guadalajara by Federal authorities had a distinctly favorable effect on business in general. While there has been no appreciable increase in the business cargo, the turnover is noticeably better. Better feeling and better payment of accounts is reported. Trade in all lines is still very slow, with the possible exception of machinery, sales of which have been maintained.

Vera Cruz was reopened to traffic February 12. Railway communications with Mexico City have been resumed, and part of the overstock of merchandise stored at the port is already moving to the capital, although some delay has been experienced, owing to conditions and to the increase of freight rates by 15 and 20 per cent, depending upon classification. Extensive tariff changes were decreed during February. The outstanding feature of these changes is the greater protection afforded Mexican iron and steel industry by withdrawing all export duties and increasing import duties on finished products. The effects of this ruling will be most keenly felt in mining industries, which are confronted with large import duties on all machinery and sulphuric acid.

In order to meet greatly increased current expenses, the government is collecting two month's advance taxes from all mining companies and from producers of spiritous liquors, as well as taxes in the Federal district. Collections are being effected, notwithstanding, on some products, and it is hoped enough reserve will be available to meet current demands.

A bankers' convention was held in Mexico City to consider ways and means of improving the banking situation, holding sessions the greater part of the month. Several important recommendations were made, the principal ones dealing with liberty of moratorium and promotion of banks established in 1916. Provisions were discussed for settlement of accounts due to and by these banks.

Petroleum exports for January were only 9,910,518 barrels, a decrease of over 8,000,000 barrels from December, largely due to the disturbed conditions and contingent military operations in the oil area. The textile industry continues to suffer difficulties from shortage of raw material, and although no important closings have been reported, rumored suspensions or partial shutdowns have started in threats by labor to take over mills if they close down. It is anticipated, however, that future trouble will be avoided, probably in view of large improvement in means of communication and distribution. Present indications point to a large laguna cotton crop.

ORGANIZERS BUSY WITH NEW BANK

Seaboard National Ready for Business May 15 in Financial District

"The economic law makes certain a great expansion in the international trade and commerce of America, and this expansion makes certain the future of Los Angeles as a great industrial and commercial city."

This was the statement yesterday of George L. Browning, chairman of the organization committee of the new Seaboard National Bank of Los Angeles in explanation of the attitude of the organizers of the new institution toward these important questions. Continuing he said:

"The welfare of the whole of America demands the expansion of her foreign trade and investments. The conditions prevailing throughout the world make certain this expansion will be largely westward. While New York will continue to dominate, a large share of this expansion and trade will be carried on from the Pacific side.

"Los Angeles, because of her closeness to the Panama Canal, her high type of citizenship, and other factors, is destined not only to be the leading financial, commercial and industrial city in western America, but also to be one of the world's important cities of foreign commerce and trade."

The Seaboard National Bank which is capitalized at $1,000,000, will open its banking headquarters May 15 at Nos. 612-614 South Spring street in the heart of the financial district. Organization offices are located at 411 Security building.

The organization committee consists of George L. Browning, banker; W. I. Gilbert, attorney; Andrew H. Blackmore, banker; Chas. H. Taylor, capitalist; J. B. Marrs, lumberman; Clinton E. Miller, investments; Horace Boos, president Boos Brothers restaurants; W. R. Ramsey capitalist; J. M. Browning, banker; Hugo Weil, investments; A. A. Maxfield, president Maxfield Company, wholesale dry goods; Henry J. Moline, secretary-treasury, Brodin Wholesale Millinery Co.; Nathan Newby, lawyer; Gen. B. H. Markham, investments; Dr. Henry Dietrich, child specialist; Edwin E. G. Hart, realtor; Earl B. Gilmore, President Gilmore Oil Co., Otho C. Williams, banker; J. K. D. Shaffer, capitalist; P. B. Williams, capitalist.

A Real Distinction

Two ministers were discussing the characteristics of a third. "I know of no one who lives a more deeply religious life," one said.

"Well," responded the other, "I would hardly go as far as that, but I can say that I think he leads a deeply theological life."—[Boston Transcript.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 1.—The noteworthy movement of prices today again occurred elsewhere than on the stock exchanges: even Wall street's attention was directed more particularly to the renewed recovery in the franc and the renewed break of nearly a cent per pound in cotton, than to the undecided swing in stocks. Transactions on the stock exchange were, in fact, the smallest of any Saturday this year; the total of 399,000 shares compared with 755,000 on the Saturday two weeks before.

In this idle humor of the investing and speculating public, prices moved aimlessly back and forth within a narrow range, ending with few changes more than fractional for the day and with net advances and net declines numerically equal. Comparisons with closing prices of a week ago showed a similar confusion of individual tendencies. The prevailing trend was downward and there were several considerable losses for the week; yet the tell-tale "average" indicated a net loss of less than 1-8 point. They showed exactly the same fractional change the week before.

Both the London and Paris stock markets keeping holiday today, the stormy speculation which has characterized the week in foreign exchange was lacking. Most of the European exchange rates hardly moved, but the franc crept slowly up, to a figure at which about 1-3 of the loss incurred between Monday's highest and Wednesday's lowest. It gave no clue, however, to the probable next chapter in this remarkable speculative episode. Yet there is much that must happen very soon, with a bearing on the market. Sooner or later the French Senate must act on the 20 per cent tax increase. If it votes for it, the measure becomes law. But the Dawes committee's report will possibly be submitted even before the Senate's vote, and while some forecasts of its recommendations may not have been complete, it is hardly possible that they erred as to its general character, which was manifestly favorable to the just French and Belgian claims. The persistence in speculative selling of the franc on a failing market, with these developments immediately impending, is so curious a circumstance as to suggest (at least to Wall street) a fight to protect large speculative commitments in an overdone "bear campaign."

Little that is new can be said of the fall in cotton today to the low price of the year; the lowest except for one day since last September and 2 1-8c a pound below the price of March 1, 1923. How far this continued lowering of the price is warranted depends on circumstances which can be known only by those who can calculate profit or loss in selling at current prices goods manufactured from cotton bought at 30c.

Market Spotty at Close

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Total stock sales, 432,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 98.26; net gain .61. High 1924, 101.24; low 94.88. Twenty railroads averaged 84.13; net gain .35. High 1924, 85.90; low 82.74.

Despite a period of brisk bidding for several specialties and the motors in the second hour, today's brief stock market session differed little from its predecessors of the past week and at the close presented a rather irregular appearance.

Speculative interest was centered in United States Cast Iron Pipe, which was more than 6 points higher on an unusually large turnover. At today's top price of 74 3-4 the stock still is about 10 points below its high point of the year. Traders attributed today's interest to reports that the company's earnings may reach an unusually high total this year.

Motor shares were also in favor with traders, several such stocks rising a point or more, while Studebaker improved fractionally.

Reports that railroads are maintaining a large volume of tonnage attracted fair buying to that group. Pressure against the northwestern roads was lifted, fractional improvement being registered by Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, and Union Pacific.

Merchandising shares, the coppers and chemicals were depressed somewhat, but losses were not large.

Efforts were made during the first hour to upset the general list through pressure against the rubbers, some of this group equalling their minimum prices of the year.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and slightly lower. Demand sterling was quoted at $4.29 5-8, as compared with $4.30 1-8 Friday. French francs declined a point to 4.18½ cents and the other continental rates yielded slightly.

The weekly clearinghouse statement showed increases of $19,703,000 in loans, discounts and investments, $34,103,000 in reserve of member banks in the Federal Reserve Bank. Cash in vaults of member banks declined $678,000. Net demand deposits increased $48,879,000, time deposits improved $489,000. Aggregate reserve totaled $541,019,000, leaving excess reserve of $22,057,000, an increase of $27,660,860.

WEEK IN REVIEW

Stock and bond prices ended the week at approximately the same levels as prevailed a week ago. Stocks developed considerable irregularity at times, due, traders stated, to minor industrial disturbances, uncertainty over Congressional action on tax reduction plans and further disclosures in the Senate and oil committee inquiry.

Statements showing that railroads had maintained a large volume of tonnage and relatively favorable reports from business generally were accepted by speculators as constructive factors.

The money market continued quiet with a rather firm undertone. Higher call money and renewal rates were encountered toward the end of the week because of month-end requirements. Time money held steady at 4 3-4 to 5 per cent and commercial paper was fairly active at the same rates.

Foreign exchange rates continued downward, demand sterling ending the week more than a cent lower at $4.29 5-8, and French and Belgian francs fell off to 4.18½ and 3.62½ cents, respectively. Japanese yen declined nearly 40 points to 44.69 cents, and Spanish pesetas were about 15 points lower at 12.70 cents.

Considerable irregularity developed in this week's stock market due to the extensive readjustment of speculative accounts. Trading was rather restricted in character, this being attributed to the fact that several larger traders, wintering in Florida had temporarily switched their activities from the stock to the cotton market.

Steel shares held relatively firm on reports that February bookings were running as high as those of January. The placing of Sloss-Sheffield common on a $6 annual dividend basis also influenced buying of these stocks. Omission of the regular dividend of Anaconda and Inspiration, closely following similar action by directors of Calumet and Hecla, brought about extensive selling of the copper shares, but partial recovery took place later on the declaration of the regular dividend of Kennecott and reports of higher prices for metals in London and New York.

Oil shares, which have been adversely affected by the Washington oil inquiry disclosures and reports of the proposed introduction of a measure in Congress looking toward government control of production and prices, developed moderate strength on reports of further decreases in crude oil production and imports.

Several specialties, such as Coca-Cola and Central Leather issues, were freely sold on publication of poor 1923 earnings statements.

Strength of Norfolk and Western, which was bid up more than 10 points to a new high record on reports of its possible acquisition by the Pennsylvania Railroad and prospects for another extra dividend this spring, was one of the features in railroad shares. Several of the northwestern carriers were depressed as a result of the large decrease in January earnings as compared with those of the same month last year.

One of the most important modern developments in the Pacific Coast crude oil refining business which has been observed in recent months is reflected in the announcement that the Union Oil Company has entered into an arrangement with the Gasoline Products Company for the installation of Cross-Cracking Process units at its refineries in this State.

These installations will be the first on the Pacific Coast. The contract for their construction and use was made known by Frank De Ganahl, who represents the Pacific Coast interests of the Gasoline Products Company, owner of the Cross Process, in the following statement:

"As a result of recent negotiations a contract has just been closed between our company and the Union Oil Company of California, which permits the Union to construct and use the Cross Process both at present and in the future to the full extent of its requirements. A construction contract has been executed and our allied company, the W. M. Kellogg Company, is starting construction of the plant immediately. It will be completed by midsummer."

Officials of the Union Oil Company did not deny that such a deal had been closed but neither they nor Mr. De Ganahl disclosed the size of the installation.

There are between sixty and seventy installations of the Cross Process in the Midcontinent and eastern petroleum centers, as well as in England and India where the licenses include the Royal Dutch-Shell group, Sun Oil Company, Pure Oil Company and British Burmah Company.

The Cross installation at the Humphreys Pure Oil Company plant in Texas is one of the largest cracking installations in the world. About fifteen other refineries are using the process.

The Cross Process was invented by Drs. Roy and Walter Cross, two of the leading oil scientists of this country. The former is well known on the Pacific Coast.

The process is one in which a combination of heat and pressure is used for the production of gasoline from crude oil from which all the natural gasoline has been extracted.

Near Completion

The United States Royalties Company is preparing to place two wells on production. One well is in the Signal Hill field on Spring and Linden streets, and is known as United States Royalties No. 3. It is down 4802 feet, and is expected to come in today. The second well is United States Royalties No. 21 in Torrance on Narbonne avenue and Acacia street. It is down 3800 feet, and may go on production today, reports say.

The United States Royalties recently completed one well in the Torrance field, and has two wells on production in the Signal Hill field on the same lease with its No. 8 which are producing an aggregate of 1000 barrels per day.

To Form Company

Formation of a producing company to be known as the Ten Friends' Oil Company is under way by a group of ten Los Angeles policemen, it is reported. The group has been operating as an unincorporated syndicate in the Ventura county fields, and is said to have developed a promising property in that district.

The syndicate is drilling its second well in the country east of Fillmore, and at a depth of 350 feet is reported to have obtained showings of oil that indicate a fifteen-barrel producer. The well is now idle, it is asserted, pending an attempt to cement and get a water shut-off, after which the well will be drilled to 3000 or 4000 feet with the expectation of finding a deeper and more productive sand.

The Ten Friends' first hole was drilled to 500 feet, and found the same showings, but the hole caved in, it is reported, and work was started on a new well, with the intention of completing the first well later.

Biltmore Fishing

The Biltmore Oil Company is still fishing in its well at Carson and Arcadia streets in the Torrance field, according to officials of the company. The well is down 3756 feet, and was on production for a short time, but sanded up after a few days, and in the subsequent operations, some equipment was lost in the hole. The crew expects to complete the fishing job, and be ready to put the well on production again in a few days, it is said.

As soon as the Biltmore's No. 1 well is finally completed, drilling will be started on a second well in the Torrance field in the South Lomita district, officials assert. The company owns a half acre tract in this location.

Buys Athens Lease

The Associated Oil Company is reported to have completed a deal for the purchase of a seven and one-half-acre tract southwest of the Union Oil Company's Rosecrans well in the Athens-on-the-Hill field, at a bonus said to be $1500 per acre with a royalty of 20 per cent. The tract is known as the Weingart lease.

In Shale

The Neal No. 1 well which is being drilled by the Petroleum Midway Company in the Carmenita district, is down about 2850 feet, according to reports from the field. At that depth the drill is said to have penetrated 200 feet of hard sandstone below which a soft brown shale is said to have been encountered, with strong showings of gas.

Running Casing

The Long Beach Petroleum Corporation's outpost well in the western part of the Signal Hill field, is running four and three-quarter-inch casing to 4560 feet, according to drillers. Recent cores are said to have shown live oil sand, with heavy gas, and according to officials of the California Drilling Company, the prospects are good for a producer.

Union Completes Two

The Union Oil Company brought in two wells yesterday—one at Long Beach and the other at Huntington Beach. In the light of present production from these fields, the yield from the two wells is considered satisfactory by the company.

The Long Beach well is Community No. 5, located in the center of the field. It is producing 500 barrels daily from a depth of 4745 feet. The Union has three other wells drilling on this lease; the No. 5, cemented at 5002 feet, the No. 9, rotating at 4618 feet, and the No. 11, cemented at 3856 feet.

At Huntington Beach the company's Brooks No. 1 came in pumping 325 barrels daily from a depth of 4500 feet. The oil is 26 gravity. Two more wells are drilling on the Brooks lease. They are No. 4, cemented at 5000 feet, and the No. 8, reaming at 4900 feet.

Crop Estimate Incites Rise in Wheat Prices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 1.—A combination of bullish influences coming at a time when all grains were in an oversold condition brought about sharp advance and the close was at the top, with net gains of ⅝@1⅛c on wheat, ⅛@⅜c on corn, ⅛c on oats and ⅛c on rye.

In the early trading local traders were persistent sellers, especially of corn, but they quickly started to cover when Murray's report suggesting a yield of 545,000,000 bushels winter wheat, or 27,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year was received. Snow estimates that there is only 94,000,000 bushels wheat available for export and carry-over the balance of the season.

Considering the heavy realizing sales, all grains gave a good account of themselves the past week.

As compared with a week ago wheat finished ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, corn, 1@1⅝c higher; oats unchanged to ⅛c lower, and rye ⅝@⅝c lower. Lard declined 7½@10c lower, ribs unchanged to 6½c higher and bellies unchanged.

Free selling of corn by local traders has been on for several days. The offerings have been persistently absorbed by commission houses in small lots, and at the low point today May was down to 80⅝, or 1⅝c under the recent high. A badly oversold condition was disclosed, and when short covering started there was little for sale, a rally of 1@1⅛c from the bottom following that lifted all deliveries to within a fraction of the highest price of the season. May closed at 81⅝@81¾, July at 82 and September at 82. Cash demand was only fair, with receipts 287 cars.

A feature of the trading in wheat was the pronounced strength shown by the May, which advanced to 1.11¼ at the last and closed there, being ⅛c over July at the last. September was 1.11½.

Scattered liquidation was on in oats early, but it soon ran its course and the finish was strong in sympathy with other grains. Snow estimates farm reserves at 447,000,000 bushels, against 421,000,000 bushels last year. Receipts, ninety-four cars.

Rye was dull and followed wheat. Stop-loss orders were uncovered at 71c for May, but the finish was on a rally.

TAX ON GIFTS NOW PROPOSED

Lawmakers With Elemental Revenue Theories

Experts Delve Into Subject of Inheritance Levy

Business as Usual Despair of Forecasters

BY ARTHUR D. WELTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—There are law makers who think that taxation is a mean of taking money from those who have it, regardless of the financial status of the government. The proposed tax on gifts is an illustration. It is estimated that it will produce so many millions of dollars a year and will put a stop to the custom of avoiding inheritance taxes by making an ante-mortem division of the estate. That is a mere assumption.

The income-tax returns show how taxable incomes subject to high surtaxes have steadily decreased in numbers and amounts. The decrease has not come through illegal methods. The tax on gifts may not fall through illegal methods but owners of property do not pay high regard to the morals of a situation when the law has disregarded the equity. The modern notion is the ancient one that avoidance of taxes involves no moral turpitude. A good deal more ingenuity is being expended in avoiding tax laws than in enforcing them and the tax gatherer will continue for an indefinite time to be several jumps behind his quarry. Of course, now and then some one may pay a gift tax, but his fellows will regard him as an incompetent. And the man who doesn't pay will hardly be classed as a knave if, indeed, it was ever discovered.

Even now there are hundreds fo experts delving into the inheritance-tax question. Security holdings are being rearranged, property titles are being reordered. The chances are that the returns to the Federal government will grow smaller instead of greater and the States will have the same experience. The higher the taxes the greater the incentive to find ways to avoid them and the smaller return in revenue. Secretary Mellon has given the figures, the causes and the results.

When business is at one extreme or the other the forecasters have a lovely time. They have peaks and valleys with which they can make comparisons and the trend is usually visible. But when business is neither one thing nor the other, their distress is plain. A flattened curve along the hillside is the despair of the forecaster. Persistent stability on the part of the curve cuts the ground from under his standards. The trend is neither upward nor downward.

Business has been in this undelightful condition for some months. The price level has been practically stationary. The volume of production has shown small variations. A dip here is offset by a rise there. Copper is bad, but lead is good. Steel is in demand but cattle and hogs are at low levels. Cotton is too high and textiles too low. Money is easy but building loans will be made only at high rates.

The situation is full of contradictions and inconsistencies. It always is. A delight investigator can find evidence to support any theory or hunch and too often that is what he does. Business at this time is on the level (with apologies to the Senate committee on dramatics) and it is moving steadily along the hillside. Does it matter whether it is better or worse than it was the same day last month or last year? Last year, about this time, the business trend was upward. It became almost alarmingly upward a little later. Wages were climbing. Prices were mutable. There was fear of that dread monster—inflation. A peak was reached in May. The fear may have hastened it but the decline that followed was short and ended in what may be called stabilization, if there is any such thing.

It has been estimated that the variation in the volume of business between boom and depression is only about 15 per cent. This means that a general curtailment of that amount would plunge the country into a state where business failures would be frequent, unemployment large and the other indications of commercial inactivity would manifest themselves. The figure may be wrong but whatever is correct, it tells the story of what a great venture business is. Profits come from the few cents by which selling price exceed cost. A great business may run at 90 per cent of capacity and lose money; at 95 per cent it may earn dividends and at 100 per cent there may be surpluses and a demand for extensions.

Earning dividends alone is not enough to please the restless American disposition. More activity, more action, more production and larger earnings are ordinary ambitious. But dividends are good things. The war with its easy profits brought mediocrity forward. A struggle to succeed sharpens wits. Business is good. It has been good for eighteen months. The trend is forward, if not upward. The forecasters can't change it and if the politicians do, the politicians will themselves be changed.

LIVE-STOCK MARKETS AT VARIOUS CENTERS

[Furnished by Federal-State Live-Stock Market News Service, 203 Exchange Building, Stockyards.]

Weekly Summary

Following report is based exclusively as to receipts, holdovers, disposition, market conditions, and unless otherwise noted, as to sales of stock received at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards:

CATTLE—Marketing conditions and influences in the cattle division during the current week were mostly favorable to the selling interests, although towards the close there was a slight dullness apparent, traceable mostly to lack of quality and finish of the supply at hand. Taken as a whole prices reflect a degree of strength from a week ago. The outbreak of foot and mouth disease in northern counties of California was viewed as a bullish factor in trade circles as it tended to curtail movement of live stock to and from restricted areas and would eventually draw demand from the northwest packers for supplies here and this added competition all tended to key up prices for the more desirable offerings.

As is usually the case, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday's offering included the bulk of the week's supply of killing classes. A spread of 6.85@9.25 took in price range this week for common to good grade of load lots beef steers on offer. Noteworthy sales of steers were a part load lot of fed Utah steers, average 1227 pounds, at 9.25, with best California steers, from Inyo county, average 1110 pounds at 9.10, with the bulk of northern steers from 8.00@8.50. Bulk of sales of slaughter cows and heifers this week were made at 4.40@5.75, several loads of northern cows, good noted from 5.50@5.75, with top on load lots of cows noted at 6.25, with best heifers at 6.40. Canners and cutters arrived in small numbers and ruled steady, bulk 2.25@3.75. Bull prices developed strength during the seven-day period, bologna bulls mostly 4.00@5.00, with beef bulls noted upward to 6.00.

CALVES—Activity and strength featured in the market for calves and taken as a whole closing values are round 50 cents higher than a week ago. Desirable Arizona, New Mexico and Texas calves, from 250 to 350 pounds, are now commanding 7.75@8.00, with heavier calves mostly 6.50@7.00, while light milk calves, both natives as well as southwesterns are clearing within a spread of 9.00@12.00, depending on weight and condition.

HOGS—Light receipts this week served to key up competition and sharp advances featured the forepart of the week and the close was active, current values as compared with a week ago are close to 1.00 higher on butcher hogs with packing sows holding steady. Closing prices for 160 to 220-pound butchers are 8.50 with packing sows largely 6.25@6.50.

SHEEP—Price trend to fat lambs and sheep at Eastern markets where supplies have been seasonable has been unevenly higher and while there has been hardly enough at hand locally to test conditions the undertone is strong and current quotations based on opinion of buyers and sellers are as follows. Good and choice wooled lambs 75 to 85 pounds, $14.00@15.00, heavy weight lambs 13.00@14.00; good and choice light and handy weight ewes 7.00@9.00.

REVIEW OF COAST IRON AND STEEL

Tonnages for Week Small But Orders and Inquiries Are Increasing

BY DON PARTRIDGE

(Associate Editor—Iron Trade Review)

In summing up the condition of the Coast iron and steel markets, Iron Trade Review will say this week: "Steel trading is, for the most part, confined to smaller tonnages but orders and inquiries are becoming more numerous and in several lines some heavy tonnages are up for figures, noticeably structural shapes.

"Little improvement is noted in demand for merchant steel bars. Foreign interests are aggressively seeking tonnages and are naming prices from $16 to $19 a ton under those asked by local eastern mills. One quotation this week on Belgian material brought out a price of 1.90c c. i. f. duty paid all extras waived. A better volume of concrete bar tonnage is coming out and over 2500 tons was placed this week, outstanding among which was 1600 tons for the Pacific Portland Cement Co. at Redwood City, secured by Edw. L. Soule Co. Pending business total well over 2000 tons.

"Plate movement is confined to small lots generally, although the Western Pipe & Steel Co. secured 450 tons for a pipe line for Santa Cruz. The only large inquiry up involves 750 tons. Prices remain unchanged and 2.85c represents the general run with 2.80c being named for desirable tonnages.

"No structural shape awards were reported this week but over 10,000 tons are up for figures. The Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co., is inquiring for 5000 tons for their Montgomery St. Building and 2600 tons for their Bush street building. Prices are firm at 2.85c c. i. f. Coast Ports.

"Activity is noted among municipalities for cast iron pipe and over 3000 tons were placed during the week, all of which was secured by a French concern. Pending business totals more than 10,000 tons.

"Foundry operations do not reflect the increase noticed in general construction and the market is decidedly dull this week. No action has yet been taken by the Southern Pacific on its inquiry for 500 tons of pig iron and 500 tons of coke. Belgian iron with a phosphorous content of 1.0 is being quoted at around $25 while the Scotch iron, of better analysis continues unchanged at $3.50 c. i. f. duty paid Coast ports in the larger lots."

Miss Ruth Briner

Who shared honors with Miss Leontine Bayer and Miss Betty Bettingen at a dinner-dance given by her aunt, Mrs. Fred P. Newport, at the Biltmore recently. Miss Briner is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Newport while attending school in Los Angeles.

Events Past, Planned

in marriage by her father, A. L. Johnson. Ernest Harrop, sang "Until the Master Calls," with Mrs. Harrop at the piano.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white crepe de chine and Spanish lace with silver and pearl trimmings. The matron of honor wore blue crepe de chine trimmed with blue metal ribbon and the little Miss Martin wore pink.

The home was beautifully decorated with a color scheme of pink and white. Following the ceremony luncheon was served to about sixty guests.

Artistic Luncheon

Honoring her sister, Mrs. Chandler Kellogg (Virginia Hanna,) one of the brides of the year, and Miss Berbadine Murphy, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Murphy, a charmingly arranged luncheon was given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Charles Gardner Bullis (Helen Hanna) at her home on Western avenue. Fragrant fruit blossoms and spring flowers predominated in the house and decorations and the guests were seated at small tables holding as centerpieces the dainty blossoms. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Daniel Murphy, Mrs. Russell McDonnel Taylor, Mrs. William T. McFie, Mrs. William W. Gray, Mrs. Charles Nebeker, Mrs Walter Brunswig, Mrs. Stephen Childs, Miss Margaret Gray, Miss Dorothy Gray, Miss Cecile McLaughlin, Miss Sue Sinnot, Mrs. Harold Bayly, Mrs. Emerson Spear, Mrs. Thomas A. Luncheon Party

Miss Elizabeth Taylor of South Lake street is planning a luncheon at the California Club for Saturday afternoon, the 8th inst., in honor of Mrs. Paul Hunter (Betty Hixon,) who recently has returned from her honeymoon, and Miss Hortense McLaughlin.

Polo at Midwick

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scott Dudley of Western avenue will entertain Mr. and Mrs. John Milner and Mr. and Mrs. J. Benton Van Nuys at luncheon this afternoon at the Midwick Country Club, enjoying the polo games afterward.

Reception Tea

One of the most attractive affairs of the week was the tea and reception with which Mrs. James Harvey Adams entertained at her home in Chester Place yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edward David Roberts and Mrs. Robert London, who are enjoying the winter here. Mrs. Roberts recently returned from several years' travel abroad and Mrs. London has been in New York City. Fruit blossoms and ferns, with roses and spring flowers, were used effectively in the various rooms of the house, and during the hours from 5 until 7 o'clock several hundred guests called.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mrs. Eli P. Clark, Mrs. Granville MacGowan, Mrs. Oscar Souden, Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. James P. "Scatter California Sunshine with LITTLE'S Better Greeting Cards"

Imported Italian Prints

Little's have just received from Italy over five hundred hand-colored reproductions of paintings from the famous art galleries in Florence and Milan, such as the Pitti Palace, Uffizi Gallery, and Brera.

They are all beautifully colored in oils; each one a different subject and about 8 x 10 inches in size. There are no duplicates.

This is a most unusual collection of art subjects for home decoration or for art students. The prints are priced at $1.50 each.

Special frames, appropriate for these famous reproductions, may be had at very moderate prices.

Men's Jewelry for Evening Wear

With the social season approaching its height the matter of correct jewelry for men's evening wear demands consideration.

For formal evening dress we are showing sets in the favored shapes—octagonal, cushion and round—with crystal or mother of pearl, either plain or set with a diamond or oriental pearl.

Smoked mother of pearl or black onyx, or both, characterize the Tuxedo sets. They are either plain or mounted in platinum, with or without a gem setting. Sapphires and diamonds are preferred as settings.

An important item is the Waldemar Chain to match the other jewelry. We are offering a fine selection.

Visitors Welcome.

ly Drive, mother of the bride-to-be. The wedding date is not yet given.

Mrs. Timothy Dwight Merwin, well-known portrait painter, entertained at a delightful informal tea at her studio at 1064 Armada Drive Saturday afternoon. The studio, which contains so many pictures reminiscent of Holland, was a most fitting setting for the talk on the subject of "Dutch Art," by Miss Virginia E. Graeff. More than twenty guests were present.

One of the large parties given this week at the Valley Hunt Club was the tea of Monday afternoon with Mrs. Charles D. Seeberger of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., who is spending the winter in Pasadena, as the charming hostess. Bridge and mah jongg were the entertainment.

One of the week's smartest luncheon bridge parties was given Tuesday at the Annandale Golf Club by Mrs. John Johnston and niece, Miss Arlene Westwood, both of Pawtucket, R. I., who are wintering at Hotel Maryland. Early spring blossoms in soft shades of many hues were employed in decorating the tables and other table appointments carried out the pastel shades of the flowers.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mildred Tillman of Brockton, Mass., and Charles Everett Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Locke of 2176 Morton street, which took place at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Rev. John Bentzein, pastor of the Tremont Baptist Church, read the marriage service.

Members of the Broad-oaks School Glee Club were honored guests at the home of Mrs. George Darsie of 555 Filmore street, Tuesday evening. A musical program was enjoyed with the hostess contributing several vocal numbers. Included in the guest list were Miss Katherine Murray, Miss Frances de Pons, Miss Helen Smith, Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, Miss Thelma Willis, Miss Mary Lambman, Miss Constance Thoyre, Miss Frances White, Miss Lois Jones, Miss Helen Cattell, Miss Peggy Sterling, Miss Helen Anderson, Miss Mildred Abbott, Miss Marie Turner, Miss Adelaide Bunker, Miss Mary Foster, Miss Lucille Thomas, Miss Ina Cunningham, Miss Lois Laidlaw, Miss Berneta Moody, Miss Virginia Moody and Miss Gertrude Coward.

To announce the engagement of Miss Creta Nichols to Irving K. Moran of Los Angeles, and as a compliment to Miss Marion Sues of San Diego, a house guest, Mrs. Elmira Nichols entertained at a pretty appointed luncheon at her home on North Marengo avenue recently. In addition to the honor guest, those present were Mrs. A. Benton Brewster, Mrs. Clara M. Warfield, Mrs. J. C. Wenger, Mrs. Marshall Deats, Mrs. Katheryn Aherns, Mrs. C. W. Bull, Mrs. H. P. Wickersham, Mrs. H. V. Rawlins, Mrs. L. McWhorter, Miss Agnes Kringle, Miss Dorothy Knappen, Miss Helen Roberts, Miss Mary Nelson, Miss Violet Lent and Miss Gertrude Ambrose.

YORBA LINDA

Among the delightful social affairs of this last week was the surprise on Mrs. M. A. Quigley, by Mrs. George Kellogg at the ranch home of the latter. The affair which took place on Monday was given out as a board meeting of the local P.-T.A. of which Mrs. Quigley is president. So the surprise was complete. A large number of members of the Parent-Teachers' Association were present besides many personal friends of the hostess and honoree. The Quigleys leave Yorba Linda soon for their new home in Riverside county, where Mr. Quigley has purchased a ranch. As a kindly remembrance from her friends, Mrs. Quigley received a handsome gift for the new home. A dainty collation was served after an afternoon spent in visiting.

SAN LUIS OBISPO

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Beckmann and Mrs. George Merritt were the guests of honor Tuesday evening at a delightful reception given by the officers of the Presbyterian Church and their wives. The reception was a farewell, as Mr. and Mrs. Beckmann leave this week to make their home in Los Angeles, while Mrs. Merritt leaves soon for Whittier to reside. Hersman Hall, where the affair was held, was beautifully decorated in almond blooms and smilax. A program was given consisting of vocal numbers by Mrs. Murray Hathway, Stanley and Hollis King, and readings by Miss Gladys Coblents. Delicious refreshments were served.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Porter on Grand avenue was the setting for a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Porter's brother, Dorman Arthur Marlett, and Miss Naomi Alicinda Taussing were united in marriage by Rev. A. B. Murphy of the Baptist Church in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The bride was gowned in white georgette and carried a shower bouquet. She was attended by Miss Susie Pearl Porter, and Russell Hogue of Long Beach was best man. Mr. Marlett has resided here for eighteen years and has a large circle of friends. The bride, who is the daughter of the late Rev. J. Taussing, a prominent Baptist clergyman of the East, arrived here five months ago from Ohio. After a honeymoon spent in the South Mr. and Mrs. Marlett will return here to live.

A delightful barbecue was held Friday evening at Cave Landing. Those enjoying the affair were Misses Maxine Frank, Alness McRae, Margie Ernst, Cecile Farrell, Anna Janssen, Maxine Farrell; Messrs. Alexander McRae, Raymond Bray, Alfred Phillips, Leland McRae, Cornelius Hughes and Jack Barneberg.

Miss Margie Tubbs entertained a number of girl friends at a delightful dinner party Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tubbs. Games and music were enjoyed after the dinner. Those who enjoyed the affair were the Misses Merle Philbrick, Eleanor Gibson, Noreen Gibson, Beulah Leonard, Lillian Allan, Lenore Allen, Vivian Butt, Lucille Wilkinson, Clarice Tubbs, Ethel Philbrick and the hostess.

PLACENTIA

Varying the usual order of affairs, the Mothers' Club gave a five hundred party at the home of Mrs. W. E. Sanford. Quite a tidy sum was raised for carrying on the work of the club. Honors in the game went to Mrs. Hill, first prize; Mrs. Edwardson, second, while the consolation fell to Mrs. Orr. A social hour was enjoyed after the game, in wheih a light repast was served.

Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, State president, and Mrs. Hattie C. Young, State vice-president of the W.C.T.U., were honor guests at the third jubilee of the southern district, which was held Wednesday at the Presbyterian Church. The afternoon session was opened by a scriptural reading by Mrs. C. E. Fuller. "Dope" was the subject of Dr. Guy L. Kay's address. Piano and vocal music was given by Mrs. Estella Walker and Mrs. C. P. Smith. A pot-luck supper attended by fifty persons was the opening number on the evening's program. Community singing and a solo by C. P. Smith, followed by tableaux given by the junior branch of the W. C. T. U. illustrating Mrs. Wheeler's address, "A Million for Defense," was the evening's program. Eight new members were received in the local chapter and $260 added to the treasury.

GLENDALE

As the last meeting of Chapter CJ of the P.E.O. was Thursday and so near Washington's Birthday, a patriotic program was given. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Onstott at her home on North Central avenue. There were twenty members present to enjoy the delightful luncheon and program. Mrs. Harriet Hamilton was assistant hostess. Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, president of the chapter was especially honored as her wedding anniversary was the 22nd inst.

Fragrant white carnations combined with lilies and ferns formed the attractive decorations of the Holy Family Catholic Church for the 11 o'clock nuptials of Miss Margaret Donohue, daughter of Mrs. Mary Donohue of Palm Drive, and Harry Paul Maier of Los Angeles. Only the members of the immediate families were witness to the marriage, the service being read by Father Maloney of Los Angeles. The bride was gowned in white Canton crepe and wore a white picture hat and carried bride roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Louise Donohue, who wore a frock of orchid georgette crepe, her bouquet was of lavender sweet peas and her large picture hat was of the pastel shades. Bernard Maier was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Maier will make their home in Topeka, Kan.

The members of the Navajo Needlework Club and their husbands were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Waite of 429 West Lomita avenue, last Saturday evening at a Five Hundred party. Pink and white snap dragons were used for decorations. Mrs. M. C. Fuller and J. C. Waite made high scores. A buffet supper was served at a late hour. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Root, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burger of Glendale.

Mrs. Flora Pixley of 116 West Lomita avenue, returned to her home Sunday afternoon from a visit with her daughter in Montebello and found sixty relatives and friends had gathered to assist in the celebration of her seventieth birthday anniversary. The party had been arranged by her children, Miss Olive Pixley, Mrs. W. P. McArthur of Los Angeles; Mrs. C. T. Dykes of Montebello and J. G. Pixley. Invitations had been extended to her friends of the G.A.R. and W.R.C. and to the members of the Pacific-avenue Methodist Church. The house was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Weitzel of 620 East Palmer avenue entertained with an informal dancing party, last Saturday evening in celebration of their first wedding anniversary. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ehlen, Mrs. Mae S. Cook, Miss Katherine Ehlen, Ted Hansen, Harold Peterson, Miss Ruth Cook and Mrs. M. H. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. McDougall of 128 West Elk avenue, were the hosts at a dinner party Washington's Birthday, complimenting Robert Laidlaw of Cincinnati, O. Red and white carnations with blue corn flowers were used for floral decorations while all other appointments and decorations were patriotic. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Haley of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Coughran, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. SAN PEDRO

Clad in the garb of pirates, and concealing their identity by means of masks, several friends of Capt. L. A. Waters assembled at his home at 519 Fortieth street recently to compliment him with a surprise affair on the occasion of his twelfth wedding anniversary. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Waters and was a complete surprise to the captain. The evening was enjoyably devoted to five hundred and the prizes for high score went to Mrs. L. W. Wells and Montgomery Phister, while the consolation prizes were awarded George Raymond and E. D. Seward.

As a post-nuptial compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Anthony of San Pedro, who were quietly wedded in Los Angeles the 20th inst., a delightful social affair was recently given by Mr. and Mrs. George Burnett at their home at 529 West Ninth street. Pink and white formed the dainty color combination for the decoration of the rooms.

Honor guest at a recent attractive affair was Miss Mary Romy. The affair, given at the home of Miss Romy's parents at 478 O'Farrel street, took the form of a prenuptial shower and the bride-elect was presented with a number of miscellaneous gifts.

Assembling their guests at their quarters for dinner, followed by mah jongg, Capt. and Mrs. George D. Davidson of Fort MacArthur were hosts at two smart affairs, the first taking place Monday night and the second, Tuesday night. First, second and third prizes at mah jongg Monday night went to Mrs. J. C. Foster, Mrs. W. R. Stewart and Mrs. G. E. Hale, respectively, Capt. W. R. SEEDS

FOR BETTER GARDENS

"A chip off the old block"

EVERY packet of Ferry's Seeds comes from a parent plant that has proved to be ideal in every respect. By ideal we mean that the parent plant is a purebred—true to name and type.

Here is a relationship that every gardener should keep in mind as he plans his garden. It always pays to be sure about the ancestry of the seeds you buy.

At our experimental gardens we watch our plants. The history of every one is known. Before going to seed, undesirables and "freaks" are weeded out. From only those which are ideal are the seeds harvested. Then, to make sure, we test these seeds to see that they do run true to the perfect type.

Such care as this on our part invites you to buy Ferry's purebred Seeds with faith that they will produce in quantity and quality. Ferry's purebred Seeds are on sale "at the store around the corner."

Write for Ferry's Seed Annual. It is full of garden facts. Get it now before you plant.

D. M. FERRY & CO., San Francisco, Cal.

The Best for California

In no one locality do we grow as many flower and vegetable seeds as in California, but some sorts need a colder or cloudier climate for their best seed production. In Ferry's purebred Seeds you find not only intelligent selection of locality of growth, but what is of greater importance, long-sustained scientific development of purebred strains. With plants, as with animals, the first requisite is good blood.

EAST WHITTIER

At a meeting of the members of the Hacienda Country Club held Monday afternoon following a luncheon at the Hacienda club, plans were made to set aside Tuesday as ladies' day and the first nine holes will be open to ladies only from 9 in the morning until 2 in the afternoon. Gentlemen may play in the afternoon, although the day is primarily for the women members of the club. Mrs. Charles W. Hislop was chosen chairman of the general committee and hostesses will be chosen for each Tuesday. Mrs. A. C. Johnson of Whittier is chairman and Mrs. Walter Finch of Fullerton and Mrs. Wallace Gregg of Whittier members of the committee to select hostesses; these will be chosen from the various communities with memberships in the club. The plan is to make Tuesday a social day at the club, and those who prefer bridge or needlework may pass the time that way instead of golf. Following the organization a putting contest was staged with Mrs. E. R. Canterbury and Mrs. Earl Myers winning first and second places, respectively. Prizes of golf balls were given by the greens committee.

To celebrate the birthday anniversary of his mother Mrs. C. J. Harris, her son J. F. Harris and his wife entertained Monday evening with a bountiful birthday dinner followed by an evening spent at progressive games. Mme. Harris was the recipient of many handsome gifts, which were placed in a basket and presented to her by her young grandson Jack Harris, Jr. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harris of Long Beach; Mrs. J. Fulson, Ernest Fulson of Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Harris and family, and Mr. T. E. Sarah.

WHITTIER

To assist in the celebration of her husband's birthday, Mrs. Ernest Metzinger invited a coterie of congenial friends to their home Monday evening. A pleasing program of music and games was presented for the entertainment of the guests and an attractive collation was served. A handsome mantel clock was presented to Mr. Metzinger as a birthday reminder. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Casper and son Gail of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Collings and son Arthur of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Estep and son Chester, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Estep, Lester, Loren, Hilda, Overly and Viola Estep, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Estep.

The annual meeting of the Guild of St. Matthias Episcopal Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Berry Tuesday. An elaborate luncheon was served followed by the business meeting. The annual election of officers resulted in the following being chosen: Mrs. F. S Whallon, president; Mrs. R. B. Kennedy, vice-president; Mrs. A. Aldridge, secretary and Mrs. Truman Berry, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Hockett entertained the members of the Whitier Men's Chorus in the social rooms of the Congregational Church Tuesday evening, following the concert given in the Whittier College Auditorium. Mr. Hockett, who is the head of the department of vocal music at the college, is also director of the men's chorus, and has brought the organization up to a very high standard of artistic excellence. The management of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo at Pasadena has invited the members of the chorus and their wives to dinner Sunday evening, and the special guests will give a program of songs during the evening.

Mrs. W. D. Merickle was hostess to the College Auxiliary at her home, 516 East Camilla street, Tuesday afternoon. Miss Hilda Hickman was chairman of the program committee and introduced Prof. Paul Smith who gave an interesting informal address on George Washington. Mrs. Gustov Ostrom and Mrs. Mary B. McCaslin also had part in the program. An interesting social hour followed and hostesses were Mrs. W. D. Merickle, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. King, Mrs. Frank Gates and Mrs. C. C. Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Kemp entertained at bridge Saturday evening, high scores being won by Mrs. John H. Reese and Mr. Shirley McMasters.

EAGLE ROCK CITY

Mrs. Etha Carey entertained Chapter DA, P.E.O., last Monday afternon at her home on Eagle Rock avenue. At the close of the business session cakes and coffee were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. I. O. Kemble. A beautiful cake, decorated in the chapter's colors of yellow and white and bearing one yellow candle in honor of the chapter's first anniversary, was cut by Mrs. Emma Lawrence and served with tiny bouquets to the guests.

Mrs. Humphrey Marshall is to be the hostess at the regular monthly card party to be given tomorrow afternoon by the Twentieth Century Club. She will be assisted by Mrs. George Armstrong, Mrs. C. A. McClintic, Mrs. F. Whitson and Mrs. Roy Parkinson.

Founder's Day was celebrated last Thursday at the Women's Twentieth Century Club. The clubhouse, profusely decorated with spring flowers, was open throughout the day and evening to exhibit the paintings of Nell Booker Mayhew. A reception and tea was held during the afternoon. Mrs. Mayhew lectured during the evening program on California Missions. Mrs. A. G. Reily, president of the club, paid a warm tribute to "Our Founders." Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Traun and Miss Esther Gleiss and Slavio L. Palizo entertained with Spanish dances in costume. Miss Fanny Bailey and Mrs. Hanson Puthuff were in charge of the art exhibit and program.

RIVERSIDE

Giving her friends here a big surprise, Miss Frances Alice Tetley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Tetley of this city, became the bride of John F. Harthan of Long Beach at the First Congregational Church at 9:30 o'clock February 22. Dr. John Gardner read the ceremony. The immediate family has known of the approaching marriage for several weeks, but no inkling of the secret was received by the friends of the bride. Mr. Harthan was a member of the Polytechnic High School faculty a few years ago. Witnessing the quiet ceremony were the bride's brother, Frank A. Tetley, Jr., and Mrs. Tetley. Mr. and Mrs. Harthan left later for a honeymoon trip to San Diego. They will make their home in Long Beach until autumn, when it is expected Mr. Harthan will be transferred to Huntington Park by the company in the chemical engineering department of which he has been employed for several years. Mrs. Harthan is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tetley. She has many friends here, having attended high school in this city. She was graduated in June, 1916, and spent three years at the University of California.

Mrs. J. F. Paist, president of the National Y.W.C.A. biennial; Mr. Paist and four children of Philadelphia were week-end visitors in Riverside. After touring the State they will return here for a longer visit. Mrs. Paist is a former Riversider. She is a sister of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, Judge Wilbur of the California Supreme court, and has a sister in Los Angeles. Upon her return Mrs. Paist will be entertained by the Riverside Y.W.C.A., of which she was one of the organizers.

Celebrating their silver wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Rogers of 175 Ramona Drive entertained at a dinner at the Mission Inn on Washington's Birthday. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and daughters, Misses Bessie and Hazel Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Evans, Miss Helen Evans and Mrs. Louise McClure. Carrying out the decorative scheme of their wedding dinner, twenty-five years ago, Washington's Birthday place cards and other decorations developed the motif of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were married in Battle Creek, Iowa, in 1899. They lived in Iowa until about two and one-half years ago, when they came to Riverside.

Entertaining 140 friends, Mrs. Carlton Kelley and Mrs. Bailey Patterson were hostesses at a pretty bridge tea at the Casa Blanca clubhouse Tuesday afternoon. Spring flowers and greenery beautifully decorated the clubhouse.

LA HABRA

In honor of Mrs. Fortson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McWhirter of East Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. William Fortson of West Central avenue entertained Sunday with a family dinner to commemorate the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter. The cosy home of the Fortson's was prettily decorated with jonquils, freesias and ferns. Covers were laid at the daintily appointed table for Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter, Mr. and Mrs. Fortson, Mrs. Frances Van Buskirk of Portland, Or., and Mrs. B. R. Bryson of Iowa Falls, Iowa. Mrs. Buskirk and Mrs. Bryson are sisters of the honorees and are spending the winter in the Southland. Robert McWhirter came late in the afternoon from Tucson, Ariz., where he had been with the Whittier College basketball team.

Mrs. S. Stogsdale of Mountain View avenue, Home Acres, entertained a number of neighbors Friday at afternoon tea. Needlework and visiting interested the visitors until 4:30. A dainty repast was they served by the hostess. Guests were Mrs. Ed Davis, Mrs. C. Fletcher, Mrs. S. O. Wardrip, Mrs. Cliff Davis and Mrs. W. Tinkler.

Complimenting cousins of her husband, Mrs. A. B. Capers entertained with a chicken dinner Sunday. Gathered around the bountifully spread table were Mr. and Mrs. Capers, Fred Clark and Freeman Bailey of El Paso, Tex., and C. E. Germain of Los Angeles.

COVINA

Acacia boughs and white jassine were the dainty decorations of the Women's Clubhouse this week when Mrs. Charles Hubert Toll, district president, gave a spirited and interesting talk on the fundamentials of club work before the Monday Afternoon Club. Mrs. Toll especially stressed the benefit to be derived from the General Federation of which the Covina club has recently become a member. Other features of the program were three beautifully rendered vocal solos by Miss Ruth Watson who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. David Watson, and oriental and Russian dances in costume by little Miss Grace Strifen of Monrovia accompanied by Mrs. George Phillips. Those presiding at the tea table at the close of the meeting were: Mesdames John Lang, F. L. Worley, Elmer King, and A. R. Taylor.

... presided. Nominations were made for the election of officers to be held Tuesday, March 4. Mrs. Harry Nutt presided during the social hour. Mah jongg and bridge were played, Mrs. M. C. McLees winning prize for high score. Refreshments were served at daintily appointed and decorated tables.

GLENDORA

Forty ladies of the Aid Society of the Glendora Methodist Church met last Thursday for an unusually inspiring and delightful meeting at the foothill home of Mrs. Everett La Fetra. Mrs. La Fetra and the cohostesses, Mrs. Earl Comstock, Mrs. Bert Richardson and Mrs. Kuffel received their guests in Colonial costume while little Adalaide La Fetra, Mary Vera Richardson and Milton Miller who were also in Colonial garb acted as pages. After a short business session Mrs. Charles Lewis led the devotions and gave a strong and beautiful talk on the meaning of prayer. Little Donald Chamberlain dressed as a miniature George Washington recited an incident in the life of Washington.

Mrs. C. W. Bailey of Ben Lomond avenue entertained twenty friends at a bridge tea on Monday afternoon. Yellow daisies decorated the tables where a collection of salad, coffee, cakes, nuts and sweets was served late in the afternoon. The prize of the afternoon was won by Mrs. N. C. Ayer.

Mrs. Lee La Chance of Chicago who has passed several months at her home here was the complimented guest at a mah jongg and bridge party given last week by Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. E. T. Parrish at the former's home. The oriental motif was attractively carried out in the decorations and in the refreshments. Mrs. Harry Beckwith won the mah jongg prize and Mrs. S. W. Munn the prize at bridge.

INGLEWOOD

A golden wedding celebration that intrigued the interest of all the residents of Inglewood, Hawthorne, Lennox and surrounding communities took place Tuesday evening of the past week when Mr. and Mrs. August J. Buchholz of Lennox invited a large number of their friends and relatives to commemorate with them their nuptial day upon its fifteenth anniversary. A sumptuous dinner was served at 8 o'clock, and places were laid for nineteen guests. There was a generous profusion of daffodils both in the dining and living rooms of the Buchholz home, and orchestra music throughout the day and evening lent a festive touch to the occasion. Miss Edna Belle Pierce, a well-known soprano, sang several songs and other artists contributed to the program. In the evening a large number of friends called upon the couple who had lived so long and happily together, and numerous beautiful gifts were showered upon them. The family of the pair consists of eight daughters and two sons. Four daughters were present at the golden wedding celebration, Mrs. J. P. Pierce of Los Angeles and Mrs. D. C. Bidgett and the Misses Anna and Ernestine Buchholz of Inglewood. Mr. and Mrs. George Stoppel were among the most interesting guests present, both of them having been present at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Buchholz in Rochester, Minn., in 1874. Mr. Buchholz is now [illegible] years old and his wife 69. They are both hale and hearty and anticipate many more years of happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ewing of 610 East Queen street, entertained last Tuesday evening at dinner in courtesy to Mrs. Ewing's mother, Mrs. J. H. Borders, her sister, Miss Norma Borders, and Mrs. R. L. Lloyds and her son Clarence of Inglewood. A pretty centerpiece of spring flowers graced the table and dinner was served at 6:30.

Miss Mona Bethune of Grace avenue entertained Tuesday evening at a mah jongg party at her home, her guests including a number of her close friends. After the game a delicate lunch was served.

UPLAND

Prominent among a number of smart pre-Lenten affairs in Upland society was the bridge dinner with which Mrs. Harriet Longstreet Gray and Miss Aurelia Squire Harwood entertained Thursday evening at the Red Hill Country Club. Violets and jonquils were used with artistic effect in decoration. Dinner was announced at 7:30 ad was served in five courses, covers being indicated for sixty guests. Auction brigge and mah jongg followed the delectable menu. Prizes for the evening's play were awarded Mrs John Awdry Armstrong, Mrs. John Herbert Tracy, Mrs. Albert Lincoln Swift, Henry G. Eckstein, Jr., and Royal Miller.

The attractive home of Mrs Carlos S. Lawson, Euclid avenue and Thirteenth street, was the scene of a pleasant affair Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained with an informal bridge tea. Spring blossoms and fernery were used in decorating and three tables were used in the auction tournament. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Horace Little, Mrs. James H. Black and Mrs. Donald Edward Hill. A collation followed the games. Mrs. Lawson was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. George Theodore Stamm.

ONTARIO

The affair featured by many colorful favor dances, the Cotillion Club entertained Tuesday evening with a supped-dance of charming appointments at The Sycamores. A Washington's Birthday motif was used effectively in decorations and appointments. Hosts of the evening numbered Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Baugh Fowler, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holmes Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. C. Noyes Thompson. Sampson's orchestra furnished music for the dancing, and supper followed at midnight. Some forty couples enjoyed the affair.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Myers of Washington, Ind., who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Acton, Mrs. J. M. Halfhill entertained at dinner Wednesday evenoing at her home, 302 East Fourth street. Covers were indicated for Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Acton, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Limbert, Miss Alice Holbrook, Miss Marion Holbrook, Miss Osborn and Mrs. J. M. Halfhill.

To announce the engagement and approaching marriage of her niece, Miss Madge Finlay, to Edward A. Robertson, which is to be an event of the near future, Mrs. O. W. Wedgewood entertained with a tea of charming appointments Saturday afternoon at her home, 921 West Fourth street. The interesting news was told in an original song rendered by Miss Vera Wedgewood, a cousin of the bride-elect. More than a score enjoyed the afternoon.

In honor of the eighty-fourth birthday anniversary of I. W. Whittaker, well-known Ontario pioneer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Besse entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at their home in the Palm Apartments. Covers at the dinner table were indicated for eight.

In compliment to their house guests, Dr. and Mrs. John L. Tyler of Huntington Park, Dr. and Mrs. F. N. Davidson entertained at dinner Friday evening at their home, 416 East I street. A motor party to the Orange Show at San Bernardino followed the menu.

STRATHMORE

Mrs. M. M. Trueblood of Long Beach, house guest for several weeks at the home of her nephew, W. H. Trueblood, left Wednesday night for her southern home. Mrs. Cox entertained very informally in her honor on Tuesday afternoon. Music, games and social conversation combined for a merry time. Refreshments were served to Mmes. Mitchell, Gifford, Sturgis, Frye, Hall, Runnells, Newlin Peery, Nash and Curtin of Lindsay and Mmes. Brock, Bartlett, Hill, Brown, Beeson, Meredith, Gibbons, Trueblood and Cox of Strathmore.

Following transaction of special business at the regular monthly meeting of the Strathmore Town and Country Club Saturday afternoon an entertainment program was given. The Girls' Glee Club of S.U.H.S., Miss Florence Veall, director; Naomi Pursell, reading; Mrs. Watrous, vocal selections; "Early English Poets," essay, James Davidson; Mrs. H. C. Beeson, piano solo; "Modern English Poets," reading, Ted Chism, were included in this department. Members of the Tri K Club were guests of the day. Tea was served.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Beattie accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Churchill to Los Angeles for the week-end. Mr. Churchill will return and they will shortly move to Alhambra, where they are to make their future home.

A delightful party was enjoyed Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Massie, a Valentine affair being staged for a number of friends. Musical selections added to pleasure of the occasion and the Valentine idea was embodied in decorations, entertainment, favors and refreshments.

TULARE

Miss Alice Higdon, who is enrolled at the Central Commercial College this term, arrived in Tulare Thursday for a brief visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Higdon, west of Tulare. Wilbur Cobb of Los Angeles, accompanied by his sister, Miss Louriede Cobb, who is enrolled at Pomona College this year, spent the week-end visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cobb. Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Zumwalt of Oakland are house guests at the home of Mr. Zumwalt's mother, Mrs. Lydia A. Zumwalt of this city. The Zumwalts will return to their home in the north in a few days. Harold Jones, formerly city editor of the Tulare Daily Advance, spent the week-end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones. F. M. Scott of Los Angeles is making a short business and pleasure trip here. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. James Watson, of Branden, Vt., who is making an extensive tour of California before returning to her home in the East.

The betrothal of Miss Loureide Jeanette Cobb and William Wishart Biddle, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Biddle of Berkeley, was announced at a Valentine party given by a group of college chums at Pomona recently. Miss Cobb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cobb of South G street, and is a graduate of the local schools. She will graduate with the class of '24 from Pomona and their marriage will be an event of early summer. The groom has made his home in Berkeley for a number of years and graduated from Pomona with the class of 1923. Many congratulations are being extended here. Mr. Cobb, Sr., is Tulare City Clerk.

VISALIA

Miss Florence Leever, whose wedding to Fred Edwards will be an event of early March, was honor guest at a surprise shower given by Miss Fay Sullivan and Mrs. H. W. Watson in the home of the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leever, east of Visalia Friday afternoon. Following a social afternoon the collection of miscellaneous gifts was presented to the honoree by little Miss Wannell Watson, assisted by Masters Jack Watson and Edwin Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Becker were hosts to the Tuesday Evening Bridge Club at their home on Second avenue. Mr. and Mrs. George C. Cobb substituted for Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hadley, and Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Mitchell played for Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Bradley. Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Cobb were fortunate winners of awards for high score. A tempting supper was served at a late hour.

Mrs. Carl Ferguson was hostess at an informal bridge party in her home on West Grove street Friday afternoon. Baskets of spring blossoms served as colorful decorations. Following the rounds of bridge, refreshments were served at individual, attractively appointed tables. The prize for highest score was received by Mrs. Edwin H. Waddell, while Mrs. Rita Murray won the consolation.

About 200 guests attended the George Washington party at the First Methodist Church parlors on Friday evening. Members of the Ladies' Aid were hostesses, while the president, Mrs. A. R. Willhide, acted as chairman. The national colors, potted plants and spring blossoms were effective as decorations. An entertainment program of music and readings was enjoyed, while roles of George and Martha Washington were enacted by Mr. and Mrs. Faber George.

LANKERSHIM

The marriage Sunday of Miss Olive Hauser to Ted B. Rathbun is of special interest to the numerous Lankershim friends of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Tietjen at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rathbun, 5008 Tujunga avenue. Miss Leonore Rathbun acted as bridesmaid and E. Sernstrom served as best man. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony and later the young couple departed on a brief honeymoon tour. Returning to the valley March 10, they will be at home at 5530 Marion avenue. Among out-of-town guests present at the wedding were Mrs. C. French of Indio and Mrs. I. B. Nuss of Los Angeles.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Woodmansee entertained a number of friends at their home on Central avenue, when bridge was the game to command attention. Mrs. C. C. Bowerman and O. J. Renfrew carried away the honors for high scores. Mrs. Fallor captured the consolation honors.

Next Thursday and Friday nights the Community Players will take possession of the Little Theater and present "Peg o' My Heart." Mrs. Jack Waltenmeyer, who is directing the performance, will take the part of "Peg." An innovation will be provided in music, which will be furnished by the Lankershim orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Anna Puffer.

VAN NUYS

The Woman's Club is fostering an art salon for Van Nuys, and with Mrs. A. D. Hitchcock serving as chairman of the committee of a group of interested women, a flattering start was made at the current session of the club, when two Hanson Puthoff paintings were presented to the club. With these as a nucleus, it is the belief of club members that many additions will be made to the list. The presentation followed an address by Mrs. Katherine Leighton, art chairman of the district federation, who traced the stages of the growth of Western appreciation.

The parsonage of the Methodist Church was the scene Sunday afternoon of a pretty wedding, when Miss Mildred Edwards of El Segundo was united to Virgil Stocking of Hermosa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. L. Goodell, whose family and the bride have been friends for a number of years.

SAN FERNANDO

With the Old Mission as a background, history, romance and society joined hands in Memory Garden Tuesday afternoon in the celebration of an event that linked padres and pathfinders with California to today. The day was given over to the planting by the Daughters of the American Revolution of an oak trees that traced its ancestry directly back to the historic charter oak. The tree was planted as a monument to the memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. William P. Granger, valley pioneers, and was the gift of their daughter, Mrs. Charles Maclay. Mr. Granger had himself planted the acorn from which it had been grown, picking it from the charter oak. The tree had grown and flourished, but expanding San Fernando was crowding it out. The space it occupied was needed in widening a street, so a permanent new home in Memory Garden was selected for it and the D.A.R. was intrusted with the task of transplanting it.

In celebration of "Father's night" by the O'Melveney Parent-Teachers' Association, the principal address Wednesday evening was delivered by Baroness de Ropp, who talked on "Land, Bread, Peace, Freedom." Following the musical and literary program, refreshments

BURBANK

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Selby of 1055 Palm Avenue in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day, enjoyed a family reunion that brought together a number of relatives residing throughout the southern part of the State. The couple were married at Bedford, Ind., and have been residents of Los Angeles nearly thirty years, the last four of which have been spent in Burbank.

Fifty-seven years of wedded life came to a close with the celebration of the anniversary here by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Treese at their home, 436 Olive avenue. Their wedding was celebrated at Shelbyville, Ind. Their daughter, Mrs. T. B. Handy of Hollywood, was present to enjoy the anniversary celebration.

When Miss Etta Cox was married at Los Angeles this week to Edgard L. Crist, a romance that had its beginning years ago, was culminated. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Ferris at the M.E. parsonage on Florence avenue. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. M. Thrasher of Burbank. The future home of the couple will be made in San Fernando.

REDLANDS

Mrs. Wilson Spoor, of Eureka street, entertained with a Colonial luncheon at her home during the week, having sixteen guests. Colonial boquets centered the tables. Bridge followed the luncheon.

Miss Ida Collins, Mrs. Gladys Potter, Miss Catherine Taylor, Miss Julia Donnelly, Miss Beulah Hartman, Miss H. B. Collins, Miss Eva Edwars and Miss Irene Lamb spent the week-end at Kamp Kold Brook in Mill Creek Canyon having a most delightful time.

Mrs. Herbert A. Hargraves entertained with a dinner party last evening. Covers were laid for sixteen guests at tables beautifully decorated. Following the dinner the guests were invited to the home of Mrs. George Bunnell for bridge.

Mrs. L. O. Hammond entertained a party of friends at her mountain cabin in Mill Creek Canyon during the week, her guests being Mrs. W. H. Van Leuven, Mrs. M. F. Pierce, Mrs. F. W. Alexander, Mrs. Frank Nutter, Mrs. Lulu Hoskins, Mrs. J. S. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thorne, Mrs. Ella Herbert of Oakland and Thomas Robinson.

Mrs. J. Ralph Finlay entertained at her home on the Heights with a luncheon in compliment to her guest, Mrs. George Ellis of Spokane.

Miss Meda Hinckley was the hostess at the tea hour of the Country Club this week.

Mrs. W. A. Taltavall and Miss Estelle Shepard were hostesses at a pleasantly informal tea yesterday afternoon at their home on Walnut avenue to greet Mrs. E. S. Pohl who has just returned from a trip to Washington, New York and Philadelphia.

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Lee entertained in compliment to Mrs. H. C. Kennedy of San Diego, formerly of this city, with a tea on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. M. Kavanaugh of this city and Mrs. Clarence Kelty of San Bernardino presided at the tea tables.

—o—

PORTERVILLE

Mrs. Arthur Crook of Lindsay, formerly Miss Goldie Halford of Porterville, a bride of the last few weeks, was complimented Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Sarah Fitzhugh, Miss Laurette Taylor and Mrs. C. O. Mahoney entertained with bridge at the home of the former. Following the rounds of cards prizes for high score were awarded to Mrs. Elmer Long and Mrs. Ella Halford. As a happy surprise for the honor guest she was presented with a collection of lovely gifts from her assembled friends. Refreshments were served. Among those present were: Mmes. Frank Gill, Walter Herbage, Elmer Long, Ella Halford and Arthur Crook, and Misses Herma Templeton, Leah Fowler, Elsie Singleton and Leota Williamson.

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Shiplett in the Vandalia district was the scene of a happy family reunion Sunday when birthdays of three members of the family were celebrated. Sweet peas and violets formed a dainty and exquisite centerpiece for the table, where a three-course dinner was served, with turkey as the "piece de resistence," and a huge birthday cake was an important feature. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shiplett, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Turner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shorb of Fresno and Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Shiplett.

Gloria Katherine Bialock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ugene U. Bialock, was christened on the Sabbath at St. John's Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lumley acted as godparents, while Rev. Lee A. Wood, rector, acted as officiating clergyman. Mrs. Bialock prior to her marriage was an accomplished horsewomen of Montana and was formerly well known around the studios at Hollywood, where she appeared in daring cowgirl stunts. Mr. Bialock is a well-known young attorney of Porterville and Tulare county.

ANAHEIM

Mrs. Carrie A. Mawe, former president of the Woman's Relief Corps of Anaheim, was hostess at a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday, giving the affair at her home for the women who were associated with her in an official capacity during the eight months she remained in office. The company was seated at one long table attractively decorated in a color scheme of green and yellow with a bowl holding jonquils and other spring flowers gracing the center of the table. Miss Vesta Mawe, daughter of the hostess, and Mrs. Beulah Curran, assisted, serving a delicious chicken menu. A noteworthy feature of the affair was the afterluncheon talk by Mrs. Emma J. Scheer of Santa Monica, past department president of the W.R.C.

Senior music pupils of Mrs. C. A. McCullah were pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Ethel Philips recently, a program and series of musical games composing the diversion of the afternoon. Those appearing on the program were the Misses Pearle Fay, Hazel Filer, Anna Curran, Evelyn Lynderholm, Rose Siefken, Dorothy Harris, Elizabeth Mott, Ethel Philips, Mildred Kimmel, Leonora and Ruth McAllister. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

FULLERTON

Participating in the formal opening of the Fairway County Club, one evening last week, were Mr. and Mrs. M. Eugene Durfee, Mr. and Mrs. I. K. Kirker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer and Arthur A. Coons of Fullerton.

Especially enjoyable in that it celebrated a wedding anniversary as well as brought together a congenial group of friends was the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bruce presided at their home on East Chapman avenue, one evening recently, honoring Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Goodson. Mr. Goodson is the business associate of Mr. Bruce and the occasion was the sixth wedding anniversary of the honorees.

At 6:30 dinner was served with attractive appointments carried out in a pretty color motif of pink and green. Afterwards Five Hundred was played, with Mrs. Clarence Goodson of Anaheim winning first prize for ladies, and B. O. Goodson first prize for men.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wickersheim on West Amerige avenue, was one evening last week the scene of a very happy celebration which marked the fifty-eighth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Wickersheim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Oswald, whose home is on West Whiting avenue. After the dinner for which only the host and hostess, and their son had asked only the honored guests, music and reminiscence claimed most of the evening.

SANTA ANA

Eluding the attentions of their friends, Mrs. Erma Lawson and George Moore of this city were married in Los Angeles Saturday, February 23, and are now enjoying a honeymoon automobile trip to various coast cities, including Santa Barbara and Ventura. They will be at home here in the middle of March at 839 North Ross street.

In carrying out what has come to be an established custom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Taylor of this city and Judge and Mrs. F. H. Taft of Santa Monica on Sunday, February 24, celebrated the wedding anniversary which they share in common. Discovering a number of years ago that they each had chosen February 24 as their wedding date, the two couples have alternated in entertaining on that date. This year the matter of entertainment was answered by Fred H. Taylor, a son, who with his mother, planned a charming dinner at a local inn to honor the two couples and friends.

With half their number representing men of the colonial period, including five presidents, and the remaining members impersonating colonial dames, girls of the To-He-Ha Camp Fire enjoyed a party as guests of Miss Marjorie Blauer at her Spurgeon-street home. A patriotic effect was achieved in decorations of flags and tricolors carried out in flowers. Master Frederick Blauer, small brother of the hostess, represented the aborigines in his war paint and feathers.

BREA

Missionary work and its advantages was the topic at the joint meeting of the missionary societies of the Congregational and Christian churches. The ladies of the Congregational church were the hostesses. Dr. Charles Thibbits of Whittier was the speaker for the afternoon talk. Mrs. C. Severson gave a paper on the "Chinese Mother and Her Children." Mrs. Rymer accompanied by Mrs. Henigan favored with a vocal solo. A get-acquainted hour was enjoyed after the program. Refreshments of tea and cake were served by the hospitality committee. The mission study, which is being conducted under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Reynolds, has developed into a contest. At the end of the study period those having the best papers and views on the subject matter studied, will be the guests of the losing side.

Mah jongg and dancing were the pleasures afforded the guests at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid of South Sievers street, on Tuesday evening. Late in the evening a delicious plate luncheon was served by the hostess.

DINUBA

At the First Presbyterian Church at Hollywood, Thursday evening, Februray 14, marriage rites of Miss Marian Swanson of Los Angeles, formerly of Omaha, Neb., and Charles F. Massey of Dinuba were solemnized. Mr. and Mrs. Massey will make their home in Dinuba, Mr. Massey being city editor of the Dinuba Sentinel.

Cards and dancing offered ententainment Friday evening when the Dinuba Business and Professional Women's Club entertained the Rotary and Lions clubs at the Women's clubhouse. Decorations were in keeping with the Valentine season. Special entertainment features were "comic stunts" performed by a number of the business girls in costume. The guest list numbered about 100.

A double celebration was staged last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leisz of Dinuba, the occasion marking the fortieth anniversary of the Leisz's wedding and the thirty-eighth of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Horsman, their honor guests. During the afternoon an informal reception was held, a number of close friends gathering to pay their respects for the occasion. The guest list also included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Prince of Oakland, house guests in the Leisz home. Refreshments were served at a late hour and a radio program completed the evening.

STYLE Notes
in the world of Feminine Footwear Fashion

Published each week by THE BOOTERY (C. H. Wolfelt Co.)
611-615 West Seventh Street
LOS ANGELES
The Pacific Coast Stores of THE BOOTERY are located in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Pasadena

THIS issue of Style Notes will be devoted largely to a discussion of the new hosiery shades in vogue for the present and coming season. The designers of hose are continually striving to produce a wider field of varying shades and colorings for use with shoes of black and the various tones of brown and gray—and for evening wear.

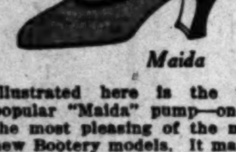
Whereas a few months ago Madame thought only of black hose with her black shoes, today she has an almost unlimited assortment of shades from which to make her choice. Included in the new color names of hose to be used with black shoes are Vida, Anjou Rose, Belgique, Peau, Chaire, Cinder, Platinum, French Nude and Banana.

One also meets new names in "the Brown family" for the coming season. There is Aurora, Rose, Sunburst, Soliel, Paris, Mushroom, Camel, Sandalwood and Rose Blonde.

With evening slippers the colors are Touraine, Mauresque, Peach, Rachelle, Venetian and Blush.

The Bootery is featuring this week an all-silk chiffon hose at $2.85—in white and in all the new street shades as well as gold and silver. Included is Gunmetal, Pearl, Jackrabbit, French Nude, Freckles, Log Cabin, Fawn, and Tan Bark.

Here is also an unusually fine fifty-one gauge stockings in the most desirable colors for street and evening wear at $6 a pair.



Maida

Illustrated here is the very popular "Maida" pump—one of the most pleasing of the many new Bootery models. It may be had in Brown suede, black suede, black satin and patent. Maida may also be had with the popular baby Louis heel instead of the higher heel illustrated.

This model very closely symbolizes the style tendency of the present season. It occupies a position midway between the severely simple design and the fancy strap model.

It has proven a decided favorite in black patent, black kid trimmed, to be worn with the black and white sport costume with medium weight white hose.

Following the rather extreme effects in footwear that prevailed several seasons ago when high color was in general vogue, there was a decided reaction toward the very simple shoe. Many of the foremost Parisian designers showed a very plain patent pump with little or no ornamentation. Since that time styles have become somewhat stabilized. The fashionable woman of America prefers to "steer the middle course," staying away from all extremes and favoring as always that daintiness of line that is essential to real beauty in footdress.

The Bootery is gratified to be able to show at the present time the finest and most varied assemblage of new shoe models in its history. Many of these have been produced by one of Europe's foremost makers from original and exclusive Bootery designs.

In our hosiery department are many specially produced color tones as listed in this announcement, to harmonize exactly with the long range of colors shown in these new shoes.

WRECKERS BUSY MAKING NEW CITY OUT OF OLD

Strange Relics of Past Discovered as Ancient Houses Fall in March of Progress

BY MARY E. WALTER

If all the buildings that are being wrecked in Los Angeles ere grouped together, what a city they would make—churches, iness blocks, beauty parlors, restaurants, hotels, theaters d homes.

Mostly homes, for according to L. Joss, authority on "home ecking," 75 per cent of the ildings wrecked by his concern houses, too old, too big, too le or otherwise impossible to e. So old Los Angeles yields to new.

House wrecking follows build- here, both outdoing any other , it seems. One Los Angeles cking concern has never lacked work in six years, employing fifty to one hundred and fifty , and estimates business at d $200,000 a year. Another, of the largest, did $1,000,000 th of wrecking in 1923. Fifty cent of the wrecking of is to make way for business and twenty-five per cent for parks.

LUMBER IS SOLD

It is used as fast as it is ripped t and sorted, sold on the ds or in the wrecked lumber .

Then a helper stood from under at last moment and—crash—it ered on the floor.

EXCHANGING WIVES HABIT OF COUNTRY

Missionary Here Tells of Other Odd Customs of Esquimaux Tribe

BY JAMES M. WARNACK

If you sometimes have a desire to change wives with your next-door neighbor you have a right to curse your stars because you were not born fifty years ago on Ingaleenee Island which, until a few years ago, was a place of people of pantagamous tendencies.

Rev. Arthur Eide, formerly missionary to Alaska for the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, and for the Methodist Church, has arrived in Los Angeles bearing many strange relics and romances of the peculiar tribe of Esquimaux who inhabit Ingaleenee Island, in Behring Strait, whither he was sent as a teacher, under the auspices of the United States government.

Mr. Eide, who built the $35,000 hospital at Point Barrow and who for several years was pastor of the Point Barrow Esquimaux Church, spent three years on Ingaleenee or "Little Diomede" Island, which belongs to the United States, being the most northern territory in possession of this government.

"Of the 35,000 Esquimaux in Alaska, the smallest tribe is the fast vanishing Ingaleenee people," said Mr. Eide. "There are only about 100 of them left on the island, although a few score others are to be found on the Siberian mainland. Of the origin of the tribe little is known, but there are reasons to believe they are descendants of the Scandinavians.

"This remarkably interesting little island, about 3000 miles north of Los Angeles, is only one mile in width, but it is one of the greatest hunting grounds in the world," said Mr. Eide. "Deer, bear and smaller fur animals are to be found in abundance and a favorite sport of the men in the springtime is to stand on the shore and shoot walrus.

"The people are idol worshipers and their images, often buried in graves along with the deceased, represent the spirits of whales, bears, walruses and other animals. In case of death no member of the bereaved family is allowed to do any work for a full year, by orders of the witches and medicine men.

"Among the strange customs of these people is that concerning marriage relations," said Mr. Eide. "Every few months a big party and dance is given and the men exchange wives. At least that was

Matrimonial Maniac Wakes Up in Sheriff's Net

BY J. E. MITCHELL

"Paregoric and women put me here," whines matrimonial maniac in Sheriff Traeger's mosquito net.

That's what prohibition did for us. Wine is gone but we still have laudanum, ladies and lyrics.

A. V. (After Volstead) toastmaster arises at banquet with: "A little laudanum to the ladies, lads."

Everybody laps up ladleful and lilts latest lullaby—an old brand with a new label.

"You made me what I am today,
I hope you're satisfied.
You drug and drug and drug me down . . . ."

Pickle with polygamous propensities prodded by paregoric twangs harp-symphony on bars of cell and echoes:

"Only a bird in a guilty cage . . . ."

Paregoric poke on point of chin paralyzes ont-time prize-fighter's pedals. After that he can't run away so he marries them all.

Bride of a week scratches aside garbage wagon full of bottles looking for missing husband.

"Peekaboo, I see you,
Hiding in the medicine chest."

New husband dashes out to drug store for laudanum a la mode. Doubles with paregoric parfait.

FIGUEROA PROPOSED AS FIFTH AVENUE OF CITY

Already Bears Semblance to Noted New York Street; Possibilities of Thoroughfare Shown

BY NEETA MARQUIS

On a recent Sunday forenoon, when the sky was an unbroken sweep of turquoise above the palm trees, I took my first walk in many months along Figueroa street between Sixth and Tenth. And like a prophetic picture I saw what that street is destined to become if we, in our juggling or traffic conditions, will only help it a little: a world-famous thoroughfare—the Fifth avenue of Los Angeles.

How many points of resemblance to the original Fifth avenue is it capable of developing? Rather a surprising number, when you stop to think it out. One of the thrills of New York City is a ride on the upper deck of a Fifth-avenue bus from the lower end at Washington Square out to the northern edge of Central Park at One Hundred and Tenth street. Beginning at "artistic" Greenwich Village—which still houses plenty of people both delightful and respectable—running through the fashionable shopping section, and on out past the palatial homes of men and women world-distinguished for the power which inheres in combined wealth and social position, one finds he has run the gamut of one of the most significant bits of our American civic history.

HISTORY OF STREET

But we have history in Los Angeles, too, with much of it identified with this thoroughfare. At the time of the Ord survey, in 1849, Figueroa was given the descriptive name of Chapulin, or Grasshopper street, as it was at the time the border-line between the old Spanish Pueblo and the outlying waste covered with weeds and lively young locusts. It was also the route of the last zanja—open ditch—remaining from the system which supplied water to the early Pueblo-dwellers, which served in this section for the irrigation of hte vineyards and orange groves of the two men who had dug the ditch—they receiving in payment for the job an allotment of land which even twenty-five years ago had risen to a valuation of $15,000,000.

In its second period Chapulin was called Pearl street, under which name it began to be sought as the exclusive residence section into which it flowered in its third stage, when it was chosen for the perpetuation of the name of one of the ablest of California Mexican executives, Gov. Figueroa, who took office in 1833. Even as Figueroa street it was for many years bordered by the old zanja, although the stream latterly flowed within confining walls of gray cement at the inner edge of the sidewalk, skirting the lawns of the local aristocracy.

Figueroa street, then, is distinctly identified with the historic past of the West, even as Fifth avenue is with that of New York

IS BEAUTIFUL, TOO

One of the striking features of Fifth avenue is its architectural impressiveness and beauty. New York in general is rich in stately churches, leaning to the Episcopalian and the Presbyterian faiths. Beginning in Greenwich Village we find the First Presbyterian edifice, at which people stand in line on Sunday mornings to hear Harry Emerson Fosdick preach. Following on up the avenue to Central Park, at Fifty-ninth street, appear

REGAINING RICHES AS GARDENER

Wall Street Victim Bids Fair to Recoup Amid Beverly Shrubs

BY CARL CRANE

A rapid slide from engineering million-dollar deals in Wall street to gardening at $100 a month and house rent in Beverly Hills would probably make most men so dizzy they couldn't tell a cucumber from a tearose.

But it didn't have that effect on a certain gentleman late of New York, now of Los Angeles. Not only is he able to tell the different growths apart but a wizard at making them flourish. The grounds surrounding the palatial Beverly Hills home of a well-known capitalist, where the New Yorker is employed, are the envy of the fashionable neighborhood.

Furthermore, the erstwhile financier is recovering from the shock of the rude jolt handed him by the fate of the speculator to such an extent that he is responding once more in a small way to the seductive call of big finance.

"I thought there was something unusual about that man when I hired man," said the local man, when telling about his unusual employee the other day. "He didn't have the appearance of an ordinary workman out of a job, he seemed well educated and his conversation showed that he possessed a good education.

"But he told me a hard-luck story. Said he had just come out here from the East with his wife, who was in bad health. He told me they were down and out financially and that he had to have a job to keep going. He said he had done some gardening and had always taken a great interest in that line of work.

"I liked his appearace, and as I needed somebody with experience to look after the grounds I put him to work. He made good from the start and has proved an exceptionally valuable man. One day when he was out working on the lawn I fell into conversation with him. He expressed his appreciation of California's wonderful climate and the possibility here of continuing gardening operations right through the winter.

"Then the conversation drifted to the money-making possibilities in Los Angeles, and I noticed that he seemed unusually interested. I related various instances that had

Predicts German Crash Within Year

ival of Stinnes enies Stories of ealth Amassed y Industrialists

Felix Deutsch, German Industrial Magnate, Says:—

"German factories are eating up their substance. I believe there is going to be a crash and it is coming within the next twelve months."

"The United States does not realize that Germany is her best customer and that our prosperity has a very direct effect upon hers."

"I am glad to see that American farmers realize that European prosperity directly effects the purchase of their grain and are talking of granting us credits."

"Loans are mere stop gaps which can help but cannot cure."

CIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

RLIN, Feb. 18.—While the d is being flooded with tales e destitution of the masses German people, are the big industrialists reaping profits and building up fortunes in foreign countries? question is being repeatedly by nations outside of Ger- and I have just put it square- to Felix Deutsch, one of the great overlords of German in- . The other is of course Stinnes.

Deutsch replied to my ques- not merely with an emphatic but with a prediction that rman industrialists were for an inevitable crash will come within the next months.

e firms which Deutsch con- crash the shock will be felt the world. His name ap- on the governing board of concerns, ranging from railroad systems, inter- electrical industries and foundries to artificial limb and paper mills. ained to Deutsch that man in the eet it seemed mass of German people starvation while the big lists were exploiting the misery to gigantic profit.

OT BASED ON FACT

this is the wail of the ," Mr. Deutsch interrupted nation, "but their reasoning is not always based upon economic fact. They see that we are paying a high dividend, but don't stop to figure out what that dividend amounts to in paper marks.

"Let me tell you of the position one of my English friends is in today. He owns 2,000,000 shares of our stock. In the last year prior to the war, we paid 14 per cent dividends and he therefore, received 280,000 marks or 14,000 pounds. In the year 1921-22, we paid 25 per cent dividends, so that my friend received 500,000 marks. But those marks were worth only five pounds, and if my friend relied solely upon those dividends for support, he would now be starving.

"Today AEG shares have risen about 300,000,000 per cent in paper marks. But if my friend were to sell his shares today he would receive only three pounds each for them, while prior to the war they would have netted him 120 pounds each.

"And here is another thing which the outside world doesn't know about," Mr. Deutsch went on earnestly. "In the finishing industries at least, German factories are using up all their prewar accumulated capital. In other words, we are not replacing our worn-out machinery or keeping our equipment up to date. There is little depreciation on the great blast furnaces and massive equipment of the heavy industries, but in the finishing industries, new inventions and constant wear and tear send machinery to the scrap heap very quickly. Now before the war, the average finishing industry laid aside every year for depreciation 20 per cent of the value of its equipment. In my opinion this must be done today. But with most of our machinery purchasable only in gold, and considerably higher than the prewar prices, this depreciation fund is obviously impossible.

CRASH COMING

"Therefore, most of the finishing industries, today, are eating up their substance, living on their own meat. We are not camels and we cannot do this forever. I believe there is going to be a crash, and it is coming within the next twelve months."

"But your labor costs are far below their prewar cost?" I suggested.

"Not always," Mr. Deutsch returned quickly. "It varies with

LEAP YEAR'S PREROGATIVE SCORNED BY LOCAL GIRLS

Couples at Hall of Records Resent Implication That Brides Had Popped the Question

BY J. L. MEARS, JR.

Leap Year, so far, is a complete fizzle. Maids of Los Angeles are not using the traditional prerogative to "pop the question." It is true that records at the Marriage License Bureau show that 300 more licenses were issued during January and February this year than were issued in the corresponding period last year. But the increase is not due to Leap Year.

What method was used to arrive at the startling conclusion above? It was simple. The reporter stationed himself at the license bureau on a busy morning several days ago. As each couple filled out the blanks he approached them in a polite manner, especially if the man was large and the woman carried an umbrella or hatpins, and asked them which of the two had proposed marriage.

NONE ADMIT IT

Not a solitary woman said she had. Not a man did, either. The nearest one man came to it was confined to a moving of the lips, a glance at the fair creature at his side, then silence.

The first couple to be approached were a strange combination. The matrimonial prize, from the bachelor's point of view, was a small, pale individual, surely not one of those specimens from the great open spaces. The prospective better half was a woman of determined personality. It showed in her every action and look. She had all the assurance it is presumed one gains from reading Elinor Glyn's "How to Win a Husband." But even at that, it appeared safe to ask her. There were two deputy sheriffs in the hall who would probably answer a call for help to prevent more than a few minor contusions, lacerations and abrasions, or perhaps a possible skull fracture.

"This is no time for jokes," the little man said, very solemnly.

"Most certainly not," she snapped.

"To be sure," agreed the reporter, feeling that it must indeed be a serious business.

REPORTER USES DISCRETION

Several more couples appeared before the desk. The men were rather rough-looking individuals, and it was thought best not to chance hurting the feelings of the

Pasadena School Student Aims to Own Harbor Yard and Ocean Liners

Seventeen years of age and at the top of his profession. That is Wallace S. Good, Pasadena high-school senior, whose reputation as a builder of ship models has reached all the way across to the Atlantic Ocean.

Good has just finished his fiftieth model, one of the steamer Avalon, shown herewith with some of his other models. He also expects a commission from the United American-Hamburg American line to make models of their entire line, numbering twelve ships.

He has a completely equipped shop where he turns out the miniature vessels, many of which are actual working models. They are perfect replicas of the originals, complete in every detail and made to scale. The doors open and close, the ropes and pulleys work, and each tiny accessory in constructed for use.

Good pursues his avocation every afternoon after school and drill in the R.O.T.C., in which he is a lieutenant, and even puts in Saturday afternoons at it.

His ambition is to become a steamship builder and operator, with yards and a terminal at Los Angeles Harbor.

WRITER IN FLORIDA

James Creelman, who will write the adaptation of the novel, "Sinners in Heaven,' for the screen, has gone to Florida to confer with Alan Crosland on the treatment of the story. The picture will be made at the Paramount Long Island Studio as soon as Mr. Crosland completes the picture he is now making with Betty Compson. So far only one member of the cast has been chosen, Richard Dix.

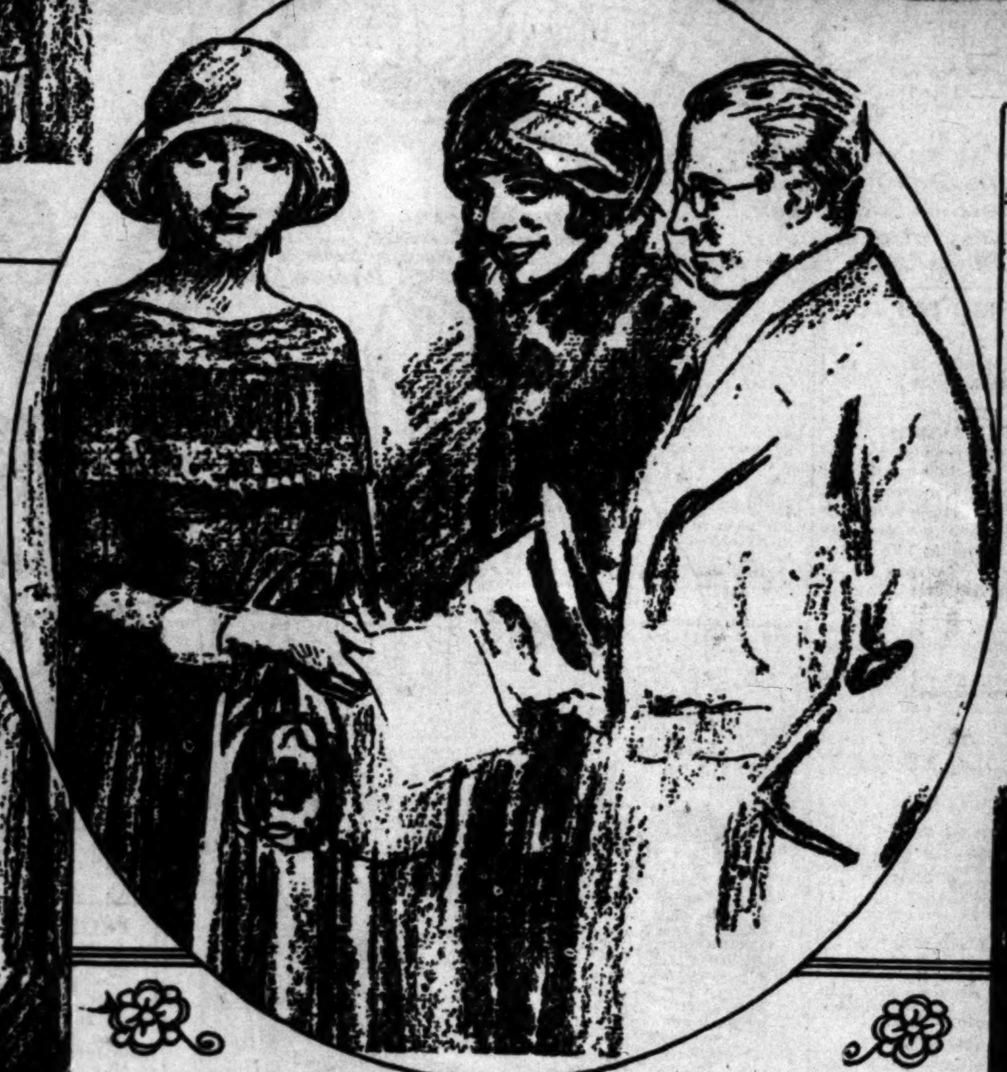
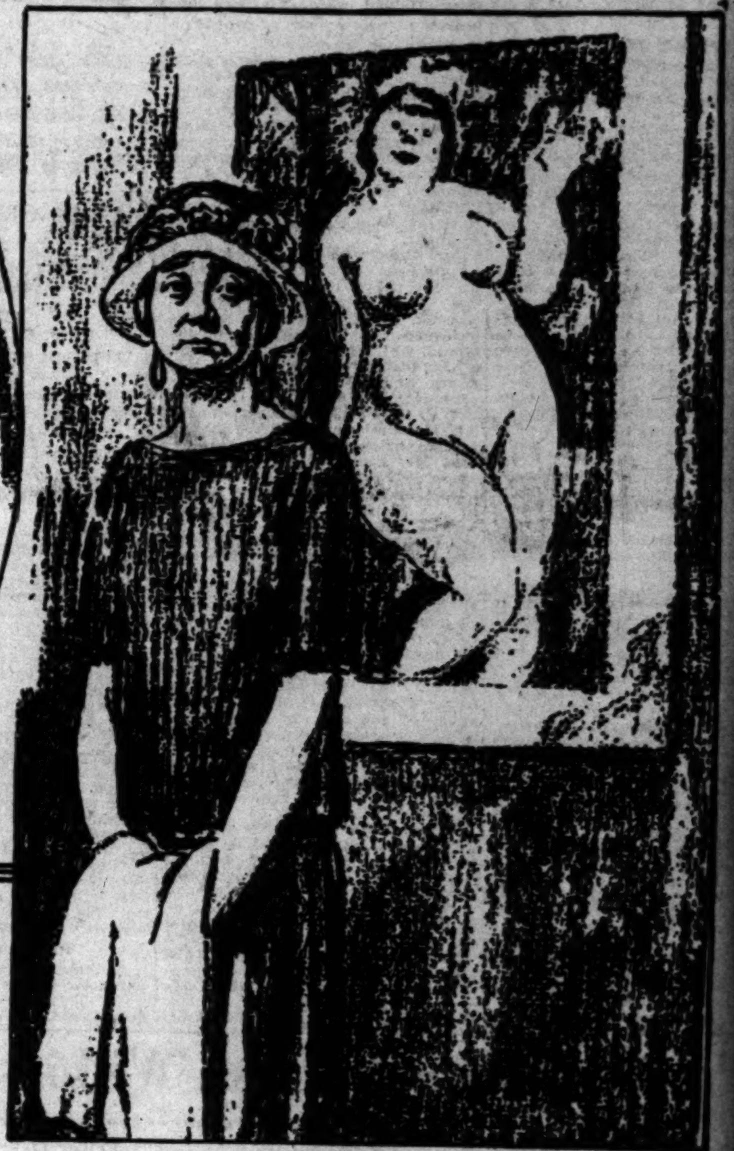
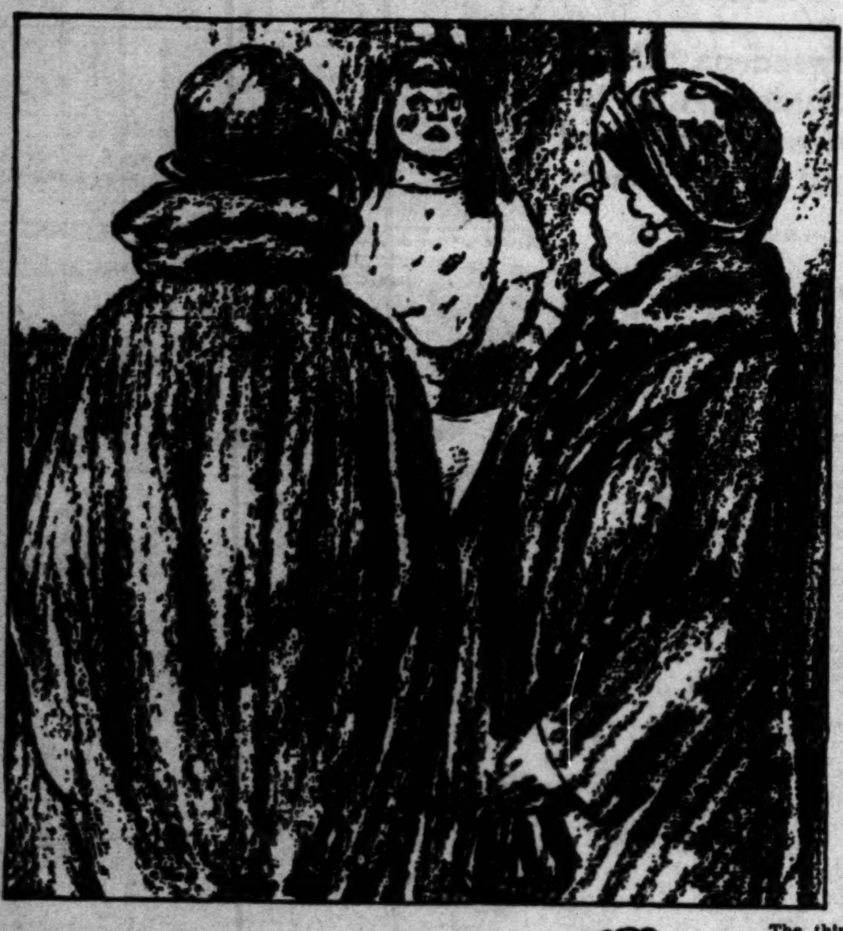
"You must drop in for tea, and we'll have a nice long talk about your work." The shy artist and the large lady with the carnivorous gleam in her eye meet for the first time but not the last time.



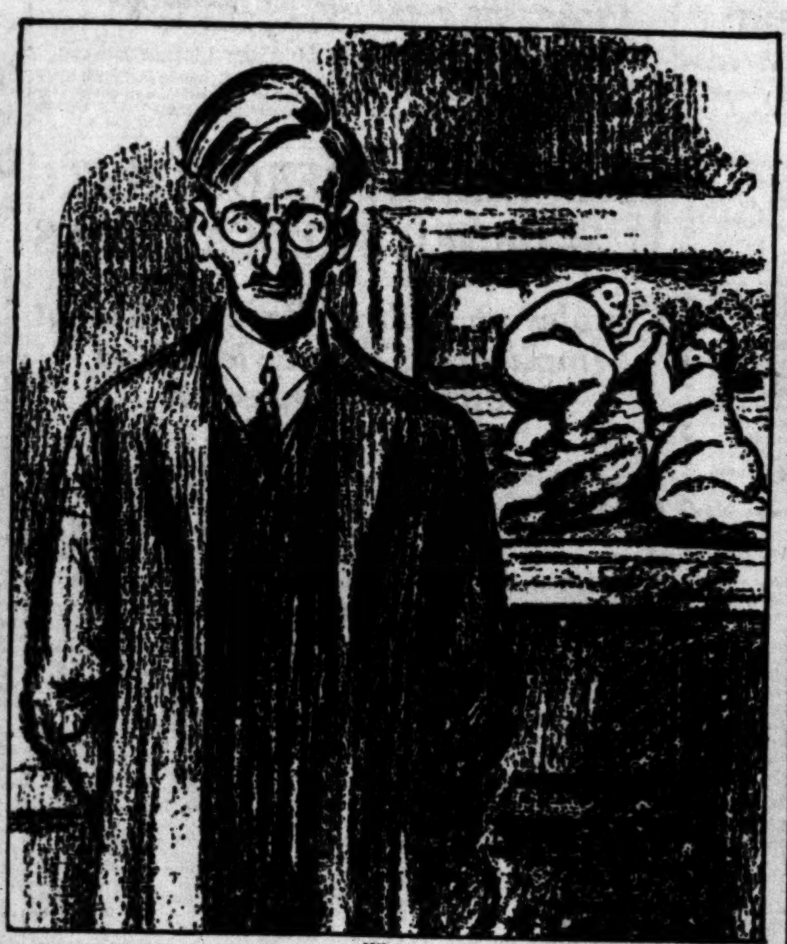
"Now, there's one ought to be called 'Yes, We have No Pajamas,'" Three lay minds are having a beautiful time being comic.



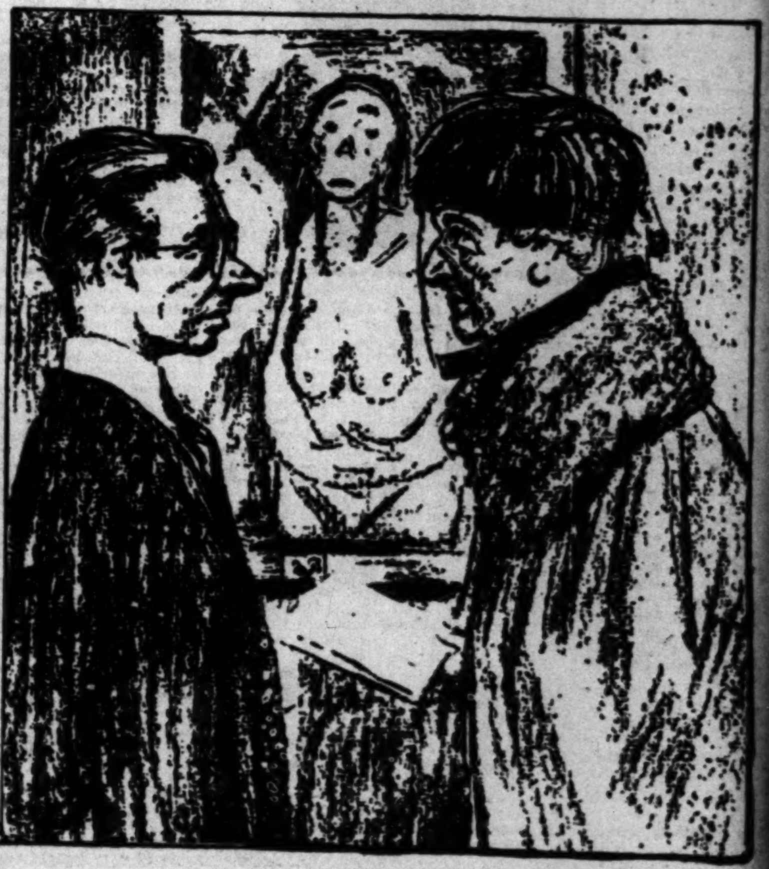
Mrs. Dewtone, standing quietly in front of her husband's painting of "Circe," is waiting for her husband to go home. Three ladies are staring at Mrs. Dewtone and the painting. They are wondering and wondering. "She must have been a lot fatter when she posed for it," whispers Mrs. Pelham Manor to Mrs. Mount Vernon.



"Well, all I can say is, 'Would you like to have that child for a daughter?'"



The thinner the artist, the fatter are the nudes he paints. If you doubt it, look first at Mr. Skibo, and then at this latest masterpiece, "Patty cake, patty cake, baker's man."



What is art coming to, anyway! Right there in the printed catalogue it says, plain as day, "Number 26—Self Portrait." An elderly patron of the arts, with the aid of the gallery assistant, is trying to straighten matters out.

FLOYD DELL AND FREEDOM

In "Janet March" One of Our Young Intellectuals Tells the Story of an American Girl Who Sought Freedom and Experience

BY LILLIAN C. FORD

JANET MARCH. By Floyd Dell. Alfred A. Knopf, New York.

"Janet March" is reported withdrawn from the bookstores, which naturally brings up the question, why?

It is an ambitious novel, divided into four "books," the first of which goes back to the fourth generation. The second tells us all about Janet herself; the third is concerned with that Roger who was the father of at least one of Janet's children. The other fathers, past, potential and to come, do not play a sufficiently important part in Janet's earnest young life to merit a whole book. The last brief book unites Janet and Roger, how permanently only the author can say—and he refrains.

The book starts well, with an account of that Andrew March who worked himself up from stable boy to owner of a livery stable and then to shipper of wheat and owner of elevators in Minnesota. While these chapters seem to owe something to "His Children's Children" and to other fiction of the three-generation variety, there is sufficient vitality in them to hold the interest. The hop-skip-and-jump method of presenting the Marches of different generations as children and as adults, as fathers and as infants-in-arms, as being married and as being babes, all in one breath, is disconcerting. For instance, on pages one and two Andrew March is referred to as "now dead" and his children are presented as among the best people of St. Pierre. On page 6 we go back to Andrew March's father and mother and to Andrew's own boyhood. Then, quite logically, Andrew's career is followed until he is the successful father of a family, grown and educated and in business for themselves. This on page No. 29. But on page No. 31 Andrew's brood are all children again. Two pages farther on Bradford is again in college and is in love with Penelope Rockford. Then we are switched back to Penelope as a child and have to 'get her back to college and the two married. On page No. 68 we see Andrew March dead in his chair, at the very moment when Bradford is told that Penelope has presented him with a son.

In the next chapter we have to start back when Bradford's daughter, Janet, is 2 years old and work up to the period four years later when the son above mentioned was born. On Page 86 Andrew March peeps in upon his granddaughter, criticising the free way in which she is being brought up. From that point on he is left in his grave and the narrative settles down to forward moving for a time.

Janet is pictured as a wilful child of abounding vitality, properly brought up as a young animal. At 16 she decides to go to high school instead of to the private school her parents had selected. This opens up a long series of escapades for Janet, whom Mr. Dell looks upon as a young Minerva, but who acts like a very cold and calculating young Venus. Petting parties, drinking parties, and other such innocent diversions occupied much of her school and college life, but they left her plenty of time in which to moon and to plan a career in which she was always to do exactly as she pleased.

When she was 21 and felt that the time had come to learn from first-hand experience all about life and sex, she deliberately went to the apartment of a young man with whom she was slightly acquainted and after telling him that she did not love him, gave him to understand that she wished to remain with him for a day or two. When, later, she found herself in the conventional "trouble," she took the straightest way out, with the aid of a physician who assured her that when she felt like going through with it she would have fine babies.

This is possibly enough of the story. The chapters devoted to Roger are quite extraneous to the narrative. In fact, Mr. Dell is like a badly trained setter that starts to hunt down every bird that crosses his path. And not until he gets back to the egg from which it was hatched is he satisfied to go on with his story.

In the final book Janet and Roger, each having had experience, meet each other in Greenwich Village. There, after what may be called a trial marriage, which proves fruitful, they call in the clergy.

Of course, it's absurd, this ending. Why all the experiment and the revolt against "conventions," the high and mighty stand for freedom, if, in the end the best one can do for one's characters is to have them marry. Does Mr. Dell, after all, believe with the Bertha M. Clay and Ethel M. Dell schools of fiction that all struggle and doubt end at the altar?

The book is uneven. Some of it is too unsophisticated for the average sophomore to have written; some of it is straight and true. But it strikes one as a sincere attempt to delineate the heart and soul turmoil of a certain part of the younger generation, with which the author sympathises as only one not yet far removed from the moon-calf period can sympathize. A critical and fair and open-minded view of the younger generation cannot be written by a young idealist who thinks he is a realist any more than by some old fogy who stands with feet solidly in the past.

As for the morality of the book. It is at least warped. Mr. Dell is no detached author showing his characters in action, according to their bent, but an ardent advocate, holding up their conduct as true and beautiful and inevitable. It is free love that we have here and free love made desirable and lawful. And since the novel must stand as a criticism of old institutions and conventions, rather than as a work of art, the validity of its criticism is a fair question. That the author capitulates in the end and comes back to the conventional is the harshest criticism that can be made of his own ideas. On the whole, I think its withdrawal is not a great loss to the public.

It is only fair to the author to say that the loosest revels have no charm for him; he finds them vain and empty. But he has a romantic idea about freedom that he should have sluffed in the early twenties. If he had, he could not enter into the antics of his characters with such gusto.

BARCHESTER TOWERS. By Anthony Trollope. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York.

After reading Floyd Dell's youthful appraisal of the youthful way of life, one turns with a contented yawn to Anthony Trollope. Scribner has just issued this year satisfactory edition of "Barchester Towers" as one of "The Modern Student's Library." Clear type, pleasing paper and neat binding make the books of this group worth noting.

Some dozen years ago the novels of Anthony Trollope, especially those known as the Barsetshire novels, afforded me a pleasant period of reading, and I find that, despite much reading of the new and the awful, these books still have their charm.

"Barchester Towers" is one of the best of that group of novels which Cross credited with having added a new shire to England. In it Trollope's urbanity, his competence to handle the theme attempted, his ability to recreate the atmosphere and life of a community and his knack at making real the minor disturbances of life, are all at their best.

As one reads of Dr. Grantley, whose hopes of succeeding his father as bishop were so sadly frustrated by the fall of the ministry at the very hour of his father's death; of the new bishop, controlled on one hand by his tyrannical wife and on the other by his plotting chaplain; of the disposal of the wardenship of Hiram's hospital and of the ex-warden's patience and self-doubt; and of the intrigue over the hand of the rich widow, Mrs. Bold, the world created by Anthony Trollope becomes surprisingly near and real.

Trollope's leisurely way of telling his story is not much more leisurely than that of our younger authors today, who go off into so many byways, who give so many physiological details in the telling of their stories, and who follow every chipmunk of fancy up a tree, that their novels stretch out to an appalling length.

It has long been the fashion to consider Trollope as a second-rate writer, who, without inspiration or genius achieved success by mere grit and hard work. But surely his power of holding our interest through volume after volume proves ability of a high order. That he lacks the highest dramatic power and the deepest profundity may be admitted, but by his simplicity and humanity, coupled with a really wide knowledge of human nature and a rare ability to reproduce scenes so as to enable his readers to visualize them, he created group after group of very human and very interesting people. Especially vital are his parsons. He gave us clergy who are hearty or irascible, ambitious or self-doubting, jovial or gloomy, hale and hearty or weak and enemic, and he made each so much himself that we know them much better than most of us know our own spiritual adviser today.

On the fifteenth of January Maj. Ian Hay Beith, better known as Ian Hay, will lecture in Boston. This is one of his few public appearances during the brief visit he is making in this country. Mrs. Beith is with him, and the object of the trip is primarily a holiday.

LITERARY GOSSIP

A new publishing firm is Milton, Balch & Co., of New York. One of their early spring announcements is a collection of stories by Richard Connell whose earlier book, "The Sin of Monsieur Pettipon," attracted favorable attention two years ago. The new book contains among others 'A Friend of Napoleon,' 'The Prince Has the Mumps,' 'Son of a Sloganeer,' and 'A Reputation,' all of which were highly praised by short story critics when they appeared first in magazines.

George Chappell, author of the "Cruise of the Kawa," has written a volume of humorous verse. It is illustrated by Hogarth, Jr., and is announced for early publication by Albert & Charles Boni.

Kenelm Digby in the New York Evening Post said recently:

". . . We wish to call your attention before we leave off today, to 'The Antiquarian,' edited by Esther Singleton . . . It is the boss magazine for the collector of antiques, works of art and rarities . . . The address is 461 Eighth avenue, New York, and it's three bucks a year."

Several phases of social and economic conditions hitherto unrevealed in the United States are dealt with in Frank Tannenbaum's latest book, "Darker Phases of the South," published by the Putnams.

Arthur Sullivant Hoffman, editor of Adventure is cruising to South America on an adventure of his own — a vacation. Mr. Hoffman's "Fundamentals of Fiction Writing" is being used in the short-story writing course at the University of Michigan.

In all the mass of literature that has been written concerning Woodrow Wilson there are certain books which will stand as authoritative records of the man and his work. Of these the book by Henry Jones Ford, professor of politics at Princeton University, entitled "Woodrow Wilson: The Man and His Work," is a distinguished example of intelligent estimate of what were the qualities of Mr. Wilson's personality and of how they were revealed in his career and in his writings and addresses. The principles on which Woodrow Wilson acted stand out in it with striking clarity. For those who look for a balanced, unpartisan survey of President Wilson's deeds and words Prof. Ford's volume may be commended.

In a letter to Mr. Knopf on "Plutarch Lied," Jean de Pierrefeu's arraignment of war policies, David Starr Jordan, Chancellor Emeritus of Stanford University, California says: "I am under special obligation to you for the very clever satire on the emptiness of military glory in your translation of Pierrefeu's "Plutarque a Menti." He has indeed seen 'history in the cooking,' and described the unholy stew with a delicacy of touch and keenness of vision rarely shown outside of France."

Putnams have concluded arrangements for the second volume of "Georgian Stories," the first of which appeared in 1923 and included examples of the best work of D. H. Lawrence, Sheila Kaye Smith, Ethel Colburn Mayne, May Sinclair, Algernon Blackwood and many other representative writers. The divergence between the American and British ideals of short-story writing created widespread

ZANE GREY IS WIDELY READ

According to Publisher's Figures He is Most Popular

Harper's estimate that seven and a half million copies of books by Zane Grey have been printed in America alone. A conservative estimate is six readers to each copy, which would mean, according to the publishers, that there are in America 45,000,000 Zane Grey readers—nearly one-half the population of the United States. The result is that although Mr. Grey's latest novel, "The Call of the Canyon," was published only several weeks ago, it is already one of the first six on the list of best sellers.

A GROUP OF SHORT STORIES

THE SHADOWY THIRD. By Ellen Glasgow. Doubleday, Page & Co., New York.

An unusual group of short stories is this in which Ellen Glasgow draws from the spirit world the element needed to give the dramatic quality desired. It needs no spiritualist to appreciate these stories. They possess that quality of seeming veracity that convinces all but the most skeptical. Ellen Glasgow is too experienced and able a writer to step over the border line where credulity ends and skepticism begins. Quite simply she tells her stories, each charged with the atmosphere of the spirit world, and yet each free from hard and definite statements that might arouse dissent.

In each story there is, in addition to the living characters, another element, a "shadowy third" that may be nothing more than a memory, a mirage of the mind, a coincidence or a dream, but that suggests the presence of the spirit of some one who has passed from this life into that other life that awes and subdues most of us.

In the first story, it is a lovely child whose mother sees flitting around the room, playing as she had done in life. With great skill Miss Glasgow builds up her situation, with the child's stepfather a sinister figure of respectability who forces her mother into a sanatorium and is himself brought to a horrible death by supernatural means.

"Dare's Gift" is the story of a haunted house that has a sinister influence upon the lives and characters of all who live in it. How a devoted and lovely wife was led to betray a secret that meant the ruin of her husband is the particular instance given here of the evil spirit that held the house in its sway.

In "The Past" the memory of a long dead wife threatens the happiness of a second marriage. Here it is the hold the wife has on the mind and imagination of the living that creates the trouble. All the stories are superbly well done and they are not too uncanny to make good reading of the kind that inspires long trains of thought about this universe and its complexity.

MY FAIR LADY. By Louis Hemon. Translated by William Aspenwall Bradley. The Macmillan Company, New York.

A group of stories, most of them so fragmentary as to be mere sketches, by the author of "Maria Chapdelaine," which was published posthumously in America two years ago. These sketches bear internal evidence of having been written at an early age of the author. They are delicate, restrained, full of the beauty of music in a minor key, and yet they have a kind of vitality that comes from insight and intensity of feeling.

The first story, "My Fair Lady," represents the quality of the whole. In it two men of middle age meet by chance in a Paris cafe. It is fifteen years since they were boyhood friends. At first they find nothing but commonplaces to say. Then, with the coming of the evening lights, they talk of Liette, whose memory evoked the picture of "a great garden, of a lawn girdled with trees, bathed with sunlight, where children played. . . . On this lawn there were sometimes many children, a whole host of children, boys and girls, and, at other times, there were two or three only. But Liette, little Liette, was always there. The days when Liette was not there had never been worth remembering."

In the intimacy of memories of the past one of the men tells the other of his love for Liette, who has long since married and died. From this brief story we gather much. The long-dead days live again because of the vivid character of that little girl, so deeply and secretly loved. "They had separated and they had grown old, many among them never having seen each other again. But those who met many years later had only to pronounce one name in order to recall the dead years and their poignant perfume of youth, to see again the little girl with tender eyes who held her court between the house and the tall, somber trees, on the lawn marbled with sunlight."

PICTURESQUE BERMUDA HOMES

BERMUDA HOUSES. By John S. Humphreys. The Marshall Jones Company, Boston.

A quarto in which the text and illustrations are by John S. Humphreys, associate professor of architecture in the school of architecture of Harvard University. In it the author has given careful description of those houses of Bermuda that best represent the typical product. Since the climate and living conditions of Bermuda resemble in a general way those of Southern California the book is one that is full of suggestion for Californians.

Mr. Humphreys gives this picture of the general effect of Bermuda houses, one that suggests some of our own California homes:

"White, or softly-tinted houses with weathered green blinds and doors, frequently buried in luxuriant foliage and blossoms of vivid hues, with glistening white roofs, silhouetted against intensely blue sky, or backed against the dull green of red-trunked cedars, through which may be glimpses of a turquoise sea, make a strong impression on the senses, but fail to register with the camera—even when held by a more experienced hand than that of the author."

The author points out the fact that the older Bermuda houses show, first of all, entire fitness in scale and design to their surroundings. The chief interest of the architecture is that it is a simple and complete expression of the conditions, climatic and otherwise, that existed at the time the houses were built. The roofs of the houses were and are still greatly influenced by the fact that there is an entire absence of springs and streams, so that rain water must be caught and stored. Irregularity of line in the roofs is characteristic.

The smallness of scale of the houses is to be noted. But the rooms seem light and airy because of the prevalence of the "tray" ceiling. In the carpentry, many details suggest the shipwright, due to the fact that much attention used to be given to the building of sloops and smaller sailing vessels.

Chimneys are a prominent feature. Buttresses occur frequently. Projecting wings that have been added from time to time add to the picturesqueness of the buildings. A unique feature is the projecting vestibule, a small room that in the early days stood open at all times, so that the casual visitor could take refuge here from sun or rain while waiting to be ushered in. A hand bell was part of the equipment of this room. With it the visitor announced his presence.

Typical houses of historical interest are first treated by the author, who gives photographs, ground-floor plans and descriptions of such places as Inwood, Cluster Cottage, The Cocoon, Harmony Hall, Bloomfield and Norwood. Many less well-known houses are pictured, with stress placed upon the interesting features. Of special interest to Californians are the many charming views of walled gardens.

There are in all 181 plates in this book, which is well worth the $15 it costs, providing one has an interest either from an architectural or a historical point of view in the subject.

DANCING AND EDUCATION

Is dancing educational? For many years folk dancing has been a part of the educational systems in our schools. In many States, the State departments of education have issued courses of study in physical training giving a large part thereof to folk dancing. In recent years aesthetic and natural dancing, social dancing and even clog dancing have been included in the educational program. To define clearly the educational value of the dance, two sisters, Agnes M. Marsh of Teachers' College, New York, and Lucile Marsh of Smith College have prepared a noteworthy volume, entitled "The Dance in Education," which will be issued shortly by A. S. Barnes & Co. Briefly it is a correlation of music, sculpture and painting; literature, mythology and history; psychology, religion and philosophy with the dance.

The book will be beautifully illustrated with photographs of dancers in costume. More than thirty of the best composers are represented by forty-five selections of music in full score.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY. ITS NATURE AND INTERESTS. By Philip Marshall Brown. The Macmillan Company, New York.

The author of this book is professor of international law in Princeton University. The book opens with the history and definition of nationalism and then follow discussions of law, its variety, defects and administration. The commercial and diplomatic effects of international intercourse are then considered. Diplomacy, international disputes, war and neuartlity, international organization, the League of Nations and international politics are some of the chapter headings.

RECENT BOOKS

MASTERS AND MEN. By Philip Guedalla. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York and London.

This collection of essays, originally written for various periodicals on both sides of the Atlantic, are—as happens once in a blue moon—worth the trouble of assembling and reprinting. Although the portrait of their author makes him appear a Dapper Young Thing, he is quite evidently not a Young Intellectual, since his literary offspring are clothed in good English, have a lively sense of humor, and do not smell of the sewer.

The opening essay, which is christened "The Egoist," expressly disclaims any intention or desire to test modern writers by "the chilly canons of literary perfection . . . which did well enough to put the ancients in their places. . . One is bound to admit that—as Wilde once remarked—there is a fashion in virture as well as in wearing apparel, and why not in literary virtue also? There is a relativity in these matters, which may be expounded at any moment by Lord Haldane."

Yet with all his cheerful concession to twentieth-century latitude, there is one of the faded virtues of the yester-years which this critic would like to see refreshed with literary libations, and that is reticence. It would be quaintly pleasant to see that neglected plant once more abloom and to set critics investigating as to the quality of the soil from which it used to grow spontaneously. But there is reticence and reticence, and care must be taken to encourage the growth of the right variety, which was once popularly known as self-exclusion.

From a writer bold enough to plead in this age for literary reticence, and who enlists all his goodly store of pungent wit and classic wisdom to reinforce his plea, a great deal can be expected. And in the remaining essays which go to make up this decidedly entertaining volume, much good sense and right reason, seasoned with Attic salt, are to be found. It is true that when this usually straight-visioned critic turns a transient gaze across the Atlantic he squints; but that is to be expected. We are at once too like and too unlike our British friends to be discussed on our real merits or demerits. Only two British authors ever saw us as we are. Paradoxically enough, one of these was a Scot—and both are dead. As James Douglass has recently remarked of this writer, "there are flies in the best amber," and there is no denying that this specimen is as critically translucent, as brilliant, and as polished a unit as can be found on his native shores.

THE DISCOVERY OF GOD. By Basil King. Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York.

Basil King, novelist, spiritualist and at present a biblical interpreter and commentator, here tells us that one of the surpassing values of the Bible is its record of man's discovery of God. In plain English this startling phrase—which might well have been borrowed from the vocabulary of the Rev. William Sunday—is meant to convey the idea that man's conception of that Power which is the causeless cause of all things, has

DARKER PHASES OF THE SOUTH

Frank Tannenbaum Deals With a Number of Problems That Cry Aloud for Solution in That Region South of the Mason and Dixon Line

BY THOMAS F. FORD

DARKER PHASES OF THE SOUTH. By Frank Tannenbaum. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

A clearly written, thoughtful account of certain conditions and problems that Mr. Tannenbaum has personally studied at first hand. There is no evidence of bias in the book and no propaganda. What Mr. Tannenbaum has seen and learned he sets down calmly, fairly and in an interesting way.

The Ku Klux Klan claims first attention. He finds it more than the embodiment of a tradition, though he gives it full credit for serving a very real need when it "drove the carpet bagger across the Mason and Dixon Line and uprooted his evil influence." Back of the Klan of today there are many causes. Among these Mr. Tannenbaum finds historical antecedents, passions, prejudices, hates, the effort to preserve as static what is becoming dynamic, the fear of the negro and, above all, "the craving for dramatization and excitement in the face of a dull and monotonous existence. Especially is this true in the small town, which "has always craved and found artificial thrills." This excitement is furnished by the Klan and by lynchings, revivals and feuds.

A striking chapter is entitled "The South Buries Its Anglo-Saxons." In this study of cotton-mill conditions Mr. Tannenbaum brings strange facts to light. He is not concerned directly with the conditions of labor, with the long day and the small pay, but with certain social influences that arise from the fact that the mill workers are held together and kept apart from the rest of the world as by an unscalable wall. Once a mill worker always a mill worker. There is no escape. And it is the policy of the employers, especially of the best-intentioned of them, to create this condition and so to separate these workers from the rest of the population and make of them a closed community. The fact that nearly all of the workers are native-born Americans is particularly significant, for here are Americans who are losing their initiative, their venturesomeness, their versatility and incidentally their freedom.

The chapter on Southern prisons reveals appalling conditions in the prison camps, where the chain gang abounds. One must read this account to realize what habit and the acceptance of a bad tradition can lead to. The social and economic effects of the single crop in the South are well set forth. There is a final chapter called "The Problem of Southern Solutions." The book is well documented.

THE DEPORTATIONS DELIRIUM OF NINETEEN-TWENTY. By Louis F. Post. Charles H. Kerr & Co., Chicago.

The author, Louis F. Post, was Assistant Secretary of Labor from 1913 to 1921. It was upon his shoulders largely that the task of deciding cases and issuing orders for the deportation of individuals whose acts brought them into conflict with the decree providing for the deportation of dangerous aliens devolved. In his official capacity Mr. Post ordered Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman deported, together with 247 other persons who made up the passenger list of what has come to be known as the "Soviet Ark," which left the port of New York on December 21, 1919, and reached the harbor of Hango in Finland, January 16, 1920. The deportees being later transferred to soviet Russia under a flag of truce by the Finnish authorities.

That Mr. Post was not then in sympathy with the policy of deportation and that he is not now enamored of it, this book testifies. Just how good a case he makes against this policy every man who reads this book must decide for himself. That it is a question that permits of discussion no sane man can deny, for it is a problem involving fundamental principles of personal liberty, free speech and practically all of the guaranties of the Bill of Rights as we understand them in the Constitution.

That many of the officials charged with carrying out the orders of the Department of Justice in its raids on dangerous aliens went far beyond their authority and violated the persons and infringed on the rights of many innocent persons, Mr. Post points out. These officials justified their acts on the ground that the "Reds," as all persons suspected of almost anything were called in those days, were not entitled to the protection of the Constitution as they were seeking to destroy it and the government of which it is the bed rock foundation.

Mr. Post lays most of the blame for what he calls governmental excesses to Attorney-General Palmer, whom he calls the dupe of detectives. He goes on to say that public money appropriated by Congress for "the detection and prosecution of crimes against the United States" was used by the Department of Justice as though "the detection and prosecution of crime were legally synonymous with the detection and deportation of aliens." This along with the placing of the bail of accused aliens prohibitively high so as to keep those who could not be deported in jail is something much emphasized in the book. Mr. Post is convinced that much of the movement was due to one of those mental epidemics that sweeps a country now and then and create a mob spirit. Of the delirium of this epidemic all the details are given so that each person interested may read and ponder and come to his his own conclusion.

bay-window days. Many still rest after long years in wrecking storerooms.

A few lovers of the antique and artistic haunt wrecking places. Some find quaint old windows for den or hallway. They seek rustic effects, especially. Lately a woman bought half-worn out window frames for her canyon cottage. Churches afford interesting relics, like the old cathedral where folks surged for souvenirs, particularly the lighting fixtures, some of which the wrecker himself has in his home.

DEARTH OF ARTISTIC

Yet lovers of the artistic get little satisfaction, according to Gustav Mox, who sees a dearth of the artistic and beautiful in the old houses of Los Angeles.

"Lots of money is spent to little avail," he said. "The town is too young for the artistic and antique. Here a house is old at forty years, while in Europe my boyhood home stands after centuries, with walls two feet thick."

All wreckage is disposed of but the kindling—that goes begging. Wreckers can't give it away, so must burn or dump it, while improvident Angelenos buy coal or remain chilly.

There is keen competition for old houses, so the owners can demand a price. From $100 to $1000 is the average a wrecker pays for an ordinary house. Wrecked material sells at a half to two-thirds the cost of new.

FIND MYSTERY

Romantic "finds," seem few, perhaps because wrecking is a cold-blooded business matter. Two skeletons, with never a clue to their mystery, are the shiveriest discoveries. But there's plenty of seeming "skeletons in closets" of the unknown past tenants. Above a ceiling were found photographic plates of an artistically posed woman costumed as Eve before the fall—old, old plates. Things stolen, hidden and forgotten are found under floors and in walls.

Bullet holes that tell no tales hint of tragedy. An old cottage in the 1300 block on Seventh street once housed outlaws. Wreckers found bullets in the walls and blood stains calsomined over.

"Booze" a plenty is found, rare old stuff, antedating bootleggery. Nobody admits sampling it. "The foreman always takes it away!" Rats and rafts of pins and hairpins bob up in the wreckage.

And oh, the rats and the dirt!

HIS NEW PICTURE MOVES VERY FAST

"In Fast Company," just completed by Richard Talmadge, a Carlos production for Truart, is being edited by Al Cohn at F. B. O. studio, and will be ready for a private showing in a few days. The picture was made in eight reels, but has been cut to five with the result that Talmadge has turned out what almost amounts to a serial in feature length. women. Anyway, it wasn't thought necessary to question every couple, which proves how considerate reporters are of persons' feelings.

Another small man appeared in tow of a larger woman. It is worthy of comment that nearly all of the men who were seen at the license bureau on this particular morning were undersized. Of course that was a mere coincidence. By the same token the women were invariably large.

It is strange what little humor most persons possess. This little fellow thought somebody was trying to pry into his private affairs. He and his bride-to-be not only refused to answer the question, but actually appeared offended.

RESENT INQUIRIES

Four more couples refused to talk; four told the reporter "it was none of his business," four said, "not in our case, at least;" one man said, "Maybe some women do, but my girl didn't." The others were not even courteous.

One woman was crying, evidently practicing up for the wedding. Her prospective husband looked as though he wanted to. But they went through it, as far as could be seen at the bureau.

Just before the lunch hour, which was the time appointed to terminate the inquisition, a middle-aged woman and a young man came up.

"No," said the woman, "this is our first marriage, and I don't want a justice of the peace; we want a real church wedding." She evidently misunderstood the question.

Her youthful soon-to-be mate adoringly agreed and together they sauntered out.

That about proves that leap year is the bunk, eh?

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

commonly mistaken for a gentleman.

Leger never enters an elevator in which there is a handsome or expensively dressed woman without removing his hat with a deference which would have awed Sir Launcelot.

When in a street car he never sees a woman standing without leaping up and evincing three times as much courtesy as Sir Philip Sidney ever showed.

But he doesn't always see them. A shabby, bent old woman or a weary Mexican mother with a baby in her arms might stand beside his seat for twenty-nine blocks without ever being noticed.

He is not unmindful that when Sir Walt Raleigh made his rep he picked out a queen, not a serving maid, to spread his best coat before as a mudguard.

MISSED THE SPIRIT

He knows all the Yules of the etiquette books by heart, but has never absorbed the spirit of Lord Chesterfield's letters to his son.

He is just the sort, in short, that widows who have outgrown youthful charms but retain their youthful vanities as fresh as ever, and have large blocks of property or insurance left them by their considerate firsts, instinctively turn to. For Leger is the soul of flattery, which currently passes for the soul of chivalry.

When Dinero T. Scrooge passed (if we may implicitly trust the funeral orator) to happier fields of labor, he left a fortune the peporters (to whom such estimates are mere trifles) estimated at $7,000,000, and a five-foot, 189-pound relict, who had seen 52 summers, but no hard falls, and believed those who told her she didn't look a day over 30. She naturally was a trusting soul and had never heard the truth about herself since she married money.

LEGER STEPS IN

Such was the standing of her deceased provider that the most astute and reliable financiers of Ourville gladly would have counseled and guided her. But she would have none of them after the morning when Leger made a high dive for her dropped handkerchief, and presented it to her with a bow which would have made the Chevalier Bayard or even Rodolph Valentino look as awkward as the Tin Woodman of the lamented "Wizard of Oz."

In the half block which he gracefully contrived to walk beside her he made the gallantry of other men look like that of the sheik beside that of Cyrano de Bererac.

Half-way to the corner his sincere yearning for her welfare made him forget himself and warn her against scheming knaves. And at the corner his open admiration overmastered him so he was compelled to confess that he considered her the one really beautiful woman in Ourville.

She eloped with him three days later.

FIRST DAY HAPPY

The first day of their honeymoon she was very happy. But the second day Leger yawned a great deal and didn't have much to say of an interesting personal nature. That is, he preferred talking about himself to talking about her.

As the shades of night were drawing down fast and far in all the living rooms in which the girls were expecting male callers, Leger stretched and proposed that they spend the evening at some lively show—something Ziegfeldian preferred.

They were in the Francois Premier suite of a famous hotel, but it was as dull to both of them as it is had been an average ultra-modern home.

So she agreed willingly to the suggestion of a show, but didn't care for the Ziegfeldian idea. She said she would prefer something musical.

But Leger didn't seem to hear her, and it appeared to be a case in which the eyes would have it.

LEADS THE WAY

He led the way to the elevator, chivalrously keeping about ten feet ahead of her and setting such a pace she was breathing in knickies, or short pants, before they reached it.

While they waited for the lift Leger did a little hasty manicuring, apparently utterly forgetful of his adored companion.

They entered the elevator, and it softly fup-fup-fupped past three floors. Then it stopped and a lady entered.

Instantly, Leger removed his hat.

It was that courtly action which struck the scales from the blurred eyes of the widow-bride. And, once she started, she proved quite a forceful speaker.

WAITING DOES TRICK

"I guess I got what every fool woman gets whose 'love' is more kindled by 'little thoughtful attention' to herself than by any well-founded admiration for the man in the case," she said, in part. "But you can put this in your cigarette case and smoke it: You may cease being courtly to me immediately after marriage if you want to, but not if you expect to enjoy the use of any of my surplus cash. If you're not as full of tender consideration as you were before marriage you simply get off the pay roll. I may be pretty silly, but I'm not the widow of Dinero T. Scrooge for nothing. As I remarked before, I would prefer spending this evening where the appeal is not altogether to the eyes."

Leger gulped. But business is business. And a real gentleman must always be considerate of the gentler sex.

"Forgive me, my treasure," he murmured. "I didn't hear you before. Suppose we go hear 'Il Trovatore' or a sacred concert?"

GERMAN SEES CRASH AHEAD

the exchange. For instance, in my own plant our labor cost last week equaled our prewar cost. This week it will be only 60 per cent. That is because wages change only once a week, while the exchange fluctuates every day, and the exchange dropped very rapidly this week.

"But labor is more expensive than figures indicate. We are bound down by a myriad of socialist laws which make it difficult for me to dismiss my workmen when I want to, and impossible to speed up production. The AEG employs 60,000 hands. Now if I dismissed 5000 or even 10,000 of them, I could get almost the same amount because the fear of losing their jobs would make them speed up.

EQUAL WAGES FOR ALL

"Also the Socialists have now forced upon us the rule of paying the same wage for skilled and unskilled labor, young and old.

"Finally," Mr. Deutsch added ruefully, "the government requires us to remit income taxes once a week. This necessitates a tremendous amount of bookkeeping, for which we require 500 clerks and gives us an additional overhead expense with which competing countries are not burdened."

"If you are not making profits," I persisted, "why do German deposits in New York banks amount to about $700,000,000?"

"Partly, prewar deposits, I suppose, part kept there by speculators, and some of it legitimate profits used for purchasing raw materials from the United States."

"Did you know that Germany had purchased $721,600,000 worth of cotton and copper from the United States during the first eight months of 1923?" I asked.

"Very likely," Mr. Deutsch acknowledged, "my own firm buys $40,000 worth of copper and lead a day. We must buy raw materials in order to manufacture."

"Where do you get the gold for these purchases?" I asked bluntly.

"In part though the sale of paper money and in part through sale of exports. Until six months ago, we paid for most of our raw materials out of paper marks which the entire world bought from us. Today that source is gone, but we still sell a certain amount of exports to South America and South Africa, for which we are paid in gold."

DENIES CURRENCY PLOT

"You big industrialists have been accused of deliberately depreciating the mark for your own personal interests. Is this true?"

"How does it benefit us?" Mr. Deutsch came back with considerable animation. "Prove to me how it benefits us in any single way? I have already showed you that our labor cost is just as high as it was before the war. You yourself mentioned the amount of raw materials which we buy from the United States, and for which we pay in gold. Furthermore, with the shutdown of the Ruhr, we must purchase coal from Britain and iron ore from Sweden and Spain, for all of which we pay in gold at a terribly depreciated rate of exchange. How does that benefit us?"

"Was it not a simple matter to get rich quick by borrowing from the banks, and then repaying when depreciation had made the original loan practically valueless?" I suggested.

"Yes," Mr. Deutsch admitted, "banks very foolishly allowed this, and business men were not slow to take advantage of it. It has been stopped now of course."

"Will Germany be able to continue her keen competition in world markets?" was my final question.

"I am very pessimistic. Since the war, every country has become extremely jealous of its own industries, and has erected such high tariff walls that it is almost impossible for us to sell to them. In addition to this, the occupation of the Ruhr has sent the cost of iron and coal way above world prices, and boosted our cost of production sky-high.

ACUTE INDIGESTION

"Finally, the world is still extremely prejudiced against German goods. The United States, for instance, doesn't realize that Germany was, and still is, her best customer, and that our prosperity has a very direct effect upon yours. I have often discussed this with my brother-in-law, Otto Kahn. He points out that America is so far away and that her people are so busy building up their own country that they are not interested in Europe. But now I am glad to see that your farmers have realized that European prosperity directly affects the purchase of their grain, and are talking of granting us credits in order to buy from them. The time will come, I suppose, when they will realize that a loan is a mere stopgap, which must be repeated and repeated like a dose of medicine, which helps but does not permanently cure. The trouble with us is acute industrial indigestion."

WIFE EXCHANGE HABIT OF TRIBE

the custom until I brought about a change, not by preaching, but by a few commonsense talks, in which I proved to them that the custom did not conduce to the best interests of the tribe. Formerly, they enjoyed a sort of circulating marriage custom that was not unlike our circulating libraries in the States, and the wives did not seem to have any objection to the plan.

"Their educational system was very good, in so far as it went. The young people, regarded the hope of the tribe, are well taken care of. The woman is queen and ruler of the home, the man being almost a figurehead as far as home government is concerned. The women make all the clothes for the household and the men do all the hunting.

"Neither the mothers nor fathers ever spank their children and for this reason: they think that in striking a child they may be punishing a grandfather, grandmother, mother, sister or other relation. They believe that the soul of the last person to die enters into the first baby born afterward. Their conception concerning the number of human souls in existence is somewhat limited.

"One of the most degrading customs of the people is their habit of killing old men and women, a custom entirely inconsistent with their treatment of children." "However," said Mr. Eide, "this custom, also, has been almost completely abolished. When I first went there the members of the tribe were in the habit of shooting, hanging or stabbing all their crippled and aged members.

"The Ingaleenees are devil-worshipers, but learned people of more civilized lands need not smile at this fact. The Ingaleenees are quite logical. They say that God is good and that therefore there is no reason to pray to Him nor to ask favors of Him. God is good and generous by nature, they contend, while the devil is evil. Therefore, they say, it is the part of wisdom to pray to the devil and ask him to be as kind as his nature will permit him to be. They plead with his satanic majesty every day, requesting him, if he finds it impossible to be kindly-disposed, to at least give them the blessing of his absence.

"Another strange belief of these people is that the spirit of the animal they kill inhabits the home of the man who kills it for eight days. During that period no festivities are allowed in the household, the people believing that if undue rejoicing is manifested the spirit of the whale, walrus or other animal that has been slain will go away and tell his brothers and sisters, and that the latter will take particular pains to see to it that the hunter's future hunting trips are fruitless."

Enforced Adam Nurses Memory of Young Eve

"You little scamp, do you remember the day you hid my clothes in the park at Somerville?"

Such was a sentence in the letter that Vivian Rich, stellar actress in "The Lone Wagon," and numerous other screen successes, recently received from Gilbert Faulter, of Somerville, Mass.

The reason for this query arose years ago when Vivian was a girl of 11. One day, in the park at Somerville, she and another girl came upon two boys in swimming.

Fired by the feminine love of playing pranks upon the masculine, Vivian and her chum stole the boys' clothing and stuck it high in a near-by tree. Then they hid to watch the fun.

The boys emerged from the "swimmin' hole" and missed their togs. They started a frantic search while the girls hid behind bushes and giggled.

Years rolled by before Faulter saw Miss Rich as Jeddy, the Confederate colonel's daughter, in "The Lone Wagon." Recognizing the chum of his schooldays, he sat down and wrote to her. Of course, Miss Rich remembered — and blushed after all the years, for recollection has a keen way of calling up childhood memories.

The Principle that Controls Sound Sleep

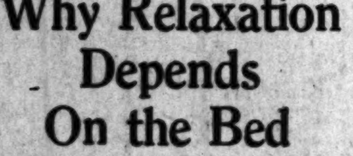
The wonderful reviving power of undisturbed repose—the power that renews and energizes and brings alertness to mind and body—on what does this great force depend?

Complete relaxation of every nerve and muscle of the body, is the essential factor in the only kind of sleep that counts—sound sleep. After much research and study, Barker Bros. Department of Scientific Sleeping Equipment produced "individualized" Mattresses and Springs which fill the need for relaxation because they meet the following requirements:

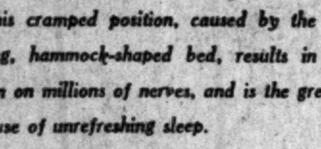
1. Correct Posture—the body in perfect alignment so that there is no strain or pressure on spinal column, nerve centers or muscles.
2. Sufficient Support—affording a firm but yielding surface, no matter in what position one lies.
3. The right bed for the right person—one bed for a person of fifty years weighing around two hundred pounds — and an entirely different one for the person of eighteen who weighs slightly more than one hundred pounds.
4. Sanitary Qualities — all of Barker Bros. Mattresses are made of highest grade new materials and comply strictly with the State Bedding Laws.

Insist on seeing a sample of the contents of any Mattress you intend buying.

Why Relaxation Depends On the Bed



This cramped position, caused by the sagging, hammock-shaped bed, results in tension on millions of nerves, and is the greatest cause of unrefreshing sleep.



Here the body rests in its natural curves, no matter what the position of the sleeper, because the springs and mattress insure perfect fitting qualities and complete relaxation.

Experts in our Department of Scientific Sleeping Equipment will be glad to advise you at any time.

Theodore Roosevelt
AS TOLD IN THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF
Maj. Archie Butt,
Aide and Intimate of "T. R."

PT. BUTT TO MRS. LEWIS FORD BUTT.

Washington, D. C.,
January 14, 1909.

Clara:

doubt if any of us know what an endure until put to the As the President dismissed carriage which had been sent the Aqueduct bridge to meet night and rode into Washington, he voiced the opinion of all when he said:

"Had any one told me this ng when we crossed the e we would be crossing it tonight feeling really in spirits than we did then, I have been inclined to put in the Ananias Club. What surprised me more than anything in this ride is the fact that one has said a cross word, we have had a good time, that we returned laughing. you know, Archie, that if we not met this sleet storm, it have been like taking candy a child."

lly, Clara, that tells the tale ride. . . .

had never ridden more than miles at a time and while President had ridden as much wenty, yet is was in good and over good roads and good horses. Yesterday the were the very worst I have seen, the weather execrable the horses, with the exception we owned ourselves, about and rough as it was possible to turn out from a cavalry I knew this latter would be the case when the President refused to let me tell the commanding officers at Fort Meyer why the horses were wanted and to what use they were going to be put. Had they known that he was going along, they would have sent the best in the stables, but as they thought they were for a party of Navy officers they naturally sent their most inferior animals.

But it is just what he wanted. He was determined that this ride should be a test ride under just such conditions as the average officer would be required to take it. It was, in fact, much harder; for the test rides in the army are held only in the spring and fall, and never in extreme heat or cold. I am forced to bow to his judgment again and to acknowledge what I feared might be a failure has been a great success, and this ride has given me more respect for myself than all the honors which could have been heaped on me from the outside.

SOME RIDE

For this ride was each man's who made it. It took physical strength, but it took more moral courage and backbone than anything else. I realized as never before how easy it would have been to flunk had I stopped to think of it at all. I feel somewhat ashamed now, as I recall my feelings at 4 o'clock yesterday morning as we passed from underneath the portico of the White House. I had been somewhat under a nervous strain the twenty hours before and the wind cut round the corners of the old house like a knife. I felt distinctly resentful toward the President and indignant with the world at large. I had turned into bed at the White House by 10, but had been unable to sleep and was lying there reading when the President came in from dinner, given in his honor at Secretary Wright's. He knocked at my door to see if I was asleep and came in. He came ostensibly to say a word of welcome, but in reality what he came to say was this:

"I suppose I will be criticized again, Archie, for making a 'spectacular play for the benefit of the public,' but I don't think you know how I dread taking this ride at this time; but you would understand if you could see the protest from people against my last order prescribing the riding test for the Navy. I believe that it has done so much for the Army and will bear so much greater fruit later that I would undergo any hardship myself to guarantee the continuance of the order. I believe that Mr. Taft will continue the order, but I also know that a great coterie of both the Army and the Navy are only waiting for me to leave the White House to deluge the next President with applications to modify the order. I know the order is not too severe, but if it is, I also want to know it.

"If two naval officers," and with a comical smile, added in parenthesis ("we won't mention the fact that they are Virginians and possibly born in the saddle,) and you and I can take this ride of ninety miles in one day, we will never hear a word again in protest of the order. It will silence all critics and the Army and the Navy itself will see to its perpetuation as a matter of esprit de corps. And we are going to make it, so don't you feel worried a bit, but just go to sleep. I presume you have already said your prayers, but if you have not," he said, smiling, "add a word to have the predicted buizzard delayed for twenty-four hours."

I was asleep in five minutes and the next thing I knew he was hammering at my door to get up. He and I breakfasted together. We had little bread, but a considerable amount of rare steak and drank two cups of coffee. Dr. Rixey and Dr. Grayson came before we finished and while we were merry, apparently, I think our merriment was largely assumed, for it meant a good deal to each one of us, and there was no one in the party who did not realize it. For the President it meant prestige a continuance of his orders: in fact, it would never have done for him to fail, and I don't think failure ever entered his mind, but it did in ours and we each looked most critically at him to see if he was in fit state. Dr. Rixey examined his heart and punched him here and there, while he resented in good humor, but submitted to it, as it was a part of his order for the riding test.

ON THE WAY

It was just twenty minutes to 4 when we mounted our horses. The President rode Rosswell on the start and I had my old faithful Larry. The two Virginians had their own mounts also. We started on a dog trot down Pennsylvania avenue and made the bridge in ten minutes. But, oh, the wind was cold! There were few clouds to be seen, and while everything was frozen hard there was no sign of a blizzard in the sky. We did not pass through Fort Meyer, but took the road to the right. For the first six miles, in fact to Falls Church, the roads were fair and we made good time, but from Falls Church to Fairfax the roads were bad and we lost time.

If you can imagine the roads in Cuba during the rainy weather, frozen hard, you will have some idea of the greater part of the roads we traveled over. They had been deeply furrowed and cut up since the last thaw and snow, and had simply frozen in this way, but we managed to reach Fairfax by ten minutes past 6. Here we found the first detachment of horses waiting for us, in charge of a trooper from Fort Meyer. As we had not decided to go until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, it was after 12 before I could perfect arrangements to have the relay horses sent out. Then I simply ordered four horses and two orderlies to report to Dr. Rixey's farm, near Falls Church, for the use of some officers, presumably of the Navy, and so no one knew what they were really to be used for. Orders were given to the orderlies to leave two horses at Fairfax, two more at Bull Run and two more at Buckland. I had also sent from Washington the President's bay mare Georgia for him to ride from Fairfax to the second change, but to my chagrin when we got to Fairfax I saw that Georgia was not there and inquiry developed the fact that Dr. Rixey, thinking I had sent too many horses, had ordered one to be left back, and as luck would have it, Georgia was the one chosen. I thought the President would be furious, as he had every right to be, for he had told Dr. Rixey that he would have Georgia sent over for the trip, and I had given most specific orders, yet all he said was:

"I am keenly disappointed, for I wanted Georgia to be in on this ride as a matter of sentiment if for nothing else."

It was 6:20 when we arrived at Fairfax Courthouse, and it took only fifteen minutes to change horses, and without waiting a minute we started at a brisk trot toward Centerville, which we reached at 7:20. Two miles further on we came to Cub Run, where we found our second change of horses, and the change for the President and myself was for the worse; for the horses we got in exchange for the ones we were on were rough, slow and mine was vicious. We passed the battlefield and saw some of the monuments erected to some of the New York regiments, which led me to repeat the story which always struck me as rather good:

"When one old general was talking of the Battle of Bull Run, one of his listeners asked, 'Did you run, general?' to which he promptly replied, 'All who didn't are there yet.'"

ROOSEVELT CHEERFUL

The whole way the President was in the best of spirits. We only saw the sun that day for a minute, and as it came out somewhere near Bull Run the President turned in his saddle and said:

"Let Tillman rage and let Foraker imagine a vain thing, we will enjoy this day in spite of them, the secret service and the resentment of Congress."

The conversation was in patches, for no one attempted to carry on a discussion of any kind. The President's keen wit was like wine when our spirits began to flag. He joked Admiral Rixey about the Virginia roads and wondered what the old vets would say if their spirits could come back to earth and see him riding over Bull Run Road with three rebels, as he called us. We had thought of the fact that his companions were all southern men, two Virginians and one Georgian, but did not know that he had.

He loves to talk about his mother, and her personality is a very real one to him.

"I can see her now, when, in order to show my resentment to her for some disciplinary measure she would enforce, I would pray for the success of the Union forces or, as I was wont to speak of them, the 'Yankees.' She always heard our prayers at night, and when I could not vent my anger any other way I would close my prayers with asking God to bless the Yankees. And when we wanted anything which she would not give us we often resorted to the strategem of calling God's blessing on the rebels, too. This frequently secured a respite for us from bed for another half hour."

By the time we reached Gainsville we all felt that the trip would be a success. Each had measured his strength, as it were, and knew about what we could do, and, as the President said, "As our physical condition would weaken our morale would rise," so that when we reached Buckland at 9:35 we were in a fine humor.

We changed our horses there and started on our last lap to Warrenton. We had planned to reach the town by 11, but it looked hopeless for a time, as part of the road was so furrowed and cut up that we could only make any time by keeping off the roads and riding on the embankments. We took advantage of every good stretch, however, to gallop and just as the town clock struck 11 we entered the main thoroughfare of the town. No one knew of our coming, but several persons recognized the President and soon the news spread to all quarters of the city. In less time than it takes to tell it there had gathered upward of 1000 persons in front of the old Warren Green Hotel and I was detailed to go out to see them.

PRESIDENT CHEERED

They would not believe that we had ridden from Washington and they begged me to say to the President that they would like to meet him. I knew he would have to see them so I told them, or the leading men, who acted as spokesmen, that the President was as anxious to meet the people of Warrenton as they were to meet him, and when I got him to appear five minutes later, they gave him a rousing cheer. He is the first President to visit Warrenton since Franklin Pierce, and they made him welcome. He made a short address to them and shook each one by the hand. I presented each by name, just as I would do at the White House, and to each he had some special word to say. The result was, however, that he had to eat his lunch in ten minutes. He drank two cups of tea and ate some soup. The rest of us swallowed hunks of beef, but none of us took anything in the way of alcohol, although Dick Wallace and Evans, the master of the hounds, for you know it is a great hunting country, tried to press on us the hospitality of the Farquier County Club.

We left Warrenton at 12:15 and did not reach Buckland on our way back until 1:35. I had a horse which fought the bit the entire way, and once when I got off to look after the girth on the President's saddle I was fifteen minutes getting back on again. He would plunge and rear, and once he struck at Dr. Grayson and came near putting him out of business. Finally I made a flying leap for the saddle and made it. I was mighty well glad to turn him over to the orderly at Buckland, I can tell you.

Between Buckland and Cub Run our vitality was at its lowest. Admiral Rixey was on a fine animal of his own, and he had set the pace in a jog trot, which was all right for him, but it was hell on the President and myself, who were riding about the roughest troop horses which Fort Meyer could turn out. Finally as we reached Cub Run and started afresh the President ordered Rixey to the rear and told me to set the pace. I set it by walking slowly when the roads were bad and galloping like mad when they were good. We made better time in this way, although one is not supposed to; but this pace had the effect of resting us up when very tired and when galloping to warm our blood and exhilarate our spirits.

Just before we reached Centerville we met the blizzard, which came from the north in the shape of a blinding sleet storm, and this storm was continuous from this point to Washington. The wind was blowing a gale and the ice cut our faces so that I thought that mine must certainly be bleeding. We kept up a fast gait to Fairfax, however, for every mile covered now was that much made certain, for it was beginning to look doubtful whether we would be able to make Washington on account of the heavy fall of sleet. When we reached Fairfax we got the horses on which we had begun the ride, and I never felt more relieved in my life than when the orderly told us that both Rosswell and Larry were in good condition and not lame from the ride in the early morning. On any other horses I don't think we would have made Washington without an accident, if indeed we had made it at all.

We left Fairfax in inky blackness and walked practically the entire way to Falls Church. From Centerville the President had been going it blindly, for the ice would cake on his glasses so that he could see nothing ahead of him. He simply trusted to Rosswell now. I took the lead and he came immediately behind me, followed by Grayson and Dr. Rixey.

IN THE DITCH

I dared not trot or gallop, for we were too near our goal to run the risks of an accident. Once, when I began to trot, the President's horse went into a ditch, but luckily recovered himself without injury to himself or his rider. At Falls Church we began to trot, for the roads were better, and, strange to say, by the reflected lights of Washington, nine miles away, we could keep fairly in the roads. Enough snow had fallen with the sleet to make them fairly safe, so we trotted the entire way into the acqueduct bridge. As we turned into the lighted approach, we saw the carriage from the White House which I had ordered to meet us before we left Fairfax. I did not believe it would be safe to cross through town on the asphalt and had taken the precaution to tell the orderly to phone to the White House to have something to meet us. When the questions came up as to whether the streets were safe, the President settled it by saying:

"By George, we will make the White House with our horses if we have to lead them," and we started across the bridge.

Mrs. Roosevelt was watching for us from the window of Miss Ethel's room, and by the time we alighted she was standing in the doorway to welcome us. It was a perfect picture. She had on some light, fluffy evening gown and I don't believe that Dolly Madison, even in her loveliest moments, ever looked more attractive than did Mrs. Roosevelt at that moment, standing there, framed in the big doorway with the strong light on her and the wind blowing her clothes in every direction.

We were all covered with ice, but the President in his black riding jacket, with fur collar and pockets, and broad-brim black hat, looked for all the world like the pictures of Santa Claus. Mrs. Roosevelt made us come in and gave us each a julep, which was the first drop of liquor any of us had during the entire ride.

I am stiff today and did not feel like getting up this morning, but I was out of the house at the usual time and reported to the President by 10. I could not help refrain from stopping in the club and showing myself in passing, for I knew that every one there would be expecting us to be laid up for several days.

With love,

ARCHIBALD.

NEW BOOKS ON MANY THEMES

always been evolutionary in its nature. Man's first idea was of an elemental God, "an enhanced, glorified and deified man." In the course of time, Abraham is said to have discovered that his God was Almighty; Moses evolved the idea of a Supreme or "Only" God, and so on, until Jesus taught his followers of God in the aspect of a universal father.

The final chapter of this study of the gradual progression of an idea is entitled, "The Great Assimilation." It opens with a query as to how much of the mass of truth thus slowly and gradually acquired, and finally "clarified, beautified and enlarged by Jesus of Nazareth" has been absorbed by the modern consciousness. Basil King's reply to his own question is far from reassuring. Such assimilation of the teachings of the Nazarene as has taken place has been by individuals, while the masses have been but little influenced. For the race as a whole the teachings of Christ "are as yet too large, too noble, too practical, too easy and too hard; they represent the goal." Jesus was a Man who won the race or game, in which all others are still engaged. To the rest of us He is proof that the supreme victory can be gained. To gain it is the objective set before us in the Scriptures, wherein the true end of life is proclaimed to be: "That men shall be filled with the knowledge of God."

It will be seen that the author sets forth with considerable skill his theory of the progressive knowledge of God as also of the changes in our individual and social lives which will occur when our collective consciousness has fully absorbed such knowledge as has been revealed to us. But he sees good reason to believe that except in isolated individual cases, neither the professing Christian nor the unchurched outsider have ever accepted the Creator as Universal Father. "The reality of our belief in the Divine Fatherhood," says this writer, "can be put to a very simple test in our manifested belief in the reality or unreality of the brotherhood of men. . . . The whole condition of the world is a proof that no real sense of Brotherhood exists. . . . Universal Fatherhood and Universal Brotherhood are foundational truths in the religion of Jesus Christ, but the religion of Jesus Christ has never yet been put into operation. . . . Yet the teaching itself is always there, waiting for a better comprehension to work it out in demonstration of the Spirit and the Power."

It is quite evident that this book is merely a more or less modern presentation of an old and well-known truth. In every generation men of vision and rectitude have repeated it, and in every generation, including our own, men of vision and rectitude have died for it. As continual dropping will wear away a stone, it may be possible that the world will some day accept and act upon it. In the hope of accelerating such potential acceptance and its corresponding action, this volume has doubtless been written.

RECENT DOINGS AMONG WRITERS

comment at the time, the new volume is designed along similar comprehensive lines. It will contain more than thirty stories by the leading British writers of the day.

"It would be interesting, if it were possible, to compute in spiritual terms the debt that America owes to G. Stanley Hall," says Current Opinion. "For nearly fifty year, a companion-volume, 'Seneground of intellectual progress. His book 'Adolescence,' first published in 1904, is rightly regarded as a modern classic. He added, last year, a companion-volume, 'Senesence.' And now, in his seventy-seventh year, he offers, in the "Life and Confessions of a Psychologist," a record which may be said to sum up his entire career. One of the most interesting passages in the new book is that in which he objects to recent Army tests to Edison questionnaires and endeavors to name the eight indispensable requisites for human success. He speaks with real authority and offers suggestions that are bound to appeal to every man."

A. Hamilton Gibbs was in the United States writing a novel and acting in the cast of "The Blindness of Virtue," the play written by his brother, Cosmo Hamilton, when an attack of appendicitis sent him to the hospital, and then back to England, to convalesce. He had hardly arrived there when the curtain began to rise on the World War, and instead of returning to America he enlisted as a private. Within a few months he received a commission in the artillery, and by the time the armistice was signed, having been in Egypt, the Balkans and the hottest sectors of the British fronts in France and Belgium, had won the rank of major. His account of his experiences, "Gun Fodder," ends with a stirring plea for tolerance, kindliness and brotherhood in the practice of peace. It has just been republished by Little, Brown & Co.

"The Kansan" (Dorrance,) Mack Cretcher's novel of Middle America, has had to be reprinted following an epochal reception by the very country Cretcher pictures. The English edition appears under the imprint of Andrew Melrose, London.

In the book "Real Estate: In all its Branches," by Felix Isman, appears a popular handbook of what to buy and what not to buy in real estate. It is published by Appleton. Mr. Isman, who has been engaged most actively in the realty field for thirty years, says that: "If one desires to obtain knowledge of what not to do—what real estate to go 'by' and what real estate to go 'buy;' if one wishes to avoid the pitfalls and snares of those who remain awake during one's normal sleeping hours to find some means of parting one from at least some portion of his savings account; if one desires to study the rules of avoidance, then this book should be profitable reading." With the background of his long experience, Mr. Isman proceeds to discuss all branches of real estate, from the small house to the giant theater, in a readable, helpful fashion that will exactly fit the need of anyone who has it in mind to invest in real estate.

Late this month the Putnams will publish "The Fabulous Forties" a thorough and entertaining study of the period from 1840 to 1850, when America was still in its adolescent period as a nation. The author is Meade Minnigerode who stumbled upon the riches of the Forties while doing research work for the background of a novel. The volume is illustrated with old prints and newspaper cuts of the day when "elegant," "refined," "Female" and "Limb" were commonplace in the vocabularies of every citizen. The book takes up in detail the stormy visit of Charles Dickens; the murderous riots between the partisans of the actors Forrest and Macready, and the visit of Fanny Elsser—the beloved of L'Aiglon.

"Indiana Prize Plays" has just been published by Bobbs-Merrill as the result of a play contest conducted by the Little Theater Society of Indiana, in which the prize winners were offered both production and publication. The volume contains six one-act plays and is intended not only to foster native play-writing, but to give Little Theater groups fresh material for their repertoires.

Nurse Stacey's Suggestions to Middle Aged Women

A MOST trying period of a woman's life is that of middle age, fraught with danger to some extent, and invariably with most annoying symptoms, such as hot-flashes, smothering spells, nervous troubles, irregularities and fainting spells.

When a woman like Nurse Stacey after many years of caring for the sick writes a letter of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound like the following, it should influence other women who are passing through the Change of Life to try it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It helps nature to build up the weakened, nervous system, and enables women to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Nurse Stacey's Letter Follows:

COLLINSVILLE, ILL.—"I could almost write a book in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In the first place my husband induced me to try it and I have continued taking it off and on for years. I have become a well woman from its use and am now taking it through the Change of Life just to be on the safe side. I first took it for backache and a weak condition of the whole system and I think it saved my life and my baby. She is now a mother and takes it herself and I think I can count as high as a hundred women I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to, as I am a practical nurse. Use my letter in any way you see fit for I will stand by what I write."—Mrs. H. STACEY, Collinsville, Illinois.

Another Woman's Similar Experience

"During the Change of Life I was always tired and weak, could hardly do my work and did not care to go anywhere or talk to people. After I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I noticed a change and before I had taken four bottles of it I felt like a new person. I can and always will recommend it in cases like mine."—Mrs. JOS. the old Brick Church, whose pulpit Henry Van Dyke filled for twenty years, two more Presbyterian, two or three Episcopalian, a great Jewish synagogue, and the Catholic cathedral, St. Patrick's, which is conceded to be the most beautiful example of pure French Gothic architecture on this continent.

In addition to these are clubhouses, the public library, the home of world-famous publishing firms and the handsomest shops in America, all lining the way to the park and the newer residence section.

How does Figueroa street measure up to this, even in prospect? Well, the new St. Paul's pro-cathedral between Sixth and Orange streets now in process of construction is going to be a notable attraction, while the two Presbyterian edifices, the one at Ninth street, the other at Twentieth, are built for both dignity and permanence. Moreover, the Presbyterians have a chance to do something truly noble on their property at the corner of Tenth, when that crosstown thoroughfare shall have been widened and otherwise prepared for motor traffic alone as now planned. If a distinctly ecclesiastical building would serve less than the best purpose in such a location, the corner is a magnificent one for such a great executive and business building as the famous Presbyterian Building at 150 Fifth avenue, New York. Such a center for denominational activity in the West, like that of the Methodists at Eighth and Hope, would be an advantage to Christian interests, and a great asset to the city.

FINE SHOP DISTRICT

As for clubhouses, several prominent organizations either have homes already on Figueroa street or are planning to build there. The northeast corner of Sixth, marked for many years by the picturesque old Bellevue Terrace Hotel—relic of our more rambling and leisurely days—is to be occupied by a handsome building erected by the Jonathan Club, while the Friday Morning Club is wisely rebuilding on the site of its former small mission-type home between Ninth and Tenth. For any important organization voluntarily to surrender a Figueroa-street frontage at this stage of development would be shortsighted. Out at Eighteenth street the Ebell clubhouse, with its charming and appropriate architecture and well-kept grounds, while perhaps inadequate to the needs of the growing club membership, is yet, in its suggestiveness of Spanish times, an adornment of the avenue we would most deeply regret to lose.

Beautiful and exclusive shops are also finding their way to Figueroa street, within the limits of Sixth and Tenth, notably featuring art goods and antiques, the atmosphere there doubtless proving more congenial than the hurly-burly of downtown. As Seventh street, already lined with shops to Figueroa and beyond, develops into a street of increasing commercial significance, it will form such a link between our bustling, jazzy Broadway and the more aloof Figueroa as Forty-second street in New York City, which joins stately Fifth avenue to the Great White Way. Bank buildings and other dignified business houses already mark this vicinity.

South of Washington, beyond the area of car tracks, the street widens into a splendid boulevard which sweeps southward past homes and grounds peculiarly Californian in their flowery luxuriance. In this form it skirts the eastern boundary of Exposition Park on the side devoted to the culture and exhibition of all varieties of our Southwestern wild flora. Even in this we find an analogy to Fifth avenue, while our closest approach to a metropolitan museum of art stands within Exposition Park in the form of our Museum of Science, History and Art—no mean beginning for a city scarcely more than fifty years out of the adobe stage.

North of Sixth street, of course, our local Fifth avenue needs much in the way of grooming. But with the picturesque variety afforded by the hill section it penetrates, its possibilities for beauty are great, while as a thoroughfare of growing convenience to motorists its importance is inestimable. It might even be cut through to Elysian Park at the northern end instead of running blindly into a cross street leading east to traffic-congested North Broadway.

And that brings us to a consideration of traffic regulation for our Greater Figueroa street. Anyone who has essayed to ford the river of traffic pouring down this street on any evening between 5 and 6, or on any Sunday at church time, morning or evening, has no wish to see it more thickly traveled unless some means of relief from present dangers can be found.

But is there any reason why a system of signal lights such as Fifth avenue effectively employs could not be locally introduced? There, a great eye in a centrally-located tower, sending alternate rays of yellow and green, like a harbor light, far up and down the avenue, automatically checks and releases north and south bound traffic, not at a single intersection, but at all intersections within its radius, controlling blocks at a time with the regularity of clockwork. In the intervals which elapse between the "Go" signals all busses and private cars—no trucks are permitted on this street south of the park—can travel several blocks before being again halted to allow the cross-street traffic to take its turn—a system vastly superior to the halt-crawl-halt method resulting here from the uncorrelated action of traffic officers at each intersection.

WORKING ON NEW HOLLYWOOD STORY

Fred Caldwell has commenced the production of his newest Hollywood picture at the F.B.O. studio. The current story, entitled "One Day in Hollywood," was prepared for the screen by Raymond Cannon and is one of a series of photoplays which Caldwell is releasing through Selznick.

The cast of his production features Hank Mann, Gale Henry and Raymond Cannon.

"He asked many questions about this project, and we discussed it at length. Then I went on my way and he continued his work. A couple of days afterward he came to the house and asked to see me. When I appeared he handed me a check for $50,000.

"'I got to thinking over that proposition you talked about,' he explained, 'and it looked pretty good to me. So I wired my brother, who is in the investment business in New York, and he wired me the money!'

"Then he told me something about himself. It appeared that he had been in the brokerage business in Wall street and through an unfortunate turn of the market had been wiped out. A few days after he had told me his wife brought to our home a fur coat that could not have cost a cent less than $5000 and asked my wife to keep it for her. She also said she had diamonds in a safety-deposit box in New York valued at about $200,000.

"'But why didn't you sell these things and get on your feet financially?' asked my wife.

"'Oh, Jim will soon have money again,' was the reply. 'This isn't the first time we've been on the rocks. It's happened three or four times before. But Jim has always pulled us out.'"

VITAGRAPH STUDIO IN FULL SWING

One Picture a Month is Schedule of Pioneer Producers

Vitagraph studios will be humming with activity from now until January 1, 1925, under the new production program just mapped out by Albert E. Smith, president of the company.

J. Stuart Blackton

"Barrowed Husbands" was completed this last week under the direction of David Smith. An even dozen pictures are to be turned out by the pioneer producing company with this first David Smith production as the initial feature.

Florence Vidor and Earle Williams head the stellar cast with Rockliffe Fellows, Robert Gordon, Kathryn Adams, Violet Palmer, Claire DuBrey, Charlotte Merriam, J. W. Irving, Ynez Seabury, Joe Rickson, Alpheus Lincoln, and Rose Rosanova in the principal supporting roles.

Commodore J. Stuart Blackton is now busily engaged shooting "Between Friends" from a well-known Robert W. Chalmers novel. Anna Q. Nilsson, Lou Tellegen, Norman Kerry, Stuart Holmes, and Alice Calhoun have the leading roles.

Smith and Blackton will alternate with their productions at the Hollywood Vitagraph studios, each using the studio for thirty days. This system is pursued in order that each producing unit may have the full use of the entire equipment and personnel during the making of each production. While Blackton is producing Smith's feature will be in the editing process and vice versa.

International distribution will be handled from New York under the direction of President Albert E. Smith and John B. Rock, the recently appointed general manager, who also assumes the post of general sales manager, left vacant when John Smith Quinn died two weeks ago.

Beauty Chorus Seen on Screen in Entirety

The pulchritude of the Zeigfeld "Follies" girls has won for many of them lucrative offers in motion pictures and individuality some of them have gone far on the screen. The famous beauty chorus, as a whole, however, will flash in a cinema production, for the first time, in "The Great White Way," a picturization of H. C. Witwer's popular story, "Cain and Mabel," which is now playing at the Miller Theater after a successful two weeks' run at the California.

The new film entails the most lavish and realistic reproduction of a musical comedy that has ever been photographed as part of a motion picture. In order to give this scene the last touch of realism and have it perfect to the minutest detail, the producers engaged Ned Wayburn to rehearse the entire chorus in numbers especially for the picture. The novel photoplay musical comedy was filmed in the Frolic Theater, atop the New Amsterdam Theater, formerly the home of the Midnight Frolic.

"The Great White Way" featured an all-star cast that includes Anita Stewart, T. Roy Barnes, Oscar Shaw, Tom Lewis, Dore Davidson and Hal Forde. In the film also appear most of the "men about town" in New York, including "Tex" Ricard, Florenz Ziegfeld and Irving S. Cobb.

The MOST INTERESTING PLACE in LOS ANGELES

BY OTIS M. WILES

Chinatown is the most interesting place in Los Angeles because—

The dirty brick walls of those squat, balconied buildings east of Los Angeles street, between Aliso and Apablasa streets, form an impenetrable veil to most occidental minds.

Behind the veil is hidden a cameo impression of one of the world's oldest races.

It is a race that thrived in the reign of T'ai Hao, 3000 years before the Birth of Christ.

It is a race that has continued to thrive through a procession of centuries, retaining to this day the mysticism of its institutions of politics, ceremonies, domesticism, ecclesiasticism.

FEUDALISM SECRET

Behind the veil is hidden the solution of the secret of the Mongol's feudalism, dating from the time of the Great Yao and which exists today in the tong war.

Behind the veil reposes the explanation of the superstitutions that play the leading part in every phase of the life of the Chinese.

Why is spirit-money thrown to the evil spirits during funeral processions?

Why does the Chinese bride bewail and lament her forthcoming marriage for a period of ten days?

Penetrate the veil—if you can—and there you will find the solution to all questions.

And if the veil cannot be penetrated, then study the outer side wrinkled, taciturn men that squat against the dirty brick walls, smoking their long-stemmed pipes in silence.

FACES OF MYSTIC RACE

They are the faces of a mystic race—of men who are mild, yet spasmodically vehement.

Faces of gregarious men, frugal and industrious, of men with remarkable endurance. They are cruel men, cowardly, revengeful, unsympathetic.

Faces of excessively courteous men, with a great capacity for gratitude—men with a high sense of mercantile honor.

Faces of auspicious and superstitious men.

They are Chinatown.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series

COPYRIGHT 1923 BY HOYLE, JR.

ARTICLE No. 18

The good Auction player is the one who makes his bids mean something definite. That is the secret of good Auction — to convey exact information by the bidding whenever possible. This can be done in the original suit and no-trump bids by following the conventional requirements for such bids. An original suit bid by dealer or second hand should indicate at least two quick tricks, either in the suit bid or one in the suit bid and one outside trick; if the original bid is no-trump, it should indicate at least two quick tricks distributed among three suits. Such bidding gives exact information to partner and keeps him from guessing.

Again, suppose the dealer bids one spade and second hand bids two hearts. The latter bid should indicate at least one quick trick in the heart suit and a possible trick in one of the other suits. Or suppose your partner deals and bids one spade, second hand bids two hearts and you bid two spades. Such a bid should indicate to your partner that you have at least three spades and two or more quick tricks in side suits. These examples are given merely to indicate opportunities of giving exact information. If you fail to give this information when you have the chance, or give incorrect information by incorrect bidding, you are misleading your partner and are sure to get into serious trouble.

One of the most difficult problems of giving exact information by the bidding occurs when one no-trump has been bid on your right and you have a strong hand. Under such conditions your strong suit should not be bid unless you have a fair chance for game. Such a bid gives more information to your opponents than to your partner, as it reveals to them the weak spot of their no-trump and thus gives them a chance to shift to a suit bid that may give them a game not otherwise possible. The old rule was: "Do not bid over a no-trump on right unless your hand is strong enough to rebid without assistance from partner." Under the present system of bidding this rule is not often applied. The informatory doubles are now so popular that if a no-trump is bid on your right and you have a hand as good as an original no-trump, (that is containing at least two quick tricks distributed among three suits), an informatory double usually gives better results than a bid. There are still hands, however, that should be bid over a no-trump on right. To test out these types of bids, the following hands are submitted. In each case Z is the dealer and has bid one no-trump. A, second hand, holding the cards specified, is required to make a bid.

What should A bid?

HER TEMPORARY BOB

Charlotte Treadway, who is playing the dual role of a society girl and a crook in "Cornered," which is now entering its seventh week at the Morosco Theater, is rehearsing for her new part of Sylvia Fair in "The Famous Mrs. Fair," which follows the present attraction.

Miss Treadway has beautiful long golden hair, which has always been the pride and joy of her mother's heart and the bane of her own existence.

"Long hair is all right in the advertisements," says Miss Treadway, "but I have the short-hair complex and I get very tired of marcel irons and kid curlers—not having been blessed with a natural permanent wave—but the family is too strong for me.

"However, I played a trick on them the other day. I have threatened for two years to have my hair cut—knowing all the time I didn't have the moral courage—but when I learned I was to play the role of Sylvia Fair, the flapper daughter in 'The Famous Mrs. Fair,' I knew I had to have a bob—

"So I bought one—for $100.

"It is just the color of my own hair and the day I got it I put it on and sprang it on the family.

"They went into a spell of raving that gave promise of never stopping; mother wept and everybody joined in.

"I assumed an air of injured innocence—and were were having a joyful time generally—until I thought it had gone far enough.

"Then I snatched off the wig—and you never saw such a surprised group of 'family' in your life!"

ASK HIM TO YODEL

The now almost forgotten art of yodeling was one of the first impulses which started Rod La Rocque on the road to his present eminence as featured player in such productions as Cecil B. De Mille's "The Ten Commandments" and "Triumph." His yodeling in a young boys' newspaper quartet in Chicago won him his first real stage engagement.

THIRTEEN CHANGES

Jean Hersholt had to change clothes thirteen times for his role of the saloon keeper in "The Woman on the Jury." He had to wear everything from gymnasium togs to evening clothes and keep in good humor in every scene.

SPAWN OF SUCCESS

Flood of Domestic Life Dramas Attests Triumph of "Torch Bearers" in Estimation of New Yorkers

BY GILBERT SELDES
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—Duty to my country—or perhaps I had better say my county—interferes will the fullness of my account of this week's festivities in the theater. Only between the no less engrossing demands of the jury box have I been able to acquaint myself with the more artistic drama, and particularly I must apologize for not giving full account of one production, the most important of the week: "Antony and Cleopatra" at the hands of Jane Cowl and Rollo Peters.

Fortunately the rate of production has slowed down considerably. This gives me time to mention "The Show-off"—if I have not said enough of it already. It is another play of the American domestic life type in which the language is accurately recorded, the emotions simply expressed, the fun derived from character and the exaggeration of character.

In this case the show-off has absorbed a good deal of harmful literature about developing personality and must have done his developing in a dark room because he turns out an obnoxious specimen.

George Kelly wrote it. He wrote "The Torch Bearers," too. Kelly produced it. If George M. Cohen even says he is goin to retire, quite a few of his admirers will send Kelly notice to come on over.

TIME FOR REFLECTION

"Still and all," as Ring Lardner has it, the waiting-room of a court of criminal cases is not a bad place to sum up the midseason of the theater. Not even a newspaper disturbs the calm of the moment, nor does it supply information to a faulty memory. So this is really a semiprofessional view of the local stage.

And I cannot begin better than by quoting the remark of a man unknown to me, who said to his companion, "This is certainly a banner year in the American theater. There's 'The Miracle' and 'Saint Joan' and the 'Moscow Art Theater.'" Irony of that sort is too easy for a professional. The man meant it.

And although I am not one of the greatest enthusiats for "The Miracle" I'd say the same. Because I do not care where a show comes from, if it's a good show. America has shown up well enough at that. The children of "The First Year" out of "The Torch Bearers," as horsemen say, are numerous and funny. "The Potters" and "Meet the Wife" and "The Show-off" are outstanding.

BY THE WAYSIDE

"New Toys" doesn't quite make the same grade, but it has Ernest Truex; and "Mister Pitt," a collateral brand of the family, has Walter Huston.

Apart from these Mr. Cohan's "Song and Dance Man" is the most recent work of a master, and "Fashion," a revived social comedy, is masterfully produced and great fun, as well as a fine example of delicacy and beauty.

Here you have already a series of high spots coming to mind without effort, affording pleasant recollections, suggesting that really once is hardly enough to see these plays. (I have seen some of them twice.)

To be sure, in with these there have been disasters, and I recall moaning a little now and then about one thing and another in the current season. There have been trivial plays and badly produced plays. But these and some others indicate that a continual round of the theaters—one or two a week—is profitable and pleasurable. It is every day that hurts.

"CYRANO" IS BACK

Going further: We have "Cyrano" (also mentioned by the anonymous gentleman) in which an American actor reaches the height of his histrionic career in a very effective theatrical play, out of France.

We have a perfectly fine American detective melodrama, "In the Next Room." There is "The Swan," the earliest pleasure of the season and one of the most lasting, a Hungarian play produced with English and American actors and directed by an American. Also a first-class fantasy, "Beggars on Horseback," where two A satirists have worked over th terial of a German or A confrere.

Native drama includes " Victoria," now off the boar the other production of the which hasn't yet quite pu over. The Theater Guild other success—"St. Joan"— me its present season is th not to be wholly interestin

WHAT TO SEE

BILTMORE HAS FRENCHY CHARM

New Theater is Symphony of Soft Color Tones

Will House East's Leading Plays and Players

Popular Musical Show Will Open Season

With a dazzling assemblage of first-nighters in attendance, and all the flurry that goes with the opening of a new playhouse, another step will be taken in the advancement of entertainment tomorrow night. That is the time for the first presentation at the new Biltmore Theater, and in addition to the happy and blithe strains of the musical comedy "Sally," there will be offered as a special source of pleasure to the audience the first glamonrous view of a modernly-appointed home for stage productions that brings to the eye the rarest charm of taste and distinction in architecture and adornment.

A symphony in blue and gold, with softly blended neutral tones, will be beholden to all who possess the golden souvenir ticket of admittance. The premiere will be a real occasion in every sense, since it will attract an audience of the socially and professionally prominent. And as the Biltmore has been constructed so that its beauties are best brought out when the house is crowded with attrac-

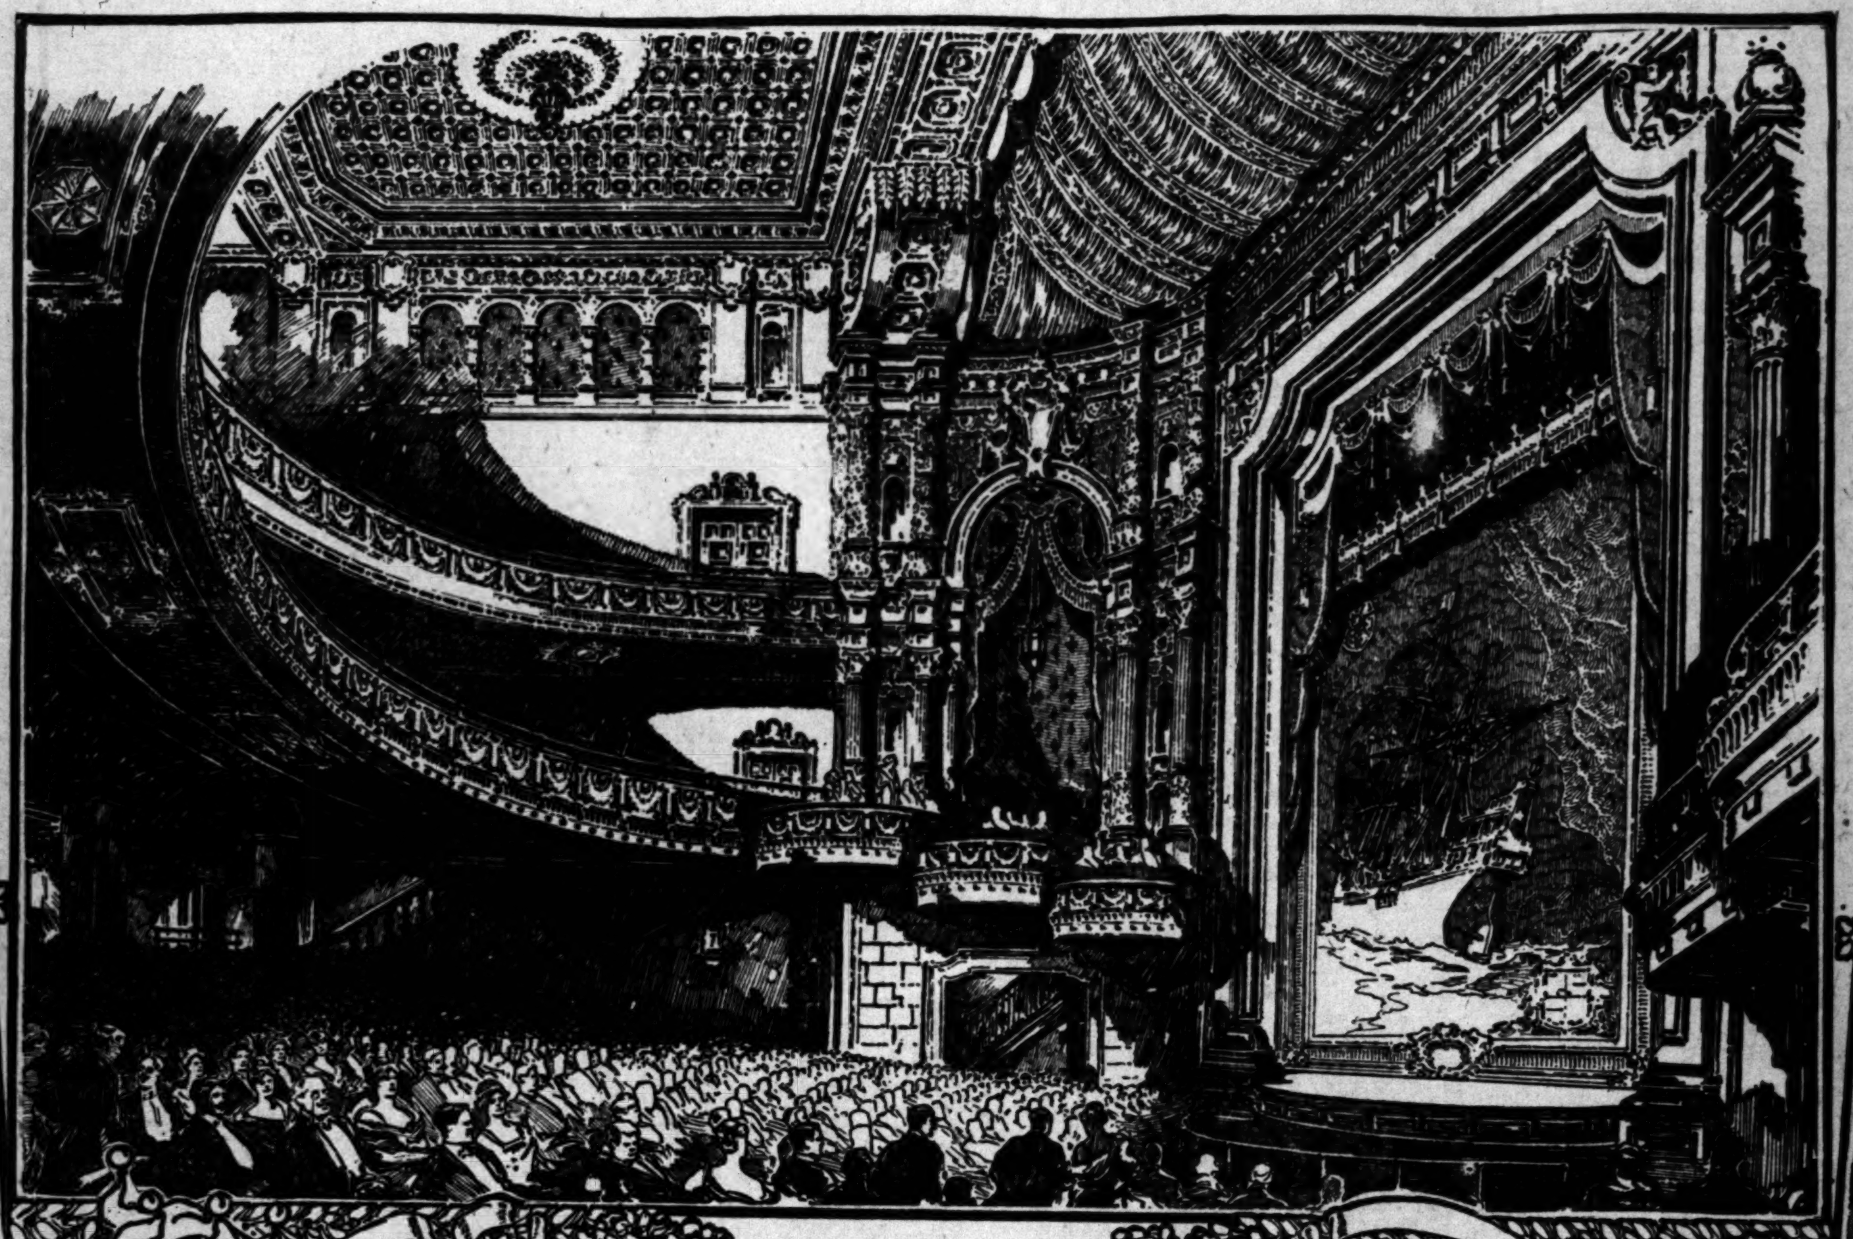
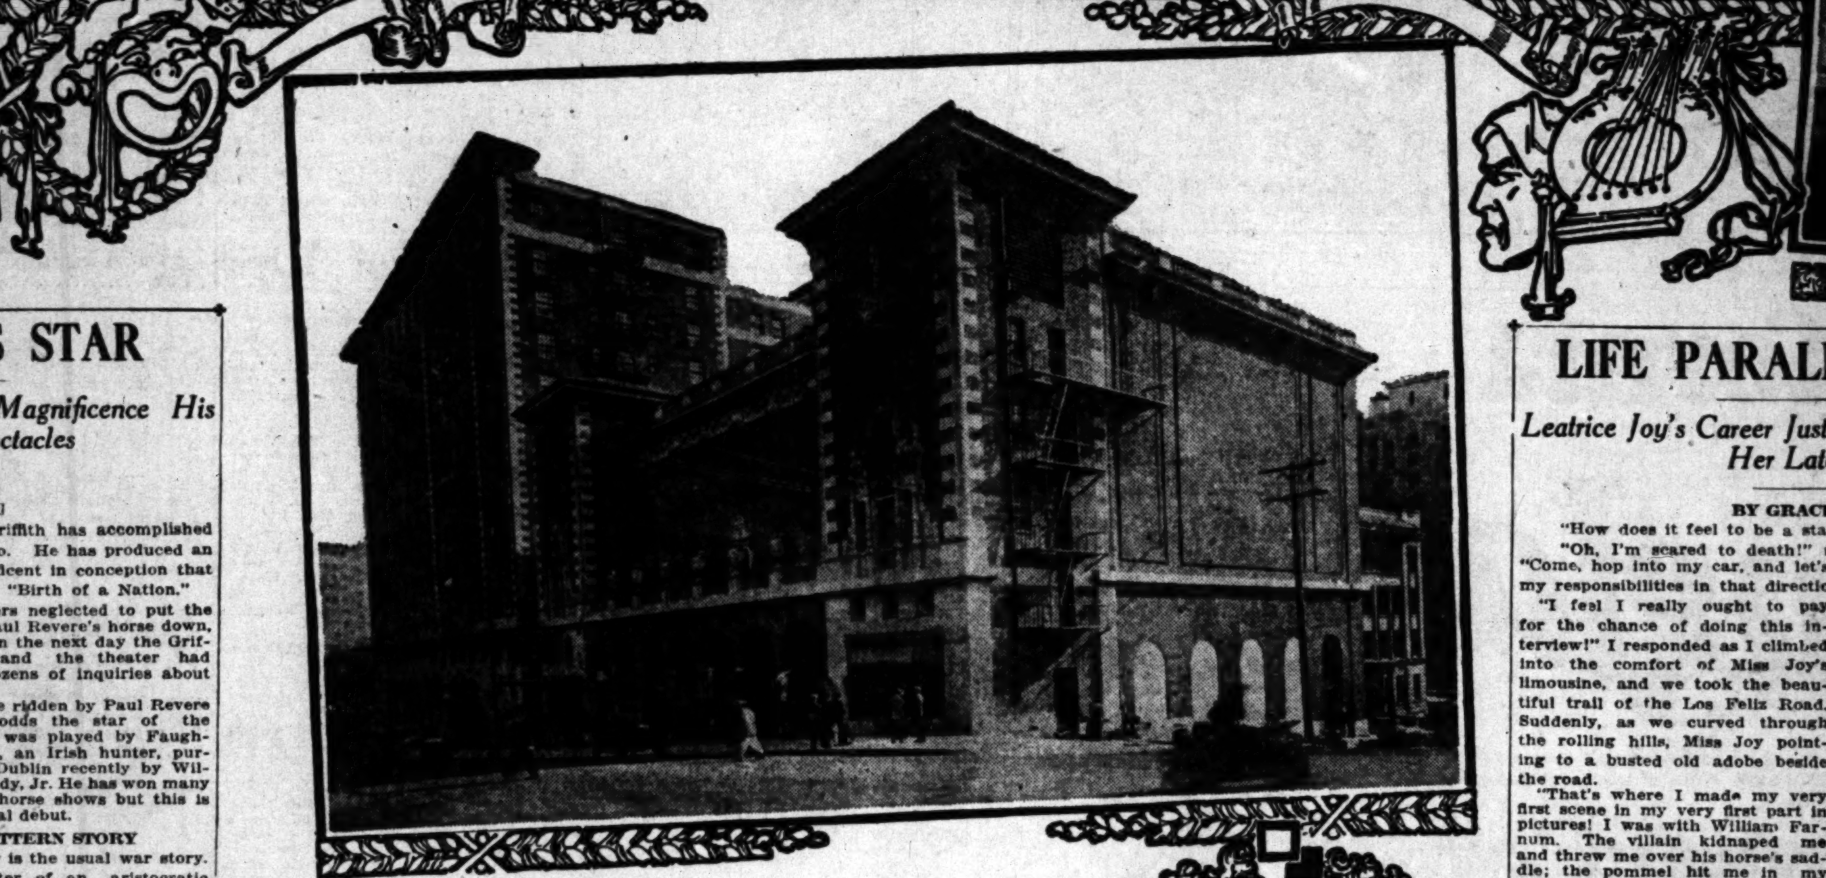
Unveiling of New Playhouse Will Disclose Host of Architectural Charms





Skilled Pen of The Times Artist Charles Owens Visualizes Biltmore Opening

The main feature of this impression is a cross-section of the entire auditorium of the Biltmore, sketched by Mr. Owens at the theater, and revealing how this will appear at the first performance. This theater has been so built that its full beauty is brought out only when the audience is within its doors. At the right and left and below are photographs of salient architectural adornments and exterior.

NARY ANOTHER LIKE NEILAN

Director's Individuality Shines Through

Always a High Spot in Each Film He Does

"Tess of D'Urbervilles" is Novel Venture

BY HARRY CARR

Marshall Neilan has embarked upon a new adventure—different from all his other achievements.

He has started to make "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," that moving, intense and dramatic tragedy by Thomas Hardy.

He says there will be no "Mickey Neilan stuff" in it. I asked him how he was going to play it and he replied briefly: "The way the author wrote it." Which will certainly be a departure for Mickey.

I wouldn't be surprised if it were a turning point in a great career.

Neilan is one of the strangest characters in the motion-picture industry. He never makes a picture that is good from one end to the other, but he never makes a picture in which there is not some high spot that glows with genius—something that never could be made by any other director who ever lived.

Mickey's touch is as individual as the taste of cloves. There isn't anything in the world in the least like it.

His hair gives the impression of growing, each hair by itself—

IRISH HORSE IS STAR

Griffith's Latest Dwarfs With Magnificence His Previous Cinema Spectacles

BY HELEN KLUMPH
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—At last D. W. Griffith has accomplished that his friends have long asserted he could do. He has produced an American historical spectacle that is so magnificent in conception that it quite dwarfs all the pictures except his own "Birth of a Nation."

That is not to say that his "American-Series One—the Sac-" is in every way a great picture, but its individual scenes so superb that in the first of enthusiasm one can overlook the faults.

"America" opened before an un- first-night audience. The of Governor's Island was there were the chief officers and of the local members of the A.R., besides all the officers of principal patriotic societies have chapters here.

On the whole it was not a -wise audience. As a consequence much of the picture that merely conventionally pleasing tumultuous applause, while typically Griffithian tours de went unrewarded except by scattered film critics who their usual wise cracks enough to applaud something and effective.

Unfortunately the biggest thrill in the first half of the picture, but that is not Mr. Griffith's

THE RIDE OF REVERE

History had it that way.

The big thrill is the ride of Revere, and it is the most and gripping episode I have seen on the screen. Indeed, cannot remember any scene on stage that has its power.

Incidentally, the Griffith program-makers neglected to put the name of Paul Revere's horse down, and by noon the next day the Griffith office and the theater had received dozens of inquiries about him.

The horse ridden by Paul Revere is by all odds the star of the show. He was played by Faugh-A-Ballaugh, an Irish hunter, purchased in Dublin recently by William H. Brady, Jr. He has won many ribbons in horse shows but this is his theatrical debut.

PATTERN STORY

The story is the usual war story. The daughter of an aristocratic Tory falls in love with a young rebel, but her loyalty to her father and his cause is unswerving until she learns the worst about the villainous leaders on her father's side.

Then she flees with her father to the nearest stockade which is furiously attacked by the English and Indian forces and later is heriocally saved by the men under our young hero's leadership.

Then a flash of Cornwallis's surrender is shown and the young lovers go on their honeymoon.

The story sounds pretty bald, but that doesn't matter. Mr. Griffith was filming young love, patriotic zeal and the rugged heroism of

"SALOME" FOR MATINEE

Oscar Wilde's "Salome," with the Richard Strauss music, is scheduled for the only matinee of the engagement, Tuesday. This opera story, taking place at the sensual and cruel court of Herod (played by Riccardo Martin) gives Garden another opportunity for displaying her dramatic power.

Interest in Salome is two-fold, first in the story itself, and for the score of Richard Strauss. It is based on the highly imaginative version of the biblical account of the death of John the Baptist (played by Georges Baklanoff).

Oh, you ambitious film aspirants, listen to this tale of incredible frustration.

Behold my heroine, no less a person than a protege of the queen of filmdom, Mary Pickford. Behold her armed with a mountain of personal letters written by Mary to the big-wigs of the industry, enticingly pleading with them to give the lady a chance, and a personal letter to herself setting forth her affectionate appreciation of our heroine's character and talents. Behold her even basking in the warmth of "experience," having been given numerous "bits" in Mary's own pictures. Behold her laden with a huge pile of fascinating "stills" of herself in these roles.

And then behold her making the perfectly staggering confession that she has not received a single answer to any of those stylishly persuasive letters, nor being permitted to do other than sit for countless dreary hours outside closed studio doors—for all the world as though she were an obscure, unsponsored nobody from Red Gap.

BY ROYAL APPOINTMENT

This is the stor yof Mme. De Bodamere to date. Madame, who for four intimate years was Mary's personal attendant and French teacher. Madame, who speaks three languages perfectly. Madame, who, on the Pickford-Fairbanks lot, has already met many of the screen nabobs in person,

RIGHT FROM THE FRONT

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

SINCE the showing of "A Woman of Paris" there hasn't been much talk about the competition between Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd. It's old and reliable material for argument, but Chaplin in this feature edged into a new field, and away from the center of the storm.

Still—Chaplin is now going to make a comedy for his next, and he is going to break into a field where Lloyd is not a bit behindhand with, big features built solely for humorous entertainment.

We've waited a long time for Charlie to make us laugh in his wonted fashion, and he's due for a whirlwind of a winner.

Though Lloyd has always lacked the finer artistic shadings of Chaplin—as bromidically they say on the boulevard—there is something enviable about his record for keeping right on going. It's like the James Cruze record, though Lloyd is more painstaking in attaining a specified result. To be sure, he doesn't hit the ball for a home run with every picture, but he makes them all mighty good, and some of them are really big knockouts.

They tell me—those who saw his latest, "Girl Shy"— recently at the preview in Glendale, that it is the greatest laught that Lloyd has ever made. The chase in the picture seems to come in for the most comment, and as a climax it is said to outdo even his make-believe steeple-jacking in "Safety Last," or the terrible fight he had in "Grandma's Boy."

I WONDER who else is going to get into this never-too-crowded comedy ring.

A few good fun-makers are right around the edge, but they never seem to put both feet in. The only one that has succeeded to any extent is Buster Keaton, and he has a good standing as a result of "Three Ages," principally, and "Hospitality."

Sid Chaplin is slated for the best sort of rise imaginable just now, because for a combination of comedy and character drawing his name is right up in front. Moreover even the signboards on the street tell the world that he's in pictures, so he's apparently not neglecting any chance to speed his way to the front.

I don't know that Sid is ready for stardom yet, despite the fact that there is a good deal of talk about that. I think he'll do better to stick closely to the featured roles for a time. But sooner or later, I feel, he'll blaze right into the higher stellar ranks.

The short-reel field should do some expanding this season, and perhaps uncover some good new comedy personalities, (among them Harry Langdon looks promising,) because there is every sign of a

DOUG MacLEAN RUNS RAILROAD

BY KENNETH TAYLOR

Yes, Douglas MacLean still wants to go back on the stage, but no, he isn't going to do it, at least for a while and anyway, it's more fun running a one-train, four-car, half-a-mile railroad, even if you've only rented it, then it is giving interviews. But sometimes you can do both. Doug could the other day, down at the Southern Pacific station, and did.

MacLean has finally climbed the unsteady ladder of success and is now rated as one of the sure-fire hits of the screen. After a long struggle with pictures that were none too good, he suddenly appeared with "The Hottentot," which was a friend in need for every box office in the land, and followed that with a series of consistently good pictures.

There are certain obstacles that a hardened cinema writer has learned to surmount easily. He can interview a star, producer, or director on the set, at lunch, or in the home easier, sometimes, than he can in his own journal's office. But doing the same thing on location is difficult—especially when the location is an honest-to-goodness railroad train, and the star is also the producer, and paying for it out of his own pocket. He isn't apt to waste any time on idle words.

Still, MacLean found plenty of time seated on a folding camp chair placed on a flat car hooked on the back of his private train as it rolled from one end of the yard to the other, to discuss various phases of his work and art.

"Just a few minutes," he said.

LIFE PARALLELS FICTION

Leatrice Joy's Career Just Like That of Heroine in Her Latest Picture

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

"How does it feel to be a star?" I asked Leatrice Joy.

"Oh, I'm scared to death!" responded the new Lasky luminary. "Come, hop into my car, and let's take a ride while I get away from my responsibilities in that direction for a while."

"I feel I really ought to pay for the chance of doing this interview!" I responded as I climbed into the comfort of Miss Joy's limousine, and we took the beautiful trail of the Los Feliz Road. Suddenly, as we curved through the rolling hills, Miss Joy pointing to a busted old adobe beside the road.

"That's where I made my very first scene in my very first part in pictures! I was with William Farnum. The villain kidnaped me and threw me over his horse's saddle; the pommel hit me in my solar plexus, and I fainted. So you see my first entrance was a knockout!"

We laughed, and I looked around at the glowing health of Miss Joy's lovely face.

Now I always feel cross when other people talk of Miss Joy's beauty. For one thing, it isn't always there. Sometimes there is a little strained look, a weariness after long, hard hours of work. At other times, to be sure, she is as lovely as a May morning, with her clear brown eyes, her healthful color.

But in any case, she is always so much more than merely beautiful. She is, for instance, the most alive and at the same time the most warmly radiant personality in pictures, to my way of thinking. And always one of the most interesting, with her quick brain making twice as many revolutions a minute as most people's brains do. She has a quickly humorous, but at the same time a sympathetic outlook—a combination that doesn't always exist.

MODEST ABOUT IT

"But I haven't really begun to be a star yet," explained Miss Joy. "My first story isn't quite set, though I think I am to do 'Rose,' in which I play a double characterization—both real character parts. I love that. I hate being a rag doll heroine!"

Miss Joy is very modest about this starring matter

"Honestly, while I'm awfully grateful to the fans who are responsible for my becoming a star still I think personally that featured players are much more interesting. I think the story is the thing, and that the players should be picked for the parts, instead of the parts for the players.

"Too many starts," she went on, with what looks to the humble reviewer like sweet reasonableness, "are killed off by having the public see too much of them in the pictures. In all-star casts, now, there's a division of responsibility. I hope I shan't grab the camera too much!"

Rather odd that Miss Joy's last picture before starting work under her starring contract is called "Triumph," isn't it?

And odder yet—perhaps the strangest thing that has ever happened in pictures, is the way in which the heroine's story parallels so much in the life of Miss Joy herself.

Both began their careers as very poor girls, the herione of "Triumph" as a singer, Miss Joy as an actress.

SHE HAD ADVANTAGE

"But my childhood had the advantage," explained Miss Joy. "I had everything then, whereas the heroine of "Triumph" began as a factory girl, with only a big voice and a big ambition. But dad lost his money, and I hadn't learned a thing to fall back on with which to earn my living. If I have thirteen girls——"

"Unlucky number!" I protested.

"Well, twelve girls then—I shall have every one of them learn to do something by which she could earn her living."

"Well, if you had learned to stenog," I reminded her, "maybe we never should have had you on the screen!"

"That's so. Well, then, maybe I shall only train eleven of my girls to do something useful! But to be serious again. The girl in the picture saves her lunch money to buy a piano. I used to save mine to buy wardrobe. I used to pose down at the Smith School, you know, for 50 cents an hour—about two hours a week, so you can figure how much money I made, what with that and my extra work.

PARALLEL CASES

"But nothing was really a sacrifice to me then, because I always figured that I should succeed some time.

"The girl in 'Triumph' loses her voice and is told that she probably will never be able to sing again. I knew how to play that. I knew just how she felt. You see I thought at one time that I should have to give up my screen career. I cut my lip in an automobile accident, and the doctor said that perhaps I might be scarred for life. My heart dropped into my boots. Then he gave just one glimmering of hope.

"'But,' said the doctor, 'if you will submit to the operation of having your lip sewed up without taking an anaesthetic, just keep opening and closing your lips, so that we can follow the contour of your mouth, it is possible that we may be able to do a job that won't showed after it is healed.'

"So I submitted, had fourteen son as Marguerite, and Forrest Lamont as Faust, will be given. This will be the only opportunity of hearing the famous Russian baritone in opera, said to be his greatest forte.

"The Jewess," with Rosa Raisa as Rachael, Charles Marshall as Eleazar, and Virgilio Lazzari as Cardinal de Brogni, closes the engagement Wednesday evening.

Studded with gleaming arias, sparkling duets, trios and choral numbers, "The Jewess," by Halevy, has enjoyed such a vogue with the public that it will be included in the standard Chicago opera repertoire. The curtain rises on a public square, a festival scene, with church and chorus singing a "Te Deum" of rare beauty. The day has been declared a holiday in celebration of the return of the victorious Prince Leopold.

Eleazar (played by Marshall,) and his daughter Rachael are arrested for breaking the holiday and are threatened with death by the townspeople. They are only saved by the arrival of Cardinal Brogni, president of the Council, whom the Jew Eleazar recognizes as an ancient enemy. With the arrival of Leopold, who is in love with Rachael, a rendezvous between the two lovers is arranged for that evening, while the Jews are celebrating the Passover secretly.

Watching the festivities, Eleazar and Rachael are once more taken into custody, only to released for the second time that day by a Christian in the person of Leopold.

That night at the home of Eleazar the Passover is celebrated in perfect conformity with the ritual, with the exception of Leopold, who disguised as a student, secretly throws away the bread. Demanded explanation why he, a Jew, refuses the ritual, Leopold finally discloses himself as being not only the Prince but a Gentile and begs Rachael, who really loves him deeply, to go away with him. She finally consents, only to later decry him, when she imagines him false. The ending, one of the most dramatic in all operatic song and story, maintains the strange, adamantine principles of the Semitic peoples.

"The Jewess" as sung by Raisa and Marshall in the two leading roles, promises to be what "The Merchant of Venice" is to the speaking stage.

Comedian to Act as Host at Plantation

Harry Gribben, popular comedian of the screen and stage, is to be master of ceremonies at the Plantation Club tonight.

As guest of honor for the evening, Gribbon will assume charge of the impromptu program in which many celebrities of the stage and film world will take part. He will also present a silver cup to the winners of the dancing contest. Gribbon is returning to the stage after several years' work in pictures. He will be one of the feature artists of the DeRecat-Bostick production of "Smiles of 1924," which is to play at the Philharmonic Auditorium the week of April 7.

Regular entertainment at the Plantation Club is furnished by Johnny Perkins and his three black aces, and Chris Mann's band of syncopationists.

Every Woman Vamp at Times, Says Actress

"There are, no doubt, as many different ways of vamping as there are women in the world," remarked Margaret Livingston, who takes another long stride toward the stardom that awaits her in the not-far future, through her excellent portrayal of a little "don't-care-for-anything" homebreaker in "Wandering Husbands," which has just been completed at the Thomas H. Ince Studios.

"Vamps can, of course, in turn, be divided into types, just as people are, and the type that the character Muriel, in "Wandering Husbands" belongs to is, in my estimation, the most successful of all—according to their own standards. It is just such little, dumb, pretty, laughing, wholly irresponsible girls that attract married men, who, wearied of the narrow confines of a conventional state of marriage, want to steal away and dance in forbidden paths for a time. And it is also just such a type that causes them no end of trouble when the haven of wife, children and home beckons them to return.

"According to the screen, it is only the sleek, clever sinuous woman, with an air of tragedy about her that invites men to stray from the straight and narrow, but off the screen I've seen the first mentioned type rush in where the angels might well fear to reconnoiter, and get away with it, for a time. Of course, they never last long, but when it is all over, they, with an 'I don't care,' go blithely on their way, ready for another adventure.

"That is the kind of vamp I play in 'Wandering Husbands'—a sort of Eva Tanguay type—an 'I-don't-care-girl.'"

Miss Livingston is featured in the Regal pictures production with Lila Lee and James Kirkwood.

Less Costly Pictures Asked by Exhibitors

Finis Fox, who recently reached New York with the film of his latest production, "A Woman Who Sinned," after showing it to some of the biggest exhibitors between Los Angeles and the eastern metropolis, says that the exhibitor is learning more and more each day about the actual technical construction of a film.

A communication just received by R. R. Beatty, general manager, says that exhibitors are getting tired of paying high rentals for costly films without any audience appeal, and are demanding pictures that are made at a reasonable cost and are devoid of any suggestion of vulgarity.

Exhibitors are pointing to pictures like Ralph Lewis's starring vehicles, "The Mail Man," "Westbound Limited" and "The Third Alarm," as an example of the kind of pictures the average person in an audience wants.

Mae Busch, Morgan Wallace, Rex Lease and Irene Rich are the featured players in "A Woman Who Sinned."

STORY OF FILM AMBITION SAD

and satisfactorily displayed her dramatic talent in nearly all of Mary's own pictures.

Remember how Lord Nelson bestowed Lady Hamilton upon Great Britain as his legacy to the empire? Even thus has Mary Pickford betsowed Mme. De Bodamere on Hollywood! And so far Mary's realm is treating her legacy very much as England treated Lord Nelson's.

Here are some of the nabobs to whom Madame had personal letters and recommendations: Fred Niblo, Marshall Neilan, Ernst Lubitsch, Frank Lloyd, Charlie Chaplin, Frances Marion, Jack Warner of Warner Brothers, etc., etc. There are dozens of them.

But do those letters with the magic signature whisk Madame past the closed studio doors into the august presences? They do not. Madame says she has called upon Frank Lloyd fourteen times and been denied admittance. After she had called at Goldwyn's four times, Warren Kerrigan's brother took pity on her and slipped her through those forbidding gates—but even then she could only see an under undersecretary of Marshall Neilan's. On another occasion she only got in by claiming acquaintance with the fellow who runs the cafeteria, who used to be the Pickford-Fairbanks butler, and he gallantly came forth and claimed her for his friend. After a dozen calls, when she nearly saw Frank Lloyd, an under-under-assistant told her to come back in four months' time! After fifteen calls at the Warner studios, a Jack Warner menial advised her to come back in two months.

Mme. De Bodamere

She succeeded in capturing Charlie Chaplin right there in the Fairbanks home just before the leave-taking. Chaplin was kind, most civil. She declares he broke her heart with more gentlemanly consideration than any of the others. But she might never, never have seen him at all had she pursued the conventional method of calling at his studio—even with the superb Pickford recommendation.

So behold her now, still armed with all those fancy recommendations, reduced to a grovelling gratitude when she is permitted to interview the merest of mere underlings of the nabob addressed. If she can only curry favor with a wardrobe lady or cutting-room boy her eyes well with triumph. But mostly, just like any little, unknown, frowsy aspirant from Timbuctoo, she sits in the outer coldness, meekly awaiting some stroke of luck, some miracle that will open the gates to her plea.

And just like any unknown, unheralded miss from nowhere, she has been permitted to register her attractions on the common slip: Address, the Holly Studio Club. Age, 40 years. Height, 5 ft. 6 ins. Weight, 130 lbs. Eyes, dark brown. Hair, black (long.) Wardrobe, complete. Experience, all Mary's pictures for four years, even unto "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." Dance, yes. Knowledge, continuous world travel. Languages, French, German, English.

AN ACE IN THE HOLE

But still Madame smiles. For she has all the zest of the chase, the big game hunting—without its final terrors. Nine months hence, if she has not won film fame, she can return to the harbor of Mary's home, when Mary and Doug and mamma come back. So her fellow-guests at the Studio Club, where all are seeking fame and few are called, she is envied yet. They may fall down and out by the wayside. Madame can go back to Mary.

It was four years ago that Madame was broke and unhappy in New York. And she went to see "Pollyanna"—when who should come in, just like a miracle vision, but Mary herself. Madame never hesitated. She introduced herself to Mary just like any adoring fan. And Mary was in soft mood.

So Madame finds herself established as Mary's personal attendant and French teacher—still blazing with theatrical ambition. An Alsatian papa had snubbed that ambition violently in her youth. Mary sympathized—and so the "bits" in Mary's plays. And so the multitudinous "stills." And so this opportunity to win personal fame in pictures while Mary is away—if her legacy to Hollywood can be forced upon a reluctant appreciation.

Mary's letters to the nabobs declare that Mary thinks she can act, is a good character actress and photographs well—and urges for personal consideration to herself (Mary) that these nabobs give her protege a chance. Mary is also reported as declaring she will never speak to any of them again if they don't. And so far it looks as though Mary's speaking acquaintances will be sadly reduced when Mary comes home!

CREDIT TO EDITOR FOR PART IN FILM

First the actor, then the director, then the scenario writer came into their own. Now it is the film editor who is beginning to gain proper recognition.

King Baggott states that whatever success "The Inheritors" may score, a great share of the credit should go to Dorothy Arzner, who has been assigned to edit it in collaboration with the director. It was she who cut and edited "The Covered Wagon" and Lasky officials gave her much praise for her work. "The Inheritors" will be a Super-Jewel and the biggest production King Baggott has yet made for Universal. It stars Mary Philbin in her first sophisticated role.

TWO PLAYS OPEN, ONE NEW THEATER

This week will bring the opening of a new legitimate theater here, when "Sally," the Ziegfeld musical comedy, opens the Biltmore Theater tomorrow evening.

Tonight "Capt. Applejack," with Wallace Eddinger in the star role, will go on at the Majestic.

Other legitimate attractions on view are "White Collars" at the Egan Theater, and "Cornered" at the Morosco.

Wears Women's Clothes

Every woman likes clothes and every man likes to see them, so the coming of Karyl Norman, who wears clothes better than almost any other human, to the Orpheum to headline this week, is an event for both sexes. Assisting him in his act, which is called "The Tuneful Song Shop," are Keno Clark and Bobbie Simonds.

Also in the new bill are retained those veterans of burnt cork, McIntyre and Heath, now on their fiftieth anniversary tour, but they will appear in another skit—one of the best of their old-time vehicles, "The Man from Montana."

Bert Lehr and Mercedes are featured in a quaint sort of act, "What's the Idea?" which may mean almost anything. Ed and Tom Hickey, "two elegant gentlemen," are best known as comedians, but have been away all too long. Truly Shattuck and Emma O'Neil are also well-known for past successes, are now "Punctuating Life's Manuscript" in a way that is unique. The Five Avalons display novel bits of versatility, while the three Melvin brothers are gymnasts of a sensational quality. Sylvia Clark remains over as one of the features.

Comedy Popular

"White Collars" is proving the biggest kind of a box office draw at the Egan Theater, where it goes into its fifth week tomorrow with every indication of breaking all records. Revelling in rich dialogue and the maze of comedy situations, the company makes the most of every opportunity and sends the audience away satisfied and chuckling.

Not only does this comedy contain a wealth of fun and a series of insistently mirthful situations, but its characters are drawn with such a skillful and careful hand that they take hold on the sympathies of the audience and keep the interest sustained until the final and unexpected outcome of the plot. It contains more laughs than heart throbs, but there are sufficient of the vital elements of life to make the story live. The cast contains Earle Foxe, Mabel Forrest, Robert Ober, Ruth Lee, George Sherwood, Zellah Covington, Blanche Douglas, Isabel Foyer and Paul Kruger.

Marjorie Bennett

Will play lead in "A Nice Naughty Girl," to open March 10 at Fine Arts Theater.

"Cornered" Closing

The seventh week of the Dodson Mitchell play, "Cornered" will begin at the Morosco Theater today.

Dealing with the lower and upper stratum of society with thrills galore and laughs aplenty, the play keeps things moving at the rate of a thrill a minute.

Orchestra Featured

Raymond Fagan, pianist, and his symphonic dance orchestra will feature the Hillstreet bill this week. Pam and Peggy Carvin are specially featured artists with Mr. Fagan.

A special feature of the new bill will be the appearance of Rin-tin-tin, who has appeared in many screen productions and will do various stunts demonstrating his intelligence. He is presented by Lee Duncan, his owner and director.

The Arnaut brothers will present the act in which they made a hit at the New York Hippodrome. They are humorous acrobatic violinists.

Eddie Kane and Jay Herman are talking comedians and their skit, "The Midnight Sons" is original and thoroughly entertaining.

Billy McDermott, known as the only survivor of Coxey's army, is a tramp comedian with as many laughs in his monologue as their patches in his clothes and the O'Connor sisters are harmony singers who offer popular and croony songs.

"Refuge" a dramatic screen play starring Katherine MacDonald.

Entire New Show

Manager Fred L. Wolfe of the Burbank Theater announces an entire new musical comedy production with the Baby Dolls this week. After having exposed every imaginable scandal via the musical comedy route the girls will now take a flight into the land of fancy. The new production is announced as a review type of show with gorgeous settings and costumes. All the latest song hits are to be interpreted by special dancing numbers and soloists. The fun-making is in the hands of Lee "Bud" Harris and George Clark and the rest of the favorites will be on hand. The illuminated runway will, of course, function prominently during the proceedings.

Thirty Midgets

Alexander Pantages points with considerable satisfaction to his latest vaudeville importation from Europe, the Irving troupe of midgets. These thirty miniature artists are from 17 to 30 years of age, and from thirty-six to forty-two inches in height. Their ranks are equally divided with fifteen men and fifteen women, and they are said to be the largest troupe as well as the smallest midgets ever brought to this country from Europe.

Their performance at Pantages this week will constitute a large part of the vaudeville program. They will be heard in musical comedy, in a cabaret act, and in a dramatic offering, and will also present juggling, instrumental musical numbers, acrobatics, gymnastics, pantomime and military drills.

By way of contrast the act contains a giant, said to be nearly eight feet tall, but appearing even taller by contrast with the midgets.

The Willhats, a comedy team; Walter and Stern, syncopated salesmen; Sabbott and Brooks in a dance cocktail, are also listed, and the Pathe feature, "Stormy Seas," will be the screen event. J. P. McGowan and Helen Holmes are the featured players in this emotional melodrama, which was directed by McGowan.

Parents and Lovers

"The Madness of Love," a picture hinging on the rights of parents to come between lovers, will be shown at the Hippodrome this week. Jean Scott, a talented young actress, who appeared in David Belasco's "Kiki" company, takes the leading role of Mary Anne Strong. Others in the cast are Bernard Siegle, Willard Cooley, Charles Craig, Ivan Christy and Richard Lee.

The vaudeville bill contains a splendid variety of talent headed by Mischialowna and Sabbot, international dancers, featuring Russian acrobatics and Cossack numbers.

Park and Clayton, an attractive young couple, give a splendid entertainment entitled "Comedy De Luxe." Smith and Earl in "Superb Solos and Harmony," present a classy and satisfying offering. Evans and Wilson in "Bits of This and That," a clever comedienne and a sweet singer, put over a number that is more than pleasing. Moro and Yoco are two boys with character comedy and music that is really high-class entertainment. Rowlland Brothers, novelty equilibrists in a series of perch tricks that are the last word in equilibrism, complete the program.

"Sally" at Biltmore

"Sally," with Leon Errol as its star, is Florenz Ziegfeld's offering for the inauguration of the new Biltmore Theater tomorrow night. For nearly two years without a break, it played to absolute capacity at the New Amsterdam Theater, New York, followed by a run of five months in Boston and a Philadelphia engagement that broke every record in the fifteen years' history of the Forrest Theater.

In association with the comedian, Leon Errol, are Walter Catlett, Shirley Vernon, promoted from principal dancer in the Ziegfeld Follies to the role of Sally, Irving Fisher, Kathlene Martyn, Frank Kingdom, Alfred P. James, Phil Ryley, Agatha DeBussey, Ethel Kelly, Floyd English and some eighty others, including many famous Ziegfeld beauties.

The book of "Sally" is by Guy Bolton, the lyrics by Clifford Grey, the score by Jerome Kern, the Butterfly Ballet by Victor Royce, and the orchestra directed by Max Bendix. Its style show aspect has been given added charm by advanced new gowns and wraps created in Paris and London.

STUDENTS TO OFFER PLAY NEXT FRIDAY

The Wallis School players will present "Always the Truth" in the Denishawn Theater next Friday evening. W. H. Winner, Harold Savage, Charles Krejsa, Edgar Atherton, Paul Holmes, Dorothy Wilson, Mary Akers, Frances De Curtins and Louise Smith appear in the cast, with Hortense Prohaska, as director.

Last Friday the school offered "The Novel Home Smasher," one of the best three-act emotional dramas in the school's repertory.

RUSHES

BY X. WYSIE

What I want to know is, who gets the original of the carbon copies press agents send us?

So 75 per cent of the nation's motion pictures will always be produced in Hollywood, Mr. Schenck? A-ha! Wrong again. The real-estate man says Hollywood and Culver City are both gonna move to Westwood.

Will Hays hasn't yet rushed to the defense of the woman who was accused of being a motion-picture fan by her husband in connection with the wife's alimony plea.

JOE FADISH SAYS

That looking backward, things appear much different, and it won't be long before this age of "Black Oxen" and the current periodicals will be sighingly referred to as "the gland old days."

When we picked up a piece of publicity copy and read "If Viola Dana is using more cold cream and more powder in her make-up for her newest Metro picture, 'Don't Doubt Your Husband,' " we were ready to stop, and then we realized that that is the name of a picture, and not a new Hollywood scandal.

Vi's using a lot of additional beauty aids these days, because all during the illness of Aunt Julie, her large and capable colored cook, she has been spending a lot of time over the kitchen stove. The publicity man says so!

Since burlesques are now in order we suppose Passe Pictures will soon come out with "The Ten Bank Bandits."

The hero will be the Northwestern Mounted Police officer who breaks every one of them.

See where Conway Tearle sold a lot for $1650 that he paid $1500 for in New Jersey eight years ago. Profit, $150. Now, if Conway had put it in the bank at 4 per cent he'd have something like $480 additional now.

FORECAST

We asked the Wee Jee board who would be the next President and Wee Jee said Ben Turpin. We thought he'd make a cock-eyed President, but Wee Jee said no, crooked.

Motion pictures in color are inevitable, and with their development it will be possible to show two pictures on the screen at the same time, says Prof. F. A. Osborne of the University of Washington. Patrons will look through red glasses if they want to see Mary Pickford and through blue glasses if they want to see a Chaplin comedy.

POOR RICHARD'S FILMANACK

Many Coming to City for Dance Course

The sixth annual teachers' normal course, given by Ernest Belcher, will be held this summer at the Belcher studios.

The recognition of Belcher as one of the leading ballet masters of the time has brought a flood of requests for entrance in this class and teachers this year are coming from all parts of North America, as well as one or two from Belcher's former residence, London.

Each summer Belcher has been giving this course, and each summer has seen a greater number of teachers coming here. The instruction involves a thorough study of the Belcher technique, which is a result of many years study of the various techniques now existing.

TEACHER STARTS NEW DANCE CLASS

Marie Pergain

Wanda Grazer, in charge of the professional dancing at the Marta Oatman School of the theater and at Denishawn, is starting a daily class in dancing for beginners and for professionals who desire a thorough training in technique in order to teach. The class will be held at Miss Grazer's studio at the Marta Oatman School. Miss Grazer is a special pupil of Ted Shawn and Ruth St. Denis. Marie Pergain is one of Miss Grazer's private pupils.

Miss Grazer is staging a dance for the film production "The White Moth."

LIFE READS LIKE STORY

stitches taken in my under lip—see here"—and she showed me a tiny scar which I should never have noticed if she hadn't spoken of it, "and in that way I was able to appear before the camera again in a few weeks.

"Then when, as the heroine, I finally got my new gown to sing in, after I had thought my great chance was to be missed for lack of it, I knew just how she must feel.

DANCES WITH JOY

"'Do you know how I feel like doing this scene?'" I asked Mr. De Mille. He said, No, of course not. 'Well,' I answered, 'I just want to play it the way I acted the day I signed my contract with Paramount!' He said all right, go ahead. So I danced up and down, and romped about, and beat my forehead with joy.' I knew that's just what that heroine would naturally do.

"Mr. De Mille told me a story then. He said that he never danced for joy except once. He was getting $25 a week at the time, and one week when he opened his pay envelope he found that it contained $35. He said that, of course, he felt entitled to it, because the company had been taking his suggestions, and all that, but that any way he danced for joy. Then, next day, he went to thank his employers. 'Good Lord!' they answered, 'did you find $35 in your envelope? Well, it was all a mistake, and you give that money right back!' No matter what happened after that, Mr. De Mille said, he never quite dared dance for joy.

"Every girl in the world wants to play Juliet, so, of course, both the heroine in the picture and myself in real life just hone and hanker to play the Shakespearean heroine. At last in this picture, both the heroine and myself get our chance! As the heroine I see myself in a vision playing Juliet, and the vision is filmed in the picture!"

Here's the part of the parallel that will gladden the hearts of the flappr fans. It was right at the time of her first success that the heroine of "Triumph" meets the man she afterward, after many misunderstandings, marries. And it was while playing "Bunty" for Goldwyn, her first big part, that Leatrice met Jack Gilbert, whom she afterward married!

LOSES EVERYTHING

But it seems that when the heroine gets to the very top of her success, she loses it all because she has never given herself any time for life and love.

Miss Joy is too practical and sensible a young lady to wear her heart on her sleeve, but the fact remains that right here is where the strangest part of the parallel comes in. For she and Jack Gilbert, her husband, made up a few months ago, after an estrangement, and her life, like that of the heroine of "Triumph" is made more complete in a new-found marital happiness.

"You see," Jack Gilbert said to me one day, "Leatrice and I both found out that after all just merely having a career didn't make a woman or man happy! But I guess at that," he added gallantly, "that the split between us was a whole lot my fault!"

I never contradict a man when he says that!

But at any rate, be it happiness or what-not, never has Miss Joy's work been as brilliant as at present, says everybody who has seen her in "The Ten Commandments" and in rush scenes of "Triumph," which she has just completed.

Mr. De Mille prophesies a very big future for Miss Joy, whom he considers the finest dramatic actress on the screen.

And it is easy to believe in his prophecies.

HAMILTON'S NEW ONE

Lloyd Hamilton has finished his latest comedy, directed by Lloyd Bacon and titled "Good Morning." He wears the checked cap, of course, and plays the part of the wistful youth who delivers the big town morning papers to the small-towners. Ruth Hiatt is leading woman.

BILTMORE HAS FRENCHY CHARM

tively dressed people, this means much for a brilliant housewarming.

LONGER RUNS; BETTER PLAYS

The Biltmore succeeds the Mason here as the major theater for attractions that come to the Coast from New York. Heretofore the theater on Broadway near First street has offered the great bulk of these productions, and now presumably they are to be divided between the two theaters, with longer runs established.

"Sally," the first show, is the famed musical comedy success in which Marilynn Miller, the wife of Jack Pickford, played for so long. She retired from the cast a few months ago, and Shirley Vernon took her place and has made a notable hit.

Leon Errol is the leading male principal, and Walter Catlett, remembered here from the "So Long Letty" days, not to speak of the Burbank stock, is the third member of the cast who is featured.

MASON GOES RIGHT ON

"Sally" is to be followed by "Lightnin'" at the theater, and meanwhile other prominent attractions will play at the Mason. The first of these is "The Merchant of Venice," with David Warfield.

The opening of the Biltmore will consequently give Los Angeles not only another stage theater that has long been needed here, but will also bring a better class of road attractions because of the possibility of extending engagements here.

A THEATER OF TODAY

The Biltmore is essentially a theater of the present. It is a splendid compromise with the smaller modern houses that are the rule in New York.

Although it possesses both a first and second balcony, and seats quite as many people as the Mason, it attains the now-desired perfection of intimacy.

Breadth has been sought rather than depth in the building and consequently every seat is brought within a close range of the stage.

The acme of comfort, too, has been sought in the arrangement and the designing of the seats, not only on the lower floor, but throughout the house.

FRENCHY COLOR SCHEME

Most attractive probably, outside of the lovely and somewhat Frenchy scheme of softly lighted decoration, will be the promenades that may be used between the acts. One of these is an outdoor balcony that will be provided with settees and chairs.

There are several other promenades within the doors and an alluring lounging room and other features that will make the house comfortable to the last degree.

The essential feeling throughout the construction is artistic and inviting. The stage has a splendid width and is provided with the most modern equipment and a special sounding board has been arranged for the orchestra.

There are only three boxes on either side and these are considerably higher than the level of the floor. All eyes in the theater may observe with ease the box-holders and this gives these an especial allure for those who desire not only to see but to be seen.

The head offices for the management, of which the local representative is Edward D. Smith, will be removed from the Mason where they are at present, to the Biltmore, with the opening of the house.

A reception will be held tonight, at which A. L. Erlanger and Joe Toplitzky, the owners of the new theater, will be hosts, with Mr. Smith, to many invited guests.

JACKIE'S NEXT PLAY ORIGINAL

Small Star to Start on Story Willard Mack Wrote for His Use

The Coogans, mere and pere, believe that this is the day of big opportunities for the young director, so they have signed Scott Dunlap, one of the most successful of the younger directors, to make Jackie's third picture for Metro.

Dunlap will direct Jackie Coogan in the story recently purchased from Willard Mack and written for the especial use of the little star by the noted author. Huge sets, large mob scenes, and other accessories to the "sumptuous" production, so-called, will be conspicuously absent from Jackie's next starring vehicle. Instead, the homely atmosphere of the San Francisco waterfront and the exotic locale of a small island in the South Seas will furnish the background for the story of the adventures of the orphan of a San Francisco police hero.

United States Marines and the police force of the Bay City will be in the cast. Mack's story, as yet untitled, is the first original screen play in which Jackie has appeared for two years—his previous efforts during that time having been adapted from published novels.

Mack will act in an advisory capacity throughout the filming of the picture. Director Dunlap is selecting his personal staff and the supporting cast, and the production will start in about three weeks. The entire Coogan personnel employed in the production of "A Boy of Flandrs," recently completed, will be retained. Upon completion of the Willard Mack story Jackie will have but one more film to make on his Metro contract, the prelude to which was the payment of the famous half-million dollar bonus.

INCE WANTS NOVEL MADE FROM PICTURE

Frank R. Adams, the short story writer, has been asked by Thomas H. Ince to make a novel out of his screen story, "Against the Rules."

The picture has just been completed at the Ince studio and is now in the cutting room. The release will be held up if Mr. Adams decides he can find time to write the novel on top of his other contracts.

WILL REST A WHILE

R. William Neill, having finished "Rose of the Ghetto" for Grand-Asher, refuses to walk even to lunch. "I walked so much on the big sets I had," he declares, "that it'll take me a month to catch up on my natural rest."

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT

A Department of Information Regarding the Pictures and Their Players

BY MARJORIE PERRY LA FORCE

Mrs. May W., Los Angeles—Betty Blythe was born in Los Angeles in 1893. She was educated in Los Angeles schools and in Paris. Her hair is dark and her eyes blue. Miss Blythe has been abroad the past year and has just recently returned to California. She made two pictures while away—"Chin Chin Chow" and "The Recoil."

Frank L., Santa Ana—Famous Players-Lasky will film J. M. Barrie's "Peter Pan." It hasn't been decided who will play the title role.

N.C.J., Los Angeles—"The Wolf Man" will be released by Fox Film Corporation, and in all probability will be shown at the Hillstreet Theater. The date of release is not known as yet.

Russell W., Los Angeles—Constance Talmadge is younger than her sister Norma by three years. She is single. Norma is married to Joseph Schenck. Constance's new picture not yet released, is "The Goldfish." Antonio Moreno recently played opposite Agnes Ayres in "Bluff," a Sam Wood production. He can be reached by mail at the Lasky Studio.

H.G.G., Black Lake, N. M.—I do not have photographs of screen stars for distribution. The best method of obtaining them is to write to the ones you are interested in at their respective studios and enclose 25 cents to cover cost of mailing.

E. D., Elsinore—Kenneth Harlan's next screen appearance will be in "Poisoned Paradise," recently filmed by B. P. Schulberg. The picture is an adaptation of Robert W. Service's novel depicting life in Paris and Monte Carlo. John Galsworthy wrote the story, "The Stranger." Betty Compson, Richard Dix, Lewis Stone and Tully Marshall were the featured players in the screen version.

Gladys Y., Santa Paula—Rockliffe Fellows and Fritzi Ridgeway played the leading roles in "Trifling with Honor." Conrad Nagel has appeared in several pictures recently which have not been released yet. The last two were, "Three Weeks," from Elinor Glyn's novel and "The Flame of Love," which was filmed in New York.

Mrs. D. M., Los Angeles.—Noah Beery enacted the part of Holderness in "The Heritage of the Desert." Lloyd Hughes, Bebe Daniels and Ernest Torrence were the principal players. Douglas MacLean has played chiefly in comedy pictures such as "The Hottentot," "Bell-Boy 13" and "Going Up." His next offering will bear the title, "Never Say Die."

Mrs. D. W. K., Ajo, Ariz.—Mermaid Comedies are made by Jack White Corporation of the Fine Arts Studio at junction of Sunset and Hollywood boulevards. Richard Walton Tully pictures are made at United Studios, 5341 Melrose avenue. It was Mary Carr who portrayed the mother role in "Silver Wings."

Helen L., Los Angeles.—Yes, Billie Dove was formerly a member of Ziegfeld Follies before taking up screen work. She is married (just recently though) to Irvin Willet, who is now directing her in a picture called, "Wanderer of the Wasteland." Jack Holt, Noah Beery, Kathlyn Williams and other prominent players compose the cast.

M.S., Los Angeles—Ethel Clayton's absence from the screen was only temporary. She was recently signed by Grand-Asher Company to appear under their banner. "The Remittance Woman," which was adapted from Achmed Abdullah's story, was the last picture of Miss Clayton for Robertson-Cole.

John F., Glendale—Madge Bellamy was starred in "Lorna Doone." Mildred Davis and Kenneth Harlan were the featured players in "Temporary Marriage." Ernest Torrence has a brother in pictures; David Torrence is his name.

Ruth Roland Lured Back to Silversheet

Despite her success in real-estate, Ruth Roland, popular screen star, with Tod Browning, prominent director, is returning to motion-pictures after an absence of about a year.

"For many years I've been before the camera," said Miss Roland. "During that entire period I've worked fifty-two weeks every year, and I want to continue and keep going because I love work and lots of it."

With Mr. Browning, who will direct the first production, Miss Roland has launched an organization known as Co-Artists Productions, secured space at the F.B.O. studios, and is now making active preparations to get the feature under way.

The first production in which Miss Roland will be featured, announced as "Extravagance," but recently changed to "Dollar Down," is described as a domestic comedy-drama in which the element of thrill has been deftly woven into the structure of the story.

The supporting cast is rapidly being assembled by Director Browning, and actual filming of the picture will be started early this week. Fred Stowers adapted the story to the screen.

MANY IN CAST

The cast in support of Pola Negri in her latest starring picture, "Men," which Dimitri Buchowetzki is producing for Paramount, includes Robert W. Frazer, Robert Edeson, Josef Swickard, Monti Collins, Edgar Norton, and Geno Corrado.

Difficulty in Screen Writing Is Explained

"Cause for Divorce," now being shown at Clune's Broadway Theater, is from the pen of Thelma Lanier, wife of the producer and director, Hugh Dierker.

Miss Lanier is the niece of Sidney Lanier, the Southern poet, and has devoted most of her time the past few years to writing for the screen.

"Writing for pictures is an entirely different proposition to writing books or short stories or poetry," says Miss Lanier.

"Although I have studied screen technique for a number of years, I still feel that I know almost nothing about it. There are a few points, however, that I have learned:

"The public does not like villains whose sins are too black; they are keen about heroines who are human and beautiful; they like vamps to be wickedly lovely—but they are perfectly willing to believe that frequently innocent persons may be to blame for the guilt of the others.

"It is upon this theme that I have built 'Cause for Divorce,' which is a slice from the real life of some people I know—and is typical of many others we all know.

"Black is black and white is white, but it is the gray in between that causes the monotonous routine of existence to become unbearable.

"It is this routine that may be pictured with words, but which cannot be shown upon the screen. The contrasts of life only are picture material, but simple incidents and details supply the background for bringing out the drabness, which is in many cases the actual cause for divorce."

HOIDS RECORD

Kate Lester has completed her fifth year in the Goldwyn Stock Company. When the company moved its studios from Fort Lee, N. J., to Culcer City, Cal., she came along. No other player has been with the company so long.

SHYLOCK MADE HUMAN

David Warfield as Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," under the direction of David Belasco, will doubtless prove an attraction of singular interest at the Mason Operahouse for two weeks beginning Monday, the 10th inst. for not only in this characters a departure from all his previous impersonations, but it is said to reveal in full measure the great range of his genius, while gripping the emotions of his audience with the same old assurance.

To a higher place among the pinnacles of fame Mr. Warfield has apparently won by his portrayal of Shylock, a figure that he makes human, comprehensible and divests of the aspects of an impossible monster, common to the Shylocks of the past. His interpretation has been accepted as authoritative by critics and Shakespearean scholars of the East, and as a superb vehicle for the expression of his art by audiences whose first and foremost demand of the theater is absorbing entertainment, and who filled the playhouse at every performance during the record-breaking run of the play in New York last season. In the cast are more than forty players, many of whom are popular with local playgoers. The original scenic investiture, the beauty of which attracted such wide admiration last year, will be seen at the Mason Operahouse.

Perhaps no actor who ever played Shylock assumed the role after more comprehensive study or greater preparation than Mr. Warfield. To him the creation of a part is an undertaking which engrosses him body and soul. He studies it until, his conception unalterably fixed, the character becomes real to him and he is so responsive to the governing emotion, that in portraying the role these emotions virtually become his own. To no character, however, did Mr. Warfield ever devote more study as to Shylock, for he has been engaged upon it more than twenty years.

Playwrights to Stage Work of Fellow Artist

A new organization has flashed across New York's Theatrical horizon with the arrival of "The Goose Hangs High" at the Bijou Theater.

Salute The Dramatists' Theater, Inc.!

Considerable was heard of the organization some months ago when announcements were made that six well-known playwrights had banded together to produce worthwhile plays, whether these same plays had been written by the members of the organization, or by others. Therefore, with "The Play's The Thing" as a slogan, The Dramatists' Theater, Inc. was born, its six pillars being Owen Davis, James Forbes, William Anthony McGuire, Cosmo Hamilton, Arthur Richman and Edward Childs Carpenter.

Behold now the first fruits of this newest of theatrical endeavors—"The Goose Hangs High," the play of American family life by Lewis Beach, which, by that most perfect of criterions, the box office, has "gone over" to quite the biggest success of the new season on Broadway.

NEPTUNE'S YOUNGEST

Bonnie Barrett, 2-year-old athletic and swimming marvel, has a chance to do her first diving before the camera in Lloyd Hamilton's current production.

VARIETY IN NEW SCREEN PROGRAMS

Four new screen programs will be presented this week. "The Yankee Consul," Douglas MacLean's second independent picture, is showing at the California Theater; "Painted People," with Colleen Moore, is the Loew feature; Eleanora Duse's only picture, "Ashes," and "Cause for Divorce," with Fritzi Brunette and Dave Butler, are features of the Clune bill. Bill Hart holds the Metropolitan with "Singer Jim McKee."

Other pictures now on view include "The Virginian," at the Alhambra; "Scaramouche" at the Criterion; "The Ten Commandments" at the Egyptian; "The Great White Way" at Miller's, "The Humming Bird" at the Million-dollar, "The White Sisters at the Mission," "Under the Red Robe" at the Rialto" and "Rosita" at Tally's.

Duse on Screen

The Clune Broadway Theater boasts an unusually strong double program this week.

An attraction of interest is the presentation of a photoplay featuring Duse. This is her first and only motion picture, and affords opportunity for Los Angeles to see close-ups of this remarkable artiste and study her every movement through the four reels that reveal her in a new light. The picture is entitled "Ashes," and was adapted from "The Closed Door."

The other feature is "Cause for Divorce," a powerful story telling of the temptations which strew the paths of restless wives. It was written by Thelma Lanier, who is responsible for many successes and brings out the idea that there are always two sides to every problem, and that even the so-called guilty person may have a genuine excuse for his wrongdoing. The cast includes Fritzi Brunette, David Butler, Pat O'Malley, Charles Clary and Cleve Moore.

—o—

"Scaramouche" to Close

Although the heavy attendance would seem to indicate that the picture could continue indefinitely, "Scaramouche," Rex Ingram's mighty Metro picturization of Rafael Sabatini's romantic novel, is nearing the end of its engagement at the Criterion Theater, it is announced.

In analyzing the success of "Scaramouche," experts of the industry have divided credit between the merits of the story, director, cast and photography. Alice Terry, Ramon Novarro, Lewis Stone and George Seigmann head the list of many principals.

The story deals with the French Revolution, but despite its far-reaching and historical narrative, the theme is smattered with bits of humor and comedy that stamp it as a picture for the masses and the classes.

—o—

"Virginian" Back

"The Virginian," the American romance by Owen Wister, reaches the Alhambra Theater screen this week. Produced by B. P. Schulberg and directed by Tom Forman, the novel has been ideally cast, with Kenneth Harlan in the title role and Florence Vidor, Raymond Hatton, Milton Ross, Sam Allen, Bertram Hadley, and Fred Gambol in other important parts.

The picture was filmed amid scenes where the action takes place.

Mary's "Rosita"

Mary Pickford's "Rosita" returns to Tally's Theater this week. In this Spanish romance Miss Pickford plays the role of a street singer inToledo, Spain, who, with her guitar and songs, supports her family. With her in the leading roles are Holbrook Blynn of "Bad Man" fame, George Walsh, Irene Rich, and many others of note. The production was directed by Ernst Lubitsch and photographed by Charles Rosher.

Appropriate added attractions round out the entertainment at Tally's this week.

Gish Popular

The throngs which have been attending the Mission Theater at every performance of Henry King's "The White Sister," starring Lillian Gish, which starts its third week tomorrow, have forced the management to build another box office in the lobby. In "The White Sister" Miss Gish is conceded to strike a new note in screen acting.

—o—

Move to Miller's

Because of the large crowds that waited in line for each showing of "The Great White Way" at the California Theater for the past two weeks, the management decided to take the feature to Miller's. Anita Stewart, Oscar Shaw, Hal Forde, Tom Lewis and Roy Barnes appear in the cast. E. Mason Hopper directed.

—o—

Plenty of Laughs

"The Yankee Consul," the latest Douglas McLean starring vehicle, is the headline attraction at the California Theater. This story was suggested by the musical comedy of the same name in which Raymond Hitchcock made a hit some years ago. Douglas McLean is seen in the title role and opposite him plays Patsy Ruth Miller. Others in the cast are George Periolat, Eric Mayne, Eulalie Jensen and Arthur Stuart Hull.

In addition to "The Yankee Consul" the management has booked the latest Hal Roach "Our Gang" comedy, "Back Stage." In this picture the youngsters attempt to stage a show with disastrous results for the owner.

—o—

Fifteenth Week

Cecil B. De Mille's screen classic, "The Ten Commandments" will begin the fifteenth week of its engagement at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater tomorrow. Despite the fact that the spectacle is rounding out the fourth month of its stay at the film capital cinema palace, it is proving to be as great a drawing card as it was the first week of its run.

A feature of the presentation is an original prelude, conceived and staged by Sid Grauman, and titled "A Night in Pharaoh's Palace." The prologue comprises five scenes of oriental splendor with over 100 persons on the stage at one time.

—o—

Triple Bill

A program of three-power entertainment voltage is on view this week at Grauman's Metropolitan.

William S. Hart plays a beloved role in his latest western production, "Singer Jim McKee," with a cast including Phyllis Haver, Bert Sprotte, George Seigmann, Edward Coxen, Ruth Miller and others.

Creatore, eccentric conductor and leader, returns to Los Angeles for the first time in a year and will wave his mad baton while Herman Heller, regular conductor, takes a brief vacation.

Mack Sennett himself plays a role in his latest comedy, "The Hollywood Kid," which features his battery of favorite comedians and some of his past discoveries who have since graduated to drama. Phyllis Haver and Marie Prevost are among these. Charlie Murray, Ben Turpin, Billy Bevan, Jack Cooper and other famous funmakers appear.

—o—

"Humming Bird" Continues

The adventures of a little Paris Apache, saucy and daring, when she is thrown into the midst of the World War and mixes with the American smart set in Paris during her love affair with an American newspaper man, form the theme of "The Humming Bird," which enters its third week at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater tomorrow.

Gloria Swanson is the star—a very different Gloria from the one that has been seen before. Discarding her former fine raiment she appears in most of the scenes in the typical clothing, both boy's and girl's, and makes up for the lack of gorgeous gowns by dramatic acting which rises to emotional heights. Edward Burns plays opposite Miss Swanson.

Laid in a typical Apache cafe, "The Wolves of Montmartre" is a prologue with the atmosphere reminiscent of the picture.

Grauman's Symphony Orchestra, Maurice Lawrence conducting, renders in interesting fashion the overture from "Mignon."

—o—

Romance Thrills

In "Under the Red Robe" Stanley Weyman created a romance that has thrilled book lovers for several years. This production now showing at Grauman's Rialto, includes some of the most distinguished names of stage and screen among its interpreters, with Robert B. Mantell, Alma Rubens, John Charles Thomas, Rose Coghlan, Otto Kruger, Mary McLaren and Gustav von Seyffartitz heading the list.

Mack Sennett's latest comedy, "One Spooky Night," with Madeleine Hurlock and Billy Bevan as chief merry-makers, is an added feature.

The prologue introduces such artists as Norma Hewlett and Naum Costa in songs, and Jan Sofer, conductor of the Rialto orchestra, offers a highly entertaining musical program.

—o—

Colleen Moore Again

"Painted People," featuring Colleen Moore, is playing at Loew's State Theater this week. It is a comedy-drama of fascinating appeal providing a theme of vivid contrast between the life of the rich and the poor and incidentally showing up the type of aristocrats who merely live "on front" with nothing to back them up.

The program at Loew's includes a new Mermaid Comedy, one which has been selected by the management to add impetus to the comedy element of the feature presentation.

Fanchon and Marco present an atmospheric introduction to the picture. The Knickerbocker Syncopaters, under the direction of Ray Paige, will contribute lively music while Arthur Kay and his orchestra furnish the musical accompaniment to the feature.

FILM PREMIERE IN STAR'S HOME TOWN

According an unusual honor to Alberta Vaughn, F. B. O. has arranged to present the world premiere of "The Telephone Girl" pictures, in which she stars, in a town of less than 15,000 population.

Ashland, Ky., is the favored township. Miss Vaughn was born there in 1906, and the citizens are very proud of home talent. A long petition, signed by several hundred names, was presented to the New York office of F. B. O. requesting the premiere.

"CAPTAIN APPLEJACK" IS BILLED

Play That Made Furore in East to Open Tonight at Majestic

No sooner does a theatrical star close his or her engagement at the Majestic Theater than Thomas Wilkes, with all the skill of the modern wizard, produces another from up his sleeve or wherever it is that theatrical producers keep these luminaries.

With the closing last night of "Anna Christie," with the brilliant Pauline Lord in the stellar role, Mr. Wilkes will present tonight at the Majestic the talented Broadway comedian, Wallace Eddinger, in his latest success, "Captain Applejack."

Eddinger is considered one of America's foremost stars and is a popular favorite with Broadway audiences. His last appearance here was six years ago, when he co-starred with Margaret Lawrence in Salisbury Field's "Wedding Bells."

It was in the title role of "Captain Applejack" that Eddinger appeared with tremendous success for fourteen months at the Cort Theater in New York, under the direction of Sam H. Harris.

At the time the play was pronounced the last word in enjoyable entertainment. Its theme embraces a romantic adventure with all the thrills and color of a tale from the "Arabian Nights." There is fun aplenty, a well-sustained element of mystery and an entrancing story, brilliantly written, with the spirit of daring and chivalry evident throughout. The action is fast and there is opportunity for much splendid acting.

In support of the star Mr. Wilkes has selected a cast that includes several local favorites. Barbara Brown will play opposite Eddinger, with Lucy Beaumont, Symona Boniface, Iva Shepard, Fred Cummings, William Raymond, Frederick Truesdell, Wicona Wilson, Hugh Metcalf and Forrest Seabury making up the balance of the company.

There are many opportunities for scenic features in "Captain Applejack," and the settings were designed by Dickson Morgan. The play is staged under the direction of Willamene Wilkes and the production every way equals that seen in the East.

Make Use of Old Portraits in Pictures

There are people who appear in motion pictures every day and do not know it. They are the incognito citizens of old portrait albums and they are used in almost every "living-room" set.

At First National studios the property men have named some of the most distinctive portraits for identification, and some of them bear the autographs of the originals.

There's little Mr. Winterbottom of Kirwin, Kan., for instance. Gazing intelligently out from among his whiskers, Mr. Winterbottom has hung over a thousand mantels to give a benign and homey touch to scenes.

Then there is young Mr. Otey Whiffit of Creston, Iowa. Mr. Whiffit was photographed by S. C. Burgess of that town. He appears with his left foot dextrously placed on a hassock. He is reading a newspaper and looking as though undecided whether to horsewhip the editor immediately after lunch or go stalking home in a new derby, which is seen in the immediate foreground.

The preference for incognito portraits for motion-picture sets is changing. A year ago property men ran to generals. Today the trend is toward plain and fancy whiskers, with a touch of shirt-front to set them off.

In the settings used for "Painted People," in which Colleen Moore is now appearing at Loew's State Theater, many of these incognito portraits can be seen.

DIRECTOR'S JOB IS CUTTING "WILDCAT"

There are more cutting rooms than one around a motion-picture studio, you may take it from Geodge Melford, one of Lasky's directors.

For three weeks he has been in the cutting room of the laboratory, editing his picture, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." Now he is back in his office and still cutting. However, instead of cutting film, he is now cutting scenes out of his coming production, "The Wildcat," and adding more scenes.

Opinions of "The Times" Readers Regarding Pictures, Plays and Music

Heroes For The Screen

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—[To the Theatrical Editor of The Times:] The question is up: Shall pictures appeal for sympathy or shall they not?

Sympathy. The word has a horrible sound. The effort to "get sympathy" for screen characters has covered pictures with a slime of false emotion that is utterly disgusting and nauseous to the discriminating audience. There are people in real life who try to "get sympathy" for themselves in the same way. They put on an aspect of silent suffering, a martyr-like air of patience and sweetness under persecution. They only play one role, the tragedy role. They like themselves in it. They are never the real heroes or heroines of their families or their environment. Usually they are the villains, the ones who thrust their burdens on others; who are useless; who prey upon the poise and competency of those around them.

But on the screen these sufferers, these beautiful martyrs are the heroes and heroines. Why? Answer is: Box office; the public likes 'em that way, and doesn't like the picture in which no appeal is made for "sympathy." Are we obliged to conclude that this slime of maudlin sentimentality and "sympathy-getting" must be persisted in, in order to bring in the dollars? Terrible, disheartening thought! that a great and growing art, which should always be a copy of the real, must, in order to exist industrially, be unreal; must lie and pretend and cheat!

I do not for one moment believe it. Characters on the screen must be loved; then sympathy follows inevitably. Differing with Mr. Harry Carr, I claim that Mary Pickford never tries to get sympathy, but from beginning to end of her pictures, tries to get love—and gets it. Very seldom do you see Mary sorry for herself on the screen; none of that self-conscious suffering in which most other actors and actresses revel. Griffith, too, always sees to it in the early part of his pictures that his hero or heroine is loved. After that he could not stem the tide of the audience's sympathy if he would.

As an illustration of the opposite method, witness "Bella Donna." Unable to get love, on account of the type of part to be played, the character was made to appeal for sympathy or pity, and utterly failed to get either. Even a little child in real life, is taught to choke down his tears, to control his emotion, to put a brave face on his trouble, and one's heart goes out to him the more, just for the sake of that high spirit he shows. But these screen heroes and heroines! Full-grown, able-bodied men and women, how they abandon themselves to every passing grief!

So much for "trying to get sympathy."

But love—is that to be abandoned, too? Are characters to be put on the screen and called heroes and heroines who are incapable of kindling the audience to admiration or worship or enthusiasm?

No big box office success has ever been made which did not have in it some heroism, some nobility, something to love. These very directors who leave sympathy, love, out of their work, do not leave it out of their lives. Yet they make pictures in which there is not one human being that the audience can love and respect, and if challenged they answer, well, it's life. So it is. But there are many little dramas of life around us which do not contain the elements to command our worship or interest.

Certain of the great directors of today, notably Von Stroheim and Chaplin (if one can judge the latter by a single picture) have turned their backs upon sympathy; but have they not, in eliminating false sympathy, also eliminated the real? There is as little love in their pictures as there is false sentiment. For instance, does one love a single action or character in "A Woman of Paris?" Great as is its direction, its artistry, its technique, yet one watches it without a heart throb; one cares nothing about the fate of any character in the picture. More than that, one feels that one is not meant to care.

Real heroes for the screen! Who can create them? Who can depict actions that are sublime and heroic? Who can make the audience fall in love? Whoever can do this will never have to complain that the public doesn't like "good pictures." But until that happy day comes, it seems to me inevitable that the public will continue to prefer madly made pictures, that still try to portray something lovable, no matter with what excess of sentimentality, to pictures that are made with the perfection of artistry and technique and psychology, but forbid the audience that warm and delicious function of the heart which is called love.

It Takes Five Nights to Play Shaw's Latest

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.]

LONDON, Mar. 1.—London is going to have an unusually good season of drama enlivened and intensified by the staging of an endurance contest at the Court Theater next week. Bernard Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" is going to have its first metropolitan production in England.

Accordingly, all devout Shavians are planning to take the week off, and those who cannot arrange their mundane affairs for a holiday this time of year are up in arms because single-night tickets are unavailable.

"You must buy tickets for the whole week or take your chances on the day of each performance," is the arbitrary dictum of the box office.

It was in the preface to "Back to Methuselah" that Shaw wrote that he was not the man he used to be, and some of his friends who are chagrined at the ruling of "five nights straight or take your chances," are wondering how long the play would have been if he had really been feeling up to form when he wrote it.

Gesture Lends Versimilitude to Actor's Art

Theodor von Eltz sees the day coming in motion pictures when the actor will keep on going to school, the same as the opera singer, who retains a coach for singing, somebody else for diction, somebody else for exercises that develop grace—quite a retinue.

"Most valuable would be an expert in gestures," says the actor. "The gesture is so important and misses so utterly if it is incorrect. Back of the gesture is the thought to which it must correspond, and ultimately, when delivered, it must be thoroughly spontaneous. To be conscious of a gesture is to ruin it. There are certain fundamental gestures and on these the actor could practice until he uses them without conscious thought. As he becomes familiar with the script, acting out his role by himself, he could then practice the gestures.

"Greater beauty is imparted to a role as the hands or arms give it certain inflections," he adds.

Mr. von Eltz, however, believes in an economy of gestures and points out that the greatest actors phrase their work with greater elegance by making it almost an "event" when they use them. He says that of all actors the past master is George Arliss, who fairly thrills you with his most expressive hands and arms.

KEEPS MANY BIRDS

Vera Lewis now has more than thirty birds in her aviary at the Lewis Hollywood home. All the feathered creatures have been named after famous screen stars. She has just received an Italian lark from Lillian Gish in Florence, Italy. The bird made the trip in splendid shape and Vera has named it Lillian.

ON THE TRAIL OF SONG

Bill Hart Discourses on Melodies of Cattle Range, Forgotten With Passing of Old-time Vocation

Oh, bury me not on the lone prairee
Where the lone coyote can howl o'er me.

"The first time I heard 'The Lament of the Dying Cowboy,' I was a youth on the Dakota plains, one rainy evening when a dismal storm howled down from the north and the cattle herds milled restlessly. The lonely melody of the song, sung by some unseen rider out in the chill night, made a deep impression on me. It seemed to voice the whole pathos of a group of men who sensed that in a way they were a people apart."

Bill Hart has something new in picture motivation and sympathetic dramatic appeal in his story of "Singer Jim McKee," which is the featured attraction at Grauman's Metropolitan this week: the satisfaction of song as an outlet for the expression of the varied emotions of a man's soul—love, hate, joy and despair.

Bill Hart, the two-gun man, discoursing on songs? Purely natural. The subject was broached apropos "Singer Jim McKee," in which he is forever singing an old Spanish melody, "Cielito Lindo," equally expressive of either moods of joy or sorrow. But the picture was forgotten. He was talking of days glimmered away into the past:

"I do not think it is generally realized that some of the richest folk-lore of the American, or, for that matter, any other nation, is woven through the almost forgotten songs of the cowboys. Many of those songs have perished with the men who sang them. Others have been passed down from mouth to mouth in the manner that the weird melodies of the Kentucky mountaineers have been preserved from generation to generation.

A SERVICE TO LITERATURE

"An old-time cattleman and cowpuncher, Jack Thorpe, one time, down on his luck, did something of incalculable value to American literature when he collected many of the best known of the cowboy songs and sold enough copies of the small volume to get a new start in life by purchasing 'a $40 saddle and a $20 horse' and resumed punching cattle. This volume has been enlarged and republished and is a storehouse of folk-lore.

William S. Hart
As Singer Jim McKee.

"Many cowboys who have read this, or other printed versions of their songs, indignantly protest that the songs are all wrong. This is because there were many different versions of the various range songs. That favorite of cowmen from the sand wastes of the Rio Grande to the snows of the Bitter Roots, 'The Old Chisholm Trail,' is a good instance. The origin of the song is unknown, and I have heard at least a dozen different versions of it. One version which has been preserved runs:

" 'Come along, boys, and listen to my tale,
" 'I'll tell you of my trouble on the old Chisholm Trail.
" 'Coma ti yi youpy, youpy ya,
youpy ya,
" 'Coma ti yi youpy, youpy ya.'

"Verses for the song were often improvised and it might almost be said that each cowboy had his own version, expressive of his particular troubles on the trail. Doubtless many of these improvizations were more interesting than the several printed versions which have been preserved.

"THE GLORY TRAIL"

"Another song which was one of the favorites of the ranges is 'High Chin Bob.' Down in Santa Fe, Henry Herbert Knibbs brought this from Southern Arizona. Charles Badger Clark, Jr., has written the song under the title of 'The Glory Trail,' and perhaps more than any other it is expressive of the undauntable spirit of the cowboy. The song concerns one High Chin Bob 'of sinful pride' who, astride his cow-hoss, ropes a mountain lion and sets out hell-bent to drag the critter dead. And the cowboys still tell that sometimes of a night, 'way high up in the Mokiones' one may hear a fearful ruckus and see a cow-hoss thunder by with a lion trailing along, while 'the rider bold, with chin on high, sings forth his glory song.'

" 'Oh, glory be to me!' says he,
'and to my mighty noose!
Oh, pardner, tell my friends below
I took a ragin' fiend in tow,
And if I didn't lay him low, I never turned him loose!'

"Then there are scores of others like 'The Pecos River Queen,' 'The Cowman's Prayer,' 'The End of the Yaqui Trail' and 'Women Outlaws,' the last by Jack Thorpe, a strangely touching tribute to the courage of such glamourous women of the plains as 'Bronco Sue,' 'Calamity Jane,' 'Alta Doane' and the 'Rose of Cimarron,' who 'left home and dear ones for the man she loved the best.'

"A primitive people fading before the march of civilization always leave behind a rich tradition of folklore. Witness the American Indian, the negro and the Hawaiian. The cowboy in a large sense was primitive. Whether an adventurous youth who had left home to enter upon the hazardous career of the plains, or born to the life, he lived a hard, harsh existence close to the fundamentals. Courage and resource were his daily companions. A sense of humor he always possessed. It needed a man with that to survive the heartbreaking hardships of the frontier life, who could freeze in a howling Texas 'norther,' parch on the painted desert and then laugh and sing a song about it.

"Riding lonely herd in the night, with only the resting cattle and the wind and the stars for company, the cowboy came close to the mystery of existence. In his imagination he saw the stars as herds, and it occurred to him to wonder if in the final grand round-up if he might not be cut out among the mavericks.

"The cowboy had a rough exterior, but, like most men of rough exteriors, he had a child-like simplicity of heart, a tender faith. Living close to the mystic as he did, deep emotions stirred him to thought, and the only expression of these thoughts he knew was in song. The form was often rough, but between the lines most often lay a gripping and compelling charm, while the rhythm was often comparable only to the haunting strain of Indian songs or sea chanties. The whole of the many phases of his colorful life, all the vivid characters of the frontier, bad men, cattle rustlers, gamblers and others, are caught in the web of the cowboy's songs.

"In most of the songs there is a touching strain of pathos, and perhaps the melody most representative of this lonely soul call of the cowboy, far from home and loved ones is 'The Dying Cowboy,' which is the song of a dying youth begging that he not be buried on the prairie, but that his body be laid in the old churchyard on the green hillside at home. You've heard the song, and that sad last verse:

" 'Where the dewdrops fall and the butterflies rest,
And the wild rose blooms on the
prairie's crest,
Where the coyotes howl and the winds sport free,
They buried him there on the lone prairie.'

THEATER TAX FOR PLAYERS' PENSIO

A movement to have the pennies war tax on admission less than 50 cents to picture ters, which has just been rep by Congress, still collected turned over to a charitable fund to take care of decrepit needy players of the films, and ultimately establish in Holly a home where the veterans of industry could spend their last years in comfort, has been launc at the film capital by Willi Mong.

Mong believes the tax mean very little to the indiv theatergoer and yet the sum ized would do an inestim amount of good. Several prod have enthusiastically indo Mong's idea, and it will be sub ted by wire at an early date to Motion Picture Theater Owne America, the national body of exhibitors who would have the say on the question.

METHING to be talked about surely is the fact that "The Marriage Circle" was produced the stage here during the past in the original version by a repertoire company. The formance was given Tuesday at the Ebell Club audito- and a few in the professional who saw it tell me it was tionally good.

The play is titled "Nur Ein " ("Only a Dream") in the and is considerably more than the version which public saw on the screen. In I hear that some of the members of the audience found it so gay and giddy that they left the theater before the final curtain was run down.

The romance between the doctor and the wife of the professor is in no sense make believe on the stage. They do actually fall in love, and it is not the one-sided affair, either, that it was painted on the screen.

So for anyone who might have been shocked by the piquancy of Ernst Lubitsch's screen feature—think what it would have meant to view the same play on the stage.

DOUG MACLEAN RUNS RAILROAD

"We have to finish these scenes by 3 o'clock. No. 19 is late, and we have to get off this track."

So they rushed through a few scenes for "Never Say Die," his third independent comedy, and then took the train over to track No. 4.

"All right," he said, "I'll have a few minutes pretty soon."

We rode back and forth with him a few times while he went through a marriage ceremony on the observation platform of the car. Then he sat down on his chair beside the camera while helping direct scenes in which he did not appear, giving us a few words at the same time.

"I still feel a strong desire to return to the stage," he admitted, "but it is doubtful whether I will or not. This business is so fascinating. If I do return, it will probably be for only a short engagement between pictures."

We repeated rumors that have been going around in the last week or two to the effect that he was to star in legitimate productions in a theater soon to be erected in Hollywood. MacLean admitted that he had been approached by a local theatrical man, who is contemplating the building of such a theater, and intimated that he might do one play for him. The plan, however, is still in the nebulous state, he explained.

The motion-picture game, we were given to understand, is singularly attractive, especially for the star of "The Yankee Consul." (showing this week at the California Theater.)

FASCINATING GAME

There is a peculiar fascination in picking your stories, writing your adaptation, selecting your cast, producing your picture, and then cutting it.

The public, much more than it knows, has a large part in the success of MacLean's pictures. For it is the audiences of the neighborhood theaters that largely determine what part of the picture will be cut out and what part left in.

"Of my first two independent pictures," said MacLean (meaning "Going Up," and "The Yankee Consul") we gave the first five previews, and the second seven. We will probably show "Never Say Die" seven times before it is ready to release.

The experience is invaluable. We may think we know what the public wants, but we can't tell for certain until we have tried it out on an audience. Sometimes we spend a lot of money and time on a gag that we think is sure-fire. And when your neighbors see it, they may not laugh at all. So we cut it out, brain child of ours though it may be.

"I never know how long my pictures will be. If we shoot nine reels we may cut out two, three or four reels. If the story can be told in four reels, we send it out in that length. An example of the worth of public previews as an aid to cutting a picture was demonstrated in one of my recent productions. We sent it to New York, and they wired back that they thought certain sequences were too long, and suggested cutting. We immediately answered that we thought it was all right, and had tried it out on the public, and that the public liked it that way. Very soon we received a reply to the effect that we were right. The New York office showed the picture before a suburban theater audience, and it had met with instant success. So the picture was released in the length we had set."

About that time we found that the train was holding up the lead track. The railroad officials requested a little speed, so the interview had to come to an end to allow the shooting of a few last parting shots. But before we left we asked the star about the source of his stories.

PICTURES FROM PLAYS

"It is true that I have taken all of my recent pictures from stage productions. That is not a set policy of mine; I have merely had certain plays in mind for a long time that I considered good screen material. 'The Hottentot,' 'Going Up,' 'The Yankee Consul,' and 'Never Say Die' all came from that source. And I have another in mind, to follow this, but I'm not saying what it is. Two more, in fact."

And that's that. As we left we watched them make a scene with Hal Cooley. Hal, in rehearsal, rushed up to the conductor shouting "Say, can you wait a while? There's a wedding going on back there!" But as the camera ground and Hal became slightly flustered, he got his tongue twisted. "Conductor," he roared, "can't you wait a minute? There's a train going on back there!" So if you're a lip reader, watch for that when "Never Say Die" comes around your way.

GRIFFITH FILM IS OUTSTANDING

New England. He needed no well-knit plot.

LIKE ENGRAVINGS

Many of his big scenes have the quality of steel engravings. Others look almost like wood blocks. Still other views of the countryside are exquisitely delicate and beautiful.

Throughout the picture his photographic method varies with the mood of the scenes, heightening the dramatic effect.

The young lovers are played by Carol Dempster and Neil Hamilton.

HAMILTON FINE

Miss Dempster gives a pleasant and restrained performance, while Neil Hamilton gives promise of rising some day to the heights of Dick Barthelmess.

He is a thoroughly likable, good-looking chap and he plays sincerely and naturally.

Lionel Barrymore portrays the scoundrel, Walter Butler, who swung his Indian troops to the side of the English in the hope of later seizing the colonies for himself. He is at his best.

Lucille La Verne and others almost equally prominent appear in brief bits which they handle deftly.

Parts of the picture are so dotted with almost-stars that they bring back the dear dead days when Mr. Giffith flung Blanche Sweet, Mae Marsh and the two Gish girls inside the stockade of "The Battle of Elderbush Gulch" and told them to emote.

Incidentally the last reel of the new picture strongly resembles that old classic, except that Carol Dempster is not, of course, of the same artistic stature as those other girls.

NEEDS EDITING

And now, having said these words of praise, I must admit that the picture is peculiarly disjointed There are moments when one does not know where he is or why. An expert editor could do a great deal for this film.

After seeing this film I began to wonder if it were ever possible to find in a single picture splendid acting, a smooth-running scenario, titles that were clever without being smart, and inconspicuous but effective direction.

Two days later I found it in "Beau Brummel," the Warner Brothers' production starring John Baryrmore. This has not been publicly shown as yet, but I have had the privilege of seeing it before it had been cut down to its final running length.

I wish that I had seen it when it was about eighteen reels.

But of "Beau Brummel" more later, when it opens on Broadway.

The Warner Brothers' scenario department has been doing some extensive shopping and has acquired screen rights to "The Lost Lady," by Will A. Cather; "The Dark Swan," a new novel by Ernest Pascal that is enjoying considerable popularity here, and "The Bachelor Girl," which knocked its author right out of the French Academy.

As movie material these novels are all somewhat puzzling.

They cannot be filmed as they are and even if they are freely adapted they are likely to raise the same hullaballoo that "Flaming Youth" and "West of the Water Tower" did.

PREMATURELY CONDEMNED

People condemned the latter pictures without seeing them simply because they did not approve of the books from which they are taken.

It is rumored that the Will Hays office is urging that only such books and plays should be bought for the screen as can be filmed in their original form. He has said "thumbs down" on Universal's plan to do "Damned."

And that brings us to "The Lady," to which Norma Talmadge has recently purchased the film rights.

She must intend to put it on the shelf along with "The Mirage."

Certainly she cannot expect to film what even the most blase reviewers in New York characterized as rough stuff.

BID HARD FOR SHOWS

Incidentally the two shows on Broadway which are being most spiritedly bid for by motion-picture producers are "The Show-off," and "Hell Bent for Heaven."

An interesting sidelight on the first one is that at least five of the producers who are bidding on it have the same actor in mind for the title role. The actor is Raymond Griffith.

All these producers who never before have been known to agree on anything, believe that he is the only screen player capable of making this character as exasperating and yet as appealing as on the stage.

"Hell Bent for Heaven" is a combination of "Rain" and "In Old Kentucky," and has one weakling character which dominates all the action.

George Hackathorne could have the time of his life playing it, so I hope some kind-hearted producer buys it for him.

Robert Vignola and Sidney Olcott are both cherishing plans for independent producing companies. Mr. Vignola is at liberty now, has a story—"Mrs. Paramour," by Louis Joseph Vance, and even has his players in mind. All he needs is final releasing arrangements.

Mr. Olcott has to finish Monsieur Beacaire" for Famous Players before he is free, and I understand that every effort is being made to keep him making pictures for Paramount.

The only new picture on Broadway this week is "The Song of Love," with Norma Talmadge and Joseph Schildkrout, and for all I care they needn't have opened that one.

NARY ANOTHER LIKE NEILAN

which is an infallible sign of a very strong individuality.

Mickey is a Celt. He is more Celtic than peat or shamrock. The tenderness of an Irish heart is in his eyes and the mockery of an Irish tongue tries to conceal it.

Like most Irishmen, he doesn't know what he is going to do until he starts doing it. Like most Irishmen he is likely to pursue a whim through pillars of fire and brimstone, or abandon a career because he lit a cigarette that didn't taste good.

Child of impulses; child of genius!

There may be directors who have made better pictures; but there is no other director who could so rightfully be called a genius.

Mickey's comedy is more than funny. It drips with the honied delight of pure humor. It is rich with humanity and tenderness—a half-ashamed tenderness.

"Minnie" was a pretty poor picture in some ways, but it had the most wonderful touch of ironic, mocking humor that the screen has ever seen.

FAITHFUL FLAME

If you give him a separated scene in which he is particularly interested, Mickey Neilan can give it something that lights it forever with the glow of absolute genius. Then he wades through the next scene, bored to death; the fire has gone out.

His best work has been done with Mary Pickford. "Stella Maris" is regarded by many critics as the best picture that the cinema has ever offered the public.

"Amerilly of Clothes-line Alley" has always seemed to me to be Mary in her most delightful Maryness. And she says that it is also one of her favorites.

Mary has a good deal of the same stuff as Mickey himself.

Ah the Micks are so true in their sentiment!

They all have it. They are instinctively dramatic. When New Year's comes stealing in over New York, who but an Irish heart would ever think to let the solemn hymns die away and send a tender little love song down into Fifth avenue from the chimes of old somber St. Patrick's.

MICKEY HE IS

Mickey is a Dickens without the sentimental slobber and overdrawn caricatures and bad taste. There have been wicked Irishmen; but there was never an Irishman without the instincts of good taste.

And that's why Mickey is one of the irritating, unreliable, uncertain, tender, devil-take-you, ram-you-damn-you, what-do-the-hell-do-I-care geniuses of the world.

With a great, strong coherent drama like "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" to hold him in a straight line, I look for something remarkable and extraordinary.

Blanche Sweet, who is Mrs. Mickey Neilan, by way of permanent occupation, is playing Tess with Conrad Nagel opposite. She never has looked so beautiful in her whole life; has never been in such a glow of youth and creative power.

They began last week at the Goldwyn Studio with some new lights, the like of which have never been seen before. They shed a red glow which destroys the rays which cause "Klieg eyes."

I mention these apparently trivial details because they are not really trivial. They will enable Blanche Sweet to do the greatest work of her career.

On account of their peculiar quality, in her close-ups she will be enabled to look with wide-open eyes straight into the lights without danger. Also they make her gray eyes look very dark. It is like handing a great fighter a brand new weapon.

Blanche is a great artiste. She is standing at the very top of her life. This ought to be her supreme achievement.

A THIRTEEN-YEAR RUN

The Mission Play has shattered every known record. It has entered the tenth week of its thirteenth year and has reached the two thousand, two hundred and sixty-first performance. The schools of Southern California are now taking advantage of John Steven McGroarty's special-rate offer to students, so that they may clean a closer understanding of early California history through the medium of the play.

The Pomona Board of Education and the Parent-Teacher Association of that city have indorsed the Mission Play, and others throughout the southern part of the State are following the lead. Pupils from the Westlake School for Girls, from the Sacred Heart Academy, from the Catholic Girls' High School and several others attended the play last week, and there is another long line-up from various public and private schools scheduled for this week.

The educational feature—the historical education—put forth by the Mission Play, as well as the entertainment feature—dances, songs, the gay coloring, the Indians, the music—all these combined engrave upon the active memory of the student a true foundation of the State's history that remains for a lifetime, according to noted educators who have indorsed the play.

Because of Mr. McGroarty's manifold activities in completing the new playhouse, his speechmaking and his literary work, the season for the run of the Mission Play will necessarily be short, and reservations should be made soon, it is announced, if those desiring to see this great pageant-drama are not to miss it.

R. D. MacLean's work as Father Serra is in itself an education, it is said.

DEVOTES SPARE TIME TO OVERALL FACTORY

Many artists have devoted their spare time to sports, reading and real estate, but Spottiswoode Aitken who plays one of the principal supporting roles in Cicil De Mille's "Triumph," puts in almost every minute that he is not at the studio in perfecting his factory for manufacturing overalls.

Spotty, who for years was one of the mainstays in D. W. Griffith's stock organization, as soon as he leaves the studio dons a pair of overalls, and talks stock quality, quantity and measurements at his factory with all the vim, vigor, enthusiasm and knowledge of the man who first made overalls popular with the railroad men.

TWO JOBS AT ONCE

Dorothy Mackaill takes care of a baby and plays a tune on the restaurant cash register at the same time, in Frank E. Woods's current production being directed by John G. Adolf.

Author Yields to Temptations of Screenland

William McFee, whose works include "Command," "Capt. Macedoine's Daughter," and other popular stories, and who is now in Los Angeles on a lecture tour, will collaborate with Dorothy Farnum, scenarist, in the preparation of one of his stories for the screen.

Heretofore Mr. McFee has steadfastly refused to consider offers from producers for screen rights to any of his novels but has finally capitulated and Miss Farnum was selected by Mr. McFee and Doubleday Page, publishers of his works, as the scenarist who could best prepare the screen adaptations.

"Capt. Macedoine's Daughter" was selected as the first book to be written for the screen and Mr. McFee will soon begin work on the continuity.

Miss Farnum will be remembered as the adaptor of "Beau Brummel" for Warner Brothers. She is now engaged in preparing "Babbitt" for the screen, also for the Warners.

WEST WORKS FROM SHORT CONTINUITY

Roland West, who is supervising the production of Truart's "Driftwood," starring Elaine Hammerstein, now under way at Goldwyn studio, does not believe in a long continuity to work from. The script for "Driftwood," which is being directed by Roland G. Edwards, contains only fifty master scenes where the usual feature length picture is from 250 to 350 scenes. Taking these master scenes, Mr. West "shoots" according to his own ideas of how the sequences should be worked out. His well-known picture, "The Unknown Purple," was made by that plan.

OF ART AND ARTISTS

BY ANTONY ANDERSON

"Past Centuries of Beauty"

Past centuries of beauty gleam and brood
Over the charm of your unconscious pose—
Sitting with loosened robes that half disclose
The promise, faintly veiled, of warmer nude.
Your quiet, careless perfect attitude
Has all the grace a sleeping leopard shows,
And all the harmony a poet knows
The old world drifts and glimmers through your mood.

One sees Yseult when love and fate had bound her;
And fair Bathsheba in the sunset hour,
Fresh bathed, with dewy limbs, as David found her;
And Omar's mistress in a Persian bower;
And Wingless Victory with rounded breasts
Where drapery slips down, and clings, and rests.

HERBERT JONES.

KLEITSCH EXHIBIT HAS MUCH VARIETY

All Austria-Hungary decided, when Joseph Kleitsch was 7 years old, that he should and must become an artist. Or, at any rate, the town in which he lived settled the matter for him. So, at that tender age, he received a government "stipendium," and every effort was made to further his town's ambition—and, of course, his own.

At 17 he was already so fully fledged that a rich and art-loving count offered him a villa in which to paint. The young Joseph used this ducal studio for some years, and among his visitors were the great and mighty of Austria-Hungary, among them Francis Joseph himself. Such honors would have turned any ordinary youth's head, but Kleitsch, as we know, is not ordinary either as a painter or as a man. He is, in fact, uncommonly original in both capacities.

The like honors were conferred upon him in Mexico City, where he painted some years ago, selling a whole collection of his studies and sketches to one enthusiastic collector, who immediately proceeded to scatter it over Spain, where his heart was. Among Kleitsch's sitters for portraits at this time were members of the Madera family, and even the president himself. One of the revolutions drove Kleitsch into the United States, and he sought safe harbor at Laguna Beach. He has a studio there now.

Though a portrait painter by all the unwritten laws of his being—and by the edict of Austria-Hungary, now Rumania—Kleitsch now and then strays from his true affinity in art, and his "affairs" with landscape are restful to his soul, not being too serious for divorce from portraiture and figure painting. He returns to the portrait with renewed zeal and enthusiasm, and proves, again and again, that his native town was not mistaken in him.

One glance at the exhibition he is now holding at the Biltmore Salon, an exhibition of thirty paintings, will convince you how right his early friends and patrons were. Here are the marvelous "Attic Philosopher," painted in Chicago; the richly colored "Gipsy Maiden," painted in Mexico City; the subtle studio interior showing him and his wife near the easel—and a number of others almost equally arresting. The three mentioned rank, it seems to me, among masterpieces. I have written about them before at considerable length in these columns.

The exhibition is not entirely made up of pictures already exhibited, however, for at least half of the canvases are new, among them studies of Capistrano and Carmel. The Carmel pictures are not many, for Kleitsch found color and climate up there a trifle cold for his temperament. Yet how subtly and convincingly he has conveyed the difference between the north and the south in this exhibition. The colorful "Carmel Village"—it has the loveliness of a spectrum broken—is not at all like "Old School House," which comes from Laguna Beach and gives us, with amazing insight, afternoon sunlight as it is reflected from the ocean. Nor does the beautiful "Carmel Cypress," an unusually original composition, resemble in any way "La Rancho," also a late afternoon subject, painted on the Irvine Ranch miles away from everything but a shining foreground pool and a house perched in solitude on a low-lying hill.

What I wish to impress on you is that Joseph Kleitsch paints without prejudice, without the "preconceived notion" that his art instructors and yours and mine always warned us against. For him every subject is new, every picture is an adventure—which is why all his canvases give us such a vivid impression of authentic reality. They are art of the best, but they are nature too, and time and place may be calculated to a nicety by the spectator, exactly as they were so considered by Kleitsch. And yet he is neither topographic nor literal—for the light that never was is present in all his canvases.

This subtle diversity, this delicate adjustment, you will note in the exquisite "Meditation," his wife caught unawares among the arches at Capistrano, a picture of fine rhythm in forms as well as refinement in tones; in "Arch Beach Rocks," huge masses aplay with rich color seen against the palest of blue but turbulent seas; in the lovely gray-pinks and the tender feeling of "Father Serra's Church," with its silent dark figures, shrouded like monks; and, indeed, in any other group of paintings by Joseph Kleitsch that you may choose to pick out for comparison.

In brief, Kleitsch is an artist to his finger tips, and undoubtedly one by the grace of God—I say it with reverence.

MACLEOD BATTEN'S SYMBOLIC STUDIES

"Looked at and studied from the mere work standpoint they would fail to interest; as an expression of inner consciousness and a realization of the universe in which one lives and moves and has a being they cannot fail to be appreciated by the real thinker."

So writes J. Vennerstrom Cannon in the Berkeley Daily Gazette of the exhibition that Macleod Batten recently held in the northern city.

Let me explain, before I register my protest against the statement in the Gazette, that J. Vennerstrom Cannon and Macleod Batten are both women. In our day, when women assume men's names so frequently because they sound "strong"—a woman painter once assured me of this—it is but a matter of prudence to establish the sex of one's opponent. The fighting rules are not quite the same as in the case of a man. Your epithets will be different, perhaps not quite so "strong" as the lady's name.

Now that Mrs. Batten is exhibiting, at the MacDowell Club, 462 North Western avenue, the same symbolic and decorative studies that were shown at Berkeley, we are enabled to see for ourselves whether Mrs. Cannon was right or not. I think she was mistaken.

My first impression, on entering the gallery of the MacDowell Club last Wednesday was that of great esthetic charm in almost all the twenty canvases that covered the four walls. The mural impressions—the artist herself insists on calling them that—struck me as being full of beauty. "From the mere work standpoint"—I suppose Mrs. Cannon refers to the manipulation of the paint as well as the composition—they struck me as being unusually satisfactory, delightfully matured and expressed. They are pictures quite as much "as an expression of inner consciousness and a realization of the universe."

Indeed, I question whether MacLeod Batten could have realized the universe—a tall order—so interestingly had she not first and foremost been an artist enamored of its outward and visible beauty. Dwelling in her outer consciousness, she sank, through the very ecstacy she felt in the contemplation of beauty, into her inner consciousness, and thus her joy became a religion. All this sounds very recondite and esoteric, but that's the way it seems to me. There's no mystery about it, except as all things are mysteries.

The religion is that of the Orient, where Mrs. Batten, now a resident of Berkeley and once a student of the Mark Hopkins School of Art in San Francisco, has lived and painted for a number of years. She studied and painted in Hongkong, Canton and Japan, and later in Manila. At least three of the paintings in the present exhibition have the Buddha as their central and pivoted figure. The "mural impressions" have the great teacher's beautiful repose and harmonious serenity. They are, as it were, immersed in contemplative thought—or, if you like, "a realization of the universe."

That Macleod Batten has held fast to estheticism through all this deep deep thinking is no small triumph, and I contend, against J. Vennerstrom Cannon's dictum, that she has done it positively and unerringly. Her "impressions" are lovely pictures, not cold abstractions, their charm lies in their form and color even more than in their symbolism. I feel this to be true, because I am not partial to symbolism in art, though I am always intrigued by good color and form. Of course, I admit, however, that symbolism is a legitimate, and often a desirable, mode of artistic expression. Every artist must work according to his own particular lights and inspirations.

If space permits I may say more of Macleod Batten's pictures, "considered from a mere work standpoint," next week.

MINIATURE PAINTERS SHOW AT BILTMORE

"Multum in parvo" might be the slogan of our miniature painters. For they certainly gather and compress much artistic treasure in a little room. Often infinite riches, to those who judge by quality rather than quantity, who do not consider merit by the number of square feet it covers.

"Nuns fret not at their convent's narrow cell," nor do the miniaturists complain because they must express themselves in inches—and a very few at that. Like the nuns, they chose their apparently circumscribed vocation with open eyes and glad hearts. Was the choice, in either case, one of purely feminine predilection? Apparently so, though monks and male miniaturists are not unknown.

Many of our miniaturists found that danger lurked in too much liberty, they discovered a lack of concentration—as applied to themselves—on a big canvas; so they withdrew into a little circle, sometimes a little square, of artistic activity, and at last knew themselves as blessed and happy. Haven't you noticed the quiet contentment, the restful complacency, that gives the miniature much of its charm and insouciance?

The miniature is the most intimate of all portraits, a talisman for the pocket, a gem for the bosom, a souvenir of one we love. Its very size endears it, so that miniature portraits of strangers may become as interesting as those of our friends. Thus it happens that picture lovers who are also lovers of their kind make extensive collections of old miniatures quite regardless of who painted this portrait or that, since the artist's name is often unknown. If I wished to feel myself loved and remembered by future generations, I would have my picture painted in miniature. Too small to become offensive, I would be exactly the right size for admiration.

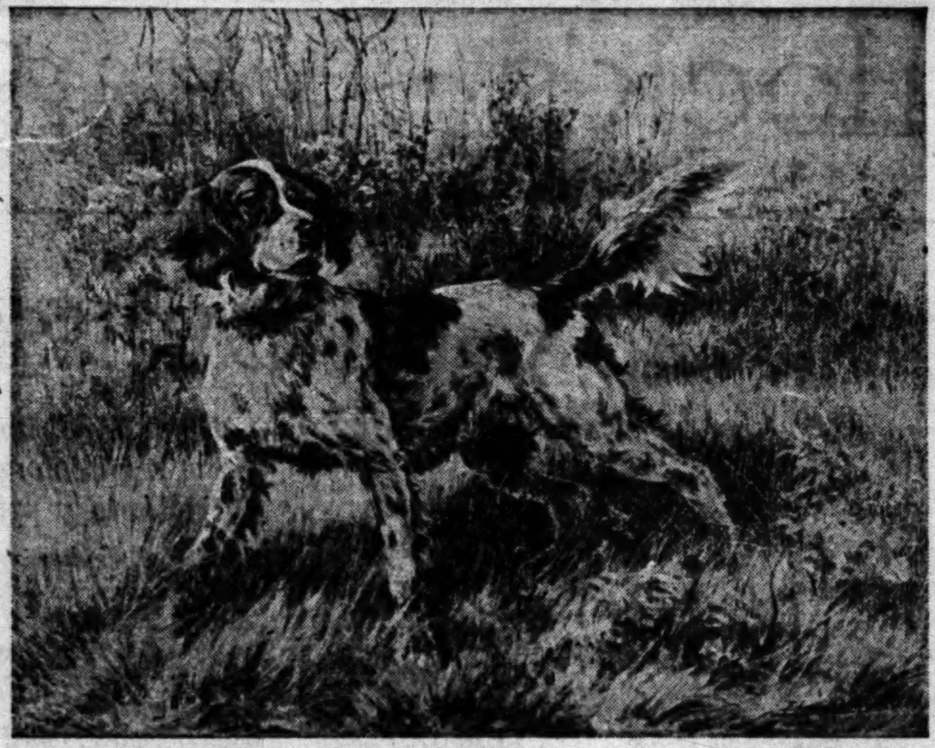
But, lest we dive too deeply, and there drown, in the psychology of the miniature, let us hasten to the matter in hand, which is an announcement of the seventh annual exhibition of the California Society of Miniature Painters, held to March 12 in the Biltmore Salon. There are fifty-one entries, and eighteen artists are represented by two or more works. We find the name of no man on the catalog. Have the monks, too, deserted the cloisters?

This painting society began in a very small way—as to numbers, that is, since their work is exactly of the same size today as the work of seven years ago—but it has been growing steadily, and it now ranks as one of Los Angeles' important art associations. Its exhibitions are ever increasingly attractive, for its latest recruits are from the ranks of the true and tried minaturists. Its standard is therefore growing with its growth and we may safely say that none of its exhibitions has been more attractive than the seventh.

It is, of course, impossible to mention fifty-one pictures, even when they are miniatures, so I will simply recall to your mind the titles and authorships of the prize winner and the winner of an honorable mention, with, perhaps, a few others. Art's rapid advance in Southern California—are we not already hailed as the Mecca?—has forced me into this impasse.

To Clare Shepard Shisler of Pasadena went the cash prize for her exquisite "Portrait," whose subtleties of tone, color and feeling are not easy to describe, though none of us can remain untouched by them. Mrs. Shisler's other contributions to the show are hardly less lovely. To Gertrude Little of Hollywood went the honorable mention for her charming "Lilies," the study of a nude child posed out-of-doors. The jury on awards consisted of Emma Siboni, miniaturist; Silas Dustin, curator of the Biltmore Salon; Edouard Vysekal, instructor in the Otis Art Institute.

Let me make mention of Mary Allen Coleman's "Miss Van Horn," Martha Wheeler Baxter's "Cecelia," Ella Shepard Bush's "Porcelain, Lacquer and Patina," Clara G. Force's "Ethel," Alice C. Foresman's "Spanish Girl," Marie-Marguerite Frechette's "Man in a Red Cloak," Alice Ludovici's "Major Jack Frothingham," Laura M. D. Mitchell's "Baby Patty," Mabel Packard's "Jade Earrings," Aurelia Wheeler Bird's "Miss V," Helen Beatrice Slutz's "Mrs. Katherine Wood," Patty Switzer's "Study of a Nude."



"Hunting Dog, "By Edmund Osthaus, Stendahl's Ambassador Gallery

WHAT THE VONNOHS ARE DOING TODAY

Robert Vonnoh returned to his New York studio a short time ago, after four months of work and play—but mostly work, as you who know Vonnoh must agree—in Europe. He visited the Pyrenees and painted at his place in Grez sur Loing Seine et Marne, near the summer school of painting and music at Fontainebleau, where he found the students doing interesting work.

Vonnoh has just finished a commission, a portrait of John W. Biddle of Philadelphia, and two days ago he arrived in Los Angeles. He will hold, beginning tomorrow, at the Stendahl galleries, in the Ambassador, a retrospective exhibition of his figures, portraits and landscapes—all he could assemble, that is, for Vonnoh's paintings, and especially the portraits that he painted in his prolific earlier and middle periods, are scattered all over the world. However, the retrospective will include a number of important canvases painted at Grez last summer and autumn.

Robert reports that his wife, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, will hold an exhibition at the Cannell-Chaffin galleries very soon. At present Mrs. Vonnoh is working busily on a very important commission, the beautiful bird fountain memorial to be placed on the grounds of the Audubon Bird Sanctuary, which is situated near the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. The memorial is to be heroic in size, and Mrs. Vonnoh has also been given the arranging the landscape gardening, which will insure consonance and harmony of effect in this beautiful retreat of fourteen acres overlooking Roosevelt's grave.

A SCANDAL AT SALON DES INDEPENDANTS

Our Paris correspondent sends us the following under date of February 7. His English is too delightful to be changed:

"Artists have generally a very sensible nature. Just before opening a large exhibition, there is nervosity in the organizing committee, there is electricity everywhere, because of the many difficulties, complaints and discontent which always arise by the disposition of such a show. Only one sparkle and the storm breaks out. This happened Wednesday evening in the Salon des Independants where there is no less than 3143 works of art to be seen.

"It is around a boat that the storm breaks out. Three funnels nicely varnished; that is the painting which measures 5m. ½ by 5m. The work of the American artist Gerald Murphy was found excellent but too large, and the President refused to admit it in the room reserved to American artists.

"There was a noisy discussion after which the majority decided to admit the painting. Upon this decision, M. Signac, President of the Salon des Independants, M. Luce, vice-president et M. Leveille, general secretary, left the room and resigned.

"The painting was given a place and people who came this afternoon in large number to the Vernissage of the Thirty-fifth Salon des Independants of Paris, admired this very nice painting, although too modern for some of them, and thus declared themselves against those who resigned."

THE EIGHTH ANNUAL OF THE INDEPENDENTS

The eighth annual exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists at the Waldorf-Astoria, March 7 to 31, will be the greatest show of the society since the Grand Central Palace exhibition in 1917. Seven hundred artists have registered and upward of 1500 works of art will be shown. The continued growth and success of the Independents are an indication of the society's importance as a connecting link between the American artist and the public.

The hanging this year will be alphabetical as heretofore, doing away with invidious comparisons between groups and individuals. The alphabetical system obviates any such incident as that which recently caused the resignation of Paul Signac and a number of the directors of the Independent Artists of Paris, because of an error in hanging pictures according to the nationality of the artist.

The system used by the American independents is not perfect. It involves unavoidable clashes between works of art, and sometimes leads to strange effects. On the whole, however, it is the only system by which all exhibitors may be treated with even-handed justice. It furnishes the public and the critics with a valuable exercise in artistic perception. Each spectator must dig his own nuggets. They are not sorted out for him by a hieratic system of placing which ranges the orders from the best to the worst according to the whims and preconceptions of the hanging committee.

The exhibits this year cover every shade of artistic opinion and every section of the United States. There are many foreign exhibitors. The officers of the Independent are John Sloan, president; Homer Boss, vice-president; A. S. Baylinson, secretary; Walter Pach, treasurer. The board of directors includes these officers and George Bellows, Robert Henri, Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, Alice Morgan Wright, Alfred H. Maurer, Glen Coleman, James H. Daugherty, Al Frueh, Fred D. Gardner, Bernard Gussow, Samuel Halpert, Trygve Hammer, Helene Iungerich, Amy Londoner, A. Walkowitz, and Marguerite Zorach (formerly Marguerite Thompson of Los Angeles.)

California Art Club

There will be a meeting of the California Art Club at the clubhouse on March 15, at 8 pm., for the purpose of completing incorporation. This will take the place of the regular meeting on the first Saturday of the month. Yesterday's meeting was merely a meeting of the directors of the California Art Club.

FIFTH INTERNATIONAL PRINT MAKERS SHOW

The Fifth International Print-Makers' Exhibition opens at the Los Angeles Museum, Exposition Park today.

There have been 370 prints selected from the very large number submitted. Work of any artist in any country is welcome, provided it is of sufficient merit to pass the jury of selection. This exhibition is presented by the Print-Makers' Society of California, which has members scattered all over the world, while, for the sake of a central organization, it is governed by local members, it is really international in its scope.

The exhibition is the result of tremendous labor on the part of the officers of the society, whose president is Benjamin C. Brown; secretary, Howell C. Brown; treasurer, Frances H. Gearhart.

The jury of selection was composed of Benjamin C. Brown, Howell C. Brown, Frances Gearhart, Carl Oscar Borg and May Gearhart.

The exhibition lasts through the month of March.

At Women's University Club

At the new Women's University Club, 943 South Hoover street, eight oil paintings by Nell Brooker Mayhew are being shown. Two of these are High Sierra subjects. Pictures by the following members of the club are also on exhibit: Vivian Stringfield, Mary Morse and Anna Brooks.

Sharp Exhibit at Barker's

Beginning today, Louis Hovey Sharp will show, for some weeks, recent paintings from the desert and more intimate subjects from Southern California, in the attractive little gallery at Barker Brothers. Several figure studies are also exhibited.

Loren Barton in Hollywood

Through the month of March, beginning tomorrow evening with a reception and entertainment, paintings by Loren Barton will be exhibited at the Hollywood Public Library, which has a gallery that is spacious and well lighted.

Andrews's Titian in Laguna Beach

The Titian whose long and romantic history has been exploited in The Times of recent date, will be exhibited this afternoon at the Laguna Beach Art Gallery, and then will travel on to its lucky owner, Linwood Andrews, at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles.

FARCE SHOCKING

"The Camel's Back," Though Not Great Success, Is Interesting

[Public Ledger Foreign Service.]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

LONDON, Feb. 29.—Somerset Maughham's new farce, "The Camel's Back," was not hailed as a great success, but it is interesting enough to hold the board for a time at least. Critics agree that it contains some really funny lines and displays the author's ruthless intention to be shocking at all costs and, in the true Maugham manner, to appear desperately cynical.

Madge Titheradge's performance in the lead is ranked as one of her very best.

Mermaid Will Feature Local Follies Show

It looks as though we were about to establish a Follies of our own. At any rate that is what the Pacific Amusement Corporation, of which J. C. Howard is president, promises.

The title of the new show, shortly to be presented at one of the local theaters, is "Smiles of 1924," in which various well-known players, headed by Annette Kellerman, champion mermaid of the world, will have a prominent part, and will appear in a number of novel stunts, including, of course, swimming.

Another attraction will be Abe Lyman's Cocoanut Grove Orchestra from the Hotel Ambassador, who will present a number of new musical harmonics so far not heard in the West, including various recent musical comedy hit melodies.

Others who will take part will be Ernest Belcher's ballet, in a charming program; Harry Gribbon, lately of pictures, but formerly of the Follies; Rex Story, featured performer in Greenwich Village Follies and Winter Garden shows; Gertrude O'Connor, featured with "Take It From Me;" and last but not least, Bull Montana, in a sketch.

A chorus of Kellerman singing and dancing beauties will be one of the show's features, and will be chosen by Miss Kellerman herself. Edwin Bower Hesser and Finn Haaken Freulich, both well known in the art world, will furnish the male slant on these beauties, aiding Miss Kellerman to select the feminine ballet.

The show is being written by Joe Burrows, composer of "Covered Wagon Days." Burrows is a well-known Broadway revue writer and has been associated with John Murray Anderson Productions, furnishing material for the Greenwich Village Follies, and has also written material for Passing Shows at the New York Winter Garden, and for "The Gingham Girl."

M. DeRecat, the producer of the show's numbers, put on the historical pageant at the Exposition last July. He comes from the Grand Operahouse in Paris, and was likewise connected with the Opera Comique and the Folies Bergere. He is a Frenchman, born of a military family, and himself a captain in the Soudan. He is also a composer and has to his credit a reputation in the operatic world of France. Some of his compositions and ballets include "L'Oracle," produced at the Grand Opera in Paris; "L'Intrigue Galante Sous Louis XIV," produced at Palais de Trocadero, and "Le Triomphe de L'Amour," also produced at the Grand Operahouse, Paris.

E. C. Bostwick, associated with DeRecat, was formerly general manager for Saxe Brothers' circuit of midwest theaters and lately with Loew's State Theater, leaving the latter place a short time ago to enter the production field.

Rough Stuff Good Reducer, Mildred Finds

Mildred Harris, dainty young screen star, has always been identified with pictures in which she played charming young girl roles of a quiet nature. Nice village-belle stuff, or clinging-heroine types, surrounded by sighing country swains or well-bred city chaps, who made love according to their standards. Nothing rough ever occurred to disturb the serenity of her picture existence.

Then she was cast for leading woman opposite Richard Talmadge in a fast-moving stunt picture, "In Fast Company," and had her first taste of what it is like to play opposite a strenuous star who starts his thrill day with his breakfast. Furthermore, she was subjected to the tactics of villains, compared to which the kid-gloved bad men of her previous screen experience were imitations.

The first day at work she had to climb up the fire escape of an eight-story building, run across the roof and leap to another building. After that it was just one thrill after another, from being rescued out of a window nine stories in the air to being dragged from an automobile running close to the edge of a high cliff along a mountain road. The stunts in between were numerous, but she lost twelve pounds while the picture was being made and liked it.

She says she is willing to try another if she can play opposite young Talmadge, in whom she has the utmost confidence, no matter how daring the thrill or how risky the stunt they are asked to perform.

"In Fast Company" is a Carlos production made for Truart Film Corporation and the third made by Talmadge in his series for that company. It is a punch picture packed with sensational incidents, yet containing a strong love story lightened with plenty of comedy.

FRATERNAL AFFAIRS

AMERICAN YEOMEN

W. R. Shirley, formerly chairman of the supreme board of directors of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, was elected president of the National Fraternal Congress at the convention recently conducted at French Lick Springs, Ind. Next April Mr. Shirley will be the guest of honor of American Yeomen in Southern California.

The new Homestead at Glendale was instituted Saturday evening, February 23. Yeomen of the Southland predict prosperity for the baby homestead.

A business meeting and drill practice will be conducted by Poinsettia Homestead, No. 1735, on the evening of the 4th inst., at Maple Hall, Fraternal Brotherhood Building.

California Pacific Homestead, No. 2124, will conduct a business meeting on the evening of the 7th inst., at Lincoln Hall, Walker Theater Building.

A business meeting and card party will be conducted on the 5th inst., in the evening by Hawthorne Homestead, No. 5646, at the Hawthorne schoolhouse.

Progressive Homestead, Belvedere No. 5934, will give a card party on the 3rd inst., at the Chamber of Commerce Hall on East First street.

Union Pacific Homestead, No. 2131, Pasadena, will conduct drill practice on the evening of the 4th inst., at the K. P. Hall, 27 Mary street.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD

Victory Lodge No. 1068 conducts business sessions every Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Alhambra Hall, T.F.B. Building. Members of the society visiting in the city are invited. The last Monday of each month is initiatory night and, following initiation, there is dancing.

The Juvenile Lodge of the Fraternal Brotherhood met at Alhambra Hall yesterday evening. Many adults were in attendance. The full initiatory work was exemplified by these young officers, including the "Pipes of Pan," which is a part of the initiation. After the ritualistic ceremonies were ended, games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

Members of the Le Grande Lodge, No. 9, meet in Maple Hall T.F.B. Building every Friday. The meetings are called at 8 p.m. This lodge has the distinction of being the only "stag" lodge in the organization. All T.F.B. brothers are invited.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS

The February smoker given by Court E. G. No. 33, was a success. A pleasing program of athletics and vaudeville kept the audience interested for two hours. The L. A. Newsboys Club gave several snappy bouts. A feature was a pledge to Supreme Vice Chief Ranger Frank E. Hand, who leaves next week for an extended trip east, of a class of 100 as a farewell token.

Companion Court E. S. No. 34 initiated a class of ten last Tuesday evening with the uniformed guards of honor conducting the work.

The initiatory team of Court E. G., accompanied by several automobile loads of members, went to Fillmore Wednesday evening and conferred the degrees on a large class of candidates from Fillmore and other courts in adjacent territory.

The reception tendered Supreme Vice Chief Ranger Frank E. Hand and Mrs. Hand at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Dickson was an event long to be remembered in Forestry circles.

The floral decorations of the beautiful home were exquisite, and a pleasing program of vocal and instrumental numbers was rendered.

ANCIENT ORDER UNITED WORKMEN

A new lodge of the A. O. U. W. was instituted at Bell, Cal. Friday, Feb. 22. The institution was given in Masonic hall, and the work was conducted by officers of Los Angeles Lodge No. 1, headed by B. A. Owen, Master of Los Angeles Lodge. The charter membership of the new lodge was secured by District Manager P. E. Beito, who has charge of the Huntington Park and Bell district.

The new organization numbers among its members representative citizens and business men of Bell, Maywood and vicinity. The following are the officers elected and installed for the ensuing year: Past Master, W. Paul Callow; Master Workman, H. Lawrence Porter; Foreman, Paul T. Rigali; Overseer, Edward E. Malone; Recorder-Financier, David Glassman; Guide, Charles R. Perkins; I. W. J. L. Moore; O. W. Stewart A. Chapman; Trustees, W. Paul Callow, H. Lawrence Porter and Edward E. Malone; Medical Examiner, Dr. Arthur M. Faught. The meeting nights will be the second and fourth Fridays at Masonic hall.

On Saturday, February 23, the initiatory work was exemplified by the Los Angeles team at Glendale, and several candidates were instructed in the work of the order. The entertainment committee provided a banquet as the concluding number on the evening's program. Next meeting of Glendale Lodge No. 2 for initiatory work will be the 31st inst.

Los Angeles Lodge No. 1 will stage the next big initiation on the 13th inst. when a large number will become affiliated with the local organization. This will be the first effort of the newly installed officers. An invitation has been extended to all near-by lodges and to visiting members from other States. Attractive features will be provided by the entertainment committee.

MACCABEES

The degree staff from Los Angeles Tent, No. 6, in charge of Record Keeper George H. Jones, traveled to Monterey Park last Friday evening and initiated a class of candidates in the tent newly organized in the fast growing city. After the degree work a buffet lunch was served.

Monrovia Tent, No. 89, conducted its usual review in the K. P. Hall last Wednesday evening with a large attendance. This tent meets on the second and fourth Wednesday evening of each month.

Glendale Tent, No. 93, will conduct a special meeting on the evening of the 4th inst., in the offices of the Pacific-Southwest Bank, 100 South Glendale avenue.

Rialto and Colton have gone over their quota for the month of February in new membership. The following Sir Knights worked hard to win the laurels: In Rialto, Joseph Reed and L. L. Bemis; in Colton, Russell Morgan and LeRoy DuVall, commander of the tent.

On Thursday evening Pomona tent initiated a large class of candidates, assisted by the Degree team from Tent No. 6 of Los Angeles. Candidates from Colton and Rialto will be given the degrees along with the Pomona candidaes. Sir Knights Lusk and B. H. Shewman were in charge of the class.

NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

Local Native Sons were guests at a luncheon given in honor of Dr. O. C. Coy last Monday at the University Club. Dr. Coy is head of the California history department of the University of California at Berkeley and is the organizer and acting secretary of the California Historical Association.

On the 8th inst. local Native Sons and Daughters will attend the tree-planting festival at Brand Park. Trees will be planted in the Memory Garden and will be dedicated to pioneers. Women's clubs and other organizations will plant trees under direction of Mrs. Martha N. McCan, president of the Park Commission, and Mrs. A. F. C. Forbes, chairman of the landmarks division of the Federated Women's Clubs. The ceremonies will be conducted by representatives of the Grand Parlor. Pioneers to be honored are Gen. Vallejo, Commodore Sloat and Isabel Del Valle.

A. G. Rivera, president of Ramona Parlor, has announced the appointment of a committee of 100 to conduct a membership drive during March and April.

Grand President W. J. Hayes will make an official visit to Arrowhead Parlor on the 12th inst. The parlors of Los Angeles will send representatives to San Bernardino at that time.

I.O.O.F.

Golden Rule lodge will tomorrow evening exemplify the initiatory degree on a class of twelve candidates. Last Monday evening after the degree staff had conferred the third degree on a class of six candidates, the brothers had a pleasant surprise when Past Grands Charles Jones and Chester Smith invited them to participate in a luncheon.

Southwestern Lodge, No. 458, conducted a lively meeting last Wednesday evening at Walker Auditorium. Refreshments were served by the committee after the degree staff had conferred the third degree on a class of twenty-eight candidates.

The new Southwestern Rebekah lodge has had many visitors at their meetings, thus making every meeting very entertaining. Last Monday evening the large attendance discussed plans for future entertainments and many applications were turned over the secretary.

IMPROVED ORDER OF RED MEN

At the regular session of Mojave Tribe, No. 124, Improved Order of Redmen, last Monday night at 437 South Hill street, the new degree team spent some time drilling, after which refreshments were served.

It is anticipated that a good class of palefaces will soon be ready to test out the work of the new degree team.

On Saturday, February 23, the Haymakers added a good class to their membership and an especially interesting meeting was pl the next meeting, March 1.

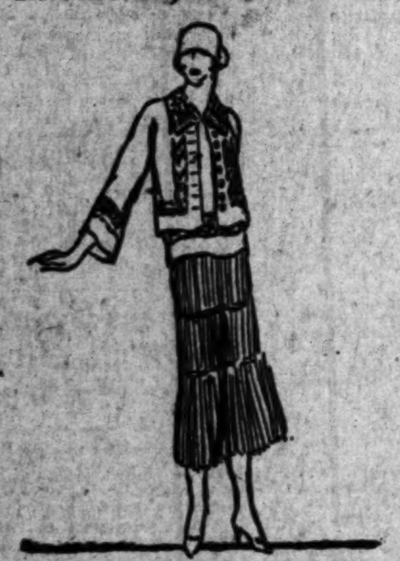
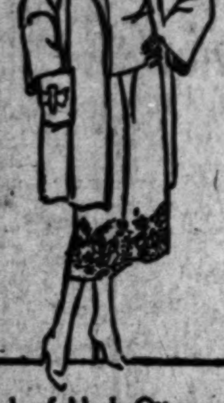
Cut-work embroideries! Plaiting~In coats of Juina!

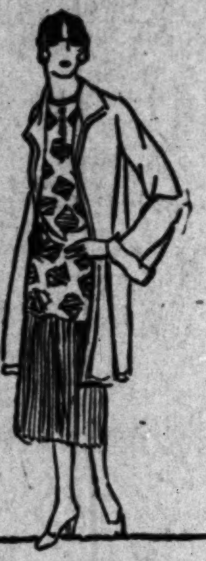
Right in fashionable accord with thinking in terms of the costume rather than of a single garment or accessory: —the three piece suit! In size 14, 16 or 18.



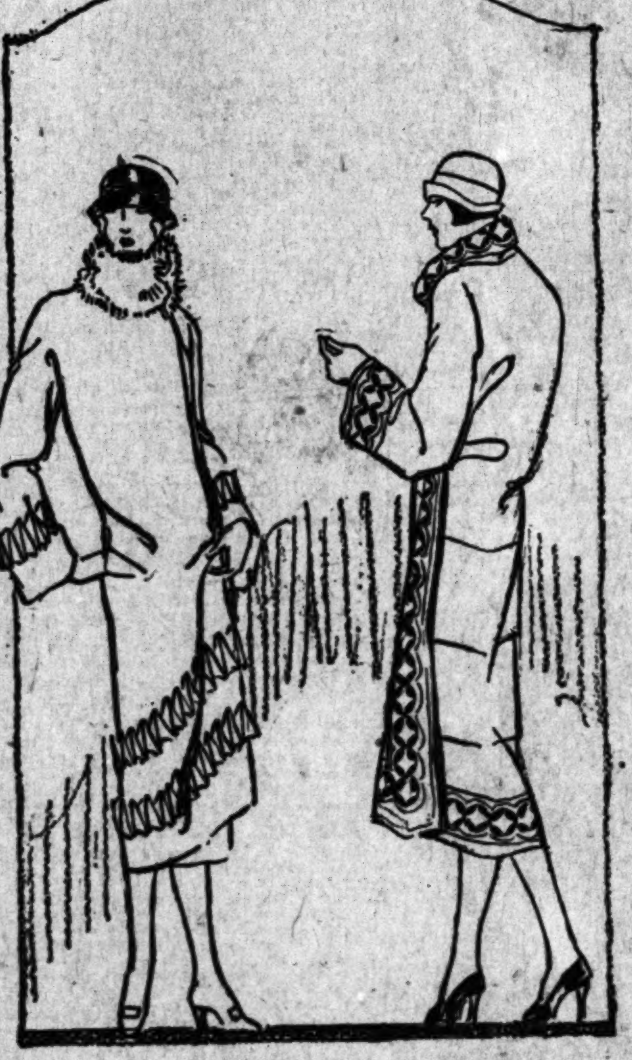
A rather exotic blending of white angora, vivid yarns and white crepe de Chine—on a background of navy reps. A custom-made bolero tailleur for a slender women.



A frock of black Ottoman silk is embroidered gorgeously in greens and the rose shades. The matching coat is green broadcloth, lined in rose.



There is a three-piece suit with a long Chinese coat, and a straight, beltless, fantastically patterned, silk frock with a plaited flounce of the fabric of the coat.



Juina! The most beautiful of spring coat fabrics—soft of surface, dull of surface, pliant.

Perfect in its adaptation to the tubular silhouette. Perfect as a lovely background for cut work embroideries, fantastic plaitings.

Perhaps the most significant of spring coat trends—these slim, simple wraps that make such charming and decorative use of their own fabrics. Not on easy thing to achieve—this sure handling of the material.

It sets these particular coats apart. That and the new beauty of their Cashmere fabrics. At $115 to $135!

~from a printed shawl!

E. M. A. Steinmetz has designed a frock out of a black silk shawl.

A shawl designed in the big flower splashes that are such a part of the shawl idea.

One flowing, unbroken line—from neck to hem.

And the points of the shawl caught over one arm to form a semblance of a sleeve.

The most graceful dress of the season—the shawl dress—an original design by E. M. A. Steinmetz.

VOTERS BADGES FOR MEETING

"I Vote, Do You" Feature for Biennial

Plans Outlined at Council of Presidents

Law Enforcement is Theme of Discussion

"I vote. Do you?"

These words in red on a white button bordered with blue will be worn by thousands of women in Los Angeles who attend the biennial convention here in June. The button will be the official insignia of the citizenship of club women everywhere, according to Mrs. John C. Urquhart, State president, who was the chief speaker at the last presidents' council of the district held with the Highland Park Ebell, Mrs. Harry Louis Strohm, president, as the hostess club.

This button will give a political touch to the great gathering of women which it has never had before, and will be of more than usual significance, coming as the biennial does, before one of the party national conventions and near the time of the others. But it is not a partisan political touch. Every "good" club woman is insistent upon that. Mrs. Urquhart would be the last one to promote partisan politics in club circles, and least of all in this national convention, when the California federation is hostess and must observe all the careful ethics of the hostess State.

But Mrs. Urquhart's very fine talk was essentially political in the best sense of the word.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

"The most important question before club women today is law enforcement, and its bearing on citizenship," she said. "And the most effective tool for work is the ballot. Last year I was impressed with the need of law enforcement to save the most wonderful treasure any State possesses—the redwood trees—which was impressed upon me by the northern district at our convention at Eureka. But this year the southern district has brought to my attention the conservation of the youth of our State from the evils just across the border in Mexico. This can be accomplished by a law and by enforcing it. Club women are working on a law to have a 9 o'clock closing at the border. I appeal to every one of you to help them in this work.

"For the first time in the history of our country at a Presidential election women have full participation. Registration week, which has just closed, has found club women everywhere in this State carrying on a remarkable campaign with remarkable results, in securing the registration of citizens. In virtually every clubhouse registration is going on. We mean to carry this on until the registers close, and then supplement it with a campaign to make every registered voter vote, and club women will feel it a disgrace to keep away from the polls next May and November."

Supplementing these appeals for good citizenship by the use of the electorate, Mrs. J. W. Lowther, president of the Woman's City Club of Long Beach, gave information of great value. She said that men registered as voters in California number 998,095 while the women numbered 930,052, but at the last election more women than men voted. In the United States, in 1922, there were 27,661,-830 men and 26,795,952 women, but there were many more men who cast their ballot than women. This, Mrs. Lowther said, was an indication that women of the East are not as interested in public affairs as are the western women.

COUNCIL IS BEST

Never before in the history of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs has such a comprehensive, inspirational and informative council been held. Such was the universal expression at the close of the session Friday. The lovely clubhouse in perfect order was crowded all day long and hundreds were sent to near-by restaurants at the luncheon hour, although tables were arranged in every available part of the clubhouse. With Mrs. Charles H. Toll presiding at such a conference for the last time this year, the very climax of convention excellence was attained. It is doubtful if the conventions which now follow in quick succession will yield anything more concrete. They were announced as follows by the State president: District of San Joaquin Valley in March; Alameda district, April 23 and 24; Los Angeles district in Glendale April 8 and 9; the northern district 28 and 29; the State at Pasadena May 30 to 31 with the biennial beginning June 3 and lasting ten days.

Many speakers distinguished in club circles throughout the State appeared upon the platform and without exception each one was at her best. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, for instance, speaking as the California director, the ranking officer of the State, kept the presidents in gales of laughter. The information she gave was not altogether new for she has before addressed club women on the executive board meeting of the General Federation in Washington and told of the candidates for national offices of the federation. But she was in such a good humor and so sparkling with happiness she made every one else feel as she did. Called for time before she was half through she yielded to Mrs. Toll and received one of the most spontaneous ovations of her career.

GIVES STATISTICS

"Is it her new spring costume?" some one asked.

"No, she has admitted she had to skip her luncheon to get here so that must have made her feel light and happy," was the answer.

Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, together with Mrs. Lowther, at the request of Mrs. Toll have initiated a movement to ascertain whether women in general are interested in public affairs. Both of them are presidents of civic clubs and Mrs. Thayer is State chairman of American citizenship. Their reports Friday were most illuminating and of great value in the women's movement.

In the current Atlantic Monthly, there is an article by George Madden Martin, who is a woman in spite of her masculine name, which sets forth that women are not interested in public questions of the day. Mrs. Toll, Mrs. Thayer and Mrs. Lowther take exception to her conclusions. In response to a questionnaire sent out by Mrs. Thayer at a recent dinner party, she asked every man present and each one responded affirmatively as to women's interest. An old man of 81 from Kansas said that never had a question of public morals come before the Kansas women but more than half of them had responded by work and knowledge of the issues. Club women of California voted 23,552 strong on the Bok peace plan. One reply to the questionniare was: "We have no trouble in finding intelligent response to conversation of national questions except among the habitual card players."

WELL INFORMED

"I have found my maid, my masseuse and my seamstress all well informed on political and national questions," said Mrs. Thayer, "and I tested them impartially." One of the replies to the questionnaire was: "The society group of women has much to be responsible for in this present menace to our country." Another one said:

"I am old-fashioned, perhaps, but for me personally home comes first in my interest and in my conversation, but I am not at all sure I am right. The nation comes first. If we did not have a stable government we could not have homes at all so I am trying to educate myself to think also of the big public questions of the day and be intelligent about them." This reply came from a member of a little club up in the country.

In conclusion, Mrs. Thayer said that she felt sure that if George Martin had put the same questions to groups of men as she put to women to prove the latter's ignorance of public affairs she would have found no better response.

Mrs. Florence Collins Porter and Mrs. William Baurhyte, two of the older past presidents of the district, made two of the most youthful luncheon talks of the day. Mrs. Porter told of the time twenty-four years ago when she came here in October, joined the Friday Morning Club in November, the Ebell in December, was elected a delegate to the State convention in January and was there appointed State chairman of membership by Mrs. Burdette on the old Plaza near the old Palace Hotel. Mrs. Burdette was given a brooch at the close of the convention and Mrs. Porter a bon bon dish all of which went to prove according to Mrs. Porter, that fools rush in where angels fear to trend, for she said she knew nothing at all about differences between Northern California and Southern California and got a bon bon dish for her lack of knowledge.

COTTAGE RECORDS

"You can't do club work with that speed now," said Mrs. Porter laughingly. "There are too many of you. Newcomers are not wanted and you have to have too much red tape."

Mrs. Baurhyte of Maternity Cottage fame, brought many a smile when she said she was a pure Californian, had never been out of the State except to go to Reno, to Tijuana and to Oregon once to stay overnight. To the club women she gave much of the credit of the success of Maternity Cottage.

"All your work isn't of any use," she said, "unless you have children to work it out on in the next generation. That is what we are doing at Maternity Cottage—getting children and getting them well born.

"There was one bed in the hospital seventeen years ago, now there

"Richard the Lion Hearted"—Another costume drama interesting and entertaining.

"Painted People" — A sparkling good clean comedy. Colleen Moore at her best.

Holdovers: "The Ten Commandments," "Scaramouche," "Under the Red Robe," "The Humming Bird," "The White Sister," "When a Man's a Man."

Club and Home Figures

Dr. Reinhardt, distinguished president of Mills College, arrived in the city yesterday and was the guest of honor at the leap year party and speaker at luncheon of the Women's University Club in their new clubhouse. Mrs. William Mabee, president of Wa-Wan Club, presided at the colonial party given Wednesday in honor of the Princess Lazarovich-Hbrebelianovich. Miss Doran served yesterday as a member of the committee for the Women's University Club function. Little Miss Montague is the daughter of Mrs. Horace Montague, prominent in D.A.R. circles. Mrs. S. C. Dunlop is chairman of the scholarship fund of the Ebell Club for whose benefit a beautiful party was given Thursday in the Ambassador in the new Fiesta Ballroom.

CLUB WILL HEAR COSTUME SONGS

March 6 is to be a highlight for the members of the Matinee Musical Club, for Mrs. J. Spencer-Kelly, president of the club, has planned an exceedingly different and interesting program. Myrtle Carver, coloratura, will give songs in costumes of different nations, including French, German, Italian, Spanish and English. In her old English costume, with hoopskirts and pantalettes and dainty hat, she will undoubtedly make a charming picture. Marjorie Kulumanu Chapin will give a piano solo and act as accompanist.

On March 13, at the home of Mrs. Rose Johnson, 843 Westchester Place, the club is giving a tea. All members and friend are invited. Mrs. B. Sharps Baker and Jennie Helen Keen are chairmen, assisted by Mmes. Elizabeth Teefy, Jennie McMahon, Mabel Dakin, R. Davis Hill, George Fredericks, Myra Cain Grant, Ethel K. Holland, Bessie S. Lyons, John X. McDonald, Mrs. Frank DeLong will present the program, Prof. Louis Heintz (L. A. Philharmonic Orchestra,) piano; Eileen Deschains Stewart, soprano; Grace Eaton Dowd, accompanist; Selma Dillon and Helene Donnelly in violin duets; Katherine Benjamin, piano; Mrs. Hart Allan, reader; Miss Josephine Bergan, coloratura; Ann McKinley, accompanist.

Program, March 20: Mrs. Henry G. Sanger, soprano; Mrs. Leland Moore, reader; Mildred Sanger House, accompanist and pianist; De Vere Nicholson, piano; Henry F. House, 'cellist.

INNOVATION IN ART EFFORT IS OFFERED

The various sections of the Wedensday Morning Club are displaying unusual interest and are about to put forth their greatest effort before the close of the year. The first among the new features to be introduced was the "silver tea" given by Mrs. J. C. Calhoun, when plans were laid to acquire funds for the purchase of a work of art, which is not to be the property of any individual club, but is to be a traveling picture among the federated clubs and is to have its home for a short period with each club that enters this movement. The 5th inst. there will be the regular monthly business meeting at 11 o'clock for members only. On this date the club will observe "Bird and Arbor Day" with appropriate readings and an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Harriet Myers. The sections to meet are parliamentary usage, at 10 o'clock; public welfare and current events at 10:45; luncheon at 12, and Spanish at 12:45.

Patriotic Meeting in Rivera

Following out the feeling of patriotism which has characterized the month of February, the Rivera Woman's Club conducted a patriotic meeting Wedensday afternoon, with Mrs. Lizzie Burke in charge. The roll call was answered with epigrams coined by the first president, George Washington, and a number of informal talks were given pertaining to the services rendered by great Americans. Mrs. Max Rosenbaum was hostess in charge. After the program a pleasant hour was passed socially, with refreshments served by the hospitality committee.

BIENNIAL AIDE AT MEETING

Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, chairman of legislation of the departments of work for the California local biennial board, has been passing the week in Los Angeles as a guest of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Craig. Mrs. Schloss came south to attend the meeting of her committee called last Thursday by Mrs. John R. Nash, chairman of the department, and incidentally found much to do in the way of preparing for the June convention. She attended the meeting of the State executive board at the Clark.

As past president of the State federation, Mrs. Schloss is in line to succeed Mrs. Robert J. Burdette as the California director on the general federation board. She has received the indorsement of her home district, Alameda, and when the State federation convention meets in Pasadena, on May 30 and 31, will be a candidate. This election must be ratified by the general federation convention before the choice is made final.

Mrs. Schloss, who preceded Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald as State president, has had much experience in club work, and is known as an executive of unusual ability. She is now State chairman of legislation for the California federation, and still finds time to serve as chairman of the woman's joint legislative committee of State organizations. A native of the Middle West, and of Scotch-English parentage, Mrs. Schloss came to the Pacific Coast as a child and received her education in this State.

At the biennial convention in Los Angeles Mrs. Schloss will serve as hostess to past officers of the general federation of women's clubs, with whom she has had long acquaintance during her quarter-century of club work.

Wa-Wan Offers Three Programs to War Disabled

The first week in March is a busy one for Mrs. A. Hannum of the altruistic section of the Wa-Wan Club. Mrs. Hannum devotes all her spare time to the Disabled War Veterans of Sawtelle and arranged three interesting programs for them.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Suzanne Joyce Spear took a juvenile program to the boys and the Lark Ellen Home. On Wednesday evening Mrs. Gail Mills Dimmitt, soprano, and George Shuger, noted magician, will present an interesting program. On Friday evening Miss Florence Norman Shaw and her pupils, Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer, and Dr. L. S. Veisen, tenor, will entertain.

SOUTHWEST INDIAN WEST EBELL TOPIC

"What I Know About the Indian of the Southwest,' is the subject of a talk on the 4th inst. at the West Ebell Club, by Mrs. May Clarke. Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers will speak on "California Birds" and Miss Sybil Jonathon will give vocal selections. On the 7th a society vaudeville will be given at the clubhouse under the auspices of Gene Gibson, author of "Poppyland." On the 11th at 3 p.m. the Tuesday evening dancing class will give a dance with a number of interesting features, and on the 17th the March and August ladies will give a surprise St. Patrick's dance. The women's chorus of West Ebell will give a concert on the 26th assisted by the Cook Concert Trio and other artists.

Travel Club Moves

Having outgrown its present home by rapid increase in membership, the Travel Club has acquired the West Ebell clubhouse, 1717 West Forty-seventh street, for future meetings. On the 6th inst. Dr. Joseph F. Tetter will give "Impressions of Ireland." Musical selections will include tenor solos by Marco Bertini, accompanied by Miss Walker. Parliamentary law, music and English sections will meet. Mrs. E. C. Schoene will be hostess at the noon luncheon. The executive board will meet Friday morning to permit the members to participate in the Burbank Arbor Day exercises when they will plant a live oak tree in the sunken gardens at Exposition Park.

WOULD DRAMATIZE PEACE

Mrs. George Gellhorn, an Organizer of Voters League, Urges Drive Among School Pupils

"On the 18th of May, which is International Friendship Day, let us, through the schools and the churches, dramatize peace between the nations, until it becomes as spectacular and dramatic as war." This was the substance of the plea made Friday by Mrs. George Gellhorn, at the luncheon given in her honor by the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Gellhorn, who is one of the original active organizers of the National League and an officer in the Missouri League, was most emphatic on the subject of dramatizing the "will to peace."

URGES PAGEANTS

Through pageants, and other means in the public schools, she hopes that the nation may create within the young people of today the dramatic thrill for peace which has heretofore been given to war. She stated that she looked especially to California for here the routine and system of civic and national affairs seem to be exceptionally well conducted.

The stationing of men and women on the street and in public buildings to insure registration she said was remarkable and was far ahead of other parts of the country. With a system such as this, Mrs. Gellhorn said, she expected that California would vote 100 per cent, rather than the 75 per cent which is the goal toward which the National League is working.

Mrs. Arthur S. Heineman presided at the luncheon.

CLUB BRIEFS

California's quota for the headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington is $5000 and all but $300 has been raised. But this last amount comes in slowly. It is hoped that the quota will be fully raised by June.

President Coolidge spoke to the executive board members of the General Federation when they met in Washington and Mrs. John C. Urquhart, State president, reports him as saying, "You club women occupy a unique position in the government of our country. Not as law-makers, but as home-makers, where law and order really originate. The government can do little beside execute the laws but the home influences are what really go into these laws." Mrs. Urquhart said upon her return, "It is good to be a woman—better to be a club woman—still better to be a club woman in California, but best of all to be an integral part in the affairs of our throbbing national life."

At the suggestion of Mrs. R. Clarkson Colman, State chairman of art, "Buy a Picture Week" will be observed from the 24th to 31st inst., when clubs are urged to purchase paintings and every club participating in the movement is asked to report results to Mrs. Colman, Studio-by-the-Sea, Laguna Beach.

Beginning Tuesday afternoon, the 8th inst., at 3 p.m., Miss Lila Van Kirk is to start a series of lectures on Italy, entitled "A Trip to Italy on This Side of the Ocean." These talks will be given at the Biltmore, and are to help the many club and society women who are planning to go abroad in the spring. Miss Van Kirk will tell of the many things of interest in Italy, sketching in a background of legend and history.

Promising to be of great interest is the next program of the Saturday Afternoon Club of Downey, when the Choral Club presents an Indian pageant Wednesday. The stage is to be transformed into an Indian village and the members of the Choral Club in costume will give readings and songs by Cadman.

"Human Nature and Politics" is the subject of a lecture to be given, under auspices of the Los Angeles Principals' Club, by Opie Read, famous American novelist, at Sentous Junior High School next Tuesday evening. While the affair is primarily for principals, teachers and their friends, the club will open the doors to the public with a 50-cent admission charge.

The series of excellent entertainments given by the Pomona Ebell Club are midway in their success. The ones still to be given include the Tony Sarg Marionettes, which will be presented on the 28th inst., postponed from last Monday evening; Cecil Fanning April 15, and Galli-Curci, May 5.

Mrs. C. E. Leighton, art chairman of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak before the Zelzah Women's Club at the next regular meeting, Mrs. E. L. Bennett, president. At the session the committee on building will submit the plans for additions to the clubhouse.

Torrance business men and citizens in all walks of life stand ready to support any definite effort on the part of the club women to provide a clubhouse for that little city. The women have outlined a tentative program for the sale of stock and are submitting questionnaires to club members and citizens. The program provides for the sale of 100 shares at $25 a share and 250 shares at $10 a share. The whole city is keenly interested in the venture.

The Alexandra Chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, will meet in Garfield Hall in the Fine Arts Theater Building tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. The chairmen of committees were appointed at the last meeting as follows: Mrs. E. L. Trimmer, hospitality; Mrs. H. C. Barnes, visiting; Mrs. Vera Brooks, courtesy; Mrs. W. A. McIntosh, groups; Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Mott, philanthropy; Mrs. A. Handyside, printing; Mrs. Tracey Becker and Mrs. J. Carter, ways and means; Mrs. C. Francis, needlework guild, and Miss McBride, sewing. At the meeting tomorrow Mrs. M. McIvor will talk on home economics, and there will be solo dancing and music. Mrs. Daniel Clark is regent.

City Club Program Postponed

There will be no meeting of the Woman's City Club tomorrow afternoon, owing to the club's inability to get the Philharmonic Auditorium, and so on the 10th inst. the program originally planned for this date will be given.

Indians and Immigration

Albert T. Freeman is to speak before the California Badger Club on the 5th inst. on "The Indian Problem from the Indian's Standpoint," and Miss Hermine Schwed will talk on "Immigration." There will be vocal selections by Mrs. Calkins, formerly of Green Bay, Wis., and Mrs. George Blystone. The meeting will be held at the McDowell Clubhouse, 462 North Western avenue.

Mr. McGroarty to Speak

John Steven McGroarty will speak at the Wednesday Afternoon Club of Alhambra on the 5th inst. at 12:30 p.m., and with him will be the Mission Play Singers who will entertain. At 2:30 p.m. the Alhambra High School Orchestra, directed by Miss Georgina Shropshire, will give a program.

Request Opera Will be Given in Hollywood

It is interesting to note that the majority of votes cast for the request opera to be given for the Hollywood Opera Reading Club tomorrow morning call for Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" in English. It is also interesting that the role of Sharpless will be sung by Carl Gantvoort, who has sung this role two hundred times with the Savage Opera Company. He also created for this company the baritone role in "The Girl of the Golden West."

Dr. Nagel, director, has chosen Alice Forsythe Mosher for the part of "Butterfly." Elinor Marlo, operatic star of Hansel and Gretel, will sing Susuki, and Dudley Chambers will be heard in the role of Pinkerton. There are twenty musical illustrations including the ever-loved flower duet and the aria "One Fine Day."

This organization accepted sixty new members at the last monthly board meeting. The sort of educational work which Dr. Nagel is doing along cultural lines is of the greatest value to the community at large, and the worth and attendance proves the interest created.

SHAW'S "CANDIDA" ON EBELL PROGRAM

"Candida," which the Gilmor Brown Players will stage for the Ebell Club of Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon, is described by the author, George Bernard Shaw, as a "pleasant play." "Candida" is a domestic comedy. The title role will be played by Helen Hardison, who is well known to many Ebell members. She is the instructor of dramatics at Cumnock School. The two men completing the triange are Maurice Wells and Condit Grady. Helen Jerome Eddy has a fine comedy role as the spinster typist, Gilmor Brown, as Candida's father, and Mervin Williams as the young curate, complete the cast. The admission will be restricted to members only, and the curtain will rise at 2:30.

Tomorrow morning the Browning department program will be in charge of Mrs. William Millspaugh, and is based on the eighth and ninth books of "The Ring and the Book." Mrs. Phillip Wilson is in charge of the luncheon for the month.

Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith, president of the Philanthropy and Civics Club, will speak at the meeting of the social science department of the Ebell Club Wednesday morning, her subject being "Gossamer and Ginghams." Mrs. Samuel Cary Dunlap will review current events. A president's luncheon will follow, when Mrs. Long will preside. The guests of honor will include Miss Katherine Wamsse, the only woman member of the Royal Asiatic Society, and who has lived in Korea for many years. H. B. Wright, manager of the Criterion Theater, will speak on the influence of music in motion pictures. Esther Birdsall Downing will tell of some other Alaskan adventures.

Thursday morning at the Bible section Miss Rouzee will take as her subject "The Trial of Christ from a Lawyer's Standpoint."

Comedy to be Staged

"The Pea-Green Cats," a one-act comedy, written by Mrs. R. W. Snell, curator of the drama section, will be staged by the Laboratory Players under the direction of Anne Virgiria Snowden at the Highland Park Ebell Club next Tuesday at 10 a.m. After the monthly luncheon Mrs. R. H. Zimmerman will review "Poets and Poetry" before the literature section and Miss Nellie M. White will review Mary Johnson's "Croatan."

Mrs. C. W. Mattison is curator of the section. "Minor Notes and Major," was the lecture given last week by Miss Winifred Rouzee. Minor notes of Solomon were contrasted with the major notes of Paul in his letters to the Romans, Corinthians, Malathons, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and Thessalonians. The reading of "Othello" was completed and the play was discussed at the Shakespeare section, of which Mrs. C. W. Foote is curator. Miss Neeta Marquis read "Reminiscences of San Gabriel," by Mrs. Laura King, before the history and landmarks section.

Back EAST they tell of scenic grandeur and "wonderful Western coffee!"

THEY REMEMBER the roaring canyons; the opal lakes; the broad, unfenced reaches of sprawling plains. And, in their hearts, they carry a warming recollection of western hospitality. In their memory (and is it strange?) there lingers a haunting fragrance . . . the tantalizing aroma of that marvelous coffee they drank Out West!

Yes, the West loves and knows good coffee. This instinctive insistence upon quality in coffee has made one brand the largest seller and, undisputedly, The Recognized Standard—Hills Bros. Red Can Coffee.

There is no finer coffee to be had. It is the cream of the crop—not of one plantation, but of the plantations of the entire coffee-producing world. Blended with rare skill, roasted to a turn, ground with special machinery, and packed in vacuum that retains its freshness always!

Never could anyone forget the aroma of Hills Bros. Red Can Coffee. Temple incense pales in comparison. Each streaming wisp freighted with the promise of a still-more-wonderful flavor to come. Such a flavor! Words fail in attempting to describe it.

But it is that flavor that made Hills Bros. Red Can Coffee the coffee of the West—the favorite drink in homes of wealth and fine discrimination from the Coast to the Mississippi.

And to be certain that such rare flavor will come to you in its full strength, we seal it in vacuum. It remains fresh until you break the seal—days, weeks or years later.

With all its high quality, Hills Bros. Coffee is not high-priced. It is economical to buy—and economical to use. Hills Bros., San Francisco.

MUSICAL

CREATORE WOULD ESTABLISH ORGANIZATION HERE

That Los Angeles has great need for a permanent municipal band is a well-known fact, and that there has been considerable talk about obtaining Creatore as conductor is significant. The famous Italian bandmaster, who opened a four-weeks' engagement at Grauman's Metropolitan Theater yesterday, stated that although as yet nothing has been definitely decided upon, he would look upon such an arrangement with great favor.

"There has been talk of this, and I will not say that I have not been approached with regard to the matter, but so far there has been nothing but talk," Mr. Creatore said. "I hope that plans will cumulate while I am here. I have other engagements with the Famous Players theaters which follow this, and at the conclusion of these I would like to retire from traveling, move my family here, and organize from the musicians now here and available, a municipal band.

"The theater orchestras are accomplishing a great deal in music appreciation. But the difference from symphonic music to jazz is an example of the step from the sublime to the ridiculous. Anyway, only a small per cent of the population hears your excellent symphony. There should be a capable band—a half-way stage between jazz and symphony, for everybody. They should play free of charge in the various parks, so that the man who cannot afford to take his family to a theater or concert can enjoy a couple of hours of good music at least several times a month. Concerts should be given nightly and in various parts of the city, so that they are at frequent intervals accessible to everybody.

"Carmen" Selection

Man imitating the sighing of reeds in the silent forests has evolved the flute and clarinet. Composers who would depict the out-of-doors turn naturally to these instruments. Bizet made good use of them in his "Intermezzo" in Carmen and seldom has a mountain scene been more beautifully embellished in an opera. This number will be given on the California Theater Orchestra program this week. William Van Deevan, soloist, will share honors with M. Pettimari, clarinetist, in its presentation under the direction of Carli D. Elinor.

Music from "The Yankee Consul" will give atmosphere to the picture and the short concert by the orchestra closes with Elinor Jazz. This time it is the new "In Old California With You" which the director has arranged in striking harmony and stimulating fox-trot rhythm.

McCormack Returns

John McCormack is breaking concert records during his present stay in Los Angeles, singing four concerts here. With two sold-out evenings concerts, a third date is announced for next Saturday afternoon and a fourth and last program Tuesday evening, the 11th inst. The programs will include in addition to two groups of the standard lieder and old Italian, two groups of request numbers.

Composer in Recital

One of the early musical events of the month will be a recital at Gamut Club Auditorium by Francis Wagner, poet and composer, on Friday evening.

The assisting artists on this occasion are Joseph Jean Gilbert, flute virtuoso; Emil Ferir, solo viola of the Philharmonic Orchestra, and Alice Coleman Batcheller, pianist and accompanist. Each of these artists is favorably known among the music lovers of Southern California; each is a capable and authoritative musician who merits the support and approbation of all music lovers.

Two New Numbers

The program for the eleventh symphony concert, to be played by the Philharmonic next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, offers local patrons an opportunity to hear two compositions new to this city. This fact, in addition to the appearance of Pablo Casals, 'cellist, as soloist will no doubt result in a capacity attendance.

The opening offering is Robert Schumann's Symphony No. 1, in B flat Opus 38, known as the "Spring" symphony.

Pablo Casals plays, for the first time in Los Angeles, Boccherini's Concerto in B-flat for violoncello and orchestra, a very rarely heard and almost unknown opus from the facile pen of this prolific composer.

The closing offering, Rhapsodie Roumaine, No. 1, Op. 11 by Georges Enesco, is being heard for the first time in Los Angeles. This Rhapsody, the first of three Roumanian Rhapsodies, is, as the name would indicate, founded on the Roumanian airs which the composer absorbed as a youngster.

Organ Recitals

Beginning March 9, and for six consecutive Sundays, Ernest Douglas, concert organist, will give a series of Historical Recitals of Organ Music, to take place at St. Mattias Episcopal Church, Normandie and Washington streets, at 8 p.m.

Orpheus Club

The following program will be presented by the Orpheus Club, under the direction of Hugo Kirchhofer, at Philharmonic Auditorium, next Thursday evening.

"Song of the Golden Calf" (Faust)....Charles Gounod
"Goin' Home"....Anton Dvorak
"The Crusaders"....Edward MacDowell
Orpheus Four—Selections
"The Singers Harp"....C. Isenmann
"Irish Folk Song"....Arthur Foote
"Gypsy Love Song"....Victor Herbert
Orpheus Four—Selections
"The Long Day Closes"....Arthur Sullivan
"Who Did Swallow Jonah?"....Daniel Protheroe
"The Assyrian Came Down"....Cyril Jenkins

Pupil Pleases

Joseph Ballentyne, vocal instructor, presented his artist pupil Miss Mildred Ware, contralto, in a pleasing recital recently. The event took place at Fitzgerald Hall. Miss Bernice Hall accompanied.

Miss Ware has a lovely contralto voice and much personality, and she was the recipient of much praise for her artistic work.

Evening of Music

An evening of music was presented at the studio of Mme. Marguerite d'Aleria on the evening of February 26. Besides numbers by Mme. d'Aleria, a violin concerto was performed by Miss Laura Griffing and cello concerto by Mr. Frank Steinert. Piano numbers were also rendered by Mrs. Pearl Newhaus and Miss Sadie Solopoy.

Lecture-Recital

A lecture-recital is to be given by Mrs. H. Luella Topliff, pianist, and Miss Grace Eaton, reader, tomorrow evening at the Jack-O-Lantern Inn, La Crescenta. The proceeds of the recital are to be contributed to John Steven McGroarty's New Mission Play Theater Fund.

Mrs. Topliff, who has appeared a great deal in public, is a former pupil of Mrs. Francis Grovener of Boston. The Development of Piano Music will be the subject of the lecture-recital, beginning with the harpsichord period and continuing through all periods to the present day. There will be illustrations from the compositions of Allesandro Scarlatti, 1649, in a Theme and Variations, to a Theme in Variations by a young composer of our time, Edward Royce.

Dedicate Organ

Southern California Chapter of the American Guild of Organists will give an organ recital at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. William Ripley Door will have charge of the introduction of the new Aeolian organ recently installed.

The following artists will appear on the program: William Ripley Dorr, Wilshire Presbyterian Church Choir, J Gordon Jones, bass solos, Walter E. Hartley, organist.

Criterion Concert

The Adolph Tandler Sunday concerts at the Criterion Theater are giving H. B. Wright, managing director of that theater, an opportunity to prove that he was in earnest when he announced his intention of doing all in his power to "further the love of good music in Los Angeles." Tandler is very catholic in his choice of program for these concerts, and he plans to introduce every now and then, a number which is either little known in Los Angeles, or has never been heard here before.

Today at 2 p.m. he will play a waltz by Lehar, and so give this composition its first public American hearing. Besides interesting orchestral units, the vocalists at these Adolph Tandler Sunday concerts are well worthy of recognition, and especially is the guest artist, who will be heard at this concert. She is Mme. Anna Ruzena Sprotte, contralto, who will sing the Prison Scene from Meyerbeer's "Prophet," and an aria from the Indian Opera, "Shanewis," by Cadman. The program will also include Bach's "Air for G String," Jessel's "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," and the Overture "Phedre," by Massenet.

Community Orchestra

Including in its personnel professional musicians, advanced music students and men and women who play "for the love of it," the Hollywood Community Orchestra will give a concert in the Hollywood High School auditorium Tuesday evening. This organization of forty players rehearses weekly under the direction of Jay Plowe, flutist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, and has achieved some noteworthy ensemble work in its past performances.

Organized for the pleasure its members derive from studying and playing together, and for the purpose of giving to its community the most beautiful work of which it is capable, this orchestra is the direct outgrowth of the community singing movement in Hollywood. It is sponsored by the Community Chorus, and numbers among its players several prominent professional musicians in this and in nearby towns. Lorna Ussher is the concert mistress.

Violinist in Recital

Rudy Seiger, San Francisco, violinist, composer and concert master, will appear in recital at the Huntington Hotel, Pasadena, this evening, in a program embracing the three phases of his art. He will conduct the orchestra in several numbers, and for his violin solos will play two of his own compositions, "My Song" and "A California Lullaby."

Mr Seiger has recently returned from a trip to the East in concert work, appearing in Chicago, New York and Washington, and has appeared in solo work with Mary Garden, Rosa Ponselle, Schumann-Heink, Martinelle, Di Lucca, and other artists. As a composer he is known for his "Berceuse," "Tango d'Oro, and Indian Summer." Two of his latest compositions are "Zamboanga," a theme taken from the music of the Moros in the Philippines, "The Cherry Dancer," a Japanese theme, and "Jasamine Flower," adapted from the Chinese.

Sings "Ave Maria"

A feature of the musical program at the Mission in conjunction with the showing of Lillian Gish in "The White Sister," is the rendition of "Ave Maria" by Miss Dorothy Dodd, who has just returned from Paris where she completed her musical education. Miss Dodd possesses a beautiful rich mellow soprano voice and sings her solo with deep feeling and rare charm. Miss Dodd sings in conjunction with the special orchestra.

POPULAR ARTISTS MAKE SELECTIONS

Renee Chemet, French violinist who played here so successfully last Friday night, has recorded the Tartini Sonata in G Minor. Each movement is made in a separate record. She also has listed a Waltz by Weber (Victor.)

Eva Gauthier, mezzo-soparano, who sings here tomorrow night, has a considerable list of records to her credit. Two Debussy numbers, both on the same disc, and numbers which are extremely popular with her audiences, are "Fantoches" and "Romance." There are other French records of appeal (Victor.)

"At the Spring" (Liszt) and "Pathetique Study" (Scriabine) by Alfred Cortot, have been released within the last two weeks. The first is a rippling number of exquisite shades, while the last is of modern tendency, and is magnificent and rolling (Victor.)

Sigrid Onegin, contralto, sings in German "It Is Ordained by God's Decree" (Mendelssohn) and "Der Lindenbaum" (Schumann,) both on the same record (Brunswick.)

Chaliapin, who sings in the opera "Mefistole" here next month, has recorded "Ave Signor" (Hail, Sovereign Lord) from this opera with "Vi ravviso" (As I View These Scenes) from "Somnambula" (Bellini.) The numbers are unusual.

A tenor who has appeared here to large audiences is Theo Karle, and his last record will interest. The numbers are of semipopular order. They are "Sometime You'll Remember" and "The Kingdom Within Your Eyes." The first is with violin obbligato, by Fredric Fradkin.

City on Roof One Oddity of Cinema World

A city that rises—on a roof! Sounds preposterous, yet this became a fact at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio when Mary Pickford produced her latest photoplay, "Rosita," United Artists release, now showing at Tally's Theater for the first time at popular prices.

The roof was fifty feet high and for the sake of the film, represented the summit of a hill in a quaint old Spanish city. Surmounting this hill were a church, several dwellings and a number of trees. A burro path led from the ground to the roof of the stage, and during the taking of the picture much of the action showed not only the mules, but many people on the trail and the roof. Intervening buildings which constituted a replica of one of the streets of the Spanish city, rose between the cameras and the top of the stage, thus completing the illusion of the distant hill.

The story of "Rosita" deals with Spain during the empire period—from about 1800 to 1820. It is intensely dramatic, typically Latin and especially human.

BEST FILM TITLES AROUSE NO COMMENT

According to all the sartorial authorities, the best clothes are those which arouse no comment. Marion Ainslee, the film titler, who worked on "Foolish Wives," "A Lady of Quality" and "The Turmoil," declares that film titles resemble clothes to the same degree. In other words, the perfect titles are those which arouse no comment, which do not detract from the dramatic action or take the attention away from the players in the picture, and which serve only to bridge necessary gaps in the action so that the mind of the spectator can pass over these lapses without noticing it.

FINE ARTS OFFERS NEW COLLISON PLAY

The Fine Arts Theater will be closed this week while preparations are made for the opening the 10th inst. of Wilson Collison's latest play, "A Naughty Nice Girl."

Collison, author of "Up in Mabel's Room," "The Girl in the Limousine," "Desert Sands," and other Broadway successes, has chosen Los Angeles for the western premiere of his new comedy. It is a story of the modern girl and her daring penchant for freedom of expression. The leading feminine role will be played by Anzonetta Lloyd, a well-known Broadway actress, who has just closed at the Apollo Theater, New York, in Mr. Collison's Mexican romance "The Vagabond."

NEW MUSIC IN REVIEW

"The Heart of a Rose," by Elinor Remick Warren (Flammer.) This dignified song, dedicated to Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, is an impressive number; it is well dedicated, and those who have heard the Wagnerian interpretator will understand the type of the song. With deep feeling, the melody is justified only by the continuously unusual harmonic changes. The climax is effective and broad.

"The Lavender Seller," by F. S. Breville-Smith (Boosey.) Of the ballad type, this song runs along in moderate tempo. It is easy to sing for the most part, and happy in mood. It offers no especial message, and is lyric in thought and style.

"My Dear," by Maybelle M. Dyer (Sherman, Clay & Co.) A pretty ballad of almost popular type, conventional in rhythm and treatment throughout.

CORNET

"Aphrodite Caprice," for cornet and piano, by Edwin Franko Goldman (Fischer.) Allegretto grazioso is marked at the beginning of the piece, and it quite describes the running and pleasing melody. It might easily be adapted for violin as well.

PIANO

"Impressions," by Sigmund Herzog (Fischer.) These six sketches for piano represent a certain phase of light program music; lyrical and pleasant.

"Beau Brummel Minuet," by Francis Young (Fischer.) This number, used widely as a theme for a recent Warner Brothers screen story, is a somewhat modern treatment of an old rhythm. It is composed in such a way that the accents, which mean everything in this type of composition, take care of themselves. A number which pianists of average attainment will enjoy.

"BE YOURSELF" IS VETERAN'S ADVICE

MAKE-UP SHOULD HAVE LITTLE PART IN ACTOR'S WORK

"One of the most important arts in the world of the theater," said Zellah Covington, of "White Collars," at the Egan Theater recently, "is the art of make-up. Particularly is this true in what is known in the vernacular of the stage as 'character work.'

"The markets are flooded with preparations put out by manufacturers, all designed to help the players in the difficult art of making up. There are powders and rouges of many colors, creams, crayons, eye-brow pencils, lip sticks, etc., in abundance, but the wise and experienced artist shuns them all, with the exception, perhaps, of a little carefully selected powder and cream. You cannot improve on nature in the making up of a character," continued Mr. Covington, "and my advice to youthful actors is this:

"Before resorting to artificial means, utilize every natural feature and characteristic you possess. If your part calls for a beard for instance, do not use an artificial one, which in nine cases out of ten will be grotesque, or attempt to apply one with the aid of spirit gum and other devices—make a sacrifice to your art, and grow a beard of your own! It may take a little while but the result will be well worth the effort."

HAS NEW CONTRACT

J. K. McDonald, producer of "Penrod and Sam" and "Boy of Mine," has been awarded another contract by First National and will make two more pictures for that release. The forthcoming story is tentatively called "The Goof." A director and cast are yet to be named.

ECHOS OF MUSIC ACTIVITY HERE

An evening of Polish music will be presented by the Los Angeles Opera Club Monday evening, the 10th inst. at the Hollywood Library Hall. The guests of honor will be Col. John Sobieski, Count Stephen K. Szymanowski, Pola Negri and St. Ritus Benda. Mrs. Warren T. Quirk, Miss Amy Farnsworth and Miss Ella P. True will be hostesses. Polish artists will perform, playing music from their native country. Mme. Teodora Wienewska, coloratura soprano; Stanislaw Michniewicz, pianist; Miss Leonora Sikora, mezzo-soprano; Bogdan Gillewicz, baritone; Eugene Natucks, violinist, and Ruth Mac Carey, danseuse, will appear.

Theodore Bendix, who will be the house conductor of the New Biltmore Theater, has recently arrived from New York. With him is his brother Max Bendix, also a musician, who will appear on the opening night.

Gloria Mayne, soprano, will present an act of tabloid Indian grand opera Friday evening for the Women's Press Club, to be held at Ebell. She will be assisted by Homer Vance, Hopi Indian dancer, with three young Hopis from the Mission Players at San Gabriel. Miss Catalina Ortiz, Spanish pianist, will also be heard. The act will be staged by Alfred Allen.

The Philharmonic Trio, consisting of Jules Lepske, violinist; Earl Bright, 'cellist, and Alfred Kastner, harpist, will go on a concert tour which will take them as far as Yosemite. They will be heard at two concerts to be given in the near future at the Los Angeles High School, and will play in Covina, San Bernardino and Pasadena. They will also play a number of Chautauqua engagements. They have recently been heard by the Friday Morning Club, the Ebell, Hollywood Woman's, Riverside Woman's, Santa Ana Valley, Long Beach Ebell, Glendale Tuesday Musical, Beverly Hills and Upland Music clubs.

Nell Lockwood presented her Indian program in costume before the Van Nuys Woman's Club Wednesday. Owensmouth and San Fernando Valley clubs were guests. Helen L. Gade presided at the piano.

Piano pupils of Gladys Littell and Francis Kendig, and dramatic pupils of Hazel Penny and Arthur Kachel, teachers of the Hollywood Conservatory of Music and Arts, appeared in recital in the Conservatory Auditorium Saturday evening.

Marshall Stedman presented four children in readings before the Lions' Club in Inglewood last Wednesday.

The regular monthly recital of the Leona Neblett Violin School was held yesterday afternoon.

Three one-act plays will be presented this month by Florence Dobinson students at her new studios on Kingsley Drive. "Jean Marie" is a serious play by Andre Theuriet; "The Way is Done," by Hastings, is a charming comedy with an up-to-date love story, while "Charming Conversationalist" is a comedietta for three persons. The plays will be staged in intimate fashion. Juvenile students of Miss Dobinson will make their bow at a Saturday afternoon recital in April.

A number of aspiring young musicians have made application for the scholarship for study with Mme. Grace Whistler. The scholarship is being offered by a patron of the art whose identity is withheld, to a student who has the talent and qualification to make a concert or operatic singer. Voice instruction, stage deportment and modern languages are included in the scholarship.

Mme. Ruth Deardorff, ultramodern pianist, will be heard in recital at the Hollywood Conservatory in the near future. Mrs. Ethelyn Fridley, dramatic soprano, and Miss Nina Horner, pianist and artist pupil of Francis Kendig of the conservatory, will be heard in joint recital this month.

A new institution at the Bertha Vaughn studios is the series of Monday evening informal musicales that have been held for the past two weeks, and will continue to be held, for the students of the studio and their friends. Last Monday Frank Hoose, baritone; May Sellen Ely, soprano, and others appeared. The third of the morning musicale series is to be given Thursday, the 20th inst., at 11 a.m. in Chickering Hall. Those appearing on this program will be Gardiner Hart, baritone; Helen Moles, soprano, and Frank Hoose, baritone.

Sydney King Russell, young composer now residing in Los Angeles, has received word from Enoch and Son, New York publishers, of the acceptance of two of his songs, "Journey's End," and "Song for Spring." Both these songs attracted attention when sung here recently by Carlotta Rydman Russell, soprano. "Christmas Folk Song," another opus, has attracted an offer from another eastern firm.

Margaret Goetz will give two programs of the Chicago Opera repertory at the Biltmore on Saturday, March 1, at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. The operas to be presented are "Cleopatra," "Mefistoles," "Salome" and "The Jewess."

SUPPLIANTS BELEAGUER FILM FOLK

None of Producing Staff Free From Mail Bombardment

Motion-picture stars are not the only ones who get "fan" mail.

"Trouble hunters" in all parts of the world ferret out real and imaginary faults in the motion pictures which come out of Hollywood and they spend in the aggregate many thousands of hours writing to the persons whom they believe should be "told off."

W. Cameron Menzies, the new Talmadge art director, receives dozens of letters each week from architects, artists, illustrators and architectural students. Some praise, some condemn and some offer valuable suggestions to him.

C. Gardner Sullivan, head of the Schenck scenario department, receives many letters from would-be scenario writers asking for advice; he receives scripts for consideration almost every time he ventures forth from his home and ambitious playwrights in Oshkosh and Kokomo take him severely to task sometimes, too.

Clare West, costumer to Norma and Constance Talmadge, also gets her daily grist of fan letters. Girls write in asking for the cast-off gowns of the stars. Some want patterns for "the gowns which Norma wore in such and such a picture." French coturieres who have been stealing Miss West's Hollywood styles for years, write to request advance drawing of her models. Feminine cranks berate her, too, for "starting expensive fashions."

Amateur photographers keep the cinematographers busy with their letters. "Tony" Gaudio, Norma Talmadge's veteran cameraman, gets scores of letters weekly. Camera manufacturers beg him to use their machines; film dealers urge upon him the excellence of their products; youngsters equipped with Brownies send in their prints for criticism; girls write to him asking "for "cute" little snapshots "taken when Norma wasn't looking," and Italian film companies regularly offer him jobs at about the equivalent of $20 a week in Italian lira.

Hal Kern, Schenck film editor, receives requests for "short scenes which you throw into the ash can." Of course, these amateurs cannot be accommodated, but many pick up old film scraps, glue the scenes together and run them on home projectors.

Jack Gawn, head Schenck property man, receives letters from antique hunters who want to buy the chairs, desks, etc., seen in Norma and Constance Talmadge pictures. Rug dealers in Smyrna, Tunis and Constantinople have Jack on their mailing lists, too.

Lou Johnson, Schenck electrician, receives letters from oculists suggesting Kleig eye cures. Electricians in the municipal powerhouses at Red Dog, Idaho, and Swamp Root, La., ask him for jobs. Story writers on motion-picture topics request him to suggest how a villain could be electrocuted "on the set" for fiction purposes.

Not even the office boys escape. From producer down to the lowliest assistant every member of a studio organization is constantly besieged with requests for photographs of the stars. The only ones who sincerely hope that the demand for photographs will continue unabated are the manufacturers of photographic paper and supplies.

LIFTS SILENCE BAN

Installation of Telephone for Actor Event in Life

A millennium has arrived in the household of Otto Matiesen, Danish character actor.

It arrived this week in the shape of a telephone. Close examination on the part of Matiesen proved that it really was a telephone, safely arrived after many months of waiting. Following his discovery, Matiesen promptly hustled around to the studio and broadcast the information that it is now possible to reach him other than by mail.

Matiesen plays a leading role in "Scaramouche," at the Criterion Theater.

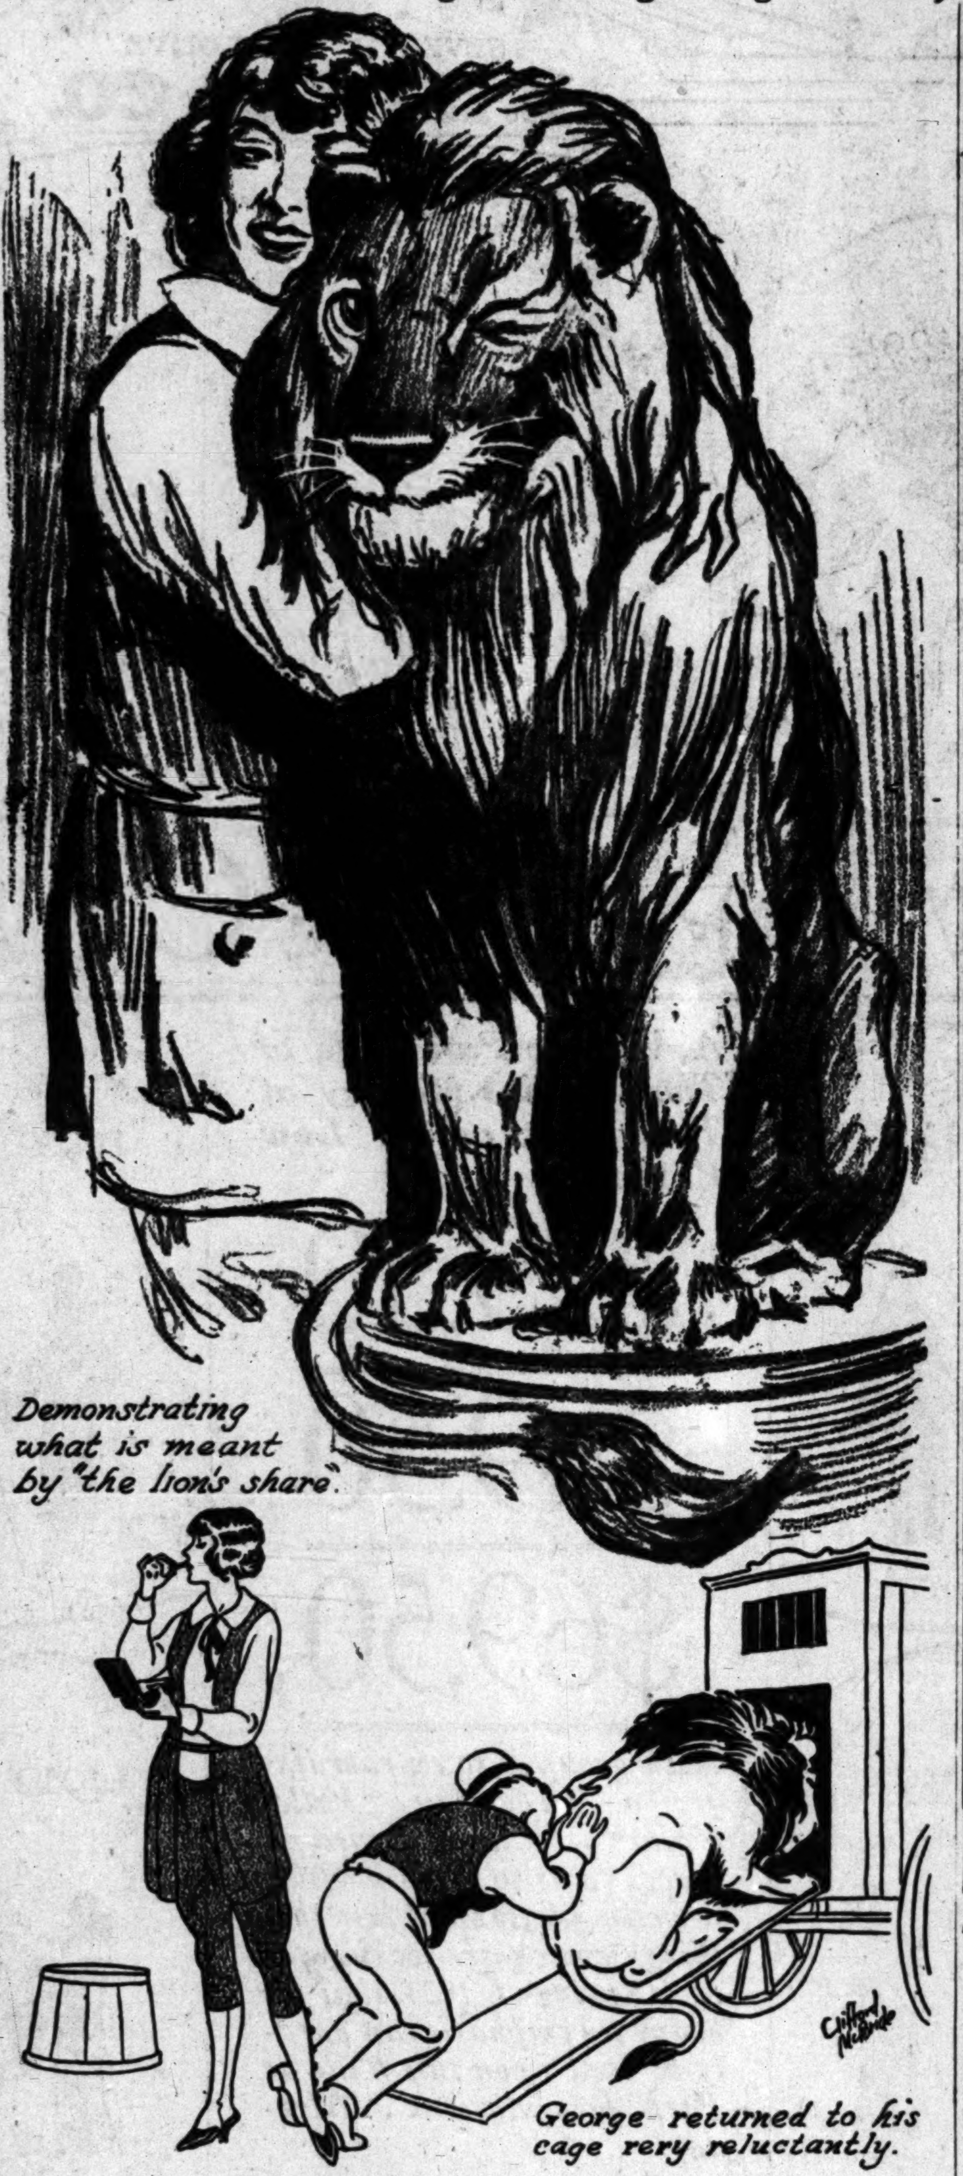
SUCCESSFULLY VAMPS KING OF BEASTS

Estelle Taylor Braves Dangers of George's Cage in Safety



Demonstrating what is meant by "the lion's share."

George returned to his cage very reluctantly.

The Artist's Impressions of the Visit

BY ALMA WHITAKER

IT IS all very well to hire an inspirational publicity man, but oh, you dazzling film charmers, the pace is fierce.

Just look what hers did for Estelle Taylor! He conspired with the Al G. Barnes circus at Culver City to permit Estelle to test George's finer nature under the most alarming conditions. And all in the cause of getting Estelle's picture into the news reels and reminding the dear public that Estelle is as brave as she is beautiful. It was a good cause, as any film charmer must concede.

And, thank heaven, George was a perfect gentleman!

And how that publicity man worked to decoy us all down there, with a sort of sly promise that maybe George wouldn't be a perfect gentleman. But the testimony of seven cameras, dozens of newspaper persons, all the midgets and Mr. and Mrs. Lion Tamer record nothing but blissful tranquility for George.

George is a gentleman lion with a large mouth, cynical eyes, lots of whiskers, an impressive roar, massive paws and a well-trained disposition.

Miss Taylor is the lady who startles the god-fearing masculinity in the audience of "The Ten Commandments" by depicting the voluptuous depravity of the Israelites during the Golden Calf worship, and while Moses is receiving the Ten Commandments in the mountains.

For a lady without any recorded dressmaker she did rather well in one of those simply luxurious all-revealing sartorial creations that we have never quite dared imitate in toto in our modern ballrooms.

However, George was spared that. Estelle, frisky in tweed and leggings, was not asked to tempt his appetite beyond self-control.

I think myself he balked at the leather leggings. However, just before she entered his august presence I did see Estelle toying with a couple of aspirins, ostensibly for her own consumption. And who knows but what she gave George a couple, too?

MUSIC SOOTHING

When we arrived the circus hurdy-gurdy was in full blast—doubtless to provide that music so essential to the soothing of savage breasts. Newspaper breasts need soothing, but I noticed they stopped it for George and the lady act.

Mr. Lion Tamer spoke lovingly to George, and explained the situation to him—and I could not help observing the wonderful influence of loving kindness, with a thick, wicked whip not too far in the background. Then Mrs. Lion Tamer, who wore leggings like Estelle, showed Estelle that the thing could be done. She loved him a bit, but he sort of looked as though that was no special treat to him.

Then Estelle, happily confident under the protection of the leggings and the soothing effects of the aspirin, tripped into the cage. Her engaging smile won both George and the surrounding gapers right off the bat. She fondled George a trifle gingerly at first, but he gave her every encouragement, and in no time at all she was vamping him just like that minx vamps the righteous husband in "The Marriage Circle," or like Colleen Moore vamps the hero in "Flaming Youth."

George gazed up from her fondling arms and licked her appreciatively. Estelle gurgled with delight. Say, this was easy—and the cameras clicked and clicked. I think myself George had dined pretty well just before.

Well, as I said before, everything was all right while he gazed into her lovely eyes, but bimeby he looked down at those leggings. And I know just where George stands on feminine leggings. Oh, the weary disillusion that enveloped him. Estelle had lost her spell. But she was never so safe.

George did not want to eat her up—not on your life. He merely looked politely bored and signified that she had outlived his liking. And, being a discreet and tactful vamp, Estelle took the hint and the fun was over. Mr. Lion Tamer hastened to purr words of comfort to George, who, in sumptuous hauteur, looking with reproachful dignity upon his friend, was saying so plainly, "Aw, buddy, why those leggings?"

Well, anyway, it was pretty spunky of Estelle.

And that publicity man was just so nice to the newspaper people. After all, he hopes we are his friends. I am. And here's the evidence.

COWBOYS GATHER TO HONOR "PARD"

The gathering on Buck Jones's set at the Fox studio resembles the aftermath of a rodeo, for cow men of the old West are holding an unofficial convention in Los Angeles this week as a tribute to one formerly of their calling. Oklahoma, Wyoming and other of the cattle-raising States are represented at the informal pow-wow, where Charles "Buck" Jones, the honored member of the cowboy's association, is appearing in "The Circus Rider," a story of the "big top."

At one time before he began his motion-picture career, "Buck" was a featured rider and roper with the Miller Brothers' 101 Show and his present vehicle is a natural role for him.

SHE FINDS HER PATHOS IN DICKENS

Dorothy Mackaill Gets Inspiration for Tears from English Novelist

Dorothy Mackaill, who is starring in Frank E. Woods's current production, as yet untitled, says she gets her greatest inspiration for injecting pathos into her screen work from reading the works of Charles Dickens. Ever since she left Ziegfeld's Follies to take up her chosen work in the silent drama, Miss Mackaill has been digesting all of Dickens's stories, ranging from "Pickwick Papers" to "Oliver Twist."

Miss Mackaill, during one of her talks with David Belasco when he wanted her to leave the Ziegfeld Roof to go on the legitimate stage, was told by this stage wizard that the study of Dickens was the best possible training for developing emotion in the subconscious mind. The result was that from that time on Miss Mackaill, who is a diligent reader, began to pay special attention to the stories of Charles Dickens.

When she made her first notable screen appearance as the blind girl in "Mighty Lak a Rose," she read and studied the "Old Curiosity Shop." Miss Mackaill says that the study of Dickens's stories, with their rare touches of deep pathos and flashes of rich humor, has helped her immeasurably in her work. She continued her study of Dickens in "The Fighting Blade," "His Children's Children," "Twenty-one" and "The Next Corner."

Miss Mackaill says that when she is called upon to do a characterization calling for pathos, like her role in her current picture, which is being directed by John G. Adolfe, she reads over and over again Dickens's "Christmas Carol."

She found that music also was of assistance and she is now reading Dickens's stories with a phonograph furnishing the musical obbligato for her inspiration.

FATHER A VIOLINIST

Theodore Kosloff, dancer, artist and film actor, now playing in Cecil B. De Mille's "Triumph," came naturally by his artistic flare. His father was a solo violinist of the Moscow Imperial Russian Ballet orchestra.

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—[Advertisement.

Neuritis the Nerve-Wrecker

Those who have experienced the agony of a well-developed case of neuritis know its baneful influence upon the entire nervous system. Many sufferers, tortured in mind and body and driven to despair by the ravages of this insidious disease, have finally sought relief through self-destruction.

The first indication of neuritis is usually a sharp, cutting pain in the shoulder, neck, forearm, thigh or leg, sometimes accompanied by soreness in the muscles, stiffness in the joints or numbness in the hands or feet.

If you suffer from neuritis, don't experiment! Take Bopa Neuritis Tablets—a treatment that has proven its merit in hundreds of stubborn cases. Endorsed by many leading physicians. Guaranteed to be free from narcotics and coal tar products. Price, $1.00. Sold in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Stores and all other leading druggists. VOTERS BADGES FOR MEETING are nineteen and there have been 5837 babies born since that time. There have come seven pair of twins since the first of this year.

Mrs. David Murray who has been on the committee of credentials, badges and elections for seventeen years and will serve in that capacity at the coming biennial, gave complete information as to the machinery of the convention and ethics of delegates. As an object lesson of good behavior she drew a word picture of the ideal delegate at Atlantic, Ga., last summer. "She sat on the front seat. She always had pencil and note book. She was not late, she did not whisper. When she wished the floor she addressed the chair properly and said what she had to say briefly, concisely and to the point. She came to be called the perfect delegate, Miss California. And she was no other than your district president, Mrs. Charles H. Toll," a tribute that swept Mrs. Toll, not off her feet, for she was sitting down, but sent waves of blushes up to meet the waves of her hair.

TELLS JUNIOR WORK

Mrs. Edward Tufts, gracefully gowned in black satin from the tips of her satin slippers to her modish satin hat, gave a report on Junior Auxiliary work. Under her leadership in the last few weeks there have been reported the following youthful organizations: some of them even now in the process of organization: "The Catholic Woman's Club, leading, having organized the young women seven years ago, Redondo Beach, Echo Park Mothers' Club, Welfare of Club, Hollywood; Wa-Wan, Los Angeles Ebell, Baldwin Park La Puente, Glendale Tuesday Club, Compton, Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock, Atascadero, Long Beach Ebell, La Canyada, Monday Afternoon Club of Covina in the process of organization; Van Nuys, West Ebell, South Side Ebell. This is the first complete list of junior membership of the district ever given. Mrs. Tufts introduced Miss Ward, president of Ebell Junior Auxiliary, Miss Martha Harper of Santa Monica, and Miss Roland of Echo Park, these three being presidents, and in addition Miss Roark of Hollywood and Miss Hembry of Redondo Beach. A little ceremony was made of this presentation. Miss Grace Ibman of Ebell and Wa-Wan auxiliaries gave the music number for the afternoon, a piano solo "Rustlings of Spring."

Others who appeared on the program presenting helpful suggestions, reports of concrete work accomplished or inspirational talks included: Mrs. C. McKelvey, who conducted the club institute; Mrs. J. C. Thurman, president of Mountain View Shakespeare Club of El Monte, who reported the purchase by her club of the oldest adobe house in Southern California which will be made into a charming tea house and conducted by the club with the plan to sell the present cludhouse and build next to the historical adobe. Action on this will be taken tomorrow. In addition there appeared Mrs. R. W. Meeker, newly appointed chairman of conservation for the redwoods, Miss Eloise Forman, new community service chairman; Mrs. Stroh, as a luncheon speaker; Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, Mrs. Frank Sammons with a fine report of work in Indian welfare, of which she is chairman. Mrs. William Mabee, chairman of music.

KEYES TO SPEAK AT LUNCHEON OF WOMEN

Mrs. Joseph G. Braun, president of the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club, has given the members many treats during the past year and a half and it has been her custom to have some man prominent in official circles as speaker at the first luncheon each month. For Monday, March 3, Asa Keyes, Los Angeles District Attorney, will be the speaker. Mrs. Nell Brooker Mayhew, whose colored etchings have attracted wide attention, will talk about "California Missions" for the arts and crafts sections at 10 a.m., exhibiting some of her work. A favorite of twenty years ago, "Old Lem Jucklin," will live again at the afternoon program at 2:30 when Opie Read will revive this comical character. Husbands will be in the limelight at the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club on Tuesday, March 4, when a dinner will be given in their honor. John Steven McGroarty will be the chief speaker, with "California" as his subject, with special references to the "Golden Scroll."

Park Excursion Plans Given

Mrs. Mary Griswold, president of the San Fernando Ebell Club, entertained the members of the San Fernando Valley Clubs at her home on North Maclay avenue Friday afternoon. She was assited by the members of the board of directors, the members of the executive board and the social committee, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. E. T. Ingham, Mrs. Alex Martin, Mrs. Robert Fraisher, Mrs J. W. Muckley, Mrs. Benjamin Ward, Mrs. George Waite, Mrs. Norman Heap, Miss Minnie Tribby, Miss Flora Young, Mrs. Fred Prince, Mrs. Hardiman Fowler and Mrs. Sydney Waite. The program was on the coming biennial. Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, past president of the San Fernando Ebell Club, introduced Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, past president of the General Federation, who gave an address on the biennial and work of the General Federation. Mrs. Martha McCann, Los Angeles Park Commissioner, spoke on Memory Park and as civic art chairman for the biennial asked each valley club president to make her home town beautiful for the coming visitors of the biennial. Mrs. H. H. Dace told of plans for the excursion to San Fernando Memory Park, June 7, when all the valley clubs will act as hostesses to the members of the biennial. The presidents of the valley clubs present promised their co-operation. Miss Faith Roberts, chairman of music for the Ebell Club, led the members in "America the Beautiful." Mrs. Robert Fraisher gave a vocal solo, and Mrs. Paul Sisco gave two piano solos.

Tuesday Afternoon Club, Glendale

The Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, of which Mrs. Daniel Campbell is president, will conduct its regular weekly meeting on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. There will be a luncheon at 12:30 p.m., at which Josefa Kudlicker of the Russian Red Cross and Margaret Weisor of the Travelers' Aid Association will speak. The program for the afternoon will be given by John Steven McGroarty, author of the Mission Play.

STATE SOCIAL WORK SESSIONS ARRANGED

Miss Anita Eldridge of San Francisco, executive secretary of the California Conference of Social Workers, has been in this city for several weeks making arrangements for the next conference in Long Beach, May 26 to 29, immediately preceding the biennial conference of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in early June. It is anticipated that many of the delegates to the latter convention will attend the conference.

Membership has now grown with great rapidity to 2000 members and in addition to the official California delegates it is expected that Oregon and Washington will send representatives.

Miss Jessie E. Hellings, Los Angeles chairman of the county membership committee, called a meeting of the social workers of this county to meet Miss Eldridge and co-operated in working out the plans. Officers include Dr. E. P. Ryland, president; Norman R. Martin, regional vice-president; E B. DeGroot, Rev. Robert E. Lucey, Mrs. Elizabeth McManus and Miss Mary Workman, directors. Others are Dr. George E. Kengott, Dr. E. C. Moore, Dr. Miriam Van Waters, Dr. John R. Haynes and Thomas A. J. Dockweiler.

LONG BEACH EBELL CLUB ENTERTAINED

Yesterday was a wonderful day for the Long Beach Ebell Club when the members were received and entertained at Laguna Beach art galleries and studios by a committee from the art association and one from the Laguna Beach Women's Club. The day was arranged by Mrs. R. Clarkson Colman, chairman of art for the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and also of the southern district.

The morning was spent on the beach with an artist group. A picnic lunch was enjoyed in the lovely gardens, where Mrs. Frances King Headlee, curator of the art gallery, is stopping, and the afternoon was spent viewing the gallery.

The Titian's Madonna Group, whose discovery in Santa Barbara last fall made such a stir in artistic circles throughout the country, was exhibited by Mr. Lynn Andrews, in whose possession it is now. The Ebell members helped to form a great group of visitors to the gallery, which is weekly increasing. Last year there were, according to Mrs. Headlee, 10,000 visitors with twenty-one foreign countries and forty-two States represented.

The committe from the art association included Mrs. Ida Randall Bolles, Miss Nellie Hills and Miss Alice V. Fullerton; from the woman's club, Mrs. Coleman, Miss Leota Woy, Mrs. A. H. Burkholder and Miss Lotita Perine.

Miss Fullerton gave an address on art in the afternoon and told the story of the Laguna Beach art colony to the visitors.

FAMOUS WISTARIA VINE TO BE SCENE OF FETE

Tentative plans are being made for celebrating the blooming of the famous Fennell Wistaria vine at Sierra Madre and the Woman's Club there is making every effort to make the two weeks of the celebration as attractive as possible. During the festival there will be a dance at the clubhouse and an evening of music.

The vine has been viewed by thousands of people who are now looking forward to the celebration. The grounds will be open daily except Sunday from the 17th to 29th inst., luncheons and afternoon tea will be served and several clubs in the district have announced their intention of making up parties to visit the vine and enjoy an afternoon in the little foothill town.

DAUGHTERS TO HONOR TWO STATE OFFICERS

Eschscholtzia Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will honor the State Regent, Mrs. Lyman B. Stookey, the State officers of California and the Vice-Regent General, Mrs. Charles B. Boothe at a luncheon March 4 at the Ebell Clubhouse. The luncheon speaker will be Joseph Winn whose subject will be, "International Relations." Music will be furnished by Mrs. Gails Mills Dimmitt who was invited to sing at the Continental Congress held recently in Washington, D. C., where she did credit to herself and to California.

MRS. McPHERSON TO BE SPEAKER AT CLUB

Aimee Semple McPherson will be the speaker for Thursday, March 6, before the members and guests of the Philanthropy and Civics Club. Mrs. McPherson, who is a noted leader of the Angelus Temple, and whose Four Square Gospel is being nightly broadcasted over the United States, has chosen for her subject, "The Child, The Future Hope of Our Country." Members are urged to secure their luncheon tickets in advance as an unusually large crowd is expected.

WILSHIRE BUSINESS WOMEN WILL MEET

The Wilshire Business and Professional Women's Club, a progressive young organization, will hold an open meeting for members and their friends on Thursday, the 6th inst., at 7:15 p.m., at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church, Third and Western. A very interesting talk will be given by Miss Hermine Schwed, field secretary, National Association for Constitutional Government, under the auspices of the Better America Federation of California. Miss Schwed is well known as a talented and entertaining speaker.

AUDUBON BIRD WALK TO BE IN ECHO PARK

Beautiful Echo Park has been selected by the Los Angeles Audubon Society for its field day bird walk on the 6th inst. The early spring migrants are arriving and we shall look for the rufous humming bird with his gorgeous throat and ruff of "fiery-red and orange;" the warblers feeding on the upper side of the leaves, and the vireos on the under parts. The meeting place will be at the south entrance of the park on Glendale Boulevard, where Mrs. C. H. Hall will meet all at 9 a.m. All nature lovers are invited.

DON'T TAKE DRUGS!
Thousands have been saved by Chiropractic treatments, many of them given up by their doctors. From my records I mention a few I have cured. Marie Ludington, carried into my office after her doctor told her that he "couldn't do any more for her." In 20 treatments she was well. F. L. Morrill came to me on crutches. Spinal trouble. One foot swollen to enormous size. He walks now without crutches. Andrew Barrie, chronic constipation. Cured in 12 treatments. No more "dope" for him.
12 ADJUSTMENTS, $20.
Single adjustments, $3. Include spinal diagnosis, electric vibrator, ultra violet ray, deep therapy lamp, sinusoidal electricity, etc.
DR. JOSEPH BARTON,
Chiropractor, Diet and Nerve Specialist, 616-7-8 Delta Bldg., 426 S. Spring. 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays, 11 to 2.

CHIROPRACTORS!! BARGAIN!

BETTER POSITIONS

Every day, more and more high grade employers are appointing us as their direct representatives to secure for them executives and young men with potential possibilities for salaried positions in all lines.

This institution is not an employment agency, but an effective personal service. We act as a confidential intermediary between the better class of employers and high grade men who are searching for and deserving of positions at salaries ranging from $1800 to $12,000 a year upward.

At the present time we have over 75 high grade positions open for trained accountants, mechanical and industrial engineers, branch managers, sales executives, office managers, department managers, and others equally attractive.

If your record is clear, if you are high grade, we can help you. There is no charge for our service, and no fees are ever collected, except a small subscription fee for BETTER POSITIONS BULLETIN.

Consultation hours 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily, and by appointment.

SALESMEN!

SECURITY SELLING MADE EASY.

Monotonously pounding the pavement, fearfully pulling doorknobs, dejectedly cooling your heels hours at a time in a frigid anteroom, frowned upon as a pest or sneered at as a fraud—all that is done away with. It was all wrong and it has no place in the development of modern business. It's not being done any more by people who know the secret of the scientific distribution of securities in a dignified, pleasant and profitable way. The members of my staff KNOW THAT SECRET. Their very appearance, their presence, reflects it. They would grace any directors' conference, you would mention. Mine is a new organization and these members of my staff are new with me. They have not risen to their present comfortable position because they brought to me superior wisdom, broad experience, selling genius or influential connections. None of them will admit to more than ordinary intelligence; many of them had no experience; not one of them is artful and I can assure you that not one of them would stoop to the solicitation of a "sympathy" order. They are a group of upstanding, self-reliant and prosperous men of business, who have lifted themselves up out of slavery to circumstance and made themselves masters of men. I merely showed them how. DO YOU want to join us? You may if you like. Don't tell me that you CAN'T DO IT, for I know that you CAN. You're no different from these other men. They're merely regular fellows just like you and me. It just happened that they took my advertisement seriously enough to come in and find out what it was all about. They FOUND OUT. I wonder if it won't be sort of agreeable to you late next summer, when vacation time approaches, when you're thinking of taking the car and the kiddies for a real outing trip or something of the sort—to think back to that dull March morning and the STROKE OF REAL BUSINESS you did when you made up your mind that you would answer this advertisement and find out what it is all about, anyhow. I'm not difficult to meet. You don't have to pass a file of secretaries and underlings. Just push open the door and come in and ask for me. But make it exactly at eleven a.m. Monday. I'm kind of strong on that "prompt" stuff. J. B. DeBELTRAND, room 618, Junior Orpheum Building, 8th and Hill streets.

THERE IS WORK FOR YOU in Los Angeles.

GOOD CLEAN, HONEST WORK IN WHICH YOU CAN MAKE GOOD MONEY.
EXPERIENCE MIGHT BE HELPFUL BUT NOT NECESSARY.
YOUR PRINCIPAL QUALIFICATIONS MUST BE HONESTY, TRUTHFULNESS, PLEASING PERSONALITY, A HAPPY DISPOSITION, ABILITY TO STICK TO IT AND A REAL SINCERE DESIRE TO WORK.

If you can make good your earnings will surprise and satisfy you and you will have the opportunity of becoming a member of a real live co-operative organization in which you will share in the company's profits.

I want a few wide awake and progressive men and women, young or middle-aged, to come and talk it over with me. I would like to show you how we are doing business—just a little different than other real estate dealers—and how our plans work real helps to both buyers and sellers, by clean, honest and straightforward methods.

Some say it requires an orator or rather one with "The gift of gab," to sell real estate or anything else. That is pure bunk. I can sell real estate and other things too, and the good Lord knows I am no orator, nor do I have any of the so-called "Gift of gab."

I have told you what your qualifications should be, and that's 90 per cent of what you need, so come and see me and let's talk it over.

H. C. PHELPS, Pres.
PHELPS REALTY SYSTEM.

with established brokerage house is open to three ambitious men who wish to better their position in life by entering the sales department of a rapidly growing company. You will be quickly promoted to an executive position if you make good.

NO INVESTMENT REQUIRED.

But we do not want men who are broke or who lack confidence in their ability to make a place for themselves in a strong organization. If you believe in yourself, have average intelligence and ability, and a strong desire for the better things of this life, see MR. KNAPP at once, 408 Metropolitan Theater Bldg., 533 W. 6th st.

SALESMEN

We can show you a real opportunity. We go the limit in co-operating with our men even so far as helping them close. Not stock or oil, but can use men who have sold it. If you have sold merchandise, well, come in and see for yourself. If you are not a salesman this is a wonderful place to start. Most wonderful outfit ever given salesmen to get business. That's half the sale. It costs nothing to talk it over. LAUGHLIN BLDG., 315 S. Broadway, Suite 625-6.

SALESMAN WANTED
EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY

A live capable and thoroughly dependable security salesman is wanted at once on the small but high class sales force of a local financial house which handles public utility bonds and preferred stocks and special industrial issues.

A strong eastern underwriting connection brings us new offerings of uncommon attractiveness, in addition to which we are constantly on the look-out for meritorious local issues.

To the right man we will make an extremely liberal proposition. We want a man of some experience, and a willingness to work conscientiously. We will provide a drawing account if shown good cause, although preference will be given to the man who wants to work on a straight commission basis. To such a man we will offer an extremely advantageous arrangement, under which he will be able to earn a very substantial income; in fact, we believe this to be an absolutely unsurpassed opportunity for a man whose ambition is to develop a permanent and profitable clientele.

Your reply should state past and present connections, age and average earning capacity. Your communication will be held in strict confidence. Address L, box 387, TIMES BRANCH.

SALESMEN!

Important and profitable selling proposition is open for your immediate consideration. Security selling experience not essential. Quick action is to phone me Monday before 10 a.m. for appointment. 874401 and ask for Mr. McIntosh.

OLD TIMERS AND BEGINNERS—You can materially assist in making 1924 your best year. Here's your opportunity to earn fat commission checks for the next three months by joining my organization at once, starting every morning at 9 o'clock sharp at room 533, Douglas Bldg. Intensive sales instruction will be given you on a proposition with which you will be pleased. This is the job you have been looking for to better your condition and there is no limit as to how much money you can earn, $100, $200, $500 and $1000 in one week will be nothing unusual if you have the stuff in you. These amounts are not only possible, but these sums will actually be earned by some of the salesmen working right here in Los Angeles within the next ninety days for me. You are offered the services of one of America's foremost sales directors whose organization direction earned thousands, and you will be pleased to meet him. Drop in and talk things over. Get the plan. You will be satisfied. To all of my old sales force who were with me in the past, you are invited to join the organization again. Come in and talk things over. You will profit by it. EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITY
We have an opening in our organization for a keen business man of the constructive type, who is capable of handling a strong executive position in a financial institution handling mortgage loans on Los Angeles construction.

During recent years, mortgage loan corporations operating in Los Angeles have made wealthy men of their principals and have grown rich in resources. Opportunities now are greater than ever before.

For the right man, with a clean record able to make a fully secured investment of not less than $5000, we have a proposition such as is rarely offered. This proposition carries an official connection with an equitable salary. It is well worthy of complete investigation. Call or write.

ESSEX 1923 TOURING.
Painted a rich "Rolls Royce Blue," motor runs as pretty as a watch. Two spring bumpers front and rear. Car has only had one owner, has had the best of care, cord tires all around, one spare, hard to tell this car from a new one in performance and appearance, the price is ridiculously low, only $875.

CHANDLER CHUMMY
In addition to being painted a rich maroon, this classy 4-passenger car is equipped with 2 bumpers, wind wings, sun visor, military fenders, Gypsy curtains, motometer, and bar cap. Excellent tires and mechanical condition. See this before you pay $1150 for an automobile.

APPERSON 8 PHAETON
If you are looking for a 5-passenger, powerful, dignified automobile for around $800, you cannot afford to purchase a car until you see and ride in this one.

1000 DOLLARS

INSURANCE POLICY.

We will give absolutely free one $1000 accident insurance policy with each used car purchased from us. With the present condition of traffic and numerous accidents why be without protection when it is absolutely free to you? We have a limited number of these policies and suggest that you investigate at once.

Furthermore, we positively have not raised the prices on our cars to take care of this extra expense.

BUICK TOURING CARS.
1921 1922 1923.
THERE IS ONE THING MISSING, and that is
RISK AND UNCERTAINTY.
You don't have to gamble with your money in buying a used car. Do you know why it is possible for us to give you a NINETY-DAY GUARANTEE, with service on these Buicks? The reason is a simple one: We take the motor, clutch and transmission completely out of the frame and absolutely RENEW all worn parts. We put new bushings in all springs, new bearings in all wheels. After car is reassembled it is all carefully inspected, then it goes to the paint shop to be beautifully refinished. Next comes a new top and four new tires. In addition to all this, you get a complete set of side curtains, tools, extra tire, etc. Come in, we are more than pleased to show you.

TRUCKS

A dependable truck, one that stays out of the repair shop, is the only economical truck investment. Some used trucks can be purchased for very little but later repair bills will make them expensive.

We have a selection of Mack trucks—flats and stakes—which will stand up under severe service. Now is the time to look them over.

We also have other makes:

Apex 2-ton
Fageol 3½-ton
Moreland 4-ton
Traffic 1½-ton
White 5-ton
White 2-ton
Autocar 1-ton
Garford 1½-ton

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Confirmation of reports that the United Fruit Company contemplates establishment of a service from San Francisco to Los Angeles and the east coast of Central America via the Panama Canal was received here today.

The United Fruit ships will take over the service between ports formerly served by Shipping Board ships operated by Swayne & Hoyt who recently discontinued that service.

TACOMA, March 1.—The steamer Sudbury is due Monday from the Atlantic Coast. It is reported this vessel has inbound cargo from the steamship Hessian in the service of the United-American Line, and from the steamer Pomona.

Bound for the Orient the steamer Hall Grim sailed this afternoon with approximately 2,000,000 feet of lumber from here.

The steamer Admiral Farragut is due Sunday afternoon at the commercial dock from California ports. The vessel will commence loading here Monday morning.

After unloading a large amount of east coast freights here the Williams Line steamer Willpolo sailed for Bellingham this afternoon to load for New York. The vessel will go from Bellingham to Grays Harbor to take lumber.

The steamer Saginaw from San Francisco is due Monday; the Doylestown Tuesday and the Kentuckian of the American Hawaiian Line Wednesday. The Kentuckian has a big amount of general cargo to load here for New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 1.—The Canadian government Merchant Marine, Limited, reports that according to present plans it will have a fleet of twenty-one steamers operating from this port, including newly-announced intercoastal service between here and Montreal.

VICTORIA (B. C.) March 1.—The Dominion government announced today it has found a purchaser for the fishery boat H.M.C.S. Stadacona, which has been idle for the past three years at the Esquimalt naval base. The buyer will be W. Hobbs of Vancouver, B. C. The vessel was built in Philadelphia in 1893 as a private yacht for J. H. Ladur, a New York millionaire, and sold to the Canadian government during the war. She is a craft of 779 tons gross and has a length of 186 feet. Her engines are triple expansion type and she is a coal burner.

Capt. Crawford of the Liner Makura which docked here this afternoon stated upon his arrival that this was his last trip, as he will soon take command of the Aorangi, a new motorship which will be launched in June. Capt. Barlow will take command of the Makura.

ASTORIA (Or.) March 1.—The Japanese steamer Ypres Maru having taken on fuel oil and being fumigated here sailed this morning for Coos Bay, where she is to load lumber.

The steam schooner Wallingford sailed this morning for California points, after taking on 500 tons of feed and 350 tons of Montana flour here.

The steam schooner Covena sailed today for Los Angeles carrying 1,000,000 feet of lumber from Westport, 600,000 feet from Wauna and 350,000 feet from Vancouver.

After loading 15,000 barrels of flour here for the Orient, the steamer Anna E. Morse shifted tonight to Portland.

Lumber shipments by water from the Columbia River during the month of February were the lightest for several months, but they totaled over 62,000,000, and 29,613,000 feet of that amount went to foreign ports, according to statistics compiled by R. D. Lamb, deputy collector of customs. Thirty-eight vessels loaded at the mills in the Lower Columbia River district during the past month and their combined cargoes totaled 25,467,997 feet of lumber.

PORTLAND, March 1.—G. R. Thiering, who has bought the wreck of the steamer Columbia, which lies on Coos Bay jetty, announced here today that he expected to be able to salvage much of the vessel's cargo, gear and parts. Salvaging operations will begin as soon as weather conditions will permit, Thiering said. The bar has been rough almost every day since the wreck occurred.

Apple exports from here for February amounted to 65,797 boxes, valued at $169,828, according to a tabulation announced today by the traffic bureau of the Port of Portland. Prune shipments amounted to 64,448 boxes.

Lining of the British Benavon was completed in the new record time of ten hours, and the vessel went under the grain spout here today in time to save her charter. Delayed arrival necessitated the speeding up of the lining operation, in order to make the charter date.

That the McCormick Steamship Company will probably close a deal at Seattle Monday chartering a vessel for the Portland-Coos Bay-Eureka-San Francisco run is the statement made today by Hillman Lueddemann, Portland agent for the line.

The steamer Charles R. McCormick departed today for Seattle, after discharging westbound freight here. The steamer Georgina Rolph arrived today to resume her former service between Portland and San Francisco.

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 1.—B. T. Stanwood, vice-president of the Alaska Steamship Company, issued a statement today declaring that the company would not invade San Francisco as a regular port of call. This statement was made to stop rumors among shipping officials of the Pacific Coast that the Alaska Steamship Company would soon have San Francisco listed as a regular port of call.

The steamship Northwestern sailed today for Southeastern and Southwestern Alaskan points with a capacity cargo of freight, the first full cargo to leave here for the North this year. Two hundred passengers were aboard the vessel.

BELLINGHAM, March 1.—The steamer Catherine D., carrying 215 members of crew and 2000 tons of supplies, sailed today for Alaska to inaugurate the 1924 fishing season for her owners, the Pacific-American Fisheries Company.

EVERETT, March 1.—A total of fifty-one ships visited this port during the month of February, making a total tonnage of 126,000 tons, according to figures announced today. Thirteen of the vessels are reported in intercoastal trade. During the month the port was visited by its first Italian ship.

MEXICAN SHOOTS UP SAN DIEGO POOL HALL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, March 1.—Recalling the palmy days of early California, a lone Mexican late this afternoon calmly "shot up" a poolroom in the Mexican quarter and proceeded on his way. When the police patrol arrived on the scene, officers were met by a gun powder smoke screen and the occupants of the hall were just crawling from under the tables. No shots took effect.

TREASURY CHIEF EXPLAINS BUSINESS OF TAXATION

Points Out That Government Must Get Revenue Without Drying Up Sources of Income

BY ANDREW WILLIAM MELLON
Secretary of the Treasury

If the Ford Motor Company doubled the price of its cars does anyone doubt that it would sell fewer cars and consequently decrease its volume of profits, notwithstanding the increased profit per car? A similar argument applies to the taxation system, which, says Mr. Mellon, should be organized in accordance with sound business principles. Surtaxes have two great faults—first, they are rapidly failing as a source of revenue; second, they retard the natural growth of industry.

Taxation is just like any other business. It must produce revenue without destroying the good will of the public or drying up the sources of income by overcharging. A sound system of taxation should produce revenue enough for the government and, at the same time, reduce as far as possible the tax burden on the people. There is no reason why the question of taxation should not be approached from a nonpartisan and business viewpoint. In recommending a revision of the taxes, the treasury has acted not in the interest of any party or section or class of taxpayers, but of the country as a whole.

The present tax system is producing more revenue than is needed for the government's operation; the burden of taxation is excessive, and, while the necessity for it during the war was recognized and the load has been borne uncomplainingly by the country, the time has come for adjusting the taxes on a peace-time basis. Indeed, no other choice is possible, for Congress is, in a sense, the trustee of the people's money and rightly feels the most solemn sense of responsibility in its exercise of the power of levying taxes.

THE TREASURY BILL

The treasury has accordingly recommended to Congress that legislation be enacted which will distribute the benefits of tax reduction among all classes of taxpayers and eliminate inequalities which are having a detrimental effect upon the country's normal development. The treasury's recommendations contain three outstanding features: (1) a reduction of taxes on earned incomes; (2) a reduction of the normal tax rates on all incomes, and (3) a reduction of the surtax rates.

There is no difference of opinion as to the necessity of enacting the first two provisions into law. It is merely a question of how great the reductions shall be. In making its recommendations, the Treasury has been guided by the necessity, first, of providing a sufficient income for the government; second, of lightening the tax burden, so far as possible, on those least able to bear it, and, third, of making readjustments of rates which will not only save the productivity of the system but will advance the general prosperity of the country. Under the Treasury's recommendations about 70 per cent of the loss in revenue to the government will come from incomes below $10,000 a year, and only 2½ per cent from incomes in excess of $100,000. It is a comprehensive plan, worked out as a result of the Treasury's experience, and is fair to all.

CLASS HATREDS

I have never viewed taxation as a means of rewarding one class of taxpayers or punishing another. If such a point of view ever controls our public policy, the traditions of freedom, justice and equality of opportunity, which are the distinguishing characteristics of our American civilization, will have disappeared, and in their place we shall have class legislation with all its attendant evils. The man who seeks to perpetuate prejudices and class hatreds is doing America an ill service.

He shows a complete misconception of those principles of equality on which the country was founded if, in order to defeat a system of taxation that is fair to all, he seeks to array one class of taxpayers against another. Any man of energy and initiative in this country can get what he wants out of life. But when that initiative is crippled by legislation which denies him the right to receive a reasonable share of his earnings, then he will no longer exert himself and the country will be deprived of the energy on which her continued greatness depends.

This condition has already begun to make itself felt as a result of the present unsound basis of taxation. During the war the government developed a system of surtaxes which were designed to make the man of large income pay more proportionately than the smaller taxpayer. If he had twice as much income, if he paid not twice but three or four times as much taxes. For a short time the surtaxes yielded a large revenue, but since the close of the war people have come to look upon them as a business expense and have treated them accordingly by avoiding payment as much as possible.

EXCESSIVE TAXES

The history of taxation shows that taxes which are inherently excessive are not paid. The high rates inevitably put pressure upon the taxpayer to withdraw his capital from productive business and invest it in tax-exempt securities or find other lawful methods of avoiding the realization of taxable income. The result is that the sources of taxation are drying up, wealth is failing to carry its share of the tax burden, and capital is being diverted into channels which yield neither revenue to the government nor profit to the people.

This is clearly shown by the statistics for the six-year period extending from 1916 to 1921. During this time the country's total net income increased over three times, whereas the total amount of incomes in excess of $300,000 a year decreased from nearly $1,000,000,000 in 1916 to about $150,000,000 in 1921, and the number of taxpayers in the $300,000 class decreased from about 1300 to 250. It must be remembered, also, that the surtax rates in 1921 were far higher than in 1916, and yet the amount of revenue received by the government from the larger incomes constantly diminished. It may sound like a paradox, but the fact remains that higher surtaxes brought less revenue to the government from the large incomes than did the lower rates.

In taxes, just as in business, there is a rate which will produce the largest amount of revenue without decreasing the volume of business. If too high a price is charged sales diminish, and also profits. If too low a price is fixed sales increase, but profits decline. This is a basic principle in the sales policy of any great corporation. If the Ford Motor Company doubled the price of its cars does any one doubt that it would sell fewer cars and consequently decrease its volume of profits, notwithstanding the increased profit per car?

BUSINESS PROPOSITION

The government is a business concern and its revenue can and should be raised in accordance with business principles.

What rates will bring in the maximum amount of revenue to the government? The Treasury estimates that the highest surtax rate should not exceed 25 per cent, which, with a normal tax of 6 per cent, will impose a total tax of 31 per cent on incomes of $100,000 and over. It arrived at this conclusion in the following way: At the present time a man with an income of $200,000 pays a tax of 58 per cent. He can invest in tax-exempted securities paying 4½ per cent and receive as much net income as he would make in a business enterprise paying 11 per cent. Good investments paying 11 per cent are hard to find, so the man of large income is more and more tending to avoid the risks of business and to put his money into tax-free bonds. There is no dearth of such securities available for investment. At the present time more than $12,000,000,000 of tax-free securities are outstanding and the loss of revenue to the government over what it would receive if the income were taxable has been estimated at a very large amount. The tax-free securities outstanding would be unaffected by a constitutional amendment removing the tax-free feature of municipal and State bonds. Surtaxes, therefore, have two great defects —first, they are rapidly failing as a source of revenue to the government, and, second, they not only encourage State and municipal extravagance and thereby increase local taxes, but they also retard the natural growth of industrial enterprise.

SURTAX REDUCTION

It would seem necessary to reduce the surtaxes not only as a means of saving the productivity of the system but also on account of the far-reaching effect which such a reduction would have on the country's continued development. It is necessary to mention only one or two industries which would be directly affected by a sound revision of the taxes. There is still a shortage of houses in the larger cities of the country. While this shortage may be traced in part to the high cost of labor and material, it is due also to lack of capital, which, in turn, may be explained by the fact that the surtaxes render it unprofitable for a man of large wealth to invest in housing enterprises. In order to make a reasonable return on his investment after paying his surtaxes, the man of large income must charge rents which are excessive, and, as the wisdom of such an investment is problematical, the wealthy man has preferred the safe refuge of tax-exempt securities to the risk involved in housing operations.

It is estimated that the railroads of the country will require $1,000,000,000 a year for several years to come in order to provide new equipment and enlargements and to reduce the cost of transportation. In earlier years the railroads were able to maintain a reasonable proportion between their total stock issues and their total interest obligations. In the last three years under high surtaxes the percentage of new bond issues to new stock issues has constantly increased and the time is rapidly approaching when the railroads will be unable to issue further bonds without substantial increase in their stock investment. Railroad stocks, as a rule, have been purchased by men of large income and the bonds have gone into the hands of the smaller investor.

RAILROADS SUFFER

The recent decision of the Supreme Court sustaining the validity of the "recapture clause" effectively prevents any new stock being sold at a price which would give a man of large income an adequate return on his investment. If the railroads are to obtain new capital a large part of it must come from the sale of stock, and to insure an adequate sale surtaxes must be reduced sufficiently to attract the large investor to that type of security.

The surtaxes were a war measure and were never intended to become a permanent part of our tax system. They are becoming increasingly unproductive, and in recommending a reduction of rates the Treasury has merely stated what every Secretary of the Treasury since the war, regardless of party affiliation, has recognized, namely, that the present system is a failure and must be revised along sound lines. Such a recommendation is not in any sense a partisan measure and should be viewed solely from the standpoint of the government's and the country's best interests.

If the Treasury's recommendations are enacted into law the taxpayers will save over $300,000,000 a year, or more than $6,000,000,000 over a twenty-year period. During this time the budget will provide for continued payments which will gradually reduce the public debt, so that if a sound system of taxation is adopted and the present policy of economy in government is continued the country may look forward during the present generation not only to a decrease in the tax burden, but to increased prosperity in which every taxpayer will share.

A sound fiscal policy should be designed not merely for one or two years, nor for the effect it may have on any given class of taxpayers. It should be worked out with regard to conditions over a long period and with a view to its ultimate effect on the prosperity of the country as a whole.
